Times' Campaign Theme Is To Be National Election

Willkie Or Roosevelt Pins
Will Be Given Upon Down Payment Of One Quarter

First Day's Goal
Is Aimed At 500

Contest With Northerner; Subscription, Political Results To Be Compared

Ex-Archer Is First
Times Subscriber

Emily Sweetland, '40, is The Times' first subscriber this year.
She will no longer be a resident of Fort Wayne, but will live in Oregon.

Bob Robinson, circulation manager of the Times, announced recently that the theme for the circulation campaign will be the national election.
Each person who subscribes will cast a vote for their favorite candidate, Wendell Willkie or Franklin Roosevelt. Since North Side is using the same circulation theme, South Side's results will be compared with North Side's and later with the results of the national election.

Five hundred subscriptions is the goal for the first day and fifteen hundred for the entire campaign. These goals are the same as have been used before, and although they have never been reached, there are more hopes that they will be reached this year.

According to the preference of the subscriber, a Willkie or Roosevelt pin will be given to each person who subscribes. The first three issues of the Times will be free, after which only those people who have at least made their down payment of 25 cents will receive the Times.

The pins for the circulation campaign were furnished by the Republican and Democratic headquarters here in Fort Wayne.

Each book will represent a section of the United States: book I, the deep South; book II, the New England and Northeastern states; book III, the Mid West; book IV, the Southwest; book V, the Northwest; and book VI, the Pacific Coast. An assistant circulation manager will be in charge of each book. They are, in the order of their book: Tom Yates, Rebecca Abbett, Lois Hoff, Barbara Brower, Hilda Leininger, and Peg Harrod.

A meeting of all room agents was held yesterday. At this meeting the new agents were told of their duties and the old agents reviewed them.
Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser;
Bob Robinson, circulation manager;
Margie Sheldahl, general manager; and Bruce Bradbury, last year's general manager, were the speakers. The agents of several of the rooms have been changed with the hope of bettering the record for the room.

Rules Concerning Programs, Time Schedule For Day Listed

1. The program for the day will be:

8:05—8:30	Home Room	9:35—9:50	4
8:35—8:50	1	9:55—10:10	5
8:55—9:10	2	10:15—10:30	6
9:15—9:30	3	10:35—10:50	7

One bell will be sounded at the end of the period. At the beginning of each period the bell will be sounded once for the start of the period, and then sounded the number of times corresponding to the number of the period.

2. Program cards are to be taken to the rooms as indicated, and are to be signed by the teacher in charge.

3. All program cards must be turned in. Pupils who do not have seventh period classes must give their cards to the teachers of their last periods. Those who have seventh periods must turn in their cards then.

4. a. During the lunch periods pupils must go to the gymnasium and remain there.
b. During the study period pupils must go to their seats in the study hall.
c. Gymnasium pupils must report to the physical directors' office to have their cards signed.

5. No programs will be changed unless an error has been made.

6. During your Home Room period, Fill All Blanks On Your Program Card.

7. There will be a meeting of all 9B pupils in Room S at 11:00
today.

8. Locks and lockers may be purchased from 11:00 to 12:00 and from 1:00 to 3:00.

9. Books may be purchased from 11:00 to 12:00 and from 1:00 to 3:00 in rooms according to lists posted in halls.

10. Pupils who live outside the city limits, or whose parents live outside, must bring transfers.

These should be in the office by Friday of this week.

11. Pupils who do not have Glee Club, Orchestra, or Band on their cards, and who want to take one of all these subjects should see Mr. Wainwright in room 40. Periods for these subjects can be arranged only if the pupil has a vacant period at the proper time.

12. Attention of all pupils is called to the method of handling Absence Excuses. For Absence Excuses, pupils will report to the Attendance Office. A written excuse signed by a parent or guardian giving the date or dates of absence, and the reason, must be brought by a pupil after an absence. Admit slips will be issued on the presentation of the excuse.

13. Arrangements can readily be made to secure books for those pupils who cannot buy their own at the present time. Students who want help in securing their texts should take their lists to Miss Pittenger between 1 and 3 o'clock today.

14. Students who want lockers furnished them are to get Miss Pit-tenger's O.K. the second day of the semester. Lockers will be issued by Miss Alderdice on the presentation of Miss Pittenger's O.K.

Latin Teacher, Club Sponsor, Resigns Post

Mrs. Alda Jane Carson Submits Resignation After Sixteen Years Of Service

Mrs. Alda Jane Woodward Carson, for the last 16½ years one of South Side's Latin instructors, ended her long service with her resignation, which she handed to Superintendent of Public Schools, Merle J. Abbott, this morning.

Since Latin Club's creation in 1922, she has served as its sponsor. She has also been an assistant adviser of the So-Si-Y Girl Reserves Club and has served on Recognition Day committee and Lettermen's Banquet committee.

South Side is indebted to Mrs. Carson for the Psi Iota Xi speech plaque, in which are placed the names of the winners of the freshmen and sophomore speech contests and for the Alpha Omicron Pi plaque, which honors the Latin student who has done the most outstanding work in four years. Mrs. Carson suggested to the Delta Gamma Chapter of the Psi Xi
Sorority in 1924 that the speech plaque be presented to our school.
During the following year the plaque was given to the school by the Fort Wayne Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi, national college sorority.
The chapter of Psi Iota Xi to which she belongs also promotes the statewide short story contest for senior high school girls in Fort Wayne.

Born In Wells County

Mrs. Carson was born in Jefferson Township, Wells County, Indiana, and attended elementary school there. She completed her eighth year at the time when it was necessary to pass an examination in order to obtain a diploma for admittance into high school.
Mrs. Carson passed her examination with the highest average of any student in Wells County that year. After attending the Ossian High School for four years, she graduated as the valedictorian of her class.

Her high school career completed, she attended the Winona Lake Normal School. She was awarded her Bachelor of Arts degree with distinction from Indiana University and her Master of Arts degree in Latin from Columbia University.

Her first teaching position was in the third, fourth and fifth grades at Toesin, in Wells County. She was next the principal of a two-year accredited high school at Murray, Lancaster Township in Wells County. It was from her next post at Liberty Center, where she taught Latin and English, that she came to South Side in 1924 to join the faculty as a Latin instructor.

Active In Clubs

This list of societies in which Mrs.
Carson is active helps to explain how busy she is: Fort Wayne Branch of the American Association of University Women, Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority, Delta Gamma Chapter of Psi Iota Xi Sorority, Business and Professional Women's section of the First Presbyterian Church, Order of the Eastern Star,
National Educational Association,
Fort Wayne Teachers' Association, and YWCA.

It was only a few years ago that South Side addressed her as Miss Woodward, but Mr. Howard B. Carson changed that. They were married in July, 1937, and have been residing at 3824 South Calhoun street.

Her biggest thrill came during the second year she was at South Side.
One of her pupils, Franklin Smith,
'27, then a sophomore, was the first South Side to be a gold medal winner in the state Latin contest.

All South Side will miss Mrs. Carson, her friendly smile, and her cordial greeting, but she will not be so far from us.

Math-Sci Program Heads Will Meet

Any 10A Student Who Has Taken One Year Of Science
Or Math Eligible To Enroll

Math-Science Club's program committee will meet one day during the first week of school and make plans for the club's programs for the entire semester. Although this committee has been appointed, the members of it will not be announced until later.

Any student who is at least a 10A
and who has taken one year of science or mathematics may become a member of Math-Science. This club has as its purpose the promotion of mathematical and scientific knowledge, and seeks, through its activities, to create and maintain an interest in these fields. Outstanding senior members who have shown service to the club and who have taken two years of mathematics and three years of science, or vice versa, and have maintained an average of ninety per cent are honored by the club in its annual Recognition Service.

This club was formed in the fall of 1929, with all of the mathematics and science teachers as advisers. This organization still continues to prosper.
As years went on and other new school clubs were formed, the number of sponsors decreased, until now there are four. They are: Miss George Anne Hodgson, Mr. E. S. Gould, Miss
Aldelaide Fiedler, and Mr. Lloyd
Whelan. Miss Hodgson and Mr.
Gould will be advisers for the fall semester and Miss Fiedler and Mr.
Whelan will pilot the club during the spring term.

Former Kelly Teacher Dies At Elkhart Home

Mrs. Millicent Work Miller, former Latin teacher here at South Side, recently died of leukemia at her home in Elkhart. Mrs. Miller became a Latin teacher here in the fall of 1922 when South Side was first opened.
She remained here until her marriage nine years later.

Freshmen To Meet In Study Hall Today

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, will talk to the new freshmen at 11 o'clock today in the study hall.
All freshmen are asked to attend this meeting. The rules and regulations of South Side will be told and discussed. Little green books will be handed out in which are the regulations concerning activities.

Yellow Cards, New Shoes—Just The Way All Freshmen Begin

Well, freshies, how did you like your first day in the home of the Archers? We're willing to bet that you're more than a little bewildered by it all. We can see you now, starting out for school with a note book and pencil tucked under your arm and wearing your best pair of shoes! And how you stood in awe of the building as you approached it, staring wide-eyed at the hundreds of students hurrying to and fro. And wasn't it awful trying to find your card in the gym?
Of course it was, just like looking for a needle in a haystack.

We can also hear you lamenting, because they gave you a yellow card.
Why, everyone will know you're a freshie! Just as if we wouldn't know it anyway by that look on your face.
But come, come, that yellow card is nothing. Remember huddling in the corner of the gym, trying in vain to conceal that yellow card, and wondering just when your shoes would be yanked off your dainty feet and sent spinning to the floor? But cheer up!
Maybe no one will know you're a freshie!

We sincerely hope you didn't have too much trouble trying to find your rooms. Your first day at South Side may have been a little confusing, but just remember that in a few weeks it will seem like home to you. We're with you, freshies, and don't let this first day make too much of an impression on your minds.

Totem Staff Plans For '41 Yearbook

Circulation Campaign Schemes
Are Being Made By Editors;
School's Cooperation Is Asked

Seniors May Sign For Totem Offices

Attention Seniors! All seniors who are interested in working on the 1941 Totem, but who have not received positions, please sign up in the Totem office, in room 16, with John Bonsib, editor, this week.

For the past two months the 1941
Totem staff has been carefully laying basic plans for the class of 1941's yearbook. Before school was out last spring the editor and business manager, John Bonsib and Joel Salon, respectively, began choosing the major staff and some of the minor staff members. Then they went ahead to plan work for the various individuals to carry out toward the making of an excellent Totem this year.

The theme was decided upon, and with this theme in mind the book was laid out in dummy form. There were pictures to be taken and other details to carry out so that plans would be in shape for the Totem to get smoothly under way this semester.

The first general staff meeting was held August 15, which was the first Totem meeting ever held before the opening of school in the fall. At this meeting plans were made to take subscription money today. This was done in order that students can subscribe while they yet have the money and so that they can avoid the rush and bother of the later campaigns. The annual Totem subscription campaign will start October 1, when a senior meeting will initiate the campaigning.

The staff is asking the cooperation of the whole school and especially the senior class in making this Totem the biggest, best, and most original Totem ever.

Maurine Seibert, '40, Becomes Office Girl

Miss Maurine Seibert, '40, has taken the position of office girl in the general office. Maurine is taking Miss Margaret Ann Ruckel's place. Miss
Ruckel is planning to attend Miami University this fall.

Maurine was very active in the school activities. She was a member of the National Honor Society, president and vice-president of Meterites, president and vice-president of the Latin Club, Math-Science vice-president, Philo treasurer, Times circulation manager, Totem co-activities director, Travel, Service, Forum, and 1500 club.

Maurine does general office work which consists of dictation, typewriting, receiving visitors, filing, answering telephone calls, looking after the office, and opening and sorting mail.

Rule Violators Again To Get Eighth Period

Eighth periods will again be assigned to those students who disobey South Side rules or to those who have work to make up. The assignment of eighth periods is entirely up to the teachers and must be obeyed accordingly.

If a student fails to report to eighth period, a penalty will be assigned by the teacher who gave the original assignment.

World History Teacher Quits School Position

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly Resigns To Devote Time To Travel, Study, Writing

Having taught here for sixteen years, Miss Eleanor Smeltzly resigned her post as a world history teacher. Her resignation was submitted on January 1, effective as of June 6, to Superintendent of Schools, Merle J. Abbott, in order that she could devote all her time to travel, study, and writing.

Miss Smeltzly and her sister, Mary Catherine, who also resigned this year from Central, had planned for years that they would resign in 1940 and take a trip around the world.
Since war conditions have developed abroad, they are postponing this trip.
However, they are now in Alaska, taking an extended tour of that country.

Attends Cambridge University

The Misses Smeltzly, probably the most traveled teachers in Indiana, were born in Wabash County, but lived in Wabash in their girlhood days, receiving their education in Wabash schools. Eleanor received her
A. B. degree in social science from Indiana University. She later attended the University of Chicago, and a few years ago, the University of Cambridge in England. She also attended world institutes and seminars.

Before coming to South Side, Miss Eleanor Smeltzly taught at New Castle, Pennsylvania, and prior to that she taught at Bluffton. Both teachers brought their travels into their teaching, having visited every country and continent in the world on different occasions.

They have traveled widely in all parts of the United States, in Bermuda, Canada and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in all European countries, in the Near East, in Central and South America,
Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, and Mexico. In the last five years they have made trips to the Baltic Sea,
Russia, Germany, Guatemala, the Far East, including China, Japan, and the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, the Samoan and Hawaiian Islands, Cuba, the Canal Zone, and the west coast of South America. In China they were the only two teachers from Indiana in 1937 to attend the Seventh Biennial Conference of the World Federation of Educational Associations.

Join Many Organizations

Both of the Smeltzlys belong to the Fort Wayne Woman's Club, the Fort Wayne AAUW, the Fort Wayne-
Allen County Historical Society, the First Presbyterian Church, the YW-CA, the National Travel Club, the National Education Association (compensation of which they have attended in various parts of the country), the Northern Indiana Teachers' Association, and the Fort Wayne Teachers Association. Eleanor is a member of the world fellowship committee of the AAUW, is a co-organizer and adviser of our South Side Social Science Club, which has developed into the Indiana Student Forum, is an organizer and sponsor of the Girl Reserve Alumni Society, which has grown into the Grace Dodge Society and is active in the Needlework Guild and YWCA activities. Both women also are active in the Goodwill Industries, the Academy of Social Sciences, and the YWCA work.

During their travels, the Misses Smeltzlys collected many curios from every country in the world, and supplemented their teaching with their rare collections. They have appeared before many organizations in the city and Northern Indiana as speakers on their travels, and have written a number of articles and educational publications.

Student Drivers To Make Pledge

Pupils Must Have Permit Cards
Signed By Parents; Explicit
Driving Rules To Be Obeyed

Pupils who wish to drive automobiles to school this year are asked to make the following safety pledge:
In order to secure permission to drive an automobile to and from school, I agree to observe the following safety pledge:

1. Be sure that my vehicle is mechanically safe.
2. Obey all traffic lights and signals.
3. Drive at a reasonable and safe rate of speed.
4. Familiarize myself with traffic regulations and obey them.
5. Be a courteous driver.
6. Remember that a moment of precaution may save a lifetime of regret.

Each pupil who drives an automobile to school must get a permit card from the office; then after having it signed by his parents, should return it to the office where he will receive a South Side safety sticker. This sticker should be pasted on a window of the car.

Drivers may park anywhere as in accordance with regular traffic rules.
All traffic rules should be followed explicitly by drivers on the way to and from school. The school rules should be obeyed, because every year citizens who live near the school have complained of the negligence on the part of school drivers.

Purdue Honors Principal

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, was honored at Purdue University recently, where he conducted a meeting of a three-day clinic for educational leaders. Mr. Snider also attended the two week's educational seminar, which was conducted at the university.

Freshmen, 10B's Are To Have Use Of Rental System

Paging Francis Fay,
Newest Appointment
In Latin Department

Francis Fay

Since the departure of Mrs. Alda Jane Carson, Mr. Francis Fay has been appointed as Latin instructor here at South Side. Last year Mr. Fay taught Latin in the Princeton, Indiana High School and the two previous years he taught Latin and Greek at Indiana University, while working on his master's degree. He was graduated from Columbus High School, took his A. B. degree at Wabash College, and his M. A. degree at Indiana University. He spent the last summer studying at the University of Michigan.

His hobby is music, and he said,
"I am especially interested in word study and Latin poetry." As yet he is unmarried. In regard to his high school courses, he said, "I liked chemistry best, after my language courses. In high school I was especially interested in dramatics, and I tried to play football one year with a little success."
About South Side Mr. Fay said,
"Unfortunately I have never visited South Side High School, but I am sure it must be a very fine school from the good reports I have had of it. I do not know any South Side teachers."

The South Side Times wishes to extend its welcome to Mr. Fay and we hope that the school lives up to all of his expectations.

Job's Daughters Hear Marilyn Sondles Play

Marilyn Sondles, senior B, was asked to play several piano selections before a meeting of the Grand Council of Job's Daughters in Indianapolis.
She played "La File Aux Cheveux de Lin" and "Clair de Lune" by Debussy. Representatives from all over the state of Indiana attended the week end meeting of the lodge.

Marilyn is a pupil of Miss Edythe Foster.

Students To Receive Cards
With Needs Listed; Will Issue Books In Room 170

Deposit Of Dollar
Asked Of Users

In Addition, Fee Of About
One-Fourth Actual Cost
Of Textbook Is Required

All 9Bs, 9As, and 10Bs will be permitted to rent books this term, Mr.
R. Nelson Snider, principal, has announced. Students will receive card-naming all books needed and, during the class periods, will also be informed of their necessities by the teachers.

At the end of the seventh period, all those who wish to rent books are to go to room 170 on the second floor.
Here a one dollar deposit is made and the student receives a receipt. This receipt must be kept because books will not be rented to the student who has none. At the end of the term, the dollar deposit will be returned unless the books have been damaged.

The rental prices are estimated as being about one-fourth the cost of buying the books.

If any student can not rent his books, he should see Miss Pittenger
today.

The prices of the rental books will be as follows:

For the 9B's and 9A's—

Welcome To All The New Graduates Whom We Call "Freshmen"

Last June at commencement a crowd of be-gowned seniors left the portals of South Side never to enter again as students. But at the same time a few other graduations were taking place, minus the caps and gowns and some of the ceremony. However, the major difference lies in the fact that the second crop of graduates were only BEGINNING their career at South Side. For them the graduation would be more aptly termed an initiation.

You, freshmen, belong to that second group of graduates. South Side and The Times offer you their heartiest welcome. Undoubtedly most of you think you are taking an awful beating from the upperclassmen, and you wonder how it will ever be possible to adapt yourself to this huge new building, so scornful now because you cannot find some room. Perhaps you have become lost, and, worse yet, maybe you have received scorn and derision in return for your polite, timid plea for direction.

But beneath this veneer of coldness and "hard-boiledness" everyone is really glad to have you come to the home of the Kelly Klads. From your class will come the basketball teams and speech winners of years to come. South Side realizes this and will give you every chance for development. The school is just as glad, if not more so, to have you than you are to be an Archer.

Pitch right into your studies here. Many a senior has regretted that his freshman year's grades have not measured up to the rest of his grades, a fact which has kept him from desirable honors in his senior year. Join The Times or whatever clubs hold your interest. Make South Side proud that they once offered you a heartfelt welcome to the school and its activities. But no matter what activities you enter into, always remember that studies come first.

You Learn Real Americanism Within Our Tiny Democra-city

In this world of today, the American system of education is an invaluable step toward furthering democracy. South Side, itself, stands out as a symbol of Americanism. It is a miniature city; its inhabitants, inexperienced as they may be, are learning the art of good citizenship. Each person has equal privileges and equal opportunities.

But whether they are leaders or simply interested, hard-working students, the boys and girls at South Side are all reaching toward one goal—(and South Side is endeavoring to help them attain that goal)—that of becoming ideal American citizens, men and women who truly appreciate and take advantage of the gift that our United States so proudly extends to its inhabitants—democracy.

Sophomore Seles

Hitler's militaristic successes seem to be grasping the imaginations of our wise young sophomores. The whole masculine side of the class is traipsing off to military schools (well, some of them anyway). Last year Johnny Gould left us for Culver, and this year Howard Fishack, radio-minded genius, is going with him. Howard will probably clutter up the Academy with spare radio parts and non-working receiving sets.

Everyone is brimmin' over to tell about their vacations and here's a good place to exploit some of the summer doin's of the sophisticated sophomores.

Porky McMillan and Bob Zimmer were all pepped up about a camping trip to a lake in Southern Michigan. Preparations were under forced draught when some culprit quietly slipped up and dropped a monkey wrench in the works. The villain proved to be Mrs. Zimmer, who stopped proceedings because of the recent cases of infantile paralysis at the lakes. Tough luck, boys, but say, what was she worried about anyway? You aren't infants, or are you?

Speaking of camping trips, there was another delve into the wilderness that ended unexpectedly. Yours truly is not in full possession of particulars but the story seems to run like this: Mrs. Bone decided that she would like to go camping with her son, Bill. So, packing tent, blankets, pots and pans, they blazed a trail to Pokagon State Park. There they decided to make their camp. However, after one night in a tent, Mrs. Bone thought she had enough and the next night found them sitting serenely in a cottage.

Fashions For Fall

Back to nature! That's the fashion war-cry this year. All of the leading and breath-taking colors being shown have been inspired by good old Mama Nature.

Take for example Sumac Red. This brilliant color is particularly striking in baby corduroy made into the very new jumper with a bold red and green plaid shirt setting it off to the correct degree.

Following in a close second is ripe green which will be especially prominent in wools. You can't miss on this color when you match it up with red, brown or beige.

Be a rugged individual and step out in tweeds which are being popularly featured in all types of sport clothes.

Being sloppy in a smart way is just as popular as ever this year. But a new version of the Sloppy Joe has slipped up on us. It's the classic, long-sleeved slip-on in the hip-length. Be wise and purchase this sweater one or two sizes too big for you and you will be delighted at the loose effect. Like you slipped on your big brother's sweater on the sly.

Deep, rich browns (as rich as the acorn) are being featured in tweeds, wools and corduroys with great success. But of course one needs a brilliant dash of color for a eye-catching costume in this color.

Fresh-Maneuvers

Greetings and all that, freshies. This is the big day for you, isn't it (or is it)? You'll be safe around here as long as you don't let anyone toss your shoes on the gym floor, sit on the drinking fountains or initiate you with any of those other highly sacred customs in use around here.

Snooping around has disclosed a few deep dark secrets which will be printed for posterity to read:

An awfully cute crop of kids are dropping in on us this year. Among the co-eds are Mary Louise McNabb and Mary Condry. They've got to uphold South Side's record in the freshman class...Richard Sellers, Harrison Hill's crack basketball player (and incidentally the hope of our future team), and Donna Mougine have had their beautiful romance land on the rocks. Why?...Another steady twosome seen around this summer is Martha Hall and Norman Baker. Those two make a cute couple, so don't break it up.

It seems as though every time we attempt to write a few lines, we are interrupted by a dazed freshie wandering under our feet. Consequently, dear reader, this week's Fifth Column is a slight mix-up. We've stuck just about everything available into this column and the results are perplexing to say the least. But please bear with us while we:

TAP THE GRAPEVINE.

Where is it we go to for at least six hundred and twenty days out of our lives and still don't know that its telephone number is H-2372?

I'll Never Smile Again—Returned vacationist.

The Sky Fell Down—The plaster from one of the side halls.

Blueberry Hill—An incline.

Where Was I?—Over at Barbara Cross's house—so what?

How Do You Vote?

Shown above is Mary Ellen Barrett, peppy campaigner, who just can't wait to tell you the news you already know, that South Side is going to have a presidential election. Mary Ellen says, "I don't care who you all vote for as long as you VOTE! VOTE! VOTE!" At this point diminutive Barrett dropped her oversized ballot and told us to go on with the story. The cause for her—and many another Archer's excitement—seems to be the rather novel, to say the least, Times campaign. This year all loyal South Siders will be called upon to register both their school and national loyalty by voting. Mr. Snider, Miss Harvey and several other of the school's prominent officials have decided to enfranchise our student body, the only requirement being that the prospective voters subscribe to The Times.

In addition to a count of presidential votes, the number of voters with regard to their section of the "country" will be recorded. Oh yes! Guess we sort of forgot to tell you that the six teams of room agents who are vied against one another are classed as sectional campaign committees and they represent the different sections of the country, North, South, Seaboard, West, Midwest, etc. The big problem seems to be a controversy among the predictors as to whether or not the traditionally Republican Midwest can break the "Solid South." Roosevelt says he'll take away their relief if they don't vote for him while, Willkie threatens to shut off their power. The Legislative body has decided that the Campaign Book which polls the highest number of votes regardless of who they are for will get the prize accorded to winning books in former years. We don't care who you vote for as long as you pay your 75 cents and vote. By the way, a minor detail is the fact that a semester's subscription to The Times comes with it.

Not only does the Times give you the privilege of airing your views on this matter of world import, but it is going to throw in a valuable token of your political convictions either in the form of a regular campaign button from Allen County Headquarters or one especially prepared by our own art department.

How anyone could pass up this chance of a lifetime is beyond us. Subscribe now, vote for your choice, and wear his colors. And remember to listen to the latest news flashes on the room loud speakers to see how far behind or ahead your candidate is.

P. S.—Only 100 votes allowed each subscriber.

Hear ye, hear ye! The latest dirt and otherwise local gossip is again swept from the rusty corners of our alma mater and brought to you exclusively by the We Won't Tell A Soul Bureau. Lamour! Lamour! (French) It comes and it goes! A new love flies in the window and that's a subtle hint for the old one to politely exit. And so it goes, but who should know more of this painful philosophy than Jim Straley, who is sadly reconciled to the fact that he just can't chase the Wolf away from Jeanne Smith's door. Buck up, Jim, even the three little pigs weren't afraid of the big, bad Wolf. Peanuts! Peanuts! Recall if you will, the first two words of that gay musical composition! If you don't already know the tune, just ask Jack Waldschmidt and he will gladly teach it to you; because, strangely enough, it's his theme song. I guess Elaine "Peanuts" Ferguson approves heartily of Jack's selection.

Speaking of theme songs, Betty Stump has a reason for being a Melancholy Baby since Herbie Kramer got That Old Feeling for Marilyn Soudles. Now Betty is reviving that "oldie" entitled, There's a Lull in My Life.

Rose Eltha Brazy, that wide-eyed "glamour gal" with the winning way, has won and is still holding tall, light, with golden locks, Don Parkinson!! "Casanova" Green, Dick was known as in them thar days! Yep, he's done it again. He's captured Rosie Hall and now won't let her go; but then, who said she wanted to be released? Gosh, Brenda, what a man!

Don't look too quizzical if you hear Margaret Brower say, "He may be Tiny but he's awfully mighty!" Know what I mean? Catch on? Savvy? Well, for the benefit of those who don't, and I know that includes most of you, Altman is Tiny's surname.

Walter Turner and Stanley Trier are still casting lingering glances backward at Harrison Hill. They're old enough to know better now...Remember, greenhorns, that this column is devoted to your likes and dislikes, so make them interesting.

Everyone gazes with complete bewilderment upon Dan Auer, who is said to have announced his joyous enthusiasm at being back in dear old South Side. But Yehoodi just informed me that it's not the school, or studies that attract Dan at all. Could it be a blonde? Maybe Hilda Leininger, who inspired his enthusiasm.

After all the hard work of the S-men, diminutive Ruth Werkman refused all their attentions and affections in favor of Pete Kuttner of Central Catholic.

Several new couples include such well known people as: Hilda Leininger, Jim McClure; Katherine Guild, Dick Warner; Mike Beall and Barbara Cross.

That's all for this time except Dave Rea and Bud Brudi are still on the loose.

Uncle Sam made enough to pay off the national debt this summer by a heavy stream of mail between Fort Wayne and a certain girl's camp. It was the old Welly-Carlo combination and they darn near wore out the mailmen.

Ward Gilbert Jr. finally seems to have made a decision between Evelyn Arnold and Mary Condry—a decision in favor of Arnold. This is news now, but by the time this article is printed, he may have switched back.

That, my friends, is all the dirt that could be excavated for the time being, so be patient and remember to contribute daily to our hopeful source of information.

JUNIOR!

Lights! Camera! Action! The stage is set; the cast is all on hand; the cameras are rolling; and another epic of high school life of the class of '42 is underway. Yes, my dear friends, we are ready for production; school has started; we have a cast of 300 Juniors on hand, so the big show starts for another year. The old troupers are setting the pace for the less seasoned actors in the—well, you know what I mean. The pace setters include Mary Ann Florence, Johnny Galbreath, Pat Sanford, Jim Winters, Marge McNabb, Tom Galmeyer, Mary Sites, Bob York, Betty Stump, Bob Merchant, Phyllis Lauer, and Chick Shimer, Barbara Hadley and Jack Cargile, our old standbys.

Eileen Eldner, the blonde bomb shell, started a blitzkrieg this summer on several popular, eligible bachelors about town. Among her captives in the first attack were Bud Lynch and Jim Harrison of North Side... What, no Archers? Now I ask you, is that nice?

Barbara Roth has been pulling her favorite stunt again, dating college men during the summer and South Side twerps during the winter. Ah, but this year the Archer boys are going to be out in the cold since Byron Hayes Jr. has definitely put her under contract. Too bad!

Mary Burt is back in circulation again after breaking her contract with a certain saxophone player of a well known orchestra. You haven't seen much of Mary lately but you will if some people get wise to themselves.

Do You Know Your Pedagogues By L. Haugck

As I look into a crystal of the past, I see a sweet lady with light hair. Near her is a timid freshie discussing a troublesome matter. At last this girl has a smile on her pretty freckled face. Her problem is solved. This person's office is used for many purposes. Well, well, here comes a boy, who just couldn't tell his finger from a piece of wood in the manual training room. Now she must play a doctor. Now that case is settled. "My," he says, "it sure is nice to have such a person who can play mother and be handy when his own mom is not near."

This person has a lost and found article shop. Here comes a girl who lost her pocketbook with two cents and a tube of lipstick. Well, goody, goody, she had it. She surely is a lifesaver in the time of trouble.

This personage is one who knows every student in South Side. Now our friend is going to a meeting. She's speaking before the group. Everyone looks at ease when she steps before them. They all must know that she is their friend and is here to help them.

Have you guessed who this member of the faculty is? If you haven't read this column next week.

Introducing Mildred Hankee

Mildred Hankee.... Personality plus is grouped with everyone's list of wants, but Mildred is one of these naturals just born with it. Must you ask me why when you look at her long list of admirers??

However, personality is only one of her features. No doubt you have heard Eddie Duchin, the great pianist? Well, he has a slight bit of that stuff called competition in the form of M. H. She really turns on the steam every time she hits those ivory keys. She also has to her credit the fact that she played in the school orchestra for two years.

Never dull moment. After the books have slipped into Mildred's locker, she has time for social life. She belongs to 1500 Club, Math-Science, Times, Totem, Philo, GAA, and Library. Also, outside clubs are main events in her life.

Mildred has no main hobby, because she loves to do a little bit of everything. On hot days, Milly can always be found taking in a movie and indulging in a lemon coke afterwards. One of her secret tricks to be devilish is pouring salt in the pepper shakers.

And now for her future ambition. Mildred hopes to be employed as someone's private secretary. This seems a cinch to her because she is a student in shorthand and typing. Who knows? Perhaps someday Miss Hankee will hold the outstanding position as secretary to the President of the U. S. A. Who knows?

Si Si Seniors

By DELORES DANIELS

My inspiration was annihilated when we were conceded our laxity last June. But, of course, I expect to regain some of it as school progresses, if you know what I mean. Well, we're all Seniors now, and we have to begin to talk our part as well as act it. Of course after a short time nobody will listen to us, but that will make things fine. We'll have more time to look up big words. Excellent counteraction, eh what?

The summer sentimentalists seem to be few and far between. Most of the Senior Staff are still wrapped up in their last winter's blanket affairs, so nothing radical is happening in the love life of the oldest generation in South Side (Seniors to you). Mary Bowly and Mel O'Brien are still as thick as mud; Bob York and Mary Sites are inseparable; Marilyn Soudles and Herb Kramer are like two bees in the honey; Bonsh is still as attentive to Mac as Ed Turner, Roger Neff, Joe Taylor, and Ray Bushing will let him be; and Don Parkinson still monopolizes Betty Birely's spare time. Yehoodi is still single! Surprise!

Now to give you a little low-down on a few of the high-brows.

One of our otherwise "good" little dark haired Senior queenes made her summer hobby bigamy. She didn't do so bad at that while she was committing non-legality. But how Lola Rodriguez thinks she can baffle two big gazabos like Ken Moeller and Jess McBride is beyond me.

Yea! Dave Roth didn't keep "much" from his Peg when he told her that he was working at Howard's running snapshots through the wringer. He only neglected to tell her that when the pictures of bathing beauties poured in, his intimacy with the wringer became one of these partnership affairs. You know, "one for you and one for me". Not a bad idea at that!

There was inference to the fact that "Bookie" Bacon was going to become a free lancer and a hermit instead of a gentleman and a scholar when Kate Kimmiller deserted him. An' I get the impression from the dejected look on his pan that he really intends to play the role of hermit.

"Any port in a storm" seems to be Jim Weaver's main excuse for the girls who follow him around. At present the beautiful "Sheikess Looser" is his favorite wife. It is rumored, though, that Bob Geyer is seriously considering taking a half interest in Weaver's tribe, inasmuch as Geyer's such a ladies man (and etc.) it's quite appropriate, don't you think?

Bob Young Praises Miller And Dorsey In His Swing Notes

During the summer months the jive and sweet orchestras vied for supremacy in the favor of the nation's popular music fans and also at the box office; and judging from the latest figures and citations on the summer popular music campaigns, the jive and jam lads proved high in personal appeal, but definitely lacking in box office drawing power. In other words, the smooth outfits of such fine rhythm exponents as Glenn Miller and Bob Chester far outshadowed in appeal, but not noise, the highly rated jive combos of such great arrangers as Count Basie and Jimmie Lunceford.

If your columnist were to contrast the outfits of Basie and Glenn Miller, the following would be true: the Count must assuredly have the best rhythm section, while Miller does much more on group plugging for both background and underlying rhythm; the Count has the best drawing power in the less expensive ballroom where the most humble and richest jitterbug may swing out together, while Glenn Miller is featured as a fine radio program arranger and one whose band makes its appeal in the theaters and in the better night spots; as a result of the above the conclusion can be drawn that the reason that Miller and Chester outdraw the great swing artists is that the jam orcs must be seen and heard in person to really appreciate their fine work; while on the other hand, the sweet bands prove great radio and theater favorites because they feature fewer solos or hot rhythmic blasts and for the simple reason that they feature simple arrangements of the tunes most popular with the average radio, theater, and dance fan.

Ever since Glenn Miller cut his fine record of "Tuxedo Junction", I began to wonder if perhaps the sweet recording artists were slipping—for with such fine waxings as Coleman Hawkins' "Body and Soul" and Harry James' "Concerto for Trumpet" and a host of others, the sweet cutters were still far behind in producing either good arrangements or really outstanding vocal work; however, not long ago, the quest for a good sweet record was ended when Tommy Dorsey did such a wonderful job on "I'll Never Smile Again".

Finally an orchestra leader had mixed good choral background with an equally good feature vocal to produce a real seller. Incidentally, the choral work mentioned above was supplied by Dorsey's seven Pied Pipers, and the aforesaid great vocal by the slide artist's great young vocalist, Frank Sinatra. It may be a long time before another really good sweet disc will come up, so the conclusion can be drawn that the best discs may be found on the hot side.

Last year the swing column was used more than on one occasion to praise the fine work of Dick Jurgens, and again in the first issue your editor wishes to extend praise to the curly headed saxophone artist. Dick spent the summer months on Catalina Island, at which place he broke all existing records in box office appeal. Along with Jurgens have come several great artists—Eddy Howard, young vocalist; Ronnie Hemper and Lew Quadling have been featured on the Jurgens' twin consoles.

Howard, who is no longer with the band, Quadling, and Jurgens have combined to write several of the great hits of the past year, including their theme "Day Dreams Come True at Night".

The Fifth Column

I'm Nobody's Baby—I'm a freshman in high school now!

Overheard on a trackless trolley: Joanne Reichard's alphabet has been narrowed down to two letters. You're better than we are if you can discover them.

Shirley Rodgers has quite an appreciation for a good tennis game. Especially is this true when Al Ver-wiere is serving.

We wonder how long it will be until that local television corporation begins sending out impressions atop the Lincoln tower. The local papers have it that a license is already on the way from Uncle Sam.

Always glad to hear from our illustrious alumni. Noticed where Ina Claire Chappell, Mort Nahrwald, and Dick Frazell were largely responsible for the success of a recent Franklin College get-together.

Summer Souvenirs: Karl Eberly can't get Kalifornia off his mental notebook. Could it be that korus girl at Earl Karoll's?

Bobby Druhot would like to drive his speedboat to school in the mornings, but says that the big difficulty would be in finding parking space.

Fashion authority, Charlene Mac-Atee tells us that she wouldn't be seen without her velly velly smart and patriotic jeweled American flag! Hep! Hep! MacAtee!

A stroll down Calhoun reveals that our old friend Herb Kenworthy is still dishing out those snappy sandwiches to sensible students.

Well, it's almost time to haul those fur coats and taffy apples out of the closet. Most of us sincerely hope that Coach Gift will make the scene complete. Do we mean victory? And how!

Sudden smile—As quiet as last July 4th.

Many sad hearts will take a turn for the worst when Pat Seibel and Betty Haney, former Archers, leave for their boarding schools.

Scene—A small shanty in lower New Orleans. Closeup—Three Boogi Woogi jivers swingin' out the blues. Portraits—Al Schaaf, Bud Brudi, and Dick Flishering.

Have you ever stuck your eyes through strange keyholes? Did you ever listen in on other people's business? If you have, be sure to send the results to the Fifth Column.

Scholarships Are Awarded To Graduates

W. Riethmiller, A. Hopson, B. Bradbury, E. McKay, R. Formanek Honored

Many ex-Archers have been awarded scholarships this year to various colleges and universities.

Bruce Bradbury, an outstanding student, was named winner of the National Quill and Scroll Foundation President's Scholarship. This scholarship carries a cash award of $500 to any university in the country which has a school of journalism. Bruce was graduated in June, where he served the first semester of his senior year as general manager of The South Side Times. He has been employed in the editorial department of the News-Sentinel since his graduation in June, but will enter college in the fall.

Annie Lee Hopson, who has been prominent in extra-curricular and scholastic work at South Side, was awarded the $50 annual scholarship of the City Federation of Colored Women's Clubs. This award is made every year to the negro girl with the highest scholastic average in the city.

Bob Formanek has been awarded the special merit scholarship to Purdue University on the basis of competitive examination results. Bob received recognition at high school for outstanding work in trigonometry and was also awarded the Math-Science Club trophy. He plans to study chemical engineering.

Renewable Scholarship Offered

William Riethmiller, who was president of his senior class, and Ellen McKay, were awarded scholarships amounting to $200 each to Northwestern University. The scholarships were awarded on a basis of scholastic achievement, qualities of leadership and general attainment. Bill was prominent in public speaking and won a state contest. He was a member of the four-year honor roll and the National Honor society. Miss McKay was active in public speaking and dramatics, and was a member of the cast of the senior play. She was also on the staff of The Times. These scholarships are renewable at the end of each semester providing satisfactory standards of scholarship are maintained.

One full-time and six-half-time scholarships were awarded at the Fort Wayne Art School for next year. Leonard Koch, a former South Side High School student who has completed two years work at the art school, has received a scholarship which entitles him to full-time work next year. Another ex-Archer who received an art award was Velma Connett, who was given a half-time scholarship.

Others Are Honored

Scholastic awards were given again this year by the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel to the News-Sentinel carriers who made application for them. The awards were based upon achievements in school and on the splendid route work of the boys. Sam Hite, an ex-Archer cheer-leader, has given one of these awards and he will attend Purdue University; Vincent Bacon will attend Franklin College; and Melvin O'Brien will attend the Fort Wayne Art School. Richard T. Doerner and Thomas A. Gallmeyer, former Archers, were rated highly by the judges for their splendid records in school and route work.

Ronald McVay, was one of the six Fort Wayne boys who received honorable mention by the judges and was runner-up to the winners. Ronald will attend Indiana Extension.

James Murphy and Sam Hite were awarded scholarships of $100 each to Indiana University Extension this year. These awards, which are given annually, were won by four other students.

Twenty-Three Archers Receive Various Jobs

Several of the seniors of the June graduating class of South Side have received jobs during the summer. At the Lincoln Life Insurance Company are Phyllis Fickler, Agnes Seiler, Dorothy Amstutz, Dorothy Gore, Alveda Randol, Avel Bridges, Caroline Schueler, Louise Lovelace, Dorothy Foellinger, Betty Jean Pressler, Irene Briggs, Pearl Wallen, and Maxine Hudson.

Six Archers Vacation At Girl Scouts' Camp

Several South Side girls spent a few interesting weeks of their vacation this summer at Camp Ella J. Logan, Girl Scout Camp, on Lake Dewart.

Among the large number of girls that attended were Jo Ann Schwartz, Tomsie Hall, Martha Cash; Clara-belle Squires, Joan Squires, and Martha Faye Harader. Marcia Allen and Joan Ewing, 40, also spent several weeks at the camp.

Seniors Visit California

Karl Eberly and Louis Hallenstein, both senior B's, recently vacationed in California for two weeks. They traveled on the Challenger and the Daylight, a millionaire train. While in California, they visited the Biltmore Bowl and the Metro-Goldwyn studio. Karl and Louis crossed the border into Mexico from San Diego for a day's journey.

Nine Kelly Boys Win Trips Offered By Journal-Gazette

Nine Archer boys enjoyed the annual educational trip through the east which was sponsored by the Journal-Gazette for its carriers. The boys are as follows: William Knoll, August Krucken-berg, Robert Nance, Richard Dosch, Jack Forbing, Donald Kabisch, Russell Krauss, Pat Young, and Ed-ward Hines. Thirty new subscriptions had to be obtained by each boy in order for him to be eligible for the six-day trip.

The boys left Monday evening which made it possible for them to ride from Pittsburgh to Baltimore while it was daylight. On arriving at Pittsburgh on Tuesday, the party was placed on special buses, which took them on a tour through the city and to Fort McHenry. From there they were taken to Annapolis, Md., where they were given a complete tour of the Academy and watched the cadets drill.

The boys spent Tuesday night on a steamer which took them down Chesapeake Bay. Dinner and breakfast were served on the boat.

See Historic Buildings

On Wednesday the boys were loaded on buses at Norfolk, Virginia. Here they proceeded through the city, passed through the U. S. Naval Base, and crossed historic Hampton Roads to Newport News, Virginia. At this point they stopped at Mariner's Museum and then proceeded to Williamsburg, which was settled in 1633. In this colonial area many of the public buildings have been restored or reconstructed. The buildings that were open for inspection by the boys were the Governor's Palace, the Capitol, the Raleigh Tavern, the Public Gaol, the Ludwell-Paradise House, the Wren Building, the Wythe House, Bruton Parish, the Craft House, and the three craft houses.

On the way to Williamsburg the boys passed the famous James River bridge. Lecture service was given them during the entire trip. Lunch-oon was served at the Williamsburg Inn. The boys again boarded special buses which took them to Jamestown Island which was settled in 1607 and to the first English settlement. On their return to Baltimore they visited Yorktown where Lord Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington on October 19, 1781. From here they proceeded through Newport News to Hampton, Fortress Monroe, and finally to Old Point Comfort, Virginia.

Spend Night On Steamer

The party spent Wednesday night on the Old Point Comfort Steamer, where they were served dinner and breakfast. Arriving at Baltimore on Thursday, the boys were taken to the railroad station, where they were loaded on a Pennsylvania train with special coaches which were headed for Washington.

At Washington the party was placed on buses for a trip to Mt. Vernon. On the way they passed the em-bassies and legation of the foreign governments and then went through Rock Creek and Zoological Parks to Georgetown, Fort Meyer, and Arlington National Cemetery. At the cemetery the boys paid tribute at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and visited the Amphitheatre. From here the buses took them over the new Mount Vernon Highway to Alexan-

Rules For Bicycles Are Made Known

Mr. A. Verne Flint Announces Rules To Be Observed During Next School Year By Riders

Bicycle rules, which are to be observed during the school year, have recently been announced by Mr. A. Verne Flint.

All pupils who ride bicycles to school are required to obtain a registration card. At the time of obtaining this card, the make of the bicycle and the serial number are to be given to the person taking the registration. Bicycles will be registered the first week of school at a time and place to be announced in the school bulletin.

One of the chief reasons for the registration of bicycles is the protection of the owners. All bicycle riders are to see that their bicycles are parked in the parking lot provided at the school, (the girls' lot at the north and the boys' lot at the south) that the bicycle is locked and that it is taken home at the end of each day.

Other rules which all bicycle riders are to follow are those set up by the Indiana General Assembly. These rules are as follows:

1. Every person riding a bicycle on the roadway shall be subject to the regulations applicable to drivers of vehicles, insofar as they can be applied. This means that the bicycle rider should obey all stop signs, halt for all preferential streets, keep to the right, and signal their stops and turns in the manner prescribed for drivers of autos.
2. It is unlawful for a bicycle rider to ride other than upon the permanent and regular seat attached to the bicycle or to carry any other person unless upon a second regular seat.
3. It is unlawful for any person riding on a bicycle to attach same or himself to any street car or other vehicle upon a roadway.
4. Bicycle riders shall not ride more than two abreast on any roadway.
5. No person riding a bicycle shall carry any package or article which prevents him from keeping both hands on the handlebars.
6. Every bicycle must be equipped with a bell or other signal which can be heard at least 100 feet, but no bicycle may be equipped with a siren or whistle.
7. Every bicycle must have a white light on the front, visible at least 500 feet and a red lamp or reflector on the rear.

Mr. Flint, who has charge of the bicycles, said, "I should like especially to emphasize the need for care in entering and leaving the bicycle lots. No one should be guilty of running blindly out into the street. On entering the bicycle lot indicate by signal that you intend to turn in."

Students who are not able to buy their own locks should see Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, in room 104 on the second floor.

Many Archer Graduates Fall Victim Of Dan Cupid's Arrow

Wedding bells, orange blossoms, satin gowns, tulle veils, and churches. These are the things that signify a summer wedding. Many of the pretty brides this summer were graduates of South Side High School. And also some of the bridegrooms were Archer graduates.

Our graduates who were married this summer are:
Miss Anita Affolder of South Side and Mr. Louis Voelker of North Side. Miss Marjorie Brosius of North Side wed Mr. Clifford Welch of South Side. Miss Norma Barney, a graduate of North Side, married Mr. Warner Ehrman, who attended South Side. Miss Cora Dell Palmer wed Mr. Everett Cowell. Both are graduates of South Side.

Miss Martha Morell married Mr. H. Lowell Melsner, Jr. Both are South Side graduates. Miss Helen Linn and Mr. Clayton Zeddis were married. Both are graduates of South Side. Miss Marian Louise Roehrs, a graduate of South Side, became the bride of Mr. Richard A. Meyer of St. Louis, Missouri.

No Local Grooms
Miss Jean Russ married Mr. Wentz G. Lehman. The bride attended South Side for three years, but was graduated from Columbia City High School. Miss Dorothy Yobst married Mr. K. Byrl Parks, of Smithville, West Virginia. The bride was graduated from South Side High School. Miss Irene Ehlinger, a graduate of South Side wed Mr. Kenneth Blombach. The bride was graduated from South Side and the groom from Central. Miss Mary Ida Straley became the bride of Mr. George Martin Fruchey. Mrs. Fruchey was graduated from South Side, while the bridegroom is a graduate of the Oakwood High School in Ohio.

Wayne Gift, Ex-Purdue Star, Is Archer Football Mentor

Former Grid Ace Succeeds William Moss

Head Coach Hopes To Raise Spirit, Heighten Morale Of South Side's Eleven

Former Purdue University backfield star, Wayne Gift, is now in the position of head mentor at South Side; and as the early sessions have indicated, the former Boilermaker is well on his way to building a scrappy eleven.

The announcement of the appointment of Gift to succeed William Moss came as somewhat of a surprise to many local grid fans. However, it is believed that Wayne was given the job so that he might attempt to raise the morale and spirit of the Archer gridgers. After Bill Moss was replaced by the former Purdue backfield ace, he procured a job as head football mentor at Shurtleff College in Alton, Illinois. Moss had charge of the Green football plans since the likeable Lundy Welborn resigned in 1938.

Was Highly Recommended

South Side's new coach received the head tutoring job over several more experienced applicants; however, Gift was highly recommended by Purdue faculty and board members with whom he had worked in recent years. Wayne is single, and has not yet reached the quarter century mark in years. At Purdue the hard-working football ace majored in physical education and English. Since receiving his sheepskin at the Lafayette institution, Wayne has taken work toward his Masters degree at Kent College.

After Mr. Gift departed from Purdue in 1937, he immediately was given the tedious job of athletic director and English teacher at Wadsworth High School, near Akron, Ohio. The Wadsworth grid team played in one of the toughest Buckeye leagues, yet his squad came through with enviable records during his coaching stay.

Before attending Purdue, Wayne spent his high school days at McKinley High in Canton. While at that school, he participated in all three major sports. Upon entering Purdue, Wayne immediately decided to be a mainstay on the powerful Purdue grid team; moreover, this required much work to fulfill, but soon the name of Gift was well known to the football fans of the nation. Wayne was especially talented at drop kicking, and by his educated toe the Purdue star settled many tight battles by much needed extra points and long distance field goals. During the fall of 1938, Wayne played in one of the backfield positions for the Cleveland Rams of the National Pro Football League.

After arriving in the city on August 10, the new athletic tutor immediately met with Assistant Coach George Collyer to formulate plans for the approaching season which opens for the Green on September 21. On August 13, Gift ordered all would-be grid candidates to report for physical exams, and on the following day the 1940 edition of the South Side football team went through its first skull session with the new mentor. After the initial meetings and board drills, the new candidates started stadium workouts to help Gift in carrying out his Notre Dame system of play. Although the Green grid team was riddled by graduation, it is expected that coaches Gift and Collyer will mold a team high in morale and capable of giving any high power machine a thorough going over.

Members of The South Side Times, faculty members, and all students greet Wayne Gift and offer him their hopes and beliefs that he may produce a fine athletic spirit on the Green gridiron.

Sports Staff Keeps Active In Summer

Briner, Collyer Direct Playgrounds; Gift Plans Season; Friddle Works As Salesman

While many South Side faculty members were enjoying their vacations by traveling or taking life easy, the four members of the Archer athletic staff kept very busy in their summer tasks.

Coach Burl Friddle, director of the Green basketball charges, devoted his summer leisure time to sales promotion, selling gym floor treatment and handling several types of paints for a well-known company. In addition to his various tasks, Friddle also spent some of his hours trying to figure out how to hit a golf ball straight; and, also, the cagey cage tutor enjoyed sporting about in his newly purchased sedan.

While Mr. Friddle was traveling about in his work, Coaches Louis Briner and George Collyer remained in local playgrounds directing the play of Fort Wayne's youngsters. Mr. Collyer was in charge at Weisser Park playground, and incidentally, he built up several fine junior softball squads at that place. Although likeable Louis Briner had less luck with his diamond charges, nevertheless, he imparted much of his knowledge of sport and much play to the youngsters under his direction. Both of these coaches have had playground assignments for several years.

Although Wayne Gift is new around the city, he had much work to do upon arriving here to succeed Bill Moss. Wayne had to start early in August to formulate his plans for the coming season, which opens in the southern stadium in about two weeks. It may be a fact that the Archer coaches have in reality been on vacations while working; however, after watching any of the four at his task, the impression was left that school and hard work were on in full force.

South Side Girls Win Park League Tourney

The Bob Inn Wildcats, a group of past, present, and future girls of South Side, are having a very successful softball season. These girls, under the management of Bud O'Connell, have already won the City Park League tournament, and soon will play St. Jude's, CYO champions, for the city championship. They are also participating in a tournament to be held at the Municipal Beach August 19, 20, and 21.

Shorts on Sports

By Bob Young

(Editor's Note: During the ensuing sporting season your editor will cover the major sports stories and characters in this column. For the first two months the great American sport of baseball will hold our attention, so in the first few articles the inside stories of the diamond sport will be related.)

The Sox fit Cleveland... If you are noticing the way the Indians seem to hold the American League lead, the Chicago White Sox may explain the puzzle as to how the Ohioans stay in first place. In early August the gold-plated Boston Red Sox steamed into Chicago. The Red Sox were only five games out, and were really rolling; but, the Chi-sox soon knocked Boston completely out of the race by copping four straight slugs. After Boston left Chicago, the slugging and seemingly pennant-bound Yankees moved into town. The big casino of baseball had been moving on the western trip, and a sweep over the Sox would have placed the Ruppert Rifles only four games out; however, John Rigney and Lefty Lee came up with sparkling pitching performances to knock the Yanks into the fifth slot. Cleveland came into Chicago and the Sox handed the Indians three straight games and incidentally a tie for first. After the Indians, the leading Tigers moved in, and as if suddenly awakened from an Indian spell, the Sox knocked the Bengals off in three contests to keep the Indians in the race. The men of Dykes may not finish in the first division, but by these simple facts all must agree that the White Sox have knocked off all the big boys, but seemingly are haunted by the certain band of Indians. Remember, if Cleveland comes out on top, their success has been due to the perfect way in which the Sox have fit into their plans.

Pirate Patter... Some persons are wondering about the how and why of the August spurt of the boys of Pittsburgh. The how, the timely hitting and sensational play of rookie Frank Gustine and the superb field leadership of catcher Al Lopez. The why, the spirit of the fiery Fordham flash, Manager Frankie Frisch. Next year watch these same Pirates. They should have one of the finest hitting clubs in baseball.

Diamond Dust... The New York Yankee Baseball Company must pay $65,000 to have the Yankee stadium completely painted over. Billy Southworth, now manager of the Cardinals, received three hundred dollars a month four years ago for managing a North Carolina team; he now receives well over three thousand a month for leading the Gas Housers.

If Cleveland and Cincinnati survive the pennant battles, it will be the only third all-western series in history; Detroit and Chicago met in 1919, and St. Louis and Detroit in 1934... One hears little of Alton Benton or Archie McKain, yet without their fine relief pitching, the Detroit Tigers would not even be contenders... Unknown to many, the full name of Lefty Russo of the Yanks is Marius Ugo Russo. The favorite pastime of Red Sox receiver Gene Desautels is dropping coins in phones to catch a few bars of the music of Wayne King or Guy Lombardo... Bucky Harris recently reported that he would gladly give up three pitchers for Chet Laabs, slugging outfielder of the Browns. Incidentally, Chet got his big start here in Fort Wayne with the Chiefs of 1934... Chicago's Cubs will soon drop Bonuia and Russell to bring back Ripper Collins.

Athletic Departments Make Many Changes

Several changes have been made in the local athletic departments, besides the addition of Wayne Gift to South Side. George Nulf, a great favorite of all local basketball fans, has been moved from Forest Park to its position as assistant coach at North Side. He will serve as both basketball and football assistant to his brother Bob.

At the same time Mr. Nulf was elevated from Forest Park, Clair Motz was named to fill the vacancy. Mr. Motz formerly was head coach at Lafayette Central High School. With these additions and with our fine remaining staffs the city of Fort Wayne can boast of having the best rounded athletic departments that can be found.

Former Archer Honored

It was announced early this summer that Allison Arnold, a former star trackster at South Side, had been awarded a set of numerals for his fine freshman track work at Purdue University. Al graduated from Arch-er-dorm in 1939, after winning letters in track and excelling in all intramural sports. While in attendance here, Allison specialized in the most difficult of all cinder pounding activities, the high and low hurdles.

Senior Is Injured

Edwin Schouweiler, senior B, suffered injuries on his right shoulder and elbow this summer, when a trench in which he was working at the Old Fort Supply Company ready-mix yard caved in, burying him to the neck. After being rescued by his fellow workmen, he was taken to St. Joseph's hospital for treatment.

Geneva Martin Is New GAA Prexy

JoAnn Spore, Maxine Sterling, Frances Nash, Bette Thiele, Martha Cash Other Officers

Geneva Martin was named president of GAA at the annual banquet held May 15, 1940, in the school cafeteria. Serving under her are Frances Nash, vice-president; Bette Thiele, secretary; Martha Cash, treasurer; Maxine Sterling, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Jo Ann Spore, manager of sports.

The theme of the affair was "El Rancho GAA", and it was carried out in true western style. The chief cowhand was Jeanne Smith. Miss Martha Pittenger was the Trail Blazer. Miss Gretchen Smith was Chief Foreman and Miss Alice Dean was the Broncho Buster. Hertha Hoffman then gave the prophecy entitled "The End of the Rainbow".

This was followed by entertainment, which was in charge of Bernita Eggers. The program was made up of a song by Wilma Kellogg, cowgirl's rope dance, an acrobatic number by Marjorie Williams and Orinda Braun, a tap-dance by Lois Campbell and Dorothy Burke, and an accordion selection by Ilene Franke and Thelma Draper.

The program was arranged by Betty Hargan and Frances Nash. The decorations and programs were planned by Jo Ann Spore, Geneva Martin, Rose Stemen, and June Neith. The menu was planned by Marian Faux, Bernadine Pressler, and Mary Alice Dunten.

James Ellenwood On All-Star Team

Ex-Archer Football, Basketball Star To Play Against Pro's, Cleveland Rams, September 4

It will be of great news to all Archers to learn that Jim Ellenwood, '36, and former Green grid and basketball star, has been named as a member of the All-Star collegian team, which will meet the Cleveland Rams of the national professional football league on September 4.

While at South Side, Jim played first string football under Lundy Welborn; and to give credit where due, it was really the ex-Archer coach who gave Jim his big boost toward stardom in collegiate football circles. For the past four years Ellenwood has been attending Indiana University, at which school Jim participated in varsity football under the famous Bo McMillan.

At the present time Ellenwood has offers from several professional football teams, and it is highly possible that the name of Ellenwood may be found in the starting lineup of one of the leading pro squads.

GAA Schedules Activities List For Semester

Tennis, Speedball, Hockey, Basketball, Volleyball And Baseball Are Some Named

Many activities are scheduled for the fall semester of the Girls' Athletic Association. Already tennis fans have started banging balls around. Yes, that's right, the first thing of the season is tennis. The winner receives 100 points. The runner-up and doubles winner receives 75 points for each. Every entry receives 25 points.

Then comes hockey and speedball. The freshmen indulge in speedball while the upperclassmen play hockey. Teams and captain are chosen. While the weather is favorable both games will be played outside. Each sport awards 100 points.

There is always a big turnout for the most popular game, basketball. We hold class tournaments, which makes the game exciting. Those who participate in basketball may earn 100 points.

Volleyball is next on the schedule. The games are played inside and tournaments are held. While the volleyball nets are up, we practice badminton. Those GAAers who attend a sufficient number of volleyball games get 100 points.

After volleyball comes tumbling, the season of headstands, backbends, and stiff necks. The tumblers are divided into two groups, beginners and advanced. Both groups have an important part in the GAA exhibition. Regular attendance merits 100 points.

Don't throw the bat! You are now in the midst of the baseball season. If the weather permits these games are played outdoors. So, swing that bat and earn 100 points.

Beside the 100 point activities it is possible to collect one point a mile for hiking and one point an hour for skating. The swimming meet is held in December and all the contestants swim around trying to earn 100 or 25 points.

The last thing on the schedule is track and a chance to obtain those last few points for a letter. The track meet is held for two nights in succession. These events are held in the gym and stadium. As high as 100 points may be obtained in track.

This is our program for the year. We invite you to come out and make it just as successful as years past. We'll be seeing you in GAA!

Many Archer IM'ers Keep Muscles Trim By Summer's Sports

South Side's intramural stars have not been just lying around taking it easy this summer. In fact they have not let their athletic muscles soften up in the slightest.

Billy Martin, for instance, has been keeping in trim by playing tennis and softball. He played on the Bob Inn softball team, which won the title for the first half of the season at Packard Park, and he also won the double championship of the boys' division of the tennis tournament at Weisser Park.

Harold Werkman, Bill's tennis mate, has been following about the same routine. Lefty, as he is known by his friends, besides winning the doubles championship, won the singles in the same division. Lefty is a champion in almost any sport he enters. He is good in baseball as well as tennis. He played on the Bob Inn team along with Billy Martin, Dallas Zuber, and Gene McClain. All of these boys played with the American Legion team also.

It is amusing to know how they got on to the American Legion team. It seems that last summer the boys had a softball team that was so good that they beat the American Legion every time they played. Therefore, the Legion thought it would be a good idea to get some of the boys on their team. This summer the American Legion came in fifth in a tournament held at Indianapolis. This tourney was composed of teams all over the state of Indiana, and you can easily see that fifth place is very good.

Harry Hines, one of South Side's most promising stars, in varsity sports as well as intramural, has been enjoying his summer at his father's farm for the past three months.

Jeanne Smith Is Tennis Queen

Jeanne Smith was crowned queen of the tennis courts, when she won the Women's City Tennis Tournaments, which were held at Weisser Park. She outplayed Marian Faux in a breathless battle in the title match. Both players displayed a lot of skill and expert playing.

Jeanne defeated her younger foe in the first set 6-3. Marian, being able to prolong the match, took the second set 8-6. Jeanne, giving all she had, took the last and final 6-0, which gave her the title of Women's Champion.

Jeanne defeated Dorothy Frie, a North Side star, 7-5, 6-1, to reach the final bracket.

South Side Girls Win Net Tourney

Marian Faux Captures Title In Singles; Junior Tournament Finals Won By Jeanne Smith

The Girls' Singles title in the City Playground Tournament was taken by Marian Faux in all straight sets. She defeated Florence Dammeier 6-0, 6-1; Ann Pontius 6-0, 6-2; Katherine Vonderau 6-2, 6-1. In the final match, Marian defeated Edith O'Rourke 6-1, 6-4.

The entire scoring for the tourney is as follows: Marian Faux defeated Florence Dammeier 6-0, 6-1; Ann Pontius defeated Joy Foelber 6-3, 6-0; Katherine Vonderau defeated Shirley Rogers 6-1, 8-4; Joan Oberfall defeated Eileen Reinking 6-8, 6-4, 6-2; Edith O'Rourke defeated Betty Puff 6-0, 6-2; Gloria Cadorette defeated Barbara Cross 6-4, 12-14, 8-6; Mary Jane Grothouse defeated Joyce Price 6-1, 6-1; Sophie Tryce drew a bye.

In the second round Marian Faux defeated Ann Pontius 6-0, 6-2; Katherine Vonderau defeated Joan Oberfall 6-2, 6-4; Edith O'Rourke defeated Gloria Cadorette 6-0, 6-1; Sophie Tryce defeated Mary Jane Grothouse, default.

The third round results are: Marian Faux defeated Katherine Vonderau 6-2, 6-1; Edith O'Rourke defeated Shirley Tryce 6-0, 6-1.

The final match in the Junior Girls' tourney was taken by Jeanne Smith when she defeated Marian Faux 6-2, 7-5. In the second set the score was 5-1 in favor of Marian but Jeanne took the set by taking the next six games. Before meeting Marian, Jeanne downed Charlotte DuWan and Edith O'Rourke.

The scoring for the entire tourney was as follows: Edith O'Rourke defeated Betty Thiele 6-1, 6-2; Florence Dammeier defeated Dorothy Frie by default. The rest of the contestants drew byes.

In the second round Jeanne Smith defeated Charlotte DuWan 6-1, 6-0; Edith O'Rourke defeated Dean O'Rourke by default; Betty Hargan defeated Florence Dammeier 6-4, 6-4; Marian Faux defeated Louise Majorki 6-1, 6-2. In the third round Jeanne Smith defeated Edith O'Rourke 6-8, 6-0, 6-1. Marian Faux defeated Betty Hargan 6-1, 6-1.

Give Regulations About Fire Drills

Some Rules Named Are: Students Must Be Quiet, Walk Fast, Leave Classes By Twos

Whenever fire drills are held in South Side, the following regulations should be obeyed: Students must maintain quiet; students must walk rapidly, not run; students are to pass out of their classrooms by twos; the first students to reach closed doors should hold them open; students are to pass far enough down the side-walks to permit all to get out of the building; students are to stay out of the building until the siren sounds for their return.

Students from rooms 2, 4, 6, 142, 140, 138, 102, 190, and 188 pass through the north side of the main Calhoun Street door. Students from rooms 98, 96, 94, 92, west half of room S, and 91 pass through the south side of the main Calhoun Street entrance.

Students from rooms 84, 86, 88, 85, 90, 174, 176, and 178 use the right side of the southwest door on Gumpfer Avenue, and students from rooms 82, 80, 79, 76, 77, 180, 182, 184, and 186 use the left side of the southwest door on Gumpfer Avenue. Students from the following rooms use the right side of the southeast door on Gumpfer: 72, 74, 75, 65, 61, 170, 172. Students from the following rooms use the left side of the southeast door on Gumpfer: 70, 68, 66, 64, 62, 60, and 58.

Students from rooms 12, 10, and 8 use the left side of the north Calhoun Street entrance. Students from rooms 14, 16, and 20 use the right side of the north Calhoun Street entrance. The students from rooms 114, 112, 110, and 108 use the left side of the north entrance. Those students from the gym and cafeteria use the right side of the north entrance.

The students of the following rooms use the left side of the north entrance: 26, 25, 24, 22. Those students from rooms 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 use the right side of the northeast entrance.

Students from the following rooms use the left side of the east entrance: 48, 46, 44, 41, 43, 144, 146. Those from rooms 52, 54, 56, and east side of room S use the right side of the east entrance.

Where students from two rooms may walk four abreast, they should do so.

GAA Gives Invitation To Freshman Girls

Dear Freshman Girls:
You are cordially invited to join the Girls' Athletic Organization. It is a fine organization for those interested in basketball, baseball, volleyball, ball, speed ball, and many other healthful sports. Many friends are gained from participating in GAA. You may join by coming into the girls' gym office, which is on the left side of the south entrance of the gym, and signing up with Miss Dean, GAA supervisor, or attending the organization meeting.
Yours truly,
The Girls' Athletic Organization.

Kelly Klads Shine In Summer Sports

South Siders Win Tennis, Golf, Swim Meets; Play Baseball; Compete In Sailboat Races

Although South Side was dismissed last June, the Kelly Klads were well represented in the summer sports events that were held throughout the summer vacation. In the greatest American sport, baseball, Melvin Volz and Bob Englehart hit their stride on a major commercial softball team. In the city parks tennis tournament, Harold Werkman came away the boys' champion and Max Stobaugh, Bill Martin, Dick Schieferstein, Ward Gilbert, and Bob Young reached the quarter finals of the boys' and junior boys' divisions.

Many South Siders are interested in boating and several showed their ability in the Lake Wawasee sailboat races, among whom were Dan Auer and John Bonisb. South Side's great swimmer, Ernie Vogel, was on the winning relay team at the Terre Haute meet. Ernie was also the second highest in the city swimming meet.

The Kelly Klads were also represented in the field of golf. Harry Feaser won the Orchard Ridge Caddies tournament. Bob Young and Harry Feaser finished among the prize winners in the city amateur golf tournament. Bob revealed the fact that his prize was a case of sparkling water. I wonder what he will do with it, make sodas? In the American Legion Baseball Tourney Harold Werkman, Arnett, Laird, Zuber, Seiler, and Newkam were on the Junior Legion team which reached the semi-finals in the State Legion tourney at Indianapolis.

Although summer may have checked the sporting ventures of many Archers, it can be easily seen by the activities of the cross section of the students who were listed above, that at least a good portion of southern students took advantage of the summer months to increase their sporting competition.

Gordon Straley Is Athletic Director

Former Football Star Receives Position Of Head Coach At West Lafayette High School

One of South Side's former star gridders, Gordon Straley, has been elevated to the position of head coach and athletic director at West Lafayette High School. Gordon is succeeding Leon Dailey, who recently accepted the position of head football mentor at Hammond Technical. It has been said that the former Archer star was chosen not merely for his outstanding ability, but more because of his intimate association with the pupils and athletes under his direction. Since Gordon graduated from South Side in 1934, he has spent five years in the physical education department of Purdue, and one year as assistant to Mr. Dailey at West Lafayette.

While at South Side, Straley participated in all three major sports, winning several letters through his fine play. For two successive years he was given an All-City guard post on the mythical high school all-star grid team. At Purdue Gordon entered into competition in many different fields of sports, however, he specialized on the sport at which he excelled, football. As Gordon is one of the youngest coaches in the state, being only twenty-three, he fully realizes that he has many years to mold good prep teams before looking farther afield. From all Archerdom go the wishes that Gordon Straley may be successful in his new position at West Lafayette High School.

Girls' Sportsettes

Our congratulations go to Jeanne Smith and Marian Faux for their achievements in the Weisser Park Tennis Tournament. They are both swell tennis players and fine kids. GAA can be proud of them.

This year GAA can look forward in having a good list of entrants for the tennis tournament.

Many of the members have been playing a lot this summer.

Emily Sweetland has moved to Oregon. (We will miss you, Emily!) Miss Alice Dean visited New York and the fair this summer.

Judy Kaeser and Pat Harnish were at camp for a week at Lake Wawasee. The summer weather must agree with "fuzzy" Amstutz's hair. It looks like a new crop of fuzzy; but, when you ask her if it is, she answers, "I have to keep my name, don't I?"

I hope that all of the new freshmen have gotten some idea of what goes on.

Confucius say, "He who join GAA have a lot of fun in store for them". Take heed of this, freshmen!

South Siders Vacation At Lakes In Indiana

Lakes throughout Indiana were visited by Archer students during the past months. Dick Gallmeyer, Betty Dibble, Dave Rea, Sally Hobbs, Jean Sidell, Gladys Feolinger, Phyllis Schwartz, Marilyn Loomis, Mary Alice Dunten, and Louis Hallenstein vacationed at Lake James. Wawasee was visited by Judy Kaeser, Katherine Kuntz, Bob Druhot, Betty Harrison, Pat Seibel, former Archerette, Pat Harnish, and Julia Caser.

Oliver Lake drew the three Archerettes, Jean Weil, Martha Moellering, and Violet Reiter. Ralph Herb, Maurine Leas, Audrey Smith, and Peggy Fox spent some time at Crooked Lake. John Bonsib gave a few of his minutes to Lake Papakechee. Leah Schwartz vacationed at Round Lake. Carolyn Snoke visited Tippecanoe Lake. Clara Makey and Joan Waggoner spent a week at Winona Lake.

Sixteen Attend Institute At M. E. Church Camp

Epworth Forest Institute proved to be the site of many South Side vacationists this summer during the week of July 13-20. Doyle Shirk, Carol and Mary Whittier, Joan Cartwright, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Joan Cox, Peggy Greany, Norma Whitesel, Everette Truelock, Betty Koehler, Jim VanBuskirk, Johnny Myers, Philip Allen, Jane Chenoweth, Margot Todd, Nadine Woehr, Bob Allen, and Emelyn Remmel were those who attended.

The institute is a summer camp organized by the Epworth League, which is a young people's association of the Methodist Church. Classes on religious education are held and various sports such as swimming, badminton, croquet, tennis, ping pong, soft ball, and archery provided recreation. Fine concerts or well-known speakers presented the evening entertainment.

Tickets To Be Issued Instead Of Car Passes

This year school street car passes will be different. Twenty perforated tickets will be sold for the use of the students at the regular price of 50 cents. For each ride one ticket will be used instead of having a pass punched.

Because of the new trolley coaches, a stop will not be made midway in the block in front of the school.

South Side Grads Receive Degrees

Awards Given At Commencement Exercises From Institutions Throughout Country

Many South Side graduates have been awarded degrees during recent commencement exercises from colleges throughout the country.

Ex-Archers who were graduated from Northwestern University include Miss Mary P. Graham, '29, Master of Arts; Miss Helen Anderson, '36, Bachelor of Science; Mr. Robert W. Adams, '36, Bachelor of Science; and Mr. Bryce W. Minier, '36, Bachelor of Science.

Miss Helen C. Potter, '36, was graduated from the University of Toledo with a Bachelor of Arts degree. Miss Edythe C. Thornton received a Master of Arts degree in English from the Vanderbilt University.

Mr. Samuel A. Rea, '35, was awarded his Bachelor of Science degree in economics during the commencement exercises at the University of Pennsylvania.

Three ex-South Siders who were students at the University of Michigan have lately been awarded Bachelor of Arts degrees. They are Miss Betty Dickmeyer, '35; Mr. Richard A. Hickman, '35; and Mr. William J. Hockett Jr., '35. Mr. Hickman had been outstanding in the university band and symphony orchestra. Mr. Hockett was on the Michiganian staff, in the junior honor society, and in the Sphinx Club.

Degrees from Franklin College were received by Miss Rosemary Chappell, '36, who was graduated magna cum laude; Miss Ruth R. Roadcap, '36; and Miss Marie E. Wolf, '36.

Mr. Melvin Eggers, '30, and Mr. Frederick H. Meyers, '35, were awarded fellowships for advanced study this fall, it was announced, at Bloomington, where the two are students of Indiana University. The awards were made on the basis of scholarship. Mr. Eggers has been granted an assistant teaching post in economics at Indiana, and Mr. Meyers received an assistantship in the zoology department at the University of California.

Pupils May Apply For Service Work

Any Student Is Eligible For Job Of Aiding Teachers; Points Toward Pins To Be Awarded

Any student who wishes to do service work may find a position in any branch of the school. Anyone from a freshman to a senior may apply for a position in which he is qualified. Pupils work during study periods and after school. A point system is used and a record is kept of all points a student earns. One point an hour is given for work done during school while two points an hour is given for work after school and at home.

To obtain work, students apply directly to the person for whom they wish to work. Some of the positions open are the following: general office work in either Mr. R. N. Snider's, Miss Martha Pittenger's or Mr. A. Verne Flint's office; work in speech, mathematics, athletics, music, manual training, and dramatic departments; also a student may work for Mrs. Lillian Scott in the study hall, or as a locker guard for Mr. Flint.

Any student who wishes to become a service worker is asked to apply during the first few days of school.

Grad Receives Scholarship

Leona Menze, graduate of '37, was given a scholarship to IU. She has been given an NYA job and also a position with the Director of Admissions.

Principal Attends Workshop
Mr. R. Nelson Snider, South Side's principal, spent two weeks at Purdue University this summer attending the Purdue Workshop.

"Joe" Plasket Makes Industry A Pleasure In Wainwright Camp

Joe Plasket

Aye, aye, sir!! The fleet's in. Cargile wins the elimination heats and here comes Captain Plasket now. The big race for the title of Supreme Sailor of the Wainwright Camps is over and Joe Plasket's two boats, which were used in the eliminations, have proven themselves seaworthy and Wainwright-Camp worthy. Mr. Joseph Plasket, our manual training instructor, has been spending the summer at Oliver Lake making business pleasure by building boats for the use of the camp. The aforementioned crafts are only a beginning, as Mr. Plasket is to build another boat next summer and after that, well, who knows?

The boats are constructed of waterproof plywood and are of the dinghy type, quite similar to a Rieke Dinghy. It has a centerboard and a Marconi gaff rig. The boats are twelve feet in length and have a five foot beam. He is helped in his work on the boats by several of the camp's boys. Any who are interested may participate under the direction of Commodore Plasket.

Joe is quite well known in Indiana as a skipper of no mean prowess and has demonstrated it often during the Snipe races with the Wawasee Yacht Club where Joe was the favorite and walked away with just about every trophy they had to offer. Last year he raced a National 1 design boat which enabled him to get into National competition. He raced at Muskegon and placed third. This entitled him to a show in the finals where he did himself proud.

Mr. Plasket has been building boats for a long time. This, I think, makes him well qualified for sponsorship of the Airplane Club. Airplanes are just another of his hobbies, in each of which he excels.

Kellies To Attend Various Colleges

Majority Enters I. U. Extension, Northwestern; Some To Enroll For Nurses' Training

Graduated seniors of the class of 1940 will scatter to colleges in six states of the union. In spite of the fact that many of the former students have work in the factories and department stores in this city, there remains a handful who will continue their education by going to college.

Those who will begin studies at Purdue this fall are William Shultz, William Kinsey, Jean Fortriede, and Sam Hite. Bill Riethmiller, Ellen McKay, and Bruce Bradbury will attend Northwestern University, while Ilene Briggs and Robert Hageman will attend DePaul. Joanne Shinnick has enrolled at Michigan State University, Carolyn Cartwright at Albion College, and Eugene Senseney at Wabash College. Several others going out of the state are: Carolyn Keel to Western School for girls, Susanne Beck to Ohio Wesleyan, Anna Anderson and Joan Korte to Stevens College, and Doris Dickmeyer to Ann Arbor.

Phyllis Branning, Marion Miller, and Bernice Etzler will attend Wittenberg College. Dick Craig, Tom Gallmeyer, and Ralph Hamilton will go to Indiana University. Four of the boys going out of the state are as follows: Bruce Klotz to Michigan State College, Leroy Cook to University of Kentucky, John Hornberger to Illinois Wesleyan University, and Arthur Matot to Miami. Dick Doerner will enter Notre Dame.

Ronald McVay, Dorris Williams, Eugene Tigges, Jack Hodell, James Murphy, Maurine Seibert, Emilou Allendorph, Alex Azar, Norma Sprunger, and Wilma Sullivan will attend Indiana University Extension. Jane Engleking will enter International Business College, Virginia Fleming will enter Bennington College, Jane Merchant will enter nurses training at Lafayette Hospital, Virginia Menze at Lutheran Hospital in Fort Wayne, Audrey Hall in Chicago, and Charlotte Ellerman at Methodist Hospital in Fort Wayne.

Marge Sheldon Helps Store's Fashion Board

Marge Sheldon, general manager of The Times, served as a member of the High School Board of Wolf and Dessauer. At the meeting of the committee, the styles and prices of dresses, skirts, coats, suits, and many other articles that most girls wear and use were discussed.

A fashion show was held from August 28 to August 29 to display what most high school girls are going to wear this fall for school. A special day was set for each school. The models used for that certain day were selected from the student body of the school. Central's and Central Catholic's High School day was Wednesday, August 28. On Thursday, August 29, South Side and North Side had their high school day. Models used from South Side were Bea Etzler, graduate of '40, and Rose Etha Brazy.

Do You Want To Hitchhike? No? Then Don't Read This!!

Since summer vacation has been put to an abrupt end for a while, (sigh), the subject of hitchhiking may be rather out of season. However, it is a subject most likely to interest you outdoor fiends who are willing to rough it. (Or should I say hoof it?)

Needless to say, this nerve-racking method of travel grows more popular every year. Won't you bear with me for a moment, while I give you a play by play description of Joe Bloke's trip to Sturgis, Michigan, via the thumb.

Now, Joe was an enthusiastic traveler who possessed a great deal of self-confidence and prided himself in the fact that he could swing a mean thumb, most of the time. Joe started his little jaunt out on North Fairfield on a corner where a spotlight was located. Now take careful note of his wise decision regarding this matter. The most logical place to obtain a ride is near a stop sign, because if you are on the highway, most drivers buzz along at sixty miles (or over) per hour and at that rate the hitch-hiker looks like a Zombi lost in the blurred scenery.

Joe was stationed on the corner only five minutes when his dream car pulled up to the curb driven by an extremely thoughtful man of twenty years. This driver took Joe as far as Kendallville, at which point Joe sadly found himself hitting the open road again. This time luck was on a holiday because Joe walked four miles before another car containing a woman, three youngsters, a dog, and a canary picked him up. Joe was obliged to hold "Rover" and the canary both.

Tired and bedraggled, he was forced to make his exit this time at La-Grange, Indiana. Poor Joe, just a highway trudge, had been walking three miles before he came to a highway restaurant, apparently a truck stop. He decided to linger here awhile in hopes that some truck driver would come out feeling rather rosy and provide a little transportation. Well, it happened. (Didn't you know it would?) The truck driver took him on to Sturgis which brought him to his destination.

What happened after that is a secret between Joe and me, but the point is, has this story aided you in any way in learning the arts and principles of hitch-hiking? Don't answer that question!

Capt. William F. Santelmann will conduct the famous United States Marine Band in Fort Wayne on Friday, September 20 in the Shrine Theatre under the auspices of Fort Wayne Turners. This will be a special concert for the students of high school age. There will be a matinee at 3:30 p. m., for thirty-five cents.

Captain Santelmann, leader of the United States Marine Band, has always been interested in boys' and school bands and is constantly doing things to inspire and help these organizations. In many cities, the afternoon concerts are given especially for school children, and for this reason their programs are lighter and gayer than the evening programs. On the forthcoming tour the band will play in several college towns, and for these engagements Captain Santelmann has constructed programs particularly designed to appeal to young people of high school age.

Archers Are Soloists At Limberlost Camps

Lucy Smith and William Cargile, South Side students, were presented as soloists on the weekly student recital of Limberlost Camps at La-Grange, Indiana.

Lucy, who is a piano student this summer of Mrs. Ernest Friedlander of Indianapolis, and also studies voice with Beverly Barksdale of the Toledo Museum of Art music faculty, was heard both in a piano solo and in a vocal solo. Bill, who studies woodwinds with Fred Weaver of Columbus, Ohio, played an oboe solo.

Clubs Furnish Entertainment For Archers

Twenty-Six Clubs Listed For Various Interests Of Average Archer Students

For the freshmen and all upperclassmen who are interested in extracurricular activities, South Side provides a numerous variety of clubs which they may join.

Girls have a choice of many interesting clubs. The Meterite Club is for 9B, 9A, and 10B girls who have a B grade or above in English. When a girl graduates from Meterites, she may join its sister organization, Philo, which is for upperclassmen. Both clubs have as their purpose the study of literature.

Another fine club for girls is GAA. This club gives girls a chance to participate in athletics outside of gym classes. It is through this club that a girl earns a letter.

For girls interested in home economics, there is Wo-Ho-Ma. It is this club's aim to help others to live more happily by increasing a girl's knowledge of home-making.

USA is a Girl Reserve Club. The girls in this organization expect to be So-Si-Y girls in the future, and that is the goal toward which they work. Both clubs are active in charity work.

Club Makes Models

Two fine clubs for boys are Hi-Y and the Airplane Club. Hi-Y has as its aim clean scholarship, character, sports, and speech. The Airplane Club devotes its time to building and flying model airplanes.

Boys interested in learning how to handle guns and becoming good shots may join the Rifle Club. There is also a Rifle Club for girls.

For those who have an interest in music, there is the Band, Glee Club, and Orchestra. By participating in these organizations, music letters may be earned.

Students of foreign languages often join either Le Cercle Francais or Societas Romana—French or Latin Club. These clubs increase the student's interest in whatever language he may be studying.

Stamp lovers are eligible to join the Stamp Club, which they find is an excellent place to further their interest.

Literary-minded students soon find that the Library Club is the place for them. Three E's is also an enjoyable club for these people. The requirements for the latter club are, however, that a student must have had two years of a foreign language and have a B grade or above in English.

Wranglers is an excellent club for those interested in public speaking and for those who wish to overcome any shyness they may feel when called upon to speak before a crowd.

Three clubs which are of importance to the school are Booster, Service, and Inter-Club Congress. Booster is divided into three sections, any of which the student may join, concessions, decorations, and yell leaders. Service Club is for those who truly wish to be of service to the school and are willing to give their time to it by working in offices and as locker guards. Inter-Club Congress is composed of representatives from each club in the school.

Another place where pupils enjoy themselves is in the Marionette Club. There they learn to construct and operate puppets and to write or re-write plays suitable for the marionette stage.

Student Players Club is made to order for anyone and everyone who has the desire to act, while the Times and Totem suit those who wish to write.

Two clubs are waiting for those who like club life that is a wee bit more serious. Math-Science is for students interested in the fields of mathematics and science, while Social Science is for those who wish to study social, political and economic problems. In the case of each of the last two organizations, a student must have taken the subjects most nearly related to the club: mathematics for Math-Science and history for Social Science.

Archer Grad Is Clerk Of School Supervisors

Appointment of Miss Ruth Henline, '38, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Henline, 3523 Webster Street, as clerk of the supervisors of the Fort Wayne public schools, has been announced.

Miss Henline was an honor graduate of South Side High School and general manager of The South Side Times. She succeeds Miss Florence Buecker, who was promoted to secretary to Superintendent Merle J. Abbott recently. Since her graduation from high school, Miss Henline has been secretary in the office of the Harrison Hill School and secretary for an oil company.

Grad Is Lieutenant

Noble Sprunger, South Side graduate, is now a lieutenant on one of the big Clipper ships, which crosses the Atlantic Ocean each week. While at South Side, Mr. Sprunger was a basketball and football player.

Archer Gains Another Championship For South Side

Were You Ever Coronated King Of A Soap Box Derby?

Norbert Rehm, a sophomore at South Side, was crowned 1940 champion of the News-Sentinel-Chevrolet Soap Box Derby. By winning this derby Norbert was made eligible to participate in the All-America Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio, which was held August 11.

Norbert's goal had to be obtained this year because he is fifteen and the age limit would exempt him next year. Four years he battled with other contestants but it ended with no success.

Last year at the All-America classic in Akron, Norbert was just a spectator. Here he had formed dreams of being a champion which came true by winning the News-Sentinel Chevrolet Soap Box Derby.

Four times the little speedster sent his Torpedo No. 2 down the 750-foot speedway to win the race. To complete his triumph he engaged three champions from Angola, Warsaw, and Butler. Also he won the Northeastern Indiana championship, which gave him the right to compete with stars at Akron.

When he reached the city finals, the crowd seemed to take a liking to him. As he passed the checkered flag the spectators hailed him as one of the most popular of derby champs.

Competition in the finals was much faster this year than last and Norbert showed his ingenuity, skill, and craftsmanship. Last year the boys in the finals went 33.5 seconds. This year it was speeded up to 29.6 seconds to reach the final bracket.

At Akron, Ohio, he was the favorite of the 50,000 spectators. The speedster had to drive his way through fast competition from large, distant cities. Since the last six years Norbert has given the best showing of all the boys from Fort Wayne who have participated in the All American Soap Box Derby. Norbert was the first Fort Wayne boy to win a heat in the All-America classic. The crowd looked with favor on him when he lined up his little yellow racer.

Norbert had competition from Denver, Colorado, and Atlanta, Georgia. Leaving them behind, he finished in 27.15 seconds. In the second round the speedster had to compete with 44 other first heat winners. He went to the starting ramp where winners from Cleveland and Minneapolis were waiting to compete with him.

Norbert again was victorious by covering the distance in 26.97 seconds and benefiting from past experience. Then he moved into competition with fourteen other survivors, which included champs from Pontiac, Michigan, and Wichita, Kansas. Gordon Kiestler of Pontiac covered the distance in 26.59 seconds which eliminated Norbert from the semi-finals.

Parent-Teacher Head Is Mrs. A. K. Rimmel

Mrs. A. K. Rimmel was re-elected president for the coming year of the South Side Parent-Teacher Association at the last meeting. The other members who were elected officers are as follows: Mrs. H. H. Tracht, vice-president; Mr. Maurice Cook, second vice-president; Mrs. Fred Wilson, secretary; and Mrs. Edward Auer, treasurer.

At the last meeting it was announced that Mr. Wilburn Wilson will conduct a class for parents and other adults in the community interested in the study of civics and current events. The meetings will begin early this fall.

Due to the fact that many of the members of the association are out of town, no definite names can be listed as members of committees until they return to give their consent.

NYA Offers Assistance To Needy Kelly Pupils

Pupils of South Side High School will be able to participate in the work program of the National Youth Administration during the school year of 1940-41. This program is designed to assist pupils to remain in school by offering employment within the school. Assistance is to be offered only to those who have need for this aid. A pupil must be sixteen or over in order to participate in this program. Applications for work on this program should be made as early as possible to Mr. A. Verne Flint in room 106.

Job's Daughters Elect Archers For Officers

Several South Side girls were installed as officers of Job's Daughters recently. Jane Bowen was elected senior princess; LaVerne Michelfelder, guide; Miriam Jackson, marshal; Joan Carman, first messenger; Gladys Foellinger, second messenger; Phyllis Strassburg, third messenger; Betty Jo Jones, fourth messenger; and Marjorie Reithmiller, fifth messenger. The following South Side girls will assist the social chairman for the ensuing year: Jane Bowen, LaVerne Michelfelder, Gladys Foellinger, Marjorie Reithmiller, and Phyllis Strassburg. Avel Bridges, Gladys Foellinger, and Betty Lou Geake are on the publicity committee; and Marilyn Sondles and Jane Merchant are on the sick committee.

Mrs. Lillian Scott Sets Rules For Attendance

Mrs. Lillian Scott, attendance supervisor, has drawn up a set of attendance rules for the student body. All students who are absent for one period or any length of time are to go to the office opposite the girls' gymnasium office to get their absent slips. For excused absences, such as sickness or a death in the family, the student will receive a white slip. Unexcused absence slips will be pink. When students are tardy, they should go to the office to get a permit to classes.

awakened by these heartless creatures who insist on playing tennis or going swimming at the ungody hour of 4 a. m.

Next you try to find some clothes to put on. Just look out on the cottage roof and your shoes, ankle socks and other articles of apparel will be peacefully reposing in the sun. You'll find your slack suit tied in knots around the rafters. Then you try to find your lipstick and discover it hiding behind a turtle in a pail of water. Somehow or other you get yourself looking decent and you rush to the auditorium for morning watch service.

After that comes breakfast. Then dishes (oh, dreadful thought!) and you run to your morning classes one-half hour late. Dinner comes next and you try to sneak off to escape K.P. duty, (K.P. means kitchen police) so you won't be late for that swimming date.

After swimming all afternoon you run home and dress up in your Sunday best, eat dinner and tear off for THE big date. You sit through a concert or lecture for an hour and decide you need some fresh air. Some go for a steamboat ride in the moonlight on the Dixie, while others rush to the nearest lovers' bench, only to find to their dismay that some other couple has beaten them to it. These couples who have been unfortunate in obtaining a lovers' bench revenge themselves by taking a stroll along the lake shore for the remainder of the evening.

Then comes the bell warning the boys that it is time to take their date home for the evening devotion after which all toddle off to bed. Those who are attending Institute for the first time are apt to find fish, turtles, snails, and insides of clams on their bed sheets; salt and pepper on their pillow cases; mattresses on the rafters, pajamas tied in knots, and a general appearance of chaos everywhere.

Guards are provided to see that all lights are out and all merriment has ceased by 11 p. m. But I'll tell you a secret, after the guards leave the fun begins, unless some eagle-eyed chaperon is still awake. Then you are promptly told to be quiet and go to sleep, which command you meekly obey wondering what new excitement tomorrow will bring.

So-Si-Y Will Hold Meeting Tuesday

Bernadine Bender Is President; Other Officers Are Listed; Code, Purpose Are Presented

So-Si-Y will hold its first meeting September 10 in the Greeley Room. The officers for the fall semester are: president, Bernadine Bender; vice-president, Violet Steinbauer; secretary, Martha Thomas; treasurer, Alice Volmerding; Inter-Club Congress representative, Gertrude Merkel; social chairman, Marjorie Gerding; service chairman, Romayne Rediger; membership and publicity chairman, LaVerne Greiner; and music chairman, Marjorie Calkins. These officers were installed at a candle service on May 7, which was the Mother-Daughter Tea. Miss Beulah Rinehart and Miss Hazel Miller are the advisers.

So-Si-Y is a junior club of the Fort Wayne YWCA and for this reason have chosen the purpose to find and give the best. They endeavor to do this by carrying out the phrases of the Girl Reserve Code. The code is as follows:

As a Girl Reserve I will try to be:
Gracious in manner,
Impartial in judgment,
Ready for Service,
Loyal to friends,
Reaching toward the best,
Earnest in purpose,
Seeing the best in others,
Eager for knowledge,
Reverent to God,
Victorious over self,
Ever dependable,
Sincere at all times.

The emblem for the Girl Reserves is a blue triangle.
Every junior and senior girl is invited to join this club.

Vacation Periods Announced
The three vacation periods for the first term of school will be as follows: October 24 and 25, Teachers Association; November 21 and 22, Thanksgiving; and December 23 to January 2, Christmas.

Is Archer Physician

Dr. Werner W. Duemling

Dr. Werner W. Duemling, the head physician of all schools, will again be South Side's physician this year. The doctor will come to the school each day.

Dr. Duemling's main purpose is to help in the direction of health education. His second purpose is to examine the students in order to keep contagious diseases, if any, from spreading. Dr. Duemling will also help in the examination of boys and girls for athletes.

Dr. W. W. Duemling In Paralysis Talk

School Physician To Address Math-Science Meeting Friday Evening On Two Topics

Dr. W. W. Duemling will speak at the first Math-Science meeting, Friday, to be held in the Greeley Room beginning at 7:30 o'clock. He will present two subjects, one entitled, "Radiation and Its Uses" and the other, "What We Know Concerning Infantile Paralysis."

Installation of officers will also be featured at the meeting. Those who will take part in the installation besides the new officers will be Miss A. Fiedler, as the Spirit of Mathematics; Mr. Lloyd Whelan, as the Spirit of Science; and Dorris Williams, as the Spirit of the Math-Science Club.

The club is open to any junior or senior who is interested in either mathematics or science. The dues are 25 cents a semester. Advisers for the club this semester are Mr. Elza Gould, botany teacher, and Miss Georgianna Hodgson, mathematics instructor. The officers for the coming semester consist of Safford McPeters, president; Lois Gumpfer, vice-president; and Bob Wyllie, secretary-treasurer.

Season Athletics Book Sale Begins

Complete Athletic Tickets Cost $2.50; Includes Home Track, Football, Basketball Games

Season tickets are now on sale for the coming athletic year. With a splendid schedule, energetic coaches, and many capable veterans returning to activity this year, the South Side spirit of interest should be on a definite upgrade, school officials believe.

Complete season books cost but $2.50. In this set are included ten home basketball admissions, six football passes, and four track tickets. Cards must be obtained and filled out in the home room before the season books may be secured in the athletic office.

A student is not required to pay in full; twenty-five cents may be paid in down payment. The installment plan tickets cost only $3. With twenty events carded at home on Archer schedules, the total cost for attendance without the season book would be about $6.80. Season books represent a saving of over $4.

Students are urged to purchase a season book before the opening game with Bluffton this Saturday.

Times Again Wins Highest Honor Rating

Awarded 965 Out Of Possible 1,000 Points By International Quill And Scroll

The South Side Times was again awarded International Honor Rating for its superior achievements in all departments, Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser, was notified this week by Edward Nell, executive secretary of Quill and Scroll, at Northwestern University.

With a possible maximum score in the achievement scale of 1,000 points, the Times made a score of 965 points, and the highest rating given. Following are the departments in which the publication received a perfect score: Journalism, editorial achievements, innovations, circulation of paper, and advertising. Other departments in which the Times received superior rating are quality of writing, selection of material, treatment of material, proportion of students engaged in journalism, and responsibilities of the staff.

Three copies from last spring and three from last fall were sent in to be judged. The judges of this year's service were under the auspices of the Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern University. "The South Side Times has again in 1940 proven itself one of the nation's leading high school newspapers and is awarded the International Honor rating for its superior achievements in all departments," the judges wrote on the score book. "We have no paper which can surpass you in news coverage and very few equals. You have several unique features ably executed, plus a sound idea in polling the home rooms. All ad copy is well-written."

June Flaig Receives Annual Music Award

June Flaig, South Side's talented and outstanding harpist, has been awarded a $150 scholarship at the Arthur T. Jones Conservatory of Music in Indianapolis. Each year this conservatory awards such a scholarship and June has been given the honor of receiving it this year.

She will study with Rebecca Lewis over a period of thirty-six weeks. Each week she will travel down to the capital city for her lesson.

Times Staff Meeting Is Slated For Friday

First pep meeting of the complete staff and agents of the Times will be held at 3:20 p. m. on Friday. Announcement of plans for the coming year will be made by Marjorie Sheldon, general manager; Miss Lucy Lundy, Harvey, faculty adviser; and Miss Vivian Crates Logan of the editorial staff of The News-Sentinel, who assists the Times staff and Miss Harvey.

Bob Robinson, circulation manager, will report on subscriptions to date and will announce a room agents' meeting to be held immediately after school on Monday.

Principal Lists Faculty Groups In New Policy

Six Committees Will Aid In Solution Of School Problems; Project Is Outlined

Six faculty committees have been named by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, to establish an organization which will participate in the solution of problems of the school. During the past years mention has been made of teachers' participation in solving school problems, but little has been done in the direction of such an organization. In the past all members of the faculty have felt free to make suggestions concerning scheduling, curricular problems, extra activities, discipline, and all of the other problems which are of general concern, but there had been no organized procedure by which the thinking of all faculty members could be collected and harnessed for more effective school work.

Starting this fall, an attempt will be made to give each and all of the faculty an opportunity to contribute to the management, direction, and policy of the institution, Mr. Snider said.

The first step in this attempt will be the setting of Monday evening for faculty work. There are yet some activities scheduled for that evening, but these shall gradually be eliminated. Students are asked to understand that Monday evening is reserved for general work, and all but those in definite activities should be in the building as soon as possible after dismissal of school.

The second step in the effort to organize the forces includes the establishment of certain committees, six of which have already been appointed by the principal. Other committees will be needed as the program proceeds and will be selected when the time arrives for their functioning. A definite schedule of meetings will be arranged with the various committees so that their work may start at once.

The first committee is the Professional Faculty Committee, charged with the responsibility of arranging and conducting faculty meetings in such a manner that they can gather the suggestions of all the faculty and come to some conclusion concerning any problem which may be under consideration. The committee is in charge of this committee, assisted by Miss Emma Kiefer, Mr. Earl Sterner, Mr. C. A. Bex, Mr. Wilburn Wilson, and Miss Elizabeth Kelly.

Another committee, which has been seriously needed, is the Curriculum Committee, which will be in charge of the various department recommendations for changes, and passing upon proposals for new courses. The changing times make the introduction of new courses almost mandatory, and this committee should consider this situation. The chairman is Miss Mabel Thorne, Mr. E. J. Adams, Mr. E. R. Murch, Mr. E. S. Gould, and Mr. A. Verne Flint comprise her committee.

The third committee is one on health, which will have charge of coordinating all health activities of the school, supervising the health of the school which affect health, and extending the health education program. Miss Edith Crowe heads this committee, other members of which are Dr. W. W. Duemling, Mr. Louis Briner, Miss Helen Bean, and Miss Martha Pitter.

The teaching of safety is detailed by law, and this program of teaching, together with the supervision of the factors in and around the institution affecting health, will be the responsibility of a Safety committee. Mr. Paul Schnepel has charge of this group, which also includes Mr. Lundy, Mr. Verne Flint, Miss Pearl Hutto, Miss Pearl Rehorst, Mr. Paul Sidell, and Mr. Maurice Murphy.

Miss Lucy Osborne and her committee, consisting of Mr. A. W. Heine, Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke, Mr. O. A. Davis, and Mr. W. J. Wright will have charge of assemblies. In the past the school has been seen

Marjorie Sheldon

Under the leadership of its hard-working general manager, Marjorie Sheldon, the first two weekly Times papers have been published.

Totem Staff Sets Record In Sales

First Day Of School Sees 112 Orders Placed For The 1940 Yearbook; Positions Are Open

WANT TO WORK?
All persons, seniors and underclassmen alike, who are interested in working as Totem agents in the coming campaign are asked to report to John Bonisb, editor or Joel Salom, business manager, in the Totem office this week. All juniors graduating in 1942 who are interested in being editor of the 1942 Totem also are to see John Bonisb.

The Totem staff this year blasted all previous sales records for the first day of school. With a small but very efficient staff of workers, John Bonisb, the editor, and Joel Salom, business manager, announced Monday's sales to be 112 subscriptions.

Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser, when told of the results, was obviously pleased and stated that she had never heard of such an accomplishment before. The entire staff is happy at the feat and hopes to smash more records when the official campaign is opened on October 7.

John Bonisb, editor, announced that the sales will not be pushed until the opening day of the campaign and "then the heat will be turned on."

Many Ex-Archers Marry In Summer

Former Kelly Students Engaged During Vacation Make Plans For Early Autumn Weddings

Many well-known South Side graduates were engaged and married during the summer. Some of the couples who were engaged are Cora Dell Palmer and Everett Cowell, Mildred Jacob and Maurice Chaney, and Ruth Gerber and G. Wilbur Eicher. All three of the couples will be married in early fall.

Announcement has also been made of the engagement of Leonabelle Parsley to Dale Hamilton, a South Side graduate of 1938. This wedding will also take place in early fall.

Some of the couples who were married during the summer are Betty Marie Rison and Wayne Frederick Bender; Virginia Stockwell and Clarence Luther; Marian Louise Gore and Jack Carey; Dolores Crumrine and William Edward Smith, Jr.; Velma Mae Lemmon and Maurice Keppel; Phyllis Rudig and Nelson Neidale; Faith Clark and William Lee Richardson; Velma Lorene Yoder and John Sanford Rehner; Bonnie Snyder and Leo Symonds; Helen Linn and Clayton Zeddis; Martha Eloise Morimoto and H. Luther Melser, Jr.; and Miriam Elizabeth Pinkham and Donald Louis Altevogt.

The marriage of Maxine D. Roth to Edward C. Leitz, which took place last fall, was also announced recently.

Times Gains 375 Orders On First Day

Circulation Staff Reveals All Previous Records Broken; H. Schubert Leads Agents

Wilkie Is Ahead By Two To One

Agents Will Meet Monday Afternoon To Lay Plans For Whirlwind Campaign

More than one-third of the goal of 1500 South Side Times' subscriptions had been reached by Tuesday evening at the close of the second day of school. All previous first-day records were broken when the total of 375 sales was reached by Monday evening.

While the Wilkie faction has been leading two to one, returns may take another direction following the general staff meeting Friday afternoon, which the agents also will attend. Agents will hold another pep meeting Monday afternoon, Bob Robinson, circulation manager, announced.

Hilda Schubert, a senior agent, received about thirty subscriptions on the first day. For obtaining this amount of subscriptions Hilda received $1. Pat Sanford, Bob Sheldon, Arlene Perry, Ken Iba, Bob Hessel, Carol Whittier, and Marg McNabb ran close in the campaign, but did not procure enough subscriptions to win first place honors. Rebecca Abbott's book received the most subscriptions. Hilda Leiminger and Lois Hoff placed second and third, respectively.

The results are being compared with North Side, since the circulation theme is the same as South Side. Each subscriber has received his Wilkie or Roosevelt pin, which were furnished by the Republican and Democratic headquarters in Fort Wayne. Since there will be only one more free issue of the Times, subscriptions are expected to pour in even faster next week. As in the past, 100 per cent rooms will be given a prize, such as a bar of candy to each student.

Books Represent Sections

Each of the six books of the Times represents a section of the United States. Book I represents the South; Book II, the New England and Northeastern States; Book III, the Midwest; Book IV, the Southwest; Book V, the Northwest, and Book VI, the Pacific Coast. An assistant circulation manager is in charge of each book. In order to get their books, there are Tom Yates, Rebecca Abbott, Lois Hoff, Barbara Brower, Hilda Leiminger, and Peg Harrod.

A complete list of the room agents and their respective home rooms follows:

Room	Agent
4	Lydia Chenoweth
6	Paul ohnson, Lois Bloemker
8	Ruth Werkman
10	Betty Stump
12	Marjorie Condrey
14	Mary Louise McNabb

Alumna Is Victim Of Poliomyelitis

Was One Of First To Succumb; Taken Ill While In Training As Beginning Nurse

Funeral services for Miss Maxine Rippe, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rippe of 712 Kinsmoor Avenue, who died of infantile paralysis at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning, August 23, at the Riley Hospital in Indianapolis, were held September 2 at 1:30 o'clock at the residence.

The death of Miss Rippe was the first among Fort Wayne residents due to infantile paralysis. She was a student nurse at the Lutheran Hospital in Indianapolis, where she was stricken with the disease August 8, shortly after she returned from a vacation in Detroit and Chicago. She was taken to the Indianapolis hospital August 14 for respiratory treatment in an iron lung.

Miss Rippe, born in Fort Wayne, was graduated from South Side and was a member of the National Honor Society. She entered training at the Lutheran Hospital three years ago, and was to have completed her course in January. She was a member of Trinity English Lutheran Church, a past queen of Fort Wayne Bethel of Jesus Daughters, a member of Shiloh chapter, Order of Eastern Star, John For Players, Lion Cubs, and the Royal Neighbors of America. She formerly sang in the choir at Trinity Church.

Announcement was made several weeks ago of the engagement of Miss Rippe to Dr. Lad W. Zeman of Chicago, Illinois. They were to have been married next winter.

Survivors include the parents, two brothers, Jay of this city and Jerry Rippe at home.

League Presents Play

"Much Ado About Nothing," Shakespearean play which was presented by the Fort Wayne Walther League last Friday and Saturday, featured several South Side students. The production was given in Franke Park. Characters from school included Ed Meyers, Don Meyers, Fred Collins, Paul Hartman, and Wilma Lagellan.

Handicraft, Canoeing, Archery Feature Days At Camp Logan

Oh, dear! Just one day before I leave for camp and I'm not finished packing. Whoever invented such a thing as packing, anyway? My shoes aren't in, my flashlight isn't in, my sweaters and rain coat aren't in. Oh, where will I put everything? When everything was finally packed I had to sit on the suitcase so it would close.

scout's own religious service. After the services we prepare for our first night in camp, which is always the most fun, for it is then that you are not used to sleeping out of doors with the moon shining in your eyes and the mosquitoes biting your arms and legs. It seems that we hardly get to sleep when a bugle call awakens us for our breakfast, but really it is only 6:45 o'clock. Breakfast is served at 7:15.

After breakfast we go back to our units and do our daily capers. After our capers are finished, we have handicraft, which I always thought was loads of fun. After handicraft we have our morning swim. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Parks have charge of the waterfront there. When our swim is finished we go back to our tent and prepare for lunch. A one-hour rest period follows lunch. That is the time when all the mail is distributed.

South Siders Spend Summer Vacations In Marvelous Style

Well, studies, now that we are all ready to begin to dig into our school work, let's look back and see what some of our fellow classmates did during vacation. Bob Dalmann really had the idea when he got himself a position in an air-conditioned drug store. In between customers he could relax with a nice big double-dip ice cream cone or a refreshing "coke". Calvin Singer made himself some money by working in yards and selling magazines. Mike Beall packed up his suitcases and trotted out to California, where he visited some relatives, one of whom worked in the Vultee Aircraft plant. Mike received several nice rides in some of Mr. Vultee's newest planes. Well, that's one way to cool off!

Pat Seible, a former South Sider who is now going to Stephens, found herself a nice airy cottage at Lake Wawasee and settled down to a summer of relaxing. Also at Wawasee were Alene Loeser, Bill Zeddis, Bob Druhot, Kay Kuntz, Dan Auer, John Bonisib, and Betty and Chuck Harrison. Jean Well spent the balance of her summer at Oliver Lake, and Bob Worman stayed at his cottage on Barbee Lake. Richard Gallmeyer worked in his father's plant this summer, and he also stayed at Lake James for several weeks. Sam Bacon acted as a counselor for the YMCA camp during June and July, and during the month of August he secured a position at Howard's Camera Shop.

Don Parkinson visited in the east this summer, where he took several sailboat rides on Chesapeake Bay. Rumor has it that he was going to sail across the Atlantic Ocean in an open sailboat, but half way across he was persuaded by a U-boat, who thought he was carrying supplies to the Allies, to turn back. Anyway, he wanted to see Betty Bireley again, so he turned around and came home. Karl Eberly and Louis Hallenstein took a trip to California, where they had many hair-raising and exciting adventures too numerous to mention.

Junior Tours West
Mary Burt, junior B, spent part of her summer vacation in the west. One of the many places she visited was the San Francisco World's Fair.

Archery, horseback riding, and canoeing come next. I always liked canoeing the very best of all the activities at camp. While I was there, we went on two canoe trips. Tompise Hall, Catherine Scholler, and Joyce Bricker, my tent mates, went with me. Our first trip was on Dewart Lake and the next one was on Tippecanoe, Little and Big Barbee, and some smaller adjoining lakes.

Getting back to our daily routine, our afternoon swim comes next. And after the swim it is time for dinner. At 7:30 p. m. we have our campfire. We sing songs, play games, have little skits and now and then a movie. Our campfires last about one hour and then we have until 9 o'clock to go to bed.

I have been to camp six summers now and every time I go I like it just a little bit better. I think that camp life is marvelous for all girls and I wish they all could have the privilege to go.

Eighty-Two Freshmen Have One Brother, Sister Archer

Perhaps you remember when you took your younger brother or sister to kindergarten for the first time. Of course you didn't like it. They couldn't walk fast enough or something else was wrong. Well, now that they are ready to start to South Side, you had the same thing to do...bring them to school and show them about, only this time, if I'm not mistaken you felt differently about it. Since you were older and more experienced you could look down on them with an air of superiority and think or even say, "Freshie."

This year at least eighty-two of the freshmen had either a brother or sister or both to bring them to South Side. Seven of these eighty-two freshmen had two people to bring them to South Side. One of these students, however, Ann Lee Welborn, has not only her brother, Stuart, 12A, but also her father, Mr. Lundy Welborn, mathematics teacher, to bring her to South Side.

List Incoming Students
The following is a list of the freshmen who have brothers or sisters in South Side and the brothers and sisters: Ralph Adair, Glenn 11B; Lois Anderson, Harry 10A and Victoria 12B; Russell Armstrong, Calvin 10A; Mildred Babcock, Jennie 11B; Margaret Bechtel, Helen 12A; Richard Bennett, Helen 12A; Phyllis Bloomer, Lois 11B; Patricia Boese, Dorothy 12B and Marjorie 11B; Edgar Brackmann, Maurine 10B; Ellen Briggs, Ilene 40; Margaret Brown, Evelyn 10B; Jack Broyles, Barbara 10B; Phyllis Bumke, James 11A; Edward Burns, Marilyn 11B; Evelyn Champlin, Joan 12A; Mary Ellen Clark, Willard 10B.

Others are Gloria June Deal, Tom 11A; Joyce E. Dent, Ernest 11B; List Incoming Students

This Is For All Those Who Like To Read --- Our Library Has 250 Brand New Books

Some 250 new books have been added to the library since the close of school in June. About half of these are duplicates of certain titles found chiefly in the English home-reading and social science collections. The remainder are entirely new titles for our library. All of these books have been cataloged and are now ready for circulation.

The social science department will be especially interested in the following books:
Becker—Story of Civilization.
Cohen—Careers.
Cohen—Opportunity.
Commager—Documents of American History.
Commager—Heritage of America.
Congressional Intelligence—Factual History of the New Deal.
Didier—Romance of L'Aiglon.

Bud Lampton Visits Hannibal, Missouri, By Way Of Thumb
Kenneth, better known as Bud, Lampton, one of South Side's famed cheer leaders, took a trip this summer to visit some relatives in Hannibal, Missouri. He left our city at about seven a. m. and thumbed his way south. Around about six-thirty that evening he arrived at his destination. While he was there, he went to see Joe Saunders' and Blue Baron's orchestras. He took a boat excursion on the Mississippi. The boat he went on was the second largest boat on the river. Bud also played tennis and did many of the things the rest of us did here at home.

When he started home, the first ride he received was on a truck, which traveled about twenty-five m.p.h. Later on in the day he got a ride from a man who drove from ninety to ninety-five most of the time. Going down, the four hundred fifty mile trip took him twelve hours. The return trip he made in eleven and one-half hours. On the way down he spent only one nickel for food.

Concerning hitchhiking, Bud says, "Hitchhiking, better known as 'riding the thumb,' is, besides being the cheapest way of traveling, also the most interesting way of traveling. Contrary to the popular belief, it is perfectly safe if one goes at it in the right way. Although parents are pretty wary of the idea, hitchhiking is the way to travel."

While wandering through the halls on the first day of school, your reporter encountered a nice new crop of freshies looking rather dazed and forlorn, but happy. Upon questioning them as to what they thought of our good old Alma Mater, we were met with the following replies:

Wyla Baldwin: I think it's a grand place, what I've seen of it.
Phyllis Hines: I think it's pretty nice.

Barbara Ruppert: I certainly think it's wonderful, and I'm very much impressed with it.

Isabel Johnson: I hope I get along with the teachers, and I think it's a swell school.

Margaret Kuntz: I like it fine, but I get lost too often.

Virginia Coil: I think it's swell, but I think I'll have to stay a week before I know what's going on.

Barbara Carter: I got lost a lot, but I like it now.

Betty Curless: It's too big, but it will be all right when I get used to it.

Bob Hansel: I like the school, and ah...er...gad, woman, what else can I say?

Julia Spindler: I think it's swell.

June DeWood: It's a swell school, and I like it.

Barbara Steinbacher: It's the best school I ever went to.

Barbara Burt: I'm having a lot of fun, and I like it.

Mickey Dayton: It's OK so far.

Patricia Sundheimer: I like it, and it's not nearly as bad as most people say.

Ann Welborn: It's a big jam.

Sally Muller: It's confusing, but I like it.

Mary Jane Wallace: It's marvelous.

Nancy Geake: I think I'll like it.

Read These Horrid Thoughts Of The Bewildered Freshmen

Well, there's no principle in my standing outside of the school when I know I have to go in, but the place is so big it scares me. So this is the front hall. I hope. I guess the first thing for me to do is to head for the gym. Wonder where it is. Oh, there's the elevator every one talks about. I wonder if it would take me upstairs. Why, it's nothing but a ventilator. I'll head up this ramp right here; it should take me to the gym. I know what I can do. I'll ask this fellow coming if he knows where it is. "Say, could you tell me where...?" Nope, I guess he couldn't, he looks like if he were looking for it too. Well, I'll go up this ramp. Eureka, there it is. Boy, is it big!

There's one thing that brings a little comfort though. That's the fact that some day I can look back and remember all the trouble I had when I was a freshman (and also I can cause some, too, snicker, snicker).

Principal Gives List Of Hall Regulations For Archer Freshies

In order that the freshmen won't get mixed up over our many rules and regulations, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, has formed this list of hall rules that are simple and not hard to remember:

A. Pupils may enter the building when they arrive in the morning and are at liberty to go where they please until time for the first class.

1. All teachers are responsible for orderly conduct on the part of pupils in any part of the building.

B. No pupil is to be in the halls during a period without a hall pass, except as provided for the noon hour.

1. Halls include locker rooms, gymnasium, ramps, etc.

2. Pupils with hall passes must carry them where they can be seen.

3. Hall passes:

a. Permanent hall passes will be issued only by Mr. Snider.

b. All hall passes must be issued and signed by teachers.

c. Hall passes will not admit tardy pupils to class.

d. Hall passes must be dated and must tell where the pupil is going, and should give exact time of issuance.

C. Pupils who have the fourth period off are not permitted to enter the building during that hour. Classes will be in progress in the gym and elsewhere.

D. Pupils who go to the cafeteria during the fourth period must remain there all period.

E. There are usually few classes during the fifth period. Students may use the fifth period as the time before school is used. The cooperation of all students is asked to insure a reasonable measure of quiet and order.

F. Students who have the sixth period off must enter the building by the main east or west doors. They must go quietly to room 5. The rules applying to the fifth are doubly important during the sixth hour.

Archer Grid Squad Anticipates Good Record This Year

1940 Schedule Includes Seven Tough Battles

Initial Struggle To Be With Bluffton; Only Out-Of-City Game Is At Garrett

Under new reins in the hands of ex-Purdue star, Wayne Gift, and professing a want to give every opponent a thorough going over, South Side's Green gridgers are entering into the new season confident of making themselves felt in local pigskin circles. Unlike Central and North Side, who have chosen ten and eleven game cards, the Archer officials have decided upon a seven, or possible eight, game schedule. South Side's gridiron successes of last fall should continue into the present campaign.

Last season, under Bill Moss, the Kelly Klads suffered but two defeats, engaged in a pair of ties, and walked off ahead in five contests. The Archers have dropped two teams from their card this year, those being Kankakee and Michigan City. Garrett's Railroaders have been added to the new season list. In the past three years, the Green Gridders have managed an eight game schedule, and it is highly probable that the same setup will prevail this fall. At the time of the issuing of this story the athletic office had not yet announced whether or not the open date of October 5 had been filled. Coach Gift is eager to fill the gap, for at that time the Green and White will need a contest to keep in trim for the remaining games.

To Play Ohio Team
When Bluffton invades the local stadium to open the gridiron battles on September 21, the Giftmen will be well prepared to offer a keen defense and a well polished offense. In their encounter with the Tigers last season the Archers came out on top by a score of 26 to 0. Indications from the Tiger camp point to a more spirited fight this year. After the Tiger eleven has come and gone, the highly touted Polar Bears from Toledo's Woodward High will tangle with the Archers in the stadium. If the two teams can but repeat their spirited struggle of last season, the fans should be well satisfied. Although neither team is a favorite in that contest, it was said to have been one of the best played of the year. Woodward always has a good team to offer the Green team and fans a chance to taste the best of Ohio football.

South Side's open date comes on October 5, and from then on the cleats really fly. On Saturday afternoon, October 12, the South Side Archers move north to tangle with the Railroaders of Garrett High School. Coaches Cameron Parks and Paul Bateman have been working hard since mid-August, indicating that the Green should meet a well drilled and seasoned eleven when they engage Garrett. Following the Garrett game the Archers must gear up to play four of the toughest teams in the state; three of these are with city schools, and the other is with Elwood.

Leave Open Date
Central Catholic meets the Archers on October 19, at which time the fighting Irish will seek to avenge the 12-0 setback handed them last season. Coach John Levicki has many new aspirants and several polished veterans returning to form the CC machine. Veterans Dick Krouse and Dick Burns, who make up the half-backs for the blue and gold, should be the men whom the Green and White will have to watch. North Side's powerhouse Redskins will act as hosts to the Giftmen on October 25. This game should be by far the toughest on the Green card, for the red gridgers have a veteran backfield, made up of Bob Cowan, Bob Young, Kay Short, and any of the five other candidates ranked as one of the state's finest last year.

Coach Hunk Francis and Elwood Panthers will meet the Archers on Saturday the second of November, and Murray Mendenhall's Tigers are scheduled here for the ninth of that month. Both Elwood and Central have veterans aplenty returning to fill out a good portion of their teams. The Archers should have a great deal of trouble in evading a beating in one of these two contests.

Counting On Veterans
Among the many imposing candidates confronting Wayne Gift, the veterans of last year's battles are naturally counted upon to carry the majority of the burden this year. Gift is depending upon Bob Englehart, Chick Shimer, Chuck Close, and Jim Straley to gear the Green offensive; while on the line Ginger, Hockemeyer, Loos, Vettors, Winkler, Bab-bitt, Worman, Birkenbuel, and Mayer are counted upon for much service. The candidates noted above are not by any means those who will start the Green's games this fall; the aspirants listed are a cross section of the outstanding candidates of this season. Below is listed the Archer schedule:

Sep. 21—Bluffton—home
Sep. 28—Woodward—home
Oct. 5—Open (may be filled)
Oct. 12—Garrett—there
Oct. 19—Central Catholic—home
Oct. 25—North Side—there (night)
Nov. 2—Elwood—home
Nov. 9—Central—home

Directs 'Mural Activities

Louis Briner

Pictured above is the efficient gymnasium instructor and athletic director, Mr. Louis Briner. For many years Mr. Briner has developed sportsmanship and true athletic spirit in the youth of South Side. The Times extends the wish that Mr. Briner may again have a successful year in training the athletes of South Side.

George Collyer Will Provide Helping Hand To Wayne Gift

Ever since George Collyer entered the portals of South Side two years ago, the gridiron and track squads have been a definite upgrade, both in morale and ability. As assistant to Bill Moss on the football field in 1938 and 1939 and as head track mentor since his entrance to South Side, Mr. Collyer has captured the admiration and respect of all sports-minded Archers. During the past seasons George has had a chance to match his team against some of the finest in the state, and in most cases, his squads have come through with flying colors.

As the right hand man of the new Purdue star in upholding the South Side morale and ability on the turf, George Collyer began his coaching at Knightstown, Indiana, and incidentally, he produced some fine teams in his initial tutoring try. After George spent several years at the southern high school he was appointed head athletic director at Harrison

Intramural Sportlights

To the sophomore, junior, and senior boys, Louis Briner's face is familiar around the sports department, but to the incoming frosh he is unknown. So to give these new members of South Side a slight hint of who he is, your writer is dedicating this column to him. Louie, as he is known, is the head of the intramural sports department, and is the boys' gym teacher.

Intramural may be something new to you frosh, but in high school there are so many boys who want to participate in varsity sports that the coaches do not know their ability. Therefore they are placed on intramural teams and are given a chance to show their talent. Intramural sports include basketball, tag football, baseball, boxing, and many others. Take for instance, if five boys wanted to play intramural basketball each would go to Louie and get a health card and have their parents sign their consent to have their boy take part in sports. You are then examined by the school doctor, and after you are passed, hand your health card in to Mr. Briner. When your team is to play, the time is posted on the bulletin board. Your team plays until it has lost twice, then you are eliminated from the tournament. After the season is over, you record your points. After receiving 125 points for intramural activities you receive a letter. All boys find Mr. Briner a real friend and a fine athletic director.

'40-41 Season To Mark Start Of 'Mural Fun

Cross Country To Begin Fall Term, Succeeded By Tag Football, Golf, Tennis

This, sports fans, is the beginning of a new season for the intramural department as well as for the rest of the school. This new season will mean more than just falling back into the routine of school work; at least, it will mean more to the 'mural men who already know of the enjoyment to be found in the 'mural activities, sponsored throughout the year by our veteran athletic director, Mr. Louis Briner.

Begins In 1928
Mr. Briner began the intramural system of activities in 1928 with a participation of only 600 boys. Louie (as he is known by the fellows around school) has developed this intramural participation until last year it reached a new peak, when more than 1500 boys took part in various events run off throughout the year. Louie thinks that the 1940-41 season will equal, if not better, the mark chalked up in the previous year.

A preview of the coming season will take us through three seasons of the calendar which are fall, winter, and spring. The fall season begins with one of well liked sports, cross country. Elmer Gumbert won the crown for the lightweight class last year. Following cross country will be tag football, always a favorite with everybody. During the 1939-40 season, participation in tag ball broke all records for that event. Six man teams were formed in two divisions, lightweight and heavyweight.

Next in line on the intramural program is golf. Would-be pros practice all summer in hope of securing a berth on our varsity squad by coping the intramural crown, so that Mr. Friddle will be sure of nothing. Trailing golf, and not very far behind at that, is horseshoe. Horseshoe as a rule attracts a large number of entries and is usually run off in three divisions.

Tennis Is Popular
Much can be said about the next sport in the fall, tennis, which seems to have been popularity. Matches are played at the Weisser Park courts, which, by the way, have been very busy lately with many championship tilts.

Events to be run off through the winter season surpass all the other sports in popularity and participation. You guessed it; the sports are basketball, volleyball, handball, bowling, wrestling, and boxing. Of course we haven't forgotten two up-and-coming events, basketball and boxing, which fall in line just ahead of Mr. Briner's pride and joy, the gym class carnival. With the carnival over, the winter season is considered past, and we set our minds on spring sports once again.

As soon as the weather permits, Louie sends the boys out of doors for one of the most popular spring events, the intramural track meet. This meet is officiated by the boys on the varsity track squad. Following the track meet are the three favorite outdoor sports which bring to an end the 'mural program for the year; they are softball, tennis, and golf.

With the intramural season completed all of the boys have had a chance to prove their ability in the various sport fields to the varsity mentors of track, basketball, and football about our school. This is the way good and clean sportsmanship is taught at our school by our athletic director, Mr. Briner, to whom we believe a lot of credit is due and should be given.

LeRoy Cook Receives Annual Sports Award
Again last year the Kenworthy Trophy was presented to LeRoy Cook. Mr. Herb Kenworthy, proprietor of the South Side Grill, annually offers the award for the South Side athlete who excels in all three major sports. LeRoy was first given the coveted athletic award during his sophomore year, and then he divided the honor with Dave Roth in 1939. It is highly probable that Cook may be the only three time winner in the years to come in which the cup will be offered.

Participate In Meet
Phyllis Mueller, Rita Sordet, and Valette Siebold, 11B, Turner members, participated in a district Turner meet at Louisville. They represented part of the Fort Wayne Turner group in the volley ball, model and mass drill, and relay events.

New Schedule Is Announced For Kelly Boys' IM Sports

After a very interesting windup of the intramural season last spring, a new and more exciting program for this fall has been completed by Mr. Louis Briner, director of intramural activities. Approximately five sports were named. These sports in order will be cross country, horseshoe, and tag ball in the first two weeks, and tennis and golf in the latter part of September.

Cross country, the first of these sports, is the most important event, especially for those who wish to participate in a varsity sport of any kind. Some who are athletically inclined wish to show their abilities or receive recommendations for different sports, and those who really go out for cross country in earnest will be watched and recommended for the talent that is needed in varsity sports.

Cross Country Recommended
Many of our past athletes have been discovered by having desired qualities revealed by their activeness in cross country. In fact, at least one of our well-known basketball stars was discovered and recommended in exactly this manner. This sport will cover a period of about six weeks, and anyone is eligible. Mr. Briner is more anxious that a large number turn out for cross country than any other sport, because of its importance and the benefit that the participants will receive.

Horseshoe, the second of these events, will probably be going on about the same time as cross country, and because of this fact it will be held only one night a week in the stadium. There will be three weight divisions in this event: under 110 pounds, 110 pounds to 130 pounds, and over 130 pounds. Anyone is eligible to participate in this event.

Tagball, the third of these sports, will closely follow cross country and horseshoe. It will begin in about the second week. However, the exact date will be announced later.

Health, Entry Cards Issued

Tennis and golf, the last two sports for the fall season, will be run in the last two weeks of September. The tennis tournament will probably be run off in the Weisser Park tennis courts where some student will be in charge under the supervision of Mr. Briner. The golf tournament will be played on the Municipal golf course in Foster Park. In both tennis and golf there will be the various weight divisions, and anyone is eligible.

For those of you who wish to participate in any of these sports, the importance of getting in health cards and entry cards cannot be stressed too much. If you don't have your health card signed by your parents and turned in, you are not eligible and consequently may not participate in any intramural sport or varsity sport. Getting in your entry card is as equally important as getting in your health card, because your entry card must be in for you or your team to be eligible for participation. Because tagball will be one of the first events of the year, it is very important that the entry cards for this event be turned in early. Mr. Briner makes a special request that the entry cards and health cards be turned in early, not only to save a lot of undue work for him, but to save a lot of trouble for the participants as well.

Central Announces '40 Grid Schedule

Tigers To Meet Central Catholic Irish September 13; Bengals Schedule Seven Home Games

Facing one of the toughest schedules in the history of Central High School, Coach Murray Mendenhall and his Central Tigers are hard at work to prepare for their tough opposition. Last year the Tigers had a fine season in downing some of the state's finest grid machines; and from a glance at their schedule for the ensuing grid wars, the fact again appears that the Bengals will have a chance to spoil high hopes as they move along.

Southport and Anderson were dropped from the Tiger list this year to make room for three of the state's most promising teams; they are in the order in which they will be played, Shortridge, New Castle, and Hammond Clark. The Shortridge squad is again touted to be one of the powerhouse elevens; however, New Castle and Hammond Clark can hardly be rated as weak sisters on the schedule.

Let's All Back Our Grid Team Like These Loyal Green Fans

This season South Side has one of the scrappiest football teams in its history. With a new coach to inspire and give the team new ideas, and a team whose personnel has been thoroughly trained in the field, plus many veterans who can maintain a cool head in the trickiest spots and be an inspiration to the greener players, the Archers have a splendid chance to come through undefeated.

In a school-wide survey the opinions of many of the student body were obtained. The following are the comments made when they were asked, "How good to you think our football team is this season?"

Ed "Pebbee" Kettler, captain of our cheerleaders, said, "Although last year's team was good, it did not have the polish that it takes to win consistently. I think this year's team will have the experience that is required and with a new coach who has new ideas (we hope!) we ought to win a great percentage of our games."

Jim Morrison: I am a great football fan and I think South Side will pull through with flying colors.

Bob Wylie: The Archer squad is plenty tough this year, good enough to beat North Side.

June Flaig: I've got my fingers crossed.

Marjorie McNabb: I am one of the Archers' foremost rooters. (Could it be because Tom Gallmeyer was cheerleader?) I would like to see South Side come through and take the city championship.

Bob Welty: If the girls don't distract the attention of that handsome new coach, South Side will have a really good chance of winning most of its games.

Bob Dalman: I'd like to see South Side come through. They have had a lot of tough breaks in the last few years, and I think they deserve to have a good season. From all indications they will.

Mike Beall: With a veteran squad and a new coach the Archers ought to have a fine season.

Bill McNulty: I'll be at all the football games cheering our boys on to victory.

Bill "Boney" Bone: If I could only get out there and help the boys make a few touchdowns, I know we would win all the time. As it is, I think South Side will win anyway.

Above are the opinions of ten of our most interested scholars. As you can see they all have high hopes for our grid squad. These students and many more, will be out cheering our team whether in victory or defeat. Let's all follow their example and back our team to the utmost by cheering for them at all the games.

Bluffton Will Open Kelly Gridiron Season Saturday

Tigers All Set For Hard Fray After Practice

Archers Report For Drills Monday After Layoff Due To 10-Day School Closing

Bluffton's scrappy Tigers, seeking to avenge their defeat of last season, will invade the southern stadium on Saturday to open the South Side football card. The tilt is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock. Although the Bengals were riddled by graduation and deterred in practice by sickness, Coach Templin has rounded into condition a well balanced eleven. Both the South Side Archers and Bluffton Tigers will be opening their schedules with the Saturday game.

Last year, under Bill Moss, the Green gridirers ran up a 26-0 count on their opening foes. The Archers expect to come near duplicating the feat this season; however, the Tigers are promising some real surprises for the Giftmen. In the tangle of last fall the Bluffton squad showed up well on both offense and defense, yet they lacked the driving spirit necessary to push over for markers. Coach Templin of Bluffton has his eleven geared up to meet the Green threat, and reports from Bluffton forecast a stiff battle for the Archers. The Bengals have been able to carry on preliminary drills since mid-August; this is a decided edge since the South Side gridmen were forced into spending the past ten days elsewhere than the football field.

Despite the unusual and unfortunate practice cessation, the Archers will be ready to go at full speed against their first rivals of the present campaign. Coach Wayne Gift is as yet undecided as to his exact starting crew, but he can be trusted to put a great team on the field for South Side. In early practice drills the Archers have merely coasted through primary signal drills and loosened their "vacation" muscles. During the past week the Green footballers have settled down to exacting plays and fundamentals of Wayne Gift's football system. After the opening tilt on Saturday, Coaches Gift and Collyer will have formulated a set starting lineup for their gridiron charges. The line positions are at present indefinite, but the mentors have made known that they are counting on four veterans to share the majority of the backfield toil. Bob Englehart and Chick Shimer, will probably be assigned to the halfback posts. Chuck Close will be in there at fullback, and Jim Straley will be barking the signals from his quarterback post.

A sizeable turnout is expected for the encounter Saturday. Every South Side fan should be on hand to give Wayne Gift a great sendoff in his initial football effort here. All planning to cheer the Archers on to gridiron glory should be sure to procure their season tickets before school closes on Friday.

Girls' Sportsettes

Greetings, freshmen! We know that all of you are probably scared to death because of this big building compared to your grade schools. You have nothing to be afraid of, because you will all get used to it. Enough of that now, so here's hoping all of you join GAA. We all have grand times. It is not all sports that we do, because we have picnics, parties, and many other interesting things to do. Come on out, join the fun, we are all raring to go. Any girl who wants to join may do so.

All girls who intend to go out for the tennis tournament better be on the lookout for Marian Faux, Jeanne Smith, Betty Hargan, Delores Majorkie, and Ann Pontius.

We hope that all GAA'ers have had a swell vacation this summer. Going to the lake, other cities, mountains, and the country have proved interesting spots for most of the vacationists. Now that our vacation is over we are ready to take part in more sports. Our first activity will be the tennis tournament, so you better be practicing up.

A note to all of you girls to keep in contact with the bulletin board outside the girls' gym office. Many important articles are placed on the board for all of the girls. It reminds you when the next events are going to happen. Don't forget it's there for your use.

Among the girls who attended Girl Scout Camp this summer at Dewart Lake are Martha Cash, Jo Ann Schwartz, Joan and Clarabelle Squires and Tompsie Hall.

GAA congratulates you, Jeanne Smith, for winning the Woman's City Tennis title and to Marian Faux for being runner-up in the tournament which was held at Weissner Park.

We congratulate the Bob Inn Wildcats for winning the Park Inn Wildlife tourney. The members of the team are Betty Eisenacher, Margie Price, Geneva Martin, Phyllis Ann Amstutz, Judy Lavin Kaser, Jeanne Smith, Emily Sweetland, Betty Thiele, Marian Faux, and Kathryn Vonderau.

Maxine Sterling spent her joyous summer working at the South Side Grill.

Anne Abbett Accepts Position At Evansville

Ann Abbett, '36, has accepted a position as an instructor of English in Evansville Junior High School. She was an outstanding student while at South Side. Ann served as general manager of The Times and was active in speech and dramatics. Miss Abbett attended Indiana University. She won scholastic honors. She was the assistant editor of the Convention Daily for the national convention of Pi Beta Phi in Los Angeles, California, this summer.

Miss Abbett is the daughter of Supt. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbett, and the sister of Becky, a senior.

North Side High Has Tough Card

Officials Schedule Five Home Games, Four On Foes' Fields; All Nine Meets Are At Night

North Side's powerful Redskins, having entered the highly rated Indiana Conference, will face one of the toughest cards the Northerners have ever been asked to encounter. Since North Side joined the NIC late last spring, the Red teams are scheduled with their new conference foes, yet they cannot offer titular competition for one season after entrance due to the conference stipulations. Coach Nulf has found a nine-game card confronting his charges, yet with the wealth of material at North Side, he is confident of rounding out a winning eleven.

South Bend, Riley, Whiting, and Mishawaka have been added to the North Side schedule; and consequently several good teams, namely Peru and Garrett, had to be dropped. Whiting and Mishawaka are conference foes; however, the games will have no bearing due to the ruling explained above.

Northern officials have carded five games at home and five on foreign soil for the Nulfmen. All of the nine clashes will be played at night. With Bob Young and Cowan returning to service in the Red backfield, Coach Nulf has considerable confidence that his team will have a fine chance of having an unscathed record. The Red card is noted directly below:

September 20—At Mishawaka
September 20—North Side 'B' team vs. Columbia City

Most Of GAA Alumnae Work During Summer

When questioned as to what they have been doing this summer almost all of last year's senior GAA members answered, "Work". The class of '40 has secured positions anywhere from working at a dry cleaners to clerking in a jewelry shop. Deloris Menefee is working at Carbaugh's; Lucille Scheumann and Pauline Werling are employed at the GE; Dorothy Byreau at Carl Rose's; Virginia Goegelein works at the Fort Wayne Tailoring Company; Ruth Hoover at the Telephone Company and Irene Schepeler is working at Murphy's.

Travels In Michigan

Louisa Haugk, senior B, vacationed in Michigan during the summer. She stayed in Hessel, Michigan. She visited Mackinac Island where many movie stars spent their summer. Louisa also visited Soo City, where she viewed the locks between the United States and Canada.

Archers Are Counselors

Four Archer boys found an interesting, enjoyable, and educational way to spend their summer vacation. Ed Wade, Sam Bacon, Roland Snyder, and Arthur Howard served as counselors at the YMCA Camp Potawatomi.

Wayne Gift, new addition to the South Side coaching staff is shown with some of the Archer gridders as they met to talk over the possibilities of the season. Those shown above, left to right, are Ralph Shimer, Bob Birkenbuel, Assistant Coach Collyer, Coach Gift, and Jim Straley.

Good Luck, Wayne—Succeeding Bill Moss as head pigskin tutor at good old South Side, Wayne Gift has taken a load on his shoulders. Last year's team was well trained and coached in fundamentals; however, it lacked spirit and morale. Wayne Gift has been selected to furnish that spirit to our footballers. From all Archerdom comes the phrase, "Good Luck, Wayne".

Archers Display Spirit—Hardly had the bulletin hit the local newspapers that gridiron practices would be prohibited, when the Green gridders took matters into their own hands. Under the direction of their energetic field general, Ralph Shimer, the Archers held workouts at Foster Park. These South Side athletes needed no football field or coach to keep in trim during their layoff; they needed only their own will and desire to give Wayne Gift a fine unit with which to work. I have heard and seen examples of school spirit and desire to win, yet the sight of the Archers in their lay-off work convinced me that none could have been so sincere as their own. Such a team deserves great praise—and more, support during their games. If our gridders know that the student body is behind them at each game, there will be little doubt left in their minds that South Side wants a winning squad. Again—hats off to a "real" Archer eleven.

No. 1—Bluffton—Opening against a well-coached team, Bluffton's Tigers, the Giftmen should have a battle to repeat their 1939 score of 26-0. The Templin-led drive and spirit, which the Archers do possess. They are reported to be in excellent condition for the Green machine, which indicates two well developed squads—yet, I'm picking the Green to come out ahead by three touchdowns.

Eight Students Attend Camp At Oliver Lake

Eight South Side students spent eight weeks of their summer vacation at the Linberlost Music Camp, located on Oliver Lake, and operated by Mr. Jack W. Wainwright. Archer music director, June Flaig, Elizabeth Kelso, Lucy Smith, Marilyn Burns, Dick Fowler, Don Burns, '40, Bill Cargile, '40, and Jack Cargile, '40, were the ones who attended the music camp. Many of them were awarded half scholarships for the camp period.

Irish Grid Season To Open Sept. 20

First Game Of Seven Scheduled To Be With South Bend; Only Two Tilts To Be Out Of City

Central Catholic High School grid squad, after four weeks of hard training, will begin a bang-up football schedule on Friday, September 20, when they meet the tough Tigers of Central High School. This is the first of a seven game schedule prepared for practice and a few veterans, the Irish will probably have some hard fought battles.

Besides the three city series games, which always cause the Blue and Gold trouble, Central Catholic have two games away, these being with Portland and Howe Military Academy. This leaves the tougher games at home, which will be much to the Irish's advantage.

The complete schedule is as follows:
Sep. 20—Central (night)
Sep. 27—North Side (night)
Oct. 5—Howe Mil. Ac., there (day)
Oct. 12—Decatur, here (day)
Oct. 19—South Side (day)
Oct. 22—Portland, there (night)
Nov. 3—Hammond Cath., here (day)

Sport Heads Card Five Top Activities

Friddle Will Lead Basketball, Golf; Gift, Football; Post, Tennis; And Collyer, Track

During the ensuing year of athletic competition, five major sports have been carded for varsity activity. Mr. Burl Friddle will be in charge of the basketball squad and of the golf team; Wayne Gift will serve as head football coach; while George Collyer will act as track coach and assistant to Coach Gift, and Stanley Post will tutor the tennis team.

On the football field this fall Wayne Gift has been confronted with a wealth of actual material, yet he desires to see many more Archer youths try out for the squad. Since the gridiron campaign will be inaugurated in late September, it is time that all would-be footballers should try out for at least a reserve position. Coach Burl Friddle handles his cage squad in somewhat of a different manner; for the first boys who try out are on the reserved team, and if they become seasoned enough, these lads are promoted to varsity competition.

If any freshmen desire to become a member of the Green cage machine, it is desirable that they see Burl Friddle. At first the freshmen and sophomores are placed on a night squad, and from thence they work to the varsity. Mr. Friddle is always on the lookout for outstanding prospects for his teams, and so every prospective star should see the coach if he wishes to seek a varsity berth.

In the spring sports of track, tennis, and golf, there is less competition for the varsity berths. Mr. Collyer permits anyone, whether a freshman or a senior, to try out for a place on the track team; and consequently, he is annually greeted with many aspirants for the team. Mr. Friddle's golf team is usually chosen before the season gets under way; however, each prospect is permitted several early trial rounds to prove his merit. On the tennis courts Mr. Post finds his work to be fairly simple, for the outstanding intramural racket welders annually make up his team.

GAA'ers Like Club Because Of Sports, Good Times Offered

Among the many GAA'ers that like GAA here are a few of the girls' opinions on "Why I like GAA."

Betty Hargan: I like GAA because it is a club that offers a variety of sports.

Jeanne Smith: I like GAA because I like the teachers who supervise it so well.

Faye Alexander: I like it because more time may be added to the playing of many healthful sports.

"Ducky" Spore: I like GAA because I like sports so well and it is the only club at South Side which offers sports for girls.

"Fuzz" Amstutz: I like it because all the kids in it baby me and let me have my own way.

Dorothy Rison: I like GAA because I like the supervisors, the kids, the sports that we participate in and I sure do like the swell times that we have.

Martha Cash: I like GAA because it offers more sports to the girls than the regular gym classes and I like all kinds of sports.

Gloria Hardendorff: I like GAA because it has a large variety of sports and it is loads of fun.

Joan Dodge: I like it because it offers a large variety of sports that agree with me.

Pat Harnish: The variety of sports and the good times we have is what I like about GAA.

Tompsie Hall: I like GAA because I like sports and it is different from any other club.

Lois Gumpfer: I like GAA because of the fun we have while we are participating in the large variety of sports.

Two Girls Named Contest Winners

Elaine Hirshey, Joan Cox Rate First In Times Ad Contract Soliciting, Win Trip To Fair

Elaine Hirshey and Joan Cox were victorious in a race among the Times ad solicitors to see who could obtain the most contracts before school started. There were around fifteen solicitors competing. The reward for winning was to represent the South Side Times at the Indiana State Fair awarding of newspaper prizes. Although they all worked furiously to win the contest, the two highest were Joan with 28 contracts and Elaine with 25 contracts.

Tuesday, September 3, found two happy and excited girls leaving Fort Wayne for the State Fair. They were free to spend the day as they pleased after representing South Side in the awards. The recognition of the best school papers was at the Indiana University building on the fair grounds, where there were representations for all school papers from all over the state. South Side placed second in the first group because of placing second highest in the state. Joan and Elaine were personally interviewed over station WOW and the certificate awarded South Side was received by them. Upon returning Joan turned the certificate over to Miss Rowena Harvey, who will display it in the Times room as an example of hard but winning work.

After broadcasting they toured the building representing Indiana University and had their voices tested and recorded, which they termed "quite a thrill." Both girls enjoyed a style show at the women's building. They found horse racing thrilling and exciting. They also saw intelligent elephants which have toured Europe and United States. Elaine and Joan held their breath when a girl lay down and the elephant supposedly lay on top of her. After a complete day, Elaine and Joan were ready to turn homeward. When asked how they felt about South Side's standing according to other school papers, Joan and Elaine said, "South Side must have a good paper because it has won high recognition not once but often."

Date Book For Special Meetings Now In Office

A date book, in which all the regular meetings of all groups will be listed, will be kept in Miss Dorothy Alderdice's office. After consultation with Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, or Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, any special meetings must be entered in this book. No meetings are to be called without this approval.

Each club should have a committee charged with the responsibility of leaving the club room in as good shape as it was found. Writing upon the walls, gasting paper or driving nails on the woodwork should not be permitted.

Make School Posters

Marjorie Dyer and Richard Green are making posters advertising the Totem. Margie is also making posters advertising the South Side Times.

Gives Up Post

Mrs. Alda Jane Carson

Mrs. Alda Jane Carson, Archer Latin instructor for sixteen and one-half years, founder of Latin Club, assistant director of So-Si-Y Girl Reserves, and leader in many activities, has resigned her post in the language department of South Side.

verely handicapped by the lack of a suitable auditorium, but the new microphone system which was installed last year will eliminate some of the difficulties.

General supervision of discipline or direction of conduct in and around the school is a large problem, Mr. Snider said. Making rules and regulations for this direction and supervising their application will be the duty of the Regulations committee, the chairman of which is Mr. Maurice Cook. He will be assisted by Mr. Ward O. Gilbert, Mr. George Collier, Miss George Anna Hodgson, Miss Pauline VanGorder, Miss Gertrude Oppelt, and the three class presidents.

Albert Verweire Wins League Music Contest

Albert Verweire, junior A, flutist, was honored recently when he won first prize in the International Walther League contest in Chicago. Albert played his prize-winning flute selection with his aunt, Emel Rebecca Verweire, accompanying him at the piano. He had previously won the state and district talent quest competitions sponsored by the International Walther League, which qualified him to compete with other state winners from all parts of the United States.

The International Walther League talent quest is maintained annually by the Walther League to discover outstanding youthful talent in music, oratory, art, and other subjects.

Albert is a member of The News-Sentinel Boys' Band and is a grandson of John L. Verweire, director of that band, and also a member of the Shrine and Knights Templar bands of this city. Albert also belongs to the school band.

South Side's Population Increases By Twelve

South Side made a gain of twelve students for this semester over last year's enrollment for the first day. There were 1,922 students enrolled at South Side the opening day of school. There are 2,350 tentatively enrolled at Central High School, making an increase of 197 pupils more than last year. About 1,650 pupils were enrolled at North Side. North Side made an increase of 25 pupils.

There were 1,341 freshmen enrolled in the three public high schools this year. This enrollment is the highest record made in the Fort Wayne Public High School's record.

There were approximately 16,500 students registered for the opening of the fall semester. An approximate gain of 234 students over last year's registration was enlisted for this fall semester.

Seven Archers Write "Youth Page" Articles

During the summer several South Side students had articles published on the weekly "Youth Page" of the News-Sentinel. On June 22, Franklin Neff, sophomore B, was pictured with his dog, Smokey. Under the picture was a story in which were told some of the character traits of the dog. A story by Jean Weil, senior B, describing a day at camp, was published on June 29. A poem, "The Sun's Vanity", by Romayne Rediger, senior B, and an article about an unhappy bicycle trip by Jeanne Seidel, sophomore B, were in the same issue.

In the July 6 issue of the News-Sentinel, Grace Johnson, sophomore B, told about her vacation to Niagara Falls. Mary Whittier, freshman A, told of some of the stepping stones in her life in her story, printed July 13. An article on "Letters", by Margaret Kutsch, senior A, was published on August 3.

Handbooks Are Given To Frosh At Meeting

At the freshman meeting held last Wednesday, each incoming freshman was given a little green handbook. These books will be given out each year.

This book contains 128 pages. The students become acquainted with the faculty and their duties by this book. Rules and regulations as well as social activities also comprise its contents. A few of these rules are library, study hall, absences, and hall rules. The activity section describes the various clubs, their purposes, means of membership, and sponsors.

Activity Treasurers, Sponsors To Meet

A meeting of all activity sponsors and treasurers will be held in room 112, tomorrow afternoon, at 3:30.

Resigns To Travel

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, because of her desire to travel to all parts of the world, resigned last summer her position as history teacher at South Side. This ended many years of service. In addition to being adviser of So-Si-Y Club, she has given many talks on her travels.

Three South Side Girls Bicycle To Blue Lake

Sara Jane Makey, Clara Makey, and Emiliu Allendorph took a bicycle hike to Blue Lake, August 13. The girls left Fort Wayne at 6 o'clock that morning, reaching Churubusco at 8:30 o'clock, where they stopped to rest. Then they journeyed on to Blue Lake where they went in swimming. At noon they rode to Churubusco for lunch, then returned to the lake to swim. At 5:30 o'clock they started home and reached there in two hours. The trip was twenty miles each way.

Hundred More Expected
By Tomorrow Night, Bob
Robinson Tells Agents

Campaign To Last One More Week

100% Rooms Get Rewards;
New Aides Named; Hilda
Leininger's Book Leads

Bob Robinson, Times circulation manager, announced Tuesday night that 777 students have subscribed to The Times and 100 more subscriptions are expected to be turned in by Friday night. This year the Times broke all previous subscription records for the first day, with a total of 375 subscriptions. The goal for the semester is 1500, although it has never been reached. The past record is 1,260, according to Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser, however Bob Robinson hopes to break this record as he did the first day record.

A meeting of all room agents was held Monday in room 114. Miss Harvey and Bob Robinson were the speakers. Agents were given a pep talk and the roll was called. Candy bars were given at the end of the meeting. Another room agents' meeting will be held next Monday in room 114 at 3:30 o'clock, when all agents are expected to be present. The roll will be called, Miss Harvey and Bob Robinson will again be speakers and candy bars will be given.

This is the last free issue of The Times. After today only those who have at least made a down payment will receive the paper. All this week was Times Week and room agents used home room periods to contact all pupils. This was done for the first time this year with the permission of Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal. There will be one more big week of the campaign; however, subscriptions will be taken after that if it is not possible for the student to subscribe before then.

South Side is ahead of North Side in the circulation campaign. The Times has a total of 777 or about 38.5 per cent, while The Northern has 550 subscriptions or about 31.4 per cent of its enrollment. Each semester North Side and South Side battle for the circulation cup. South Side has had it about 60 per cent of the time, including the last three semesters.

Willkie is leading Roosevelt about three to one in the voting, but all of the room agents have not turned in their votes. Willkie is also leading at North Side.

School Physician Discusses "Polio"

Dr. Werner Duemling Describes Infantile Paralysis Effects
At Meeting Of Math-Science

Four varieties of poison causing poliomyelitis and the infantile paralysis situation in Allen County were described by Dr. Werner Duemling, chief school physician, before the Math-Science Club in the Greeley Room last Friday night.

Effects that these virus inflict on the human body are as follows: sickness without paralysis, affecting the spinal cord, serious damage with permanent paralysis, and death. Dr. Duemling stated that as yet no theory for the cure of this disease has been proven consistently successful. This talk was based on the lecture given by Dr. Milton Rose on, "The Condition of Poliomyelitis in Allen County."

In his second talk of the evening, which was about radium, Dr. Duemling gave the history and characteristics of this element. He displayed for the members, using physician's instruments, how radium is applied to destroy tumors.

This was the first regular meeting of the club this semester at which the incoming officers were installed. Officers for this semester consist of Safford McMyler, president; Lois Gumpfer, vice-president; Elaine Hirsch, secretary, and Bob Wylie, treasurer. Besides the new officers, the following persons took part in the installation service: Miss Adelaide Fiedler, as the Spirit of Mathematics; Mr. Lloyd Whelan, as the Spirit of Science, and Doris Williams, former club vice-president, as the Spirit of the Math-Science Club.

Safford McMyler, president, appointed members to serve on various committees for this semester. These members and their committees are as follows: Program committee, Lois Gumpfer, chairman, Janet Holtmeyer, and Martin Gerand; entertainment committee, James Brooks and Eva Jean Wylie; refreshment committee, Gloria Staley, chairman; Marjorie Sheldon and Roger McVay; arrangement committee, Ralph Herb; publicity chairman, Elaine Hirsch; pianist, Mildred Hanke, and Inter-Club Congress representative, Dick Theye. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Upper SPC Members Will Meet Tomorrow

Classes for Student Players' Club members will start tomorrow, Miss Margery Suter has announced. All classes for freshmen boys and sophomore girls started Monday under direction of Miss Suter.

An informal meeting of the Student Players Club was held in room 138 last Thursday when all new members who are intending to take dramatics 3rd, 4th, and 5th periods attended.

Dick Wooding, '39, Fires Gun Aboard USS "Queen Of Seas"

By Dick Wooding, '39

I imagine that all of you have read the article written by my ex-school chum and fellow Marine, Fred Stolte. In his article he gave a description of our life in the training depot. He also told what outfit he had been assigned to, and the job he held down in

Miss Blanche Hutto

Marionette Group Sponsor Is Named

Miss Blanche Hutto Appointed
By Mr. R. Nelson Snider To Succeed Miss Dorothy Magley

Miss Blanche Hutto, who has had wide experience in the marionette field, has been appointed by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, to take over the sponsorship of Marionette Club, which will hold its first meeting in room 61 on October 3.

Praised by Mr. Rufus Rose, world famous puppeteer, Miss Hutto has created fine marionettes which have met with success here and elsewhere and she today is considered as one of the city's and state's leading marionettes. She is often consulted by different organizations in the city about scenery and stage settings as well as the creating of actual marionettes.

In her new position she intends to continue the plans of the Marionette Club by producing Aladdin's Lamp, and the Nativity Scenes at Christmas. "I hope to make all new marionettes and scenery," she said. "I expect to make each play very artistic and have hopes for high art quality. I think it advisable for each club member to make at least one marionette during the year, feeling that it will give each one the chance to be creative, to build confidence in his work and introduce new ideas."

Miss Dorothy Magley, the original, but now retiring club sponsor, said she is very pleased that Miss Hutto is taking over the Marionettes.

So-Si-Y Presents Play At Meeting

"Unexpected Callers" Previously Given At Camp Yarnelle; Ex-
President Lists Future Meets

"Unexpected Callers", a skit, was given at the So-Si-Y meeting, Tuesday in the Greeley room by LaVerne Greiner, Gertrude Merkel, Marjorie Gerding, Alice Volmerding, Marjorie Thomas, and Bernadine Bender. Marguerite Calkins gave the purpose and actions of the play. The skit had been given the previous summer at Camp Yarnelle.

Bernadine Bender, president, welcomed the old and new members to the club. Responsive service was led by Gertrude Merkel. Romayne Rediger, service chairman, discussed the service and its purpose.

Marguerite Calkins, ex-president, gave the list of future meetings, which have been set on a three-point basis, of drama, world fellowship, and religion. The program schedule follows: October 8, Serving our Community or Needlework Guild; October 22, Me and Democracy, a discussion; November 5, World Fellowship; November 19, Week of Prayer; December 3, Red Cross Throughout the World; December 17, Christmas Party; and January 14, Seeing the New Year. Committees for the various affairs will be announced later.

Bernadine Bender, Alice Volmerding, Marjorie Thomas, Marjorie Gerding, LaVerne Greiner, Marguerite Calkins, and Gertrude Merkel composed the committee for the affair.

Taffy apples were given to each member.

PTA Forums To Begin Wednesday, October 2

Parents and teachers of South Side are sponsoring evening forums, which will begin Wednesday, October 2, at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Mr. Wilburn Wilson is in charge.

These forums will be held to study the political, social, and economic phenomena of our time. The purpose of these discussions is to give sufficient knowledge to those who attend to enable them to analyze public affairs.

The forums are open not only to parents and teachers of South Side, but to anyone in this neighborhood or city interested in the study of public affairs. Mrs. Robert Wylie are serving as co-chairmen of the project.

that outfit. I hope that you will be able to stand the story of the other half of the pair that he wrote about. After we had finished our recruit training, we were each assigned to different outfits. Fred was assigned to a defense outfit, and I was assigned to Sea school. Sea school is a special school where recruit marines are sent to be trained for sea duty. However, my stay in sea school was rather short lived. One night, in a moment of folly, I went to the dispensary to get something for a stomach ache. The next thing I knew, I was in an ambulance headed for the Naval Hospital for a date with an operating table.

Philo Announces Semester's Plans

Ten Meetings, Dance, Skate Are Arranged; Officers To Be Installed; New Members Invited

Philo Club's meetings for the semester have been announced by Miss Elizabeth Demaree, sponsor. They follow: September 30, October 14, 23; November 8, 11, 25; December 9, 23; and January 6, 20. Temporary dates for the annual dance and skate are November 8 and December 14, respectively.

At Philo's meeting Monday in the Greeley Room at 3:45 o'clock, new officers will be installed, and new members will be greeted. New officers are president, Rebecca Abbett; vice-president, Mary Bowly; secretary, Ellen Harry; treasurer, Tompkins Hall; program chairman, Maurine Leas; sergeant-at-arms, Joan Cox; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Jean Karns.

Application for membership are to be sent to Miss Demaree. Every 10A or older girls with an English grade of B or better are invited to join. If applications have not been written before the first meeting, the new members are invited to come. The dues for the club are twenty-five cents a semester. Officers will hold a potluck at Rebecca Abbett's house October 7, to make definite plans for the coming year.

Adviser To Tell About Meterites

Miss Susan Peck Will Explain
Requirements Of Membership
And Club's Purpose Tuesday

Dorothy McPherson, president, will give the welcome speech at the first meeting of Meterite next Tuesday afternoon in the Greeley Room, when Miss Susan Peck, faculty sponsor, will give a short talk about the club.

Officers will be introduced, duties explained, and membership cards filled. A quiz game, "Take It Or Leave It," group singing, and other game playing will feature this meeting.

Meterite Club is a literary group for girls of 9B, 9C and 10B grades. Requirements are that a member must have a grade of B or above in English. B— is not accepted. Dues for one semester are 25 cents.

The purpose of the organization is to cultivate one's taste for better literature, and to enable one to form wholesome friendships.

Members derive many benefits from this club: a girl develops initiative, learns to take responsibility, and overcome any embarrassment which she may feel when addressing an audience. "Friendships like these are important to her from a social standpoint," officers pointed out. The work of the club is educational, for it follows the work of the class rooms.

Each meeting has a business and social session. Each year a new theme is chosen. In past years, members have chosen radio, plays, poetry, and modern novels. This year's theme is yet to be decided.

The program for this year will include plans for a skate, a Mother-Daughter tea, a banquet, and several informal teas and parties for club members.

Meetings are held every other Tuesday at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room, 112.

Any girl who cares to join may either see Miss Peck in room 60 or attend the first meeting.

Slate Limberlost Camp For Picnic Of Faculty

The faculty and members of their families are invited to attend a picnic September 27 and 28 at Mr. Jack Wainwright's Limberlost Camp.

The directions to the camp are: Take road 3 to Kendallville, then west on road 6 to road 9, north on road 9 about eight miles to a sign on left. All teachers are to report to Mr. A. Verne Flint or Miss Martha Pittenger if they can take passengers or if they need transportation.

Special committees for the picnic are entertainment: Miss Dorothy Magley, Mr. Ora Davis, Mr. Benjamin Null, and Miss Mabel Portney; table string and decorating, evening: Mr. E. S. Gould, Miss Crissie Mott, Mr. James Mills, Mrs. Grace Wely, Miss Emma Kiefer, and Miss Mary McCloskey; breakfast: Mr. Dorsa Yoder, Miss Lucy Osborn, Miss Mary Pocock, Mr. Russell Furst, and Miss Amanda Hemmer.

Helen Dicke spent an enjoyable week of her vacation traveling through the Appalachian, Allegheny, and Blue Ridge Mountains. She also visited New York, Atlantic City, and Washington, D. C.

1941 Yearbook Beats Schedule In Production

Totem Staff Labors On All Parts Of Book; Some Sections Approach Finish

Production of the 1941 Totem at the present time is far ahead of schedule. All phases of the book have had some planning done on them and many are under full swing with some sections nearing completion of the first stage of work.

Student photographers have been seen working the little birdie to death on nearly every sunny day since before school opened.

As was announced last week the Totem has done very nicely on subscriptions also. There are at present about 160 subscriptions, but around 800 or 900 are needed to insure that the book will be put out.

Joel Salon, the business manager, wishes to thank personally all the agents and the student body for their fine cooperation in setting a first day subscription record and says that if this cooperation is kept all year an excellent 1941 Totem will be insured. The agents and the number of subscriptions they have obtained follow:

Mr. R. Nelson Snider has recently OKed all of the Totem plans, prices, and its budget, thus giving an official OK to go ahead with plans.

Monday, October 7, the seniors will go to the gym during home room period to get the Totem subscription and picture drive underway.

If you are interested in becoming a Totem agent and are a senior, please report to the Totem office today!

Kellies Contribute To Youth Page

Nine Stories And Three Poems
Written By Archer Students
Are Printed In Raily Paper

During the past four weeks, nine stories, one picture, and three poems have been printed on "Youth's Passing Show," a page dedicated to youth and appearing in The News-Sentinel each Saturday evening.

On September 21, an autobiography by Betty McKay, a story about Devil's Hollow by Victor Kaufman, and Marjorie McMahon's poem, "The Race," appeared on this page.

On the preceding Saturday, "The Fish and the Crab" and "Rain," two poems written by Richard Hirschy and Jean Weil respectively, Dick Shriner's story about a rainy night spent while camping, and Edith Heumann's article on shoes were to be found on "Youth's Passing Show."

Victor Kaufman's story about his hobby, accompanied by his picture, and for what? Whelan's composition about moonlight lovers were in the September 7 issue of The News-Sentinel. Clarence Freeman's poem, "Propaganda," appeared on the same date.

On August 31, Betty McKay told her story about a conversation with a dog, Julia Kaye, related hers about a trip to Washington, D. C., and Wanda Baney told of her desire to become a librarian.

More Than 70% Of Students Particidate In Extra Activities

In a survey made on South Side's activity program last May, the results showed that more than 70 per cent of the pupils were engaged in one or more extra activities of the school. The average of activities per pupil per day was more than one-half hour.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider stated that 214 pupils spent eight hours or more per week on extra activities. Many students were capable of doing extra activity work and school work. There are others who cannot afford to spend so much time on activities, he said. There are two places where this may be overcome: The home room teacher may work with the student in home room in regard to reasonable participation and the activity sponsors may work effectively with the prospective participant in their own particular activity.

Thirty per cent of the pupils not engaged in any extra activities were working outside of school.

Every pupil in the school is privileged to participate in the activities of the school.

Hi-Y Will Open Activities Tonight

New Members To Be Introduced; Plans Scheduled For Officers Retreat Over Week End

Hi-Y will open this semester's program with a meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the YMCA.

The business will be mainly concerned with the organization of the club and introduction of the new members. Plans also will be discussed about the officers' retreat at Camp Potawatami next Saturday and Sunday. Officers planning to go are John Gumpfer, Dick Braun, Tom Brower, Roger McVay, Milton Haller, and Bill Goodwin.

Anybody who is at least a junior B is eligible to join. The dues are twenty-five cents a semester and, for an extra quarter, he can get a yearly pass enabling him to use the game facilities in the boys' lobby on nights of meetings.

Some of the season activities include talks by prominent speakers at meetings, swims once a month, a dance, a best girl banquet, a 4 C's campaign, a clean-up campaign, and checking wraps at games and dances. Hi-Y, a service club, has as its faculty advisor, Mr. Clyde Pierce. The officers of Hi-Y have invited all upperclassmen to attend this meeting.

Speaking Activities Are Set For Year

Freshman-Sophomore Contest In October Is First Event Arranged By Speech Department

The first event of the speech department this year will be the Freshman-Sophomore contest the latter part of October. All freshmen and sophomore students are eligible provided they have an upperclassman coach. The final winner of this contest will have his name engraved on the Psi Iota Xi plaque.

Early in November, the South Side extemporaneous contest will be held and in this contest also any South Side student is eligible. The winner's name will be placed on the McAlister Trophy and he will represent South Side in the city extemp contest in June.

Wranglers' events will be as follows: Extemp contest, December 2; Oratorical Declaration, December 16; Dramatic Declaration, February 10; Radio Broadcaster, February 24; Radio Broadcaster contest (The first contest of its kind on South Side) March 10. In January there will be given a cup by the Wranglers' Club. The second South Side extemporaneous speaking contest will be held tomorrow night. The speaking contest has been set for April 10.

Some of the contests the speech department is planning follow: Inter-Scholastic contest, Rotary Discussion Contest, American Legion Oratorical, City Extemporaneous Speaking Contest, Kiwanis Declaration Contest, State Extemporaneous which will be held at DePauw University, State Oratorical at Wabash College, and State Declaration at Purdue.

It is certain that the National Contest will be held at Washington, D. C. South Side hopes to be able to send contestants to this contest but they must win the State Contest. Early in December many South Side students will attend the debate contest at Purdue.

Twenty-Eight Students To Assist In Library

Twenty-eight students have been named by Miss Emma Shoup, librarian, to assist in the library during study periods. They are first period, Betty Koehler, Ralph Herb, Bob Wylie, Janet Whetzel, Marjorie Dyer, second period, Joan Cartwright, Marjorie Wigbel, Eva Jean Wylie; third period, Theda Tyndall, Paul Kiel, Carl Trenary, Sam Bacon, Earl Sweeney; fourth period, Lois Gumpfer, Faye Gumpfer, Hilda Leininger, Ruth Dauner; sixth period, Marilyn Loomis, Lester Oppenlander, Clifford Matson, Dorothy Heslip, Mildred Hanke; seventh period, Tompkins Hall, Katherine Guild, Ellen Harry, John Gumpfer, and Rebecca Abbett.

Library assistants help during two study periods and one evening after school. For the benefit of freshmen, Miss Shoup announced that the library opens at 7:45 o'clock in the morning and closes at 4 o'clock after school.

Congress Selects Nominating Group

Members Of Committee Include
Dick Theye, Rudolph Wuttkie,
Martha Smith; Plan Election

A nominating committee, was selected at the organization meeting of the Inter-Club Congress, which was held last Monday in room 58. Members of this committee are Dick Theye, Martha Smith, and Rudolph Wuttkie. These aides, with Dick Theye acting as chairman, are to meet Monday in room 58 for the purpose of selecting candidates for the various offices of the organization.

At the meeting held last Monday, Mr. Flint spoke to the members about the general work of the organization. The purpose of this meeting was to secure a list of the names of representatives of each club.

Election of officers will take place at the next meeting, which is to be held October 21. All clubs have been reminded to pay their annual dues of 50 cents as soon as possible.

School Improvements Approach Completion

Sanding and refinishing of the gym floor was one of the many improvements made at South Side during the summer. More are being completed on Saturdays.

During vacation twenty-one rooms were painted and the desks varnished. A new chain hoist to elevate the coal was installed in the boiler room.

Corridors are being repainted on Saturdays. In the future the arms on the seats in the various rooms will be taken off and refinished. All this, and in addition, the general clean-up of the rooms, halls, and boiler room was and will be accomplished during the summer and this semester.

Spend Your Pennies On School Activities Rather Than Movies

Don't get that candy bar! Don't go to the movies tonight just because your time is unoccupied. If you live within reasonable walking distance of school, why not eat your meals at home—at least occasionally? Why, you may ask, all this? The answer is that that time of year is approaching when money is definitely an essential factor if you are contemplating a merry school life. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," said a very wise man once. Every high school student looks forward to some entertainment and recreation. South Side provides this on a grand scale. Football and basketball games, school and club dances play an important part in the entertainment program at our school.

Naturally, you are anticipating some form of recreation this year. Why not patronize your Alma Mater? You who are in any way connected with football or basketball squad realize the importance of responsive capacity audiences. Mr. Wayne Gift is certainly proving a gift to South Side as his excellent progress with the gridders clearly indicates. The Mossman last year finished with a fine record, the first in several seasons; but this year Mr. Gift's boys bid fair to become one of the most capable squads South Side has ever had. Added to this, there is ample qualified material in freshman and sophomore ranks, a fact which prophesies of good teams in years to come.

However, the Kelly Klad gridiron campaign is due to fail unless given support by the student body. First, because a football team must have money to buy equipment and to maintain a stadium. The Athletic Association's only source of revenue is the sale of tickets. Secondly, and even more important, squad needs plenty of moral support in order to come out on the long end of the score. Tiers of empty seats aren't much encouragement to a squad trailing by a couple of touchdowns. On the other hand, a cheering enthusiastic crowd jamming the bleachers is plenty of incentive for that extra needed drive to win the game.

Support YOUR football, basketball and track teams by purchasing a season ticket immediately if you have not already done so. A successful grid year for the Archers will mean more to you if you know you have done your part by attending the games.

Watching Your Hall Conduct Keeps The Fifth Period Free

You freshmen have, by this time, in your first weeks here at South Side, been thoroughly familiarized with the hall rules. Probably you have heard so much that you are hostile to any discussion on the subject. But this fact you must implant in your mind—that freedom in the fifth period depends on the members of the student body. Naturally you wouldn't know about it, but two years ago one needed a hall pass to get into the halls even in the fifth period. Students arriving early had to go directly to the gym from the front or rear entrance and stay there until the bell rang. In the spring of 1939 this rule was abolished and everyone was given liberty of the halls, locker rooms, and study halls during the fifth.

Of course you just take it for granted that you may come and go to suit yourself during the lunch hour. You have been accustomed to this habit in grade school where there were no classes during a two hour interval. But at South Side there are classes in progress during the lunch period. Should sufficient disturbance in the corridors warrant, these classes might find it necessary to inform Mr. Snider, and consequently that old rule would be reinstated. Thus the liberties of the Archers rest on the activities of a few chatterboxes who insist upon doing their chattering at the top of their voices, and upon a few locker-bangers who find that their lockers are constructed differently than the rest in the building and must be slammed in order to be closed. However, these trouble-makers might learn the value of quiet if the free fifth were restricted for a month or two. This would not only be very unpleasant and inconvenient, but would be a step down from our democratic education. Let's all cooperate on this point and keep the fifth free. This term we have all done pretty well.

Advice to freshmen: Now's the time to begin thinking about what your scholastic standing will be at the end of four years.

You can't imagine what an extra subscription means in the school life of a home room agent—to say nothing of what it will mean in your own.

Watch South Side's athletic teams fight their way to victory. Buy a season ticket.

Wouldn't it be just as easy to throw your paper in the waste paper boxes in the halls instead of the floor?

More-Fo-Sophs By A Soph-Fo-More

A special notice is given to all of you South Side friends and fans about our last year's pacemaker, Kathryn Kixmiller, who is this year attending Shortridge High School in Indianapolis, Indiana. We wish to inform you that "Kix" is in good hands but is lonesome for our dear old South Side. While speaking of "Kix", we might add that Sam Bacon is feeling pretty low over the loss of his Juliet. In fact, Mrs. Bacon has been worried since early this spring when "Kix" left. We send our sympathy to Sam and hope everything turns out O. K.

What can be more wonderful on the first day of the semester than walking into one of your classes and seeing your old beau sitting there? For some unknown reason the grades begin to climb. Perhaps it's because a certain impression is being made. Anyway, such is the situation of Lorraine Lord. Lorraine walked into her French class to find none other than that certain Mike Beall. Well, Lorraine, if we find our French grades in the A's we'll know it's because of a certain inspiration.

One of the up-and-coming sophomores is a darling little girl by the name of Ruth Werkman. Ruth is quite an asset to South Side's fairer sex. But all of you guys who have been beating around the bush had better hurry up for, from what I hear, Peter Kuttner from CC has got her at the head of his list. Steadies are popular and so is Ruthie.

Well, they always say that when the first frost comes someone's going to get bitten. So it is with that triangle affair of Mary Carlo, Kent Lentz, and Bob Welty. If, and when, Mary makes up her mind there will be a big frost. Let's all hope that the best guy wins, or will there be a best guy? Time will tell. Let's watch this column and find out.

In the meantime, take care of yourselves.

Don't Cut In On This Private Line Of Alene Loeser

Have any of you seen "Limpy Eider" hobbling around school? It seems that La bell, Eider tripped on the steps of South Side while trying to catch a street car. The result was a sprained ankle. Sloan's Liniment has really done the trick, for again, she can walk normally. (Free play always is paid for in advance).

Art Howard has a new little dog, whom he has monickered, Napoleon. Such a name hardly fits a dog, but Arthur explains his dog is fond of taking a Bon-a-part.

The telephone company is planning to give Barbara Roth a bonus for bringing them so much business. Many of you, I imagine, are quite dubious as to why she is being so kindly rewarded. Reason—Byron Hayes has returned to Notre Dame and he calls often.

One would think Ralph Shimer would take his "jalopy" to a garage and have it overhauled. This car seems to be in a very serious condition. Nearly every night the motor goes dead, or at least it stops. The queer part about it is that it always comes to a standstill in front of Phyllis Lauer's home. Coincidence, we wonder?

Lost, strayed, or stolen—really I think it was just given away. What? Dave Rea's pin to a beautiful Connie Clark from New York. Dave plaintively remarks, "It's pin a long time since I've seen her".

Brenda and Cobina tell me they have a new shade for their coiffeur—rahs. It is called Tattle Tale Gray a la ultra violet. Sounds pretty, doesn't it?

This summer one of our most likeable and intelligent juniors, Jack Snyder, was stricken with infantile paralysis. Jack was taken to Riley Hospital in Indianapolis for treatment. We're sure that each and every student and teacher of South Side wishes Jack the best of luck for a speedy recovery.

Publicity Is Granted To Bruce Bradbury Due To Scholarship

Bruce Bradbury, former general manager of the Times and winner of the $500 Quill and Scroll President's Scholarship, has gained publicity in all parts of the United States due to his winning of this award. The Quill and Scroll News, published at Northwestern University, carried as its banner story an article on Bruce's success.

Quoted in this article is his letter of application, which expresses his future plans and hopes.

"I intend to make journalism my life's work, and the President's Scholarship makes possible the first step toward the realization of that goal. "A well balanced program in liberal arts during the next two years should help to give me the background I will need for specialized effort later in the field of creative writing. When I switch over to journalism proper in my junior year, I shall try to master method and technique. Most of all I want to learn how to write well, and my present range of interests includes current events, philosophy, radio continuity, movie reviews, short stories, plays, and poetry."

This story also tells of Bruce's journalism experiences, both at the Times staff and elsewhere. The article goes on to state that after Bruce entered South Side in his freshman year, he obtained the position of club reporter and within six weeks was covering a regular beat. At the same time he also worked on the sport staff and editorial pages.

In the preceding years before he became general manager last fall, he held positions of ad solicitor, ad copy writer, circulation agent, proofreader, copy reader, headline writer, news editor, feature editor, and editorial page editor. He also worked on the News-Sentinel staff, first as a substitute on the editorial staff. He then secured a full time position as copy boy and market machine man.

This Tale Of Two Teachers Can Put A Tear In Your Eye

The commencement of the new school year has brought both joy and heartaches to at least two well-known teachers in our building. The two pedagogues to whom we refer are Miss Pauline VanGorder and Miss Emma Kiefer. Since the aspect of happiness is always more pleasant than sorrow, let's look into Room 58 first. As many of us know, and Miss Kiefer will not deny, this room has for many years been a near disgrace to the building. Until...but wait, we mustn't get to the surprise yet...the walls have paralleled the Panama Canal; the paint, gradually reaching the infirmity stage, decided one day to go on a vacation; and even the desks have contributed their share of gloom by growing duller and duller and blacker and blacker. Would this scene ever change? Would there ever be any relief?

About a month before school was to have opened, Miss Kiefer made a visit to her dark hovel. As bad luck would have it, nothing had been changed during the summer, not even the cracks in the wall. Then it happened!

No school! Two more weeks of vacation. Miss Kiefer returned home and South Side was locked up for a period of two weeks. Today she makes this joyful statement, "Upon returning to school, I found that the walls of my room had been painted a cheery yellow. The desks had a new stain on them and even the front table, which should be paintless and varnishless, was shining in all its brown glory." Does Santa Claus come around in September or was it Yehoodi?

With Miss VanGorder it is another story. Last year she was informed by an expert that the walls in her room contributed toward bad acoustics. (In other words, her room was the worst in the building when it came to hearing.) In fact, it is an accepted fact that in Room 64 you couldn't hear a pin drop unless the loud speaker was on full blast. To make a long story not too much shorter, 1940 has brought about no changes. Miss VanGorder is going to buy an ear trumpet and her students are planning to wear non-sound conductable clothing.

Information Please!

With the memories of the first tea dance at North Side High School is still lingering in our minds and several new romances in progress, we have settled down to another week of tedious study before another eventful week end. During the past week end several functions were held at which many new couples were seen. At the tea dance we were so busy looking for old standbys that we missed some of the newer creations such as Marian Faux and "Y-man" Chuck Close, Bobby Cross and "Rundel" Bone, Barbara Hadley and Bob Guion.

Naomi Koopman's list of admirers looks like Fort Wayne's Draft list. Watch this column for further recruits. Baldy Nahrwold has given up playing tennis because it requires too much of his time he should be spending with Pat Underhill. Harry Kelsey is one of the many lonesome hearts about school since the departure of his one and only Emily Schofer, to Ashland, Kentucky. Bob Druhott had his usual "lake" flame but this year the flame was slightly dampened by a certain Bill Zeddis. We must admit Druhott looked out for his own interests pretty well.

They've definitely called the whole thing off; We're speaking of Peanuts Ferguson and John Warner. With Kent Lentz at the head of her long list of admirers Ferguson will probably be reconciled. "Power House" Bailhe is over "Joyced" over Joyce Burbank of North Side. With this choice, Dick leaves many broken hearts along the halls of South Side.

An open letter to South Side students received by us last Thursday:

"Dear Students: "I am very pleased to notify you by this letter for my master, The Honorable Adam Lozonga. He wishes for me to extend his heartiest congratulations to Dick Fishering for being picked his understudy and future successor in the most noble art of 'how to woo Dogpatch style'. I would like to congratulate Dick on this golden opportunity that is put before him. He has been under my master's closest observation for the past few months." This letter was signed, "Adam Lozonga, Esquire".

Doubletalk About Your Friends Teacher and Student

Amongst the teachers in South Side are many charming personalities. One of the most prominent and well-liked teachers is Miss Mary G. Pocock, who extolls English. She does not consider teaching English as a grind but applies it to her hobby list. Of all the students who have graduated from South Side, she is the first and only one who has ever returned to her Alma Mater to teach.

In the classroom, Miss Pocock is very seldom bothered with mischievous conduct of her students. In the practice productions of Julius Caesar, Miss Pocock makes a very fine Portia. Then, too, in the course of a book called Introducing Essays, Miss Pocock is usually forced by the class to read Bob Benchley's troubles, and a lovely little essay called, The Plumber. Appreciated. It is in the reading of this piece that she really shines. She is a very popular teacher as one can tell by the praises which are always given to her by the students.

An ardent basketball fan, this pedagogue shares the management of the Booster Club concessions with an able colleague, Miss Nell Covatt. She sells more candy at the games than all the rest of the Boosters together.

This week we present to you Frank DuWaldt, a senior B, and an outstanding student with a high scholastic standing. Below we list the likes and dislikes of this upperclassman and the things that make up Mr. DuWaldt's everyday life.

Activities—

Frank is one of many American youths interested in aviation. He is a member, in fact last year's president, of the South Side Airplane Club. He also belongs to the Mad Modelers organization, a club which holds many gas model contests at the Municipal Airport. Frank has come away from meets with several honors. "Dewey" really likes to attend school, for he is a person with a high intellectual standard. His favorite teacher is Mr. Sidell and his favorite subject is mathematics.

Ambitions—

After graduating from South Side next June, "F. D." will attend Purdue University, where he will take a course in aeronautical engineering. Because of his knowledge of airplanes, Frank should go far in that field.

Loyalty

If I could fiddle like Alice Light, Why, dear, "pipples", I'd be all right! I'd be on the radio, coast to coast, If I could sing like Chuck Close.

If I could lob like Jeanne Smith, Tennis and I would be a myth. If I could orate like Jim McClure, I too would be a speaker, that's sure.

But all in all, and counting these lines, I'D RATHER BE A WRITER ON THE TIMES.

Guess Who?

This week another of the talented swing maestros is pictured above and biographed below for you, the music fans, to identify. Last week we are sure that most of you easily recognized Eddy Duchin; and this week the task should be easier with the appearance of the most widely known leader in the business. If you haven't established the identity of the famous North Carolina boy by the photo above—try the clues below:

Theme: Thinking of You. He features: Singing song titles. Known As: The Old Professor. Personality: Plus! makes his band. Popularity: Along with Glenn Miller, he is the most sought after performer in the country. Type of Music: Definitely on the sweet side. Vocals on all numbers.

Vocalists: Betty Hagan, Ginny Simms, Harry Babbitt, Ish Kabibble, Sully Mason.

On The Air: Every Wednesday, 9-10 NBC Red Network.

Has Introduced: Playmates, Friendship, Little Red Fox.

Who's Yehoodi? Famous Records: St. Louis Blues, El Rancho Grande, Fine and Dandy.

Wind and the Rain in Her Hair. Next week the guessing will be tougher, for a real surprise will be in store. In the near future watch for the following leaders in this column:

Count Basie, Bob Crosby, Clyde McCoy, Bob Chester, Duke Ellington, Red Nichols, Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw.

After the series on leaders is concluded, a new feature on vocalists will be inaugurated. Any music fan who can guess the identity of five of the first ten "guess-who's", without aid, is doing well. The leaders will get tougher to guess as the series goes on; so sharpen up your musical wits for future columns.

Our Senior Class May Be Old- But Its Ideas Are Up-To-Date

Hello! Hello! here we are again with many flashes of news for all you twerps and twerplets. Ah! together again in this, the highest and mightiest of all dirt columns, the Senior Column. Today the news was brought to me in three flashes and so if you will gather around you will hear it all.

Flash Number I: Four of our charming seniors are crying their hearts out for their loved ones who have gone away to school, leaving behind them four broken hearts. Among such headliners are Becky Abbott, who has been heard wailing that sad and mournful tune, "Boo! Boo! You've Got Me Crying For You", in the hope that Dick Doerner, a former basketball star, will hear and take heed. Another such "bawl-baby" is Bon Yaeger, who has been casting mournful looking eyes in the direction of Purdue. She has been singing "I Always Walk With Billy". Could she mean Bill Peters? No doubt! Peg Harrod is so uninterested in school that she might decide to go to Miami University. Of course the reason for her departure couldn't be because of Dave Roth's going there! Last but not least, Marilyn Hull simply can't get interested in the football games. Her reason is that Bud Porter hasn't been here for almost two weeks and he used to be a former football star for South Side. Leaving the cry babies of South Side, we are now ready to get some more cheerful news.

Flash Number II: In this great metropolis there are still many steady couples and new ones. Here are the up-and-coming headliners for the year's social season: The ever-popular couple, Maurine Leas and Bob Hines, and Jim Weaver and Marjorie Dosch. These two couples look as though they will go on indefinitely. The next new ones which have sprung up during the summer: Alice Hall and Bob Moses, and Dick McIntosh and Jeanie Weil. It must have been the summer nights, full moons, and cool breezes.

Little Ole South Side

When the circulation campaign closes, it's expected the Republicans will outnumber the Democrats by a count of three to one. The thing that worries circulation proteges is whether South Side will beat North Side by a count of three to one...A number of fellas are interested in starting a chess club...Your reporter can think of no better faculty adviser than Miss Thorne...Studies still beam and gloat over the idea of their prolonged vacation. They haven't thought of the possibility that our Christmas vacation may be shortened!...Bob Safer, South Side's ace orator, will not attend school this semester. However, he will be permitted to engage in local contests...As Mr. Snider walked down the hall last week, he was eyed by a teeny freshman girl, who upon close inspection, sighed to her companion, "Hasn't he got the cutest mustache?"...Tch! tch! This younger generation!

Your playmate, Thursday, has decided to toss caution to the four winds and make some predictions while the predicting is good...Marcel Driftmeyer, tops in scholastic standing...For runner-up, a toss-up between Mildred Hanke and Betty Elbersson...Only a fair season for our basketball team, with quick annihilation in the sectional tournament...(To which Burl Friddle would probably add, "Is dot so?")...Bob Safer to take the McAlister speech trophy, despite heavy opposition from Bob Robinson...A very good season for our football team, with probably two losses, North Side and Central...DAR good citizenship award to Becky Abbott or Marge Dyer...A neck and neck race between Jim McClure and Bob Hines for senior class presidency...Pace-maker award for The Times...An accident on the corner of Wiebke and Clinton involving a local student, unless the intersection is made a protected crossing.

A new feature for school dances has been suggested by several boys of the sophomore class. As the couples enter the dance a cow bell would be hung around their necks to keep them from being separated on the dance floor and consequently, dancers couldn't be interrupted by someone cutting in and saying, "Pardon me, but is that my date you are dancing with?"

Bob York's definition of a friend is one who says nasty things to your face instead of behind your back...Elaine Hirschy has an aluminum violin she uses in damp weather. (And when the violin needs repairs, Elaine sends it to a plumber!)...An unknown junior girl boasted that she will only take two baths in her life; (just like Queen Isabella of Spain) one when she graduates from high school, the other when she graduates from college.

Did you know that six per cent of the high school girls wear their stockings inside out? (Because the dull texture is more flattering to their ahems!)

South Side boys ought to move to Maryland because there is a law there that says six visits to the home of a girl constitutes a marriage proposal. If only Fort Wayne were in Maryland many boys would be sued for breach of promise...One of our illustrious history teachers here at South Side says his definition of a pessimist is a man who thinks everyone is as nasty as himself, and hates them for it...While touring California this summer, Karl Eberly found that the Chinese cigarette girl in the Sky Room of San Francisco's Hotel Empire speaks with a Southern accent. (If she could only cook!)

All Lou And Karl Didn't Have On Western Trip Was Keeper

Hearing the shrill blast of an automobile horn, on Sunday, July 14, I looked up from the highly scientific literature (the 10-cent type) that I had been trying to read and sure enough there was Lou in the Pontiac and he hadn't even hit one of the pillars on each side of the driveway. Saying adieu to my parents, I took my trunk and placed it and myself in the Pontiac. Arriving at the Hallenstein manor, I ate a most enjoyable dinner while listening to Mr. and Mrs. Hallenstein give last-minute advice (there was plenty of it) to their bewildered offspring.

After dinner we finished packing Louie's trunk while "the kid" (Louie) paced the floor for fear he had forgotten something. Back and forth he paced and soon I was right behind him. Half an hour of that and Louie's parents decided to pack us off on an earlier train for fear we would drive them all nuts. Some of our friends came to bid us farewell, and after a 20-minute delay in which they had to stop and back up to let Roy (Sonny) Heavner (a train fiend who thinks the railroads have a great future) off the train, we finally got started. He had taken too long to say goodbye to us and was entrapped in our coach as the train pulled away from the station.

Nothing happened on the train to Chicago, where we were to pick up the Chicago Northwestern railroad tour, except that Louie amused himself by trying to get a dixie cup out of the container without dropping in a penny (we were on a strict budget). Since we had several hours to kill before meeting the train, we went to the Oriental theatre, where we saw Stepanfitchit; he reminded me of some of the students at South Side. Some relatives of Louie's saw us off.

After boarding the "Challenger" we stowed our luggage below our berths (we both had uppers) and gazed at Chicago as we went whirling out of the big city. Later we bought a section which consisted of an upper and lower, and, since we were going to be on the "Challenger" for three nights, we began to debate on who was to have the lower for the third night. We finally reached an agreement whereby I would lend Louie my watch every night so that he could tell the time and not get up too soon and have to face our porter (he was a sinister looking person, so Louie thought). Because I had the upper for the first night, I went to bed about 10 o'clock for I knew I would have difficulty in undressing for bed. It took me a little longer than I expected, in fact, it took me until about 2 o'clock in the morning to get undressed. You may think that is a long time but if you don't believe me try blowing a trombone in a two-by-four room.

Monday, July 15

After a very restful night, I awoke at about 8 o'clock and applied ointment to the bruised spots on my cranium where it had hit the wall during the "Challenger's" frequent quick stops—never again. Louie was very scared about our porter and hired me as a bodyguard to escort him to the washroom, a lot of good I will do—but oh well, I need the money. Nothing exciting happened today except that Louie spilled powder and water on my good trousers. I wish that guy would sit still. Some very nice girls are on the tour, especially Marie. We both like her very much but remind each other of our local heartthrobs. Ah! tonight I have the lower. I can hear the kid thrashing about above me. I know just how he feels. At 3 o'clock in the morning he decides to get a drink of water. I don't mind that but on the

Kelly Teachers Find Vacation Pleasures In Traveling, Work

During the summer vacation, Archer teachers found many things to do. Most of them spent part of their time out of town. The following lists the activities of some of the teachers:

Mr. Delivan Parks spent his vacation on his father's farm near Jackson, Michigan. He enjoyed himself by taking a course in practical Home Economics. He also drove the team of horses in cutting grain and hay.

Although Miss Olive Perkins spent the greater part of her vacation at home here in Fort Wayne making jam and jellies, she also spent one week in Cleveland and several week-ends at a lake.

Miss Amanda Hemmer spent most of her time on a farm in Somerville, Indiana. She also took several short trips, one of which was to Santa Claus, Indiana.

Mr. Jack McClure spent two weeks in Pittsburg. The balance of his vacation was spent in Fort Wayne building a new home.

Miss Lucy Osborne went to Canada during her summer vacation. She also visited the Dells of Wisconsin, Fort Williams, and Porth Arthur.

During the summer vacation Miss George Anna Hodgson knit ten pairs of stockings and two sweaters for the Red Cross.

Miss Blanche Hutto painted in and around Fort Wayne during the summer vacation. She also spent a few weeks in Dayton, Ohio, visiting some friends.

Mr. Louie Hull entertained his daughter during the summer. He spent the rest of the vacation fishing and reading.

Mr. Maurice Murphy explored the Ohio and Mississippi rivers from Southern Illinois to Chester, Illinois.

Mr. James Mills supervised the building of a new house which he painted. He also visited friends and relatives in Illinois for several weeks.

Miss Hazel Miller traveled to Savannah, Georgia, this summer and returned home by coming through the Smoky Mountains. She also traveled to Washington, D. C., where she visited the Senate and the House. Later on she visited in the vicinity of Springfield, Illinois.

During his vacation Mr. Herman Makey wrote a book on Wendell Willkie, and took care of the refreshment stand at Foster Park.

New Archer Teachers Think Favorably Of Our Alma Mater

Our three new teachers, Mr. Francis Fay, Latin teacher; Mr. Lester Hostetler, music instructor; and Mr. Wayne Gift, football coach, think well of South Side, according to the way they talked to a Times interviewer.

Mr. Fay says it's the largest high school in which he has ever taught, and he likes it very much.

"I have met most of the teachers and find them very agreeable," he continued. "The students in my class seem to be of the finest." When asked what he thought of the equipment of the school, he replied that it was good, especially since it has been cleaned up. He agrees with other teachers that the language department is very excellent.

Mr. Hostetler said that before he came to South Side he had heard such expressions as this from friends, "Oh! You'll like it there!" or "You'll never leave there!" or "You'll like the students!" Mr. Hostetler says these exclamations have proven to be very true. "I feel new and all that," he says, "but I'll catch on."

He further states that the faculty is exceptional and everyone has treated him very well. Regarding the music department, Mr. Hostetler says, "We'll have to build it up. Many more things are offered now than before, and I know we'll have a very good music department this year."

Mr. Gift is very much pleased and "tickled to death" with South Side.

"The conduct of the 'kids' is really different," he continued. "Everything is so well organized." He says that he hasn't met all the members of the faculty, but the ones he has met have been very gracious. He goes on to say, "They're very nice 'guys' and 'gals' too. Mr. Collyer has introduced me to most of them. He is kind of looking after me."

He says it is hard to tell about the football games.

"If hard work, good spirit and lots of ambition," he further stated, "have anything to do with the winning of a game, these boys should be hard to beat, for a team that wants to win is difficult to beat."

Concerning the football equipment he replies that it is very adequate, and everyone who wants to play football will have a chance.

Journalism Student At Iowa University Praises The Times

William S. Pryor, majoring in journalism at the University of Iowa, recently prepared for his teaching methods class a term paper criticizing The South Side Times, which he had studied for an entire semester.

Mr. Pryor thinks that the judgment of news sources and the balance of the news content between those sources are good and also comments on the fact that athletics are not allowed to overrun the paper.

He believes that the editorials are above average and especially commends the column of student answers to a specific weekly question. He also says that the column "Up and Down Our Inclines" is the type of column that would do well to be copied by any school paper.

"As to the actual news writing and editing, it is, on the whole, very good," Mr. Pryor writes.

He said that The Times compares favorably with many college newspapers and even country weeklies, and shows what can be done by high school students who have had competent training.

Mr. Pryor writes, "In conclusion, I say that The South Side Times is a mighty good paper. What else could I say when a recent issue tells me that it has been given the 'Pace-maker' award?"

Beauties Of Canada Are Gazed Upon By Miss Margery Suter

One of our better known faculty members, Miss Margery Suter, was fortunate this summer in seeing a bit of the outside world—Canada being her destination. She and Miss Hazel Abbett traveled from our fair city to Buffalo, New York. Here they crossed the Peace Bridge and entered Prescott, Canada.

Ottawa was their next stop. This town, being typically English, was different from the surrounding French towns and villages. In Ottawa they saw the Parliament Building where Parliament recently adjourned, and also saw the governor general and prime minister of Canada.

On their way to Montreal, Miss Suter and Miss Abbett stopped to see some of the nearby farms, occupied mostly by French descendants. These farmers use very crude implements, for example, the hand plow which is frequently associated with the farmers from the old country. Upon seeing some of these interesting farms, it is easy enough to imagine that you are in France itself.

Finally they reached the big city of Montreal, Quebec. Montreal, however, is strictly modern and is hard to distinguish from any city in the United States. Quebec is an interesting province because it is completely surrounded by a huge wall, thereby being separated from other Canadian provinces.

Another very interesting point about Quebec is their method of education. There are very few schools there, and the reason is schools are not compulsory! Incredible, but true! Next train for Quebec leaving on track seven! Also in Quebec, the two travelers got to see the beautiful old Notre Dame church, which contained the original Ruben painting of the Ascension.

Homeward bound, they came back across the International Bridge and went over Alexander Bay into Rochester, New York. From there, they came to a strictly modern city, with mostly American inhabitants, called Fort Wayne, Indiana. When asked their impression of the trip, both Miss Suter and Miss Abbett answered—Quote: It was wonderful. Unquote.

Archers Start Grid Campaign With 7-0 Win

Bluffton Rallies After First-Quarter Tally To Hold South Siders Scoreless

South Side's scrappy gridiron team battled its way to a victory over Bluffton last Saturday, 7 to 0. A good-sized crowd turned out, despite the hot weather, to watch Wayne Gift present his charges on the southern gridiron. Although the low score indicates a tough battle, the Archers were continually in possession of the ball; however, the Giftmen were unable to open up when their scoring chances appeared.

In the first quarter the two teams exchanged punts before the Archers cashed in on some good football to score. With the ball resting on the Tiger 46-yard line, Chick Shimer threw a 36-yard pass to Glenn Dager. Shimer plunged a yard through center to the nine-yard line, and then Fullback Chuck Close ploughed directly through the some spot for the game's only score. Jim Straley, South Side's placement artist, converted the extra point. Early in the second quarter the teams again exchanged long kicks, but soon a Tiger fumble again offered the Green a scoring opportunity. Bob Englehart then picked up four yards over tackle to place the ball on Bluffton's 22-yard line. After an unsuccessful plunging attempt, Close broke into the open only to be hauled down on the 17-yard marker. The half ended with the Green still seventeen yards from pay dirt.

Blocked Kick Helps

At the start of the third quarter, Halfback Chick Shimer punted from his 15-yard line, the ball rolling all the way to the Bluffton 4-yard line. The Tigers attempted to punt out from behind their goal; however, the kick was blocked by three Archer linemen. Smith, Bluffton halfback, picked up the blocked piskin and ran the ball to the Tiger 10-yard line. The rest of the third quarter was spent in a punt exchange between "Lucky" Smith and Chick Shimer.

Bluffton had their only scoring break in the fourth period; Babbitt, Archer back, fumbled to give the Tigers the ball on the Kelly 32. This threat was short-lived, for the Green and White put up a stiff defense to still the Bengal threats. Wayne Gift's Archers also had several good chances to notch another marker. The Green gridders, with Close and Englehart cutting through the line for sizeable gains, placed the ball on the Bluffton 27-yard stripe; however, an Archer aerial attempt was intercepted to quench this seemingly potent threat of the locals. With only seconds remaining, Bob Englehart began to cut and shift his way over tackle for gains averaging around ten yards a try. South Side's last threat was soon snuffed by the signal ending the contest.

Archers Show Well

Both the Archers and the Templin-men looked promising in their first and second games respectively, but the Green cleaters appeared to have the edge in drive and spirit. The Giftmen displayed a good rushing attack, a mediocre passing game, and a well-balanced defense.

The starting lineups and the scoring information is given below.

Intramural Program Becomes Popular During Eleven Years

With the beginning of the 1940-41 season for sports, the intramural system of activities rolls into its twelfth straight year of development. Our athletic director, Mr. Louis Briner, has developed his sports system throughout the past eleven years until it reached the peak at the close of last year, when 1,700 boys took part in some sport. Looking back to 1929-30, we can picture an entirely different arrangement; slight participation in the few sports that were being sponsored and not a great deal of interest in the ones that were being developed.

From a participation of 606 in 1929, the progress of Mr. Briner's program became evident during the 1930-31 season, when a total of 906 boys took part in fifteen events. This was an increase of thirty per cent over that of the preceding year. In 1931 sixteen sports were advanced for the boys. A participation of 979 shows an increase of 73 participants over the previous year. With the boys spreading out over a larger number of activities, the entries showed only a medium increase.

Something which your columnist neglected was the point system which was initiated in 1930. By 1932 the point system had become very desirable for it created interest in the activities; and, for those fortunate enough to secure by their own efforts a minor S, it had formed a very worthwhile extra-curricular club. This club is now known as the intramural Lettermen. With the 1932 season came a new burst of interest for Mr. Briner's program, and the participation was boosted to 1,153, better than 150 more entries than the previous season. After five years of organization and promotion, we find the participation sheet showing an increase of over 500 boys and seven additional sports. This increase brought the entrants into various sports up to 1,434 during the season of 1933. With a slight gain in the 1934 season, the entries add up to 1,476. Although this seems a very small gain, we find that in '34 some new events were placed on the sports calendar and, as yet, had not been progressing very rapidly.

1935... "Athletics for All" was adopted as slogan for intramural program. Participation dropped to 1933 level as one event was removed. Although one sport was added for 1936, the participation throughout the season was below that of the previous year. The participation during 1937 in intramurals failed to reach the peak of two or three seasons earlier, primarily because of fifth period classes being in vogue; and secondly, lack of play facilities for night activities. The seventeen sports offered drew 1,309 boys for the 1937-38 season.

Comes 1938, the banner year for the 'mural department, bringing with it the largest number of participants in the history of the program. Twenty-one sports were offered; and the interest for these events grew by leaps and bounds. When the entries were finally totaled, they smashed all previous participation records. The number of participants for the '38 season was 1,586.

Following in the footsteps of the previous year, 1939 plunged ahead to even a greater peak than had been expected. With some twenty odd sports set up, fine targets for the boys to shoot at, the participation shot to 1,729 in a very short length of time. Having brought the participation up to date, year by year, we now go on the explaining of the important principle behind Mr. Briner's intramural program.

The intramural department here at South Side sponsors a recreational program for boys, primarily for those unable to take part in varsity athletics either by choice or lack of ability. Therefore all boys who take part and compete do so through their own initiative and with no feeling of compulsion. The intramural program has one slogan and that is, "Athletics for all." Intramural sports are not intensive in nature, and therefore training and practice are at a minimum and the pleasure is at the maximum. The most important principle behind the program is clean sportsmanship, which is stressed to a maximum.

Upon the appointment of Wayne Gift as head grid coach, Bill Moss accepted the athletic directorship at Shurtleff College in Alton, Illinois. Mr. Moss served as head coach of football at South Side since 1933, at which time he reported from Benton Harbor to succeed Lundy Welborn. The Times extends the wish that Bill may be successful in his new task.

We all think that Mr. Briner has developed the finest system of intramural sports that there is to be found, and that all the boys in the school are proud to have participated in some intramural event while they were at South Side. Credit which is due Louie cannot be over-done; and we hope that the intramural program will be as successful in years to come as it has been in the past.

Committees Named By Booster Group

Selling Concessions, Leading Students In Yells, Decorating Are Members' Duties

Booster Club has named three committees to assist at the football and basketball games this year. The three committees are the selling of articles, decorating, and leading the students in the school yells.

Popcorn, peanuts, cracker jack, and the like are sold by Eileen Goddard, John Louge, John Virtz, Clarence Freeman, Oliver Freeman, Dan Hodell, Betty Clem, Eugene Wiegman, David Fries, Barbara Hughes, Paul Johnson, Max Stobaugh, Bonnie Junk, Helen Peak, Joan Lee, Doris Burt, Betty Imler, Janis Bechtel, and Dorothy Rurick. These nineteen students are supervised by Miss Nell Covalt and Miss Mary Pocock.

Marjorie Dyer, assisted by Margaret Brower, Valetta Favory, Margaret Dennis, Lester Oppenlander, and Rosella Fouts, will have charge of the decorations. At the first game played last Saturday, long pennants in the school colors were made by this committee. Miss Blanche Hutto has charge of the student artists.

The leading of the school yells is done by Ed Kettler, Bud Lampton, Robert Wade, Art Puff, and Bud White. Mr. Heine coaches the boys in the yells.

Kelly Girls Participate In Ohio Tennis Match

Jeanne Smith and Marian Faux, two of South Side's best tennis players, journeyed recently to Toledo, Ohio, to be the guests of a Toledo tennis club.

Both girls survived the first rounds and they both advanced to the semi-finals, where Jeanne met the runner-up of the club's tournament and Marian met a girl who was entered into the club's tournament. Both local girls were defeated, however.

Marian and Jeanne have been displaying an excellent brand of tennis this summer, Jeanne having won the junior girls' singles and doubles and the women's championship of the city and Marian winning the girls' singles and doubles, junior doubles and being runner-up in the junior girls' singles and women's singles.

GAA Members Extend Greeting To Freshmen

All freshman girls who were interested in participating in girls' sports were welcomed last Wednesday by various GAA members. Geneva Martin, president, extended a welcome to them and introduced the various speakers. The other speakers and their topics were Maxine Sterling, sportsmanship; Betty Thiele, variety of sports and point system; Frances Nash, social activities; Jo Ann Spore, care of equipment; Martha Cash, student leaders; and Betty Eisenacher, past GAA president, spoke of the honor of being a member of GAA, which is one of the largest clubs in South Side.

Whose Pet Peeves Are Fried Onions? Maxine R. Sterling

Although vivacious is usually used to describe redheads, it's the only word which describes dark-haired, brown-eyed Maxine Sterling. This sprightly miss was born September 20, 1923. Her favorite foods are hot dogs with everything, chocolate cokes, and cherry pie, and her dislikes are fried onions and oysters. During the summer, her chief interest is centered indoors and on her work at the Grill, while, in winter, she is wild about basketball. Dancing is her hobby all year around and her rug-cutting keeps all her friends interested.

Maxine has been active in GAA since her freshman year and has many points to her credit. She will represent this club in Inter-Club Congress this year. She is also active in Camenean, SPC, and Booster Clubs. Her favorite subject is shorthand and Miss Osborne is tops in teachers in her estimation. When she graduates she plans to do office work and maybe sometimes, as she says, she might "get to sit on her boss's knee."

"Pinocchio" is her favorite movie, while Eddie Cantor and Judy Garland are her choice of movie stars. Every Wednesday night you'll find her listening to Kay Kyser's College of Musical Knowledge.

According to Maxine, she hasn't any current heart throb, but we have our doubts!

South Side Gridders To Meet Woodward Squad Saturday

Toledo Team Will Renew Football Feud

Tough Battle To Be Fought With Old Archer Rival In Kelly Klad Stadium

With high hopes and a strong team, South Side gridders again will enter the Archer stadium next Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock for their second football battle of the 1940 season and expectant second win. Woodward High School, of Toledo, Ohio, will be the invading squad. This team is an old Archer rival and many hard battles have been fought between the two. Both schools and squads will be remembering that tilt of last year, when, after 60 long, hard minutes of play, the game ended in a scoreless tie; and both will be fighting the harder to revenge the near defeat for each side.

The Archer squad after winning its thrilling defensive battle with Bluffton will be even stronger after another week of practice and instruction, since it was handicapped last week by having only four days of actual practice.

With probably the strongest team in three years, after it gets going, the Archers should have a good chance to take this game. Good luck was with the Archers as they suffered no serious injuries in their first tilt, and they should be able to start with the same power. But the failure of a spike wound to heal on the Archer captain and star halfback, Ralph Shimer is bad news for the Green and White fans. With a veteran backfield including Shimer, Close, Englehart, and Straley, the Archer squad has a strong running, passing and kicking combination. With Winkler, McClain, Babbitt, and Lahman to back these up, the backfield is one of the strongest in this region.

On the line, at the ends, are few veterans, with Jim Worman being the only varsity man from last year. But Dager, Hockemeyer, and Siebold are fast developing into good ends. At the center post Gingham seems to have the advantage over Moeller, but both did fine work in Saturday's game. At the other line positions Vetter, Loos, Birkenbeul, Bond, Dixon, and Underwood help complete a strong line. Many promising freshmen and sophomores are also on the squad. With a large crowd of rooters backing their team, the Archers will be helped a great deal.

The team from Toledo will probably be strengthened, as they were last year, by their own cheering section, which includes a large band. The Woodward team has veterans returning who remember the scoreless tie of last year and who stated then that they would be looking forward to the game this year.

The probable starting line-up for South Side is:

Birkenbeul.....left guard
Gingham.....center
Bond.....right guard
Dixon.....right tackle
Dager.....right end
Shimer.....quarterback
Shimer.....halfback
Englehart.....halfback
Close.....fullback

South Side Football Players Feel Sure Of Future Victories

With but one football game played by our Archer team, and that successfully, many would wonder what the players themselves think about the forthcoming games. When asked, "What do you think about the 1940 season?" or "How will the season come out?" the boys seemed to have definite opinions, and seemed confident of a successful season.

These are some of the answers received:

Ralph Vetter: I think that South Side has a swell football team, and I hope that they will win all of their games and I think they will.

Bob Englehart: I think it's going to be a swell season and we'll win all of our games.

Jim Straley: We had a lot of trouble getting started, but I think we will develop into a good team after a few games.

Jim Birkenbeul: We've got a tough ball club, but we'll have to work a little harder. We'll probably win a lot of games.

Jim Worman: I think we'll take a lot of games, and with more conditioning we'll have a very tough team.

Ralph Shimer: Under the new coach, whom everyone that is out for football enjoys working for, we hope to have the best season in many years.

Assistant Coach Collyer: I am expecting a successful season for the 1940 football season. I expect the team to improve as the season goes on.

Chuck Close: It's going to be pretty good. If we're in there battling, we'll win a good share of the games.

Blue Tigers Get City Series Jump

Central Takes Irish By 27-to-0 Count To Run Victory Streak To 12; Sitko Scores Thrice

Central's Tigers opened their 1940 football season and city title quest by outplaying a scrappy Central Catholic eleven, 27-0. The Bengals tallied once in the second period, twice in the third, and added one more score in the fourth. Murray Mendenhall's gridders, by whipping the Irish, ran their consecutive winning streak to an even dozen frays; the win also gave the downtown footballers an early lead for the city crown.

In the first period neither Central nor their neighbors could punch over a score; however, the Tigers soon showed their class in the second period. Red Sitko paced the Blue to their first score, as he was on the receiving end of two well executed passes which set up his short touchdown run. In the third quarter, center Beckman of C.C. made a pass from center, which was wide of the outstretched arms of halfback Dehner; the Tigers recovered the loose ball and on the first play Sitko cut around end for his second tally. The Bengals soon tallied again on an intercepted pass by Quarterback Price and a short run by Sitko. Central's first two extra points were converted by Sitko; however, his third try was blocked.

Early in the fourth period the Irish and Bengals exchanged punts to give the Blue the ball on the C. C. 12-yard stripe. The Tigers then had two touchdown plays nullified. Stanski rifled two perfect passes to big Jim Miller, but on each pass the lanky end was found to be out of the end zone while snaring the pigskin. Un-daunted by the two reverses, Red Sitko tossed a good pass to Stanski for the final score. Sitko again converted, to end the scoring at 27 to 0.

Statistics on the contest show that Central had seven first downs, C. C. none; the Tigers gained 129 yards from rushing, while the Irish could manage but 40 yards. Central completed six of sixteen passes for a total gain of 64 yards; the Levickmen tossed two good passes out of twelve tries for a total gain of seven yards.

Congratulations to the new hockey captains, and we are all hoping that the best team will be led on to victory.

327th to Accept Position This Year

Anna Lou Kowalski

Miss Anna Lou Kowalski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Kowalski, of Fort Wayne, has accepted a position in the offices of the Medical Protective Company, in Fort Wayne.

Miss Kowalski graduated from South Side High School. She took a prominent part in various activities. She continued her education and graduated from the Private Secretarial Department of INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE.

Goal Dust by Bob Young

ONE DOWN, SIX TO GO—With a well-earned victory over Bluffton, the Green pigskin toters now are digging in for Woodward Saturday. The Polar Bears always have a strong team and also the Archers a real scrap. Coach Wayne Gift, in preparing for Woodward and the coming city foes, will begin to polish up Chick Shimer on his passing game and build up a defensive wall which cannot be trod upon. In preparing for Woodward, the Kellies will probably be forced to cope with a modified spread offense, and the Green and White will be ready. With backs Straley, Shimer, Englehart, and Close and their fellow linemen improving in every scrimmage, the one down, six to go may soon become seven up, seven down.

SUMMIT CITY STARS—Hats off to the performances of the following: Red Sitko of Central, for his three fine touchdowns against Central Catholic; reserve back Stanski of Central, for his great work of filling an important cog in the Central backfield; a nod to fullback Huttiger of C. C., who played a great game for the Irish both on defense and offense; Ralph Shimer of South Side whose great third quarter punt of 82 yards deserves a world of credit; or-chids also to Bob Birkenbeul and Bob Englehart of the Green machine for playing heads-up ball on defense and offense, respectively; congratulations to Wayne Gift for his successful start at South Side, and in conclusion, good luck to a very sportsmanlike Bluffton Tiger squad for giving the Green a really clean and hard-contested battle.

ONE-POINT STRALEY—Again this fall, capable Jimmy Straley is in charge of the Green extra-point department. Last Saturday he kicked his first effort squarely between the uprights, indicating that the Archers' extra points will not be "once in a life-time". This should be a banner year for the educated toes of the Archer gridiron, with Chick Shimer forcing the opponents to their end zone with his perfect spiral boots and with Quarterback Straley successfully executing each point after touchdown.

Basketball Season Plans Completed

Commissioner Arthur Trestler, Board Finish Arrangements; Announce Variance In Setup

Plans for the coming basketball season have already been completed by the state athletic board. There has been a change in the tournament setup this year, in that the eliminations are following on successive weeks ends. Last year a week lay-off was necessary between the super final and final games because of Holy Week.

The following dates were announced:

Regionals—February 27, 28, and March 1

Regionals—March 8

Semi-finals—March 15

State Finals—March 22

Also announced were the attendance figures for the meets of the past five years. As indicated by the figures below, the basketball spirit in Indiana is on a definite uptrend. The figures on the past five meets follow:

	Sect.	Reg.	Semi-F.	Final
1936	207,851	50,233	22,032	14,267
	Total	294,383
1937	228,871	50,915	21,148	14,263
	Total	315,197
1938	237,677	51,876	21,231	14,262
	Total	325,046
1939	230,575	51,805	21,295	14,227

Speedball Methods Are Made Known

Fall Sport Begins In Several Days; Announce Regulations, Scoring Rules For Beginners

Since speedball is starting in a few more days, executives of the GAA have published the rules as follows: Scoring shall count in this way: Field goal, 3 points; touchdown, 6 points; penalty kick, 1 point; drop kick, 1 point.

A field goal shall be scored when a ground ball is kicked or legally given impetus with the body so that it passes over the end line, between the posts and under the cross bar. If such a ball is touched by a defensive player, but goes under the bar without further impetus from the offensive side, the goal shall count.

A touchdown may be scored by the completion of a forward pass from the goal lines into the end zone. No part of the receiver's body shall touch the boundary lines of the end zone, or ground outside. If part of the receiver's body is in the end zone and part in the field of play when the ball is caught, no score shall result, but play continues.

A penalty kick follows a personal or technical foul. The ball is placed by the referee on the penalty mark and the kicker may then attempt to kick the ball between the goal posts under the cross bar. Only one member of the defending side is allowed to guard the goal at this time, and he must stand on the end line until the ball is kicked.

If a ball goes over the sidelines, it shall become the possession of the side opposite which last touched it, and shall be put in play by a pass from the spot where it crossed the line.

Whenever a ball that crosses the end line without resulting in a score has been touched by a player of the offensive team, a touchdown back shall be made.

If a ball which goes over the end line without scoring was last touched by a player of the defensive side, the ball shall be put in play at the point where it crossed the end line by a punt, drop kick, place kick, or pass.

Dick Wooding, '39, Fires Gun

One month later I emerged from the Naval Hospital minus my appendix, and embittered toward all Navy doctors. I was again assigned to sea school. After seven weeks of extensive training, I was told that I was to be transferred to the USS "Salt Lake City," whose home port was Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. The USS Neches was to be my means of transportation to Hawaii.

For the first three days of my journey I was very much disinterested in the sight and smell of food. To those who know me, my statement will probably seem a little far fetched. I was more interested in leaning over the rail and gazing at the beautiful ocean. At the end of ten days, we finally sighted the Islands of Hawaii. I had my first look at the lights of Honolulu one morning about 2 o'clock when we were standing off Diamond Head. As soon as it was light, we proceeded into Pearl Harbor and I was transferred to the USS "Salt Lake City."

Engages In Mock Battle

The "Salt Lake City" has been called the "Queen of the Seas" and the name has been properly given. She is the most heavily armed heavy cruiser in the fleet. She mounts ten eight-inch guns, eight five-inch guns, and eight 50-calibre machine guns. It is hard for the average person to try and conceive of all the guns and the power of these steel walls. We have our own bake shop, barber shop, shoe shop, tailor shop, and supply shop. We have a store where anything from a shaving brush to a can of sardines can be bought. We have a soda fountain where one may purchase a dish of ice cream (gondul us), and various other articles found in all good soda fountains.

My first voyage with the "Salt Lake City" was to sail to the north Pacific Ocean to meet the rest of the fleet, with whom we were to engage in mock battle. After maneuvers were over, we were ordered to sail to the Island of Guam to guard a flight of planes that were flying to Manila.

On our way to Guam we stopped at Wake Island, which is nothing more than a little spot of ground which has been made into a Pan-American air base. The Navy keeps a few planes there and we brought them some mail. About thirty miles off the coast of Guam lies the Island of Rota, a Japanese island. All foreign ships are forbidden to come within seven miles of the island, and no foreign plane is allowed to fly over the island. I guess they must have been doing something. We had a good time on the island of Guam. The people were very glad to see us, as it is very seldom that a ship comes out that way. The island itself is very beautiful. The people are a mixture of Spanish and Chamorro. All one needs to live on the island is a small sack of rice and a few clothes. Food is very cheap. Lemons cost three cents a dozen, avocado pears are given away. Cocoanuts grow everywhere.

After we came back from Guam we spent three weeks in port getting ready to fire short range. By firing "short range" I mean that we go out to sea and fire all the big guns for record. I had seen the five-inch guns fire before but I had never seen the eight-inch guns fire. I was anxious to get as close as possible to the guns in order to see everything that went on. I was struck by the fellow machines not to stand too close to the guns, as the concussion was very great, and I was liable to get knocked down. However, I thought that they were fooling and remained where I was. When the first salvo went off the concussion was so great that I snapped my trousers by legs against my legs with force enough to split them up the seam. From then on I watched the firing from a safe spot. My job on the five-inch guns is to put the shells in the gun. I am called the first loader. Firing the guns is a lot of fun after one gets used to the noise.

Sees Active Volcano

While we were out to sea at the time of the firing, we visited Midway Island, Johnson Island, and the Palmyra Islands. We also visited the big island of Hawaii. It is on this island that the volcano Monoa Loa is located. This volcano is the largest active volcano in the world. From the ship we could see the smoke coming from the top of the crater. As I am writing this we are getting ready to get under way to join the rest of the fleet to maneuver with them. I imagine that we shall be gone for about a month. After we return from these maneuvers, the "Salt Lake City" is coming back to the States. I am looking forward to a furlough so that I may come home and see everybody that I know. I am very anxious to see South Side again.

In closing I would like to say a few words to those boys who are thinking of joining the Marine Corps. It's a darn good outfit, the best in the world. In here I have learned to do for myself what had always been done for me before. If you want to travel this is the outfit to get in to. We have posts all over the world. One thing, though—you have to take care of yourself. Nobody will do your work for you. If you are the type that likes sympathy this is no place for you to be. However, I think that most of the boys that go to South Side are the type that are capable of taking care of themselves. Well, I hope that this article has not been too much of a bore to you. If you should ever care to write to me I should be very glad to receive your letters. My address is: Pvt. Richard P. Wooding, Marine Guard, USS Salt Lake City, Pearl Harbor, T. H.

Vivian Logan Plans Lectures For Staff

Vivian Crates Logan, of The News-Sentinel, will present a series of lectures beginning tomorrow at 3:30 o'clock in room 114. This lecture will be on the writing and editing of a news story with particular emphasis on leads.

Mrs. Logan is particularly interested in having all the members of the staff there, as a good foundation in newspaper work can be obtained only if work in all the departments of a newspaper is learned, she said. This series of lectures will include feature writing, headline writing, and problems pertaining to the business phases of a newspaper.

Mrs. Logan's lectures will be held every Friday until further notice.

Ex-Archers Are Wed

Bryce Minier

Helen Anderson

Bryce Minier, '36, and Helen Anderson, '36, have announced their marriage. The ceremony took place in Valparaiso, November 8, 1939. Both were graduated from Northwestern University last June. Both were active in extracurricular activities at South Side.

GAA's Organize Hockey Schedule

Soph 1's, Junior 2's, Senior 1's Win First Games; Two Teams Tie; Eight Captains Chosen

Sophomore 1's, Junior 2's and Senior 1's won the initial hockey games of the year last Friday, and Sophomore 8's tied with the Sophomore 4 squad, 0-0.

Miss Gretchen Smith refereed all of the games, while Geneva Martin was scorekeeper.

Captains of the teams are: Soph 1, Joan Spore; Soph 2, Julia Kaser; Soph 3, Martha Cash; Soph 4, Marian Faux; Junior 1, Betty Gagner; Junior 2, Elsie Ehler; Senior 1, Geneva Martin, and Senior 2, Frances Nash.

Wranglers Arranges Annual Wiener Bake

Wranglers' annual wiener bake will be held on Monday, October 7, at Foster Park. This was announced at a meeting last Monday night of the organization committee. At the meeting, plans were discussed for the year and it was decided that there will be a patriotic program, a political program and a radio announcing contest. There will also be the extemp and declamation contests. Initiation will be held soon.

Those on the organization committee are: James McClure, Bob Young, Bob Brooks, Jim Brooks, Don Meyer, Ed Meyer, Dick Theye, Bob Robinson, Bud Lampton, Safford McMyler, John Bonsib, Charlene McAtee, Delores Daniels, Alene Looser, Pat Sanford, Marjorie McNabb, Mary Ellen Barrett, Emalyn Remmel, Helen Ninde, Eileen Bidner, and Kathryn Guild.

Vacations In East

Eileen Kiessling, senior B, vacationed in New York City during the summer. The trip was made on the streamlined train named "The Trail Blazer." Some of the interesting things Eileen saw in New York City are the Statue of Liberty, Governor's Island, Coney Island, Radio City, NBC, Grant's Tomb, and the Rockefeller Church. Eileen also took two sight-seeing trips and visited the World's Fair.

Attendance Record Shows Improvement

Only one of the 1,950 students registered this year is being kept home by her parents because of the infantile paralysis scare.

Less absences were reported for the first week of school this year as compared to the opening week of 1939, according to Mrs. Lillian Scott, study hall teacher. Three years ago when she first came to South Side, Mrs. Scott said there were about 100 cases of skipping school the first week. Last year the total dropped to 20, and only one case has been reported so far this year.

There were fifteen absences for Thursday and 22 for Friday. The tardiness for Friday was nine.

Boys' Rifle Club Plans October Shoot Series

Boys' Rifle Club will be organized and ready to shoot by the middle of next month, Mr. Maurice Cook, sponsor of the club, announced. A new range with a cement floor may be built during the semester.

The club, under the sponsorship of the National Junior League Clubs, will shoot a series of four and six cards a week. The two teams, Senior and Junior, that have been formed, will, in addition, undertake eighteen "shoulder to shoulder" matches with metropolitan teams.

Mr. Cook has already received a challenge from Far Rockaway High School in New York State. The battle will be fought by mail.

The two teams ended the season last year with high scoring.

Social Sci To Discuss Semester's Program

Social Science will discuss plans for this semester's meetings tomorrow in the Greeley Room at 7 o'clock p. m. All juniors and seniors in history are invited to attend. As the club is limited to forty members, all those wishing to belong should come to the first meeting. The dues for the semester are twenty-five cents and should be paid as soon as possible. The officers of the club are Paul Kiel, president; Bob Brooks, vice-president; Ruth Dauner, secretary; Dick Fisherling, sergeant-at-arms; and Marjorie Dyer, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Times Total Subscribers 777

Some of the room agents have been changed to obtain better results. The new agents are: Silene Smith, room 10; Carolyn McNabb, room 114; Marjorie Bektol, room 76; and Janet Rea, room 92. Other changes will be made soon. Every agent was to have at least seven subscriptions in their home room by last night after school or they will be replaced.

Several agents are approaching one hundred per cent in their home rooms. They are: Jim Steiner, Joan Carman, Marilyn Soudles, and Hilda Leininger. Each person in a one hundred per cent room will receive a candy bar. Agents can get outside subscriptions which will count in their home room for the students who don't subscribe. Those agents listed above are the best agents. Next week the rooms will be listed in per cents instead of the number of students subscribing.

Hilda's Book Goes Ahead

Some of the slips have not been filed because the home rooms are not known. Tuesday evening, Hilda Leininger's book led with 139 subscriptions, while Becky Abbott's book was second with 134, and Lois Hoff's book was third with 123. Peggy Harrod's book had 102, and Barbara Brower's book had 100 subscriptions.

UP AND-DOWN OUR INCLINES

Mr. Bex's industrial arts 8 class is designing canis and moving parts of machinery.

The members of Mrs. Riecke's public speaking classes have been giving introductory speeches to introduce members of their classes.

Donald Kitcher is a new member of Miss Pocock's home room 30. He came from Concordia High and is a 10B student.

Sew During Summer

Out of 120 families of home economic students, 102 sewed during the summer, a survey made by Miss Pearl Rehorth, home economics teacher in room 38 revealed.

Fifteen families did not sew at all and two girls failed to report on the questionnaire. Three most popular articles made were dresses, skirts, and blouses.

Mr. Plasket's freshman industrial arts classes are making clothesline reels.

The boys of Miss Pocock's home room 30 are taking the paint off the room's blackboards.

Marian Faux was the first student in any of Miss Peck's English classes to make a book report. She is an English 3 student in period 7.

Miss Dean's dancing classes are working on modern rhythms. The gym classes are learning speedball techniques.

Miss DeLancey's English 2, period 4 class acquired a standard dictionary of grammatical terms which they will use.

Bill Ramsa, a former member of Mr. Sidell's home room 54, has left South Side.

In Miss Fiedler's home room 188, Kent Lentz was elected president, Marjorie Kruse was elected vice-president, and Clara Makee, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Plasket's advanced industrial arts classes are designing modern furniture.

Second semester students of Mrs. Riecke's public speaking classes have been giving addresses of welcome to new students who in turn give responses. In the first period class Russell Dixon extended welcome and a reply was given by James Bumke; second period, welcome, Eileen Bidner; response, Franklin Thompson; third period, welcome, Joan Cartwright; response, Faye Gumpner; sixth period, welcome, Art Howard; response, Gladys Foellinger.

Students in Miss Osborne's, Mr. Null's and Mr. Walker's home room S are sending cards to Richard (Jack) Snyder, who is at the Riley Hospital. He was sent there about two weeks before the opening of school.

Miss Smith's dancing classes are working modern rhythms. Her gym classes are learning the fundamentals of kicking and throwing a speedball.

Mr. Bex's industrial arts 5 classes are learning to make letters. These mechanical letters are to be used on the job.

Two students have left Mr. Wilson's home room 188. They are Donald Raines, who has gone to Central, and Delaine Rose, who has returned to Detroit, Michigan.

Since room 26 has been painted, Miss Dochterman and her pupils are rearranging the various exhibits and furnishings.

There are three new students in Mr. Sidell's 10B home room 54. They are Charles Rettig, Marilyn Rietdorf, and Dick Robey.

Mr. Whelan's physical geography 2 classes are studying topographic maps and glaciers.

In Miss Hutto's 11B home room are two new pupils. They are Mary Jane Cox from St. Petersburg, Florida, and Don Dowling.

Miss Magley spent most of her vacation at home, except for two weeks which she spent at the lake.

School Extends Sympathy

Students and faculty of South Side extend their sympathy to Miss Rose Mary DeLancey upon the death of her father, Mr. C. B. DeLancey of North Manchester, August 10. Mr. DeLancey passed away after an illness of several weeks.

Archers Undergo Operations

Martha Jane Krauskopf had her tonsils removed this summer. Rudolph Wuttke was in the Lutheran Hospital for an appendicitis operation.

1500 Club Will Have Annual Election Today

Members of 1500 Club will hold their election of officers at 3:20 o'clock today in room 16. Plans will be made for a picnic. Members of the 1500 Club are students of the Times and Totem who have made 1500 points or more.

Following are the members and the pins which they have earned: John Bonsib, gold-jeweled; Bob Brooks, bronze; James Brooks, gold; Barbara Brower, silver; Delores Daniels, bronze; Karl Eberly, bronze; Dick Gallmeyer, bronze; Virginia Gray, bronze; Kolmon Gross, gold; Faye Gumpner, gold; John Gumpner, gold; Lois Gumpner, gold; Thompson Hall, silver.

Totem Campaign Will Commence On Next Monday

Mr. R. Nelson Snider Will Officially Open Drive At Senior Gathering Monday

Yearbook Staff Sets New Goal For 300

"It's A Step In Right Direction To Buy A Totem" Is To Be Subscription Theme

The Totem campaign will officially be opened by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, at the senior meeting next Monday, October 7. The meeting will be held during home room period that day and will be attended by all seniors.

With plans for the coming year already taking form, the 1941 Totem staff is working hard to launch its big subscription campaign. During the first two weeks of school, many Archers signed up for their yearbooks. However, the staff is planning a campaign starting next Monday, in which every Archer student will be given time to order a 1941 Totem.

John Bonsib and Joel Salon, editor and business manager of the yearbook, have devised the new campaign with the aid of the circulation managers, Lois Likins and Lois Gumpfer.

Goal Is 300
The first day goal of the campaign is set at 300 subscriptions, a goal never before reached, but one which very probably can be reached for the 1941 Totem because of the great enthusiasm behind the book on the part of the seniors and the staff. The goal for the entire campaign has been set at 1100 subscriptions.

"The theme of the campaign will be 'It's a step in the right direction' to buy a Totem," says John Bonsib. "A step in the right direction is a good theme because if each and every student subscribes we will be able to produce an unequalled Totem in beauty, size, and quality. Each person subscribing will be given an appropriate badge to wear. If you want this to be a great yearbook, take a step in the right direction and subscribe for the Totem."

Promptly at 8 a. m. Monday morning, all seniors will go immediately to the gymnasium and sign up in sections A, B, C, and D. John Bonsib will open the meeting and introduce Mr. Snider, who will speak on "The Value of a Yearbook." Next the editor will give a preview of the book. Immediately following, Joel Salon will explain how one can get an appropriate badge to wear. If you want this to be a great yearbook, take a step in the right direction and subscribe for the Totem.

Campaign Till Nov. 1
The drive will continue in senior and underclass home rooms until Friday, November 1. On Tuesday, senior agents will be working in underclass home rooms. Those agents are: Peggy Harrod, Charlene McAtee, Barbara Brower, Bob Robinson, Sam Bacon, Bob Young, Jim Brooks, Delores Daniels, Jim McClure, Bob Hines, Dick Theye, Edgar Kettler, Dick Fishering, Wilma Lageman, Laura Grazier, Marilyn Hull, Roy Heavens, Alice Hall, Marge Sheldon, Miriam Jackson, Paul Keil, and Alice Light.

In Room S, Pat Sanford, Marjorie McNabb, and Bud Lampton will represent the Totem.

In senior home rooms these are the agents: Sanford, McNabb, Elsie Ferguson, Emalyn Remmel, Kathryn Kuntz, Marilyn Sondles, Dick Gallmeyer, Ed Meyer, Don Meyer, Josephine Frosh, Bonnie Yaeger, Jean Weil, LaVerne Michelfelder, Bob Brooks, Maurine Leas, Hilda Schubert, and Mildred Hanke.

Dates For Dances Selected By Clubs

Six Socials Will Be Held Following Basketball Games; Orchestras, Decorations Allowed

Dates have been set for the after-game dances, which are to be held directly after home basketball games. The dances, ending at 11:30 o'clock, sharp, will be under planned supervision.

The schedule is as follows: December 7, Crawfordville game; December 21, Horace Mann game; January 15, Central game; January 25, Elwood game; February 14, Froebel game; and February 21, Jeffersonville game.

Various clubs will sponsor the dances, the first being sponsored by the Letterman Club, second by the Torch Club, third by the Stamp Club, the fourth by the French Club, fifth by the Philo Club, and the sixth by the mathematics department.

Orchestras will be hired and decorations will be made according to the set theme and color scheme. Each time the program and decoration will be varied.

An admission charge of twenty-five cents per person, and forty cents a couple will be made. The club sponsoring the dance will receive fifteen dollars of the net profit, anything above this being used for club room equipment.

Members of Hi-Y will probably again take charge of the checkroom. Mr. Flint stated that the boys very successfully carried out this job last year.

In Mr. Ora Davis office are Dorothy Souffrank and Rose Steinman, sixth period; Harold Haberstroh, seventh period. After school, the workers are Pauline Schoenherr, Maxine Sterling, Crystal Valentine, and Jean Sheets.

Public Speaking Class

Officers Are Elected

Officers for the semester were elected for each period in Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke's public speaking class. Those elected in the first period are Russel Dixon, president; Martha Jean Smith, vice-president; Jack Vetter, secretary; Lois Bloemker, assistant secretary; and Jack Hoyerberger, monitor. In the second period class Barrie Tremper is president; Roger McVay, vice-president; Mary Ellen Barrett, secretary; Arlene Snyder, assistant secretary; and Dick Holms, monitor.

The third period class selected the following officers: Rebecca Abbott, president; Clifford Hess, vice-president; Jean Weil, secretary; Bob Moses, assistant secretary; and Jim VanBuskirk, monitor. In the sixth period class Art Howard is president; Mike Beal, vice-president; Safford McMyler, secretary; Pat Sanford, assistant secretary; and Dave Rea, monitor.

Times Obtains 950 Orders; More Ahead

Addition Of Five Agents Announced By Bob Robinson At Agents' Meeting

About 950 students have subscribed to the Times and about 350 more subscriptions are expected to be handed in by Friday evening. It was announced last night at the room agents' meeting, Lois Likins in room 82 is the only agent to turn in a 100 per cent room so far, but more are expected to be turned in in a few days. All students in rooms that have a 100 per cent will receive a trophy bar.

Other rooms that are expected to have 100 per cent are Rose-Etha Brazzy's room 32, Mary Condrey's room 94, Hilda Schubert's room 102, Kolman Gross' room 144, Marilyn Sondles' room 172, Dan Hodell's and Martha Hull's room 184, and Hilda Leisinger's room 182.

At the room agents' meeting last night new agents were announced, they are: Joe Barbieri in room 24, Joan Dodge in room 25, Grace Johnson in room 75, Dick Bailhe, in room 114, and Martha Hull in room 184. New agents were announced at the meeting last night and more will be appointed Friday to get more results.

At the meeting Wednesday night the speakers were Miss Rowena Harvey, publications head, Bob Robinson, circulation manager, and Marge Sheldon, Times general manager. Candy bars were handed out and agents were asked to turn in their brother and sister slips Friday night. It was announced also that rooms would be given in percentages from now on, to put the rooms on a more even basis.

The last free issue of the Times was given out last week and students are asked to subscribe today. All those who want to subscribe today will be given a free issue and asked to sign a promissory note.

South Side is ahead of North Side with 935 subscriptions, while the Northern has 722. Each semester the two schools race for the circulation.

Service Is Theme Of So-Si-Y Meeting

Hemming Squares Heads Program; Lecture, Reading, Religious Service Is Planned

So-Si-Y will have its service meeting next Tuesday in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. The service this year is the hemming of squares. Previous years the club has hemmed towels. Miss Elizabeth Dinsdale, of the YWCA will give a ten minute lecture on service work. Following her lecture she will become acquainted with the various members.

Gertrude Merkel, Inter-Club Congress representative, will have charge of the religious services. She will read a poem connected with service work. During the reading of the poem, Martha Thomas will play softly at the piano. Two hymns, In Christ There is No East Nor West and Spirit and Life will be sung before and after the poem, respectively.

Wilma Kellogg will give a reading on Freshmen Romance previous to the hemming of the squares. Several popular piano selections will be played by Gertrude Merkel during which the members will join in.

Romayne Rediger, and her committee consisting of Lois Ringenberg, Gwendolyn Kelly, Helen Lisius, and Betty Porter, made green programs with the officers, the code of the club, and an address.

Violet Steinbauer, who was elected vice-president last semester, resigned her position on account of other outside work. Her position has been taken over by Marjorie Voltz.

Louisa Haugk has charge of the meeting. She will be assisted by Marjorie Voltz, Marjorie Gering, Wilma Kellogg, Bernadine Bender, Wilma Bowman, Margaret Geroff, and Etheldrea Behling.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Each member is asked to bring a needle and a thimble.

English Division Obtains Records

Poetical Selections Purchased From Proceeds Of Riley Program For Use Of Students

Records connected with English literature for the use of English students at South Side have been purchased from proceeds from Mr. William Hough's program here last spring on James Whitcomb Riley's poems. Mr. Benjamin Null, head of the English department, has announced that proceeds amounting to $70 with which a reproducing machine and eight records have been purchased.

Mr. Null states, "All profits from Riley's program will come directly back to students of English through use of the records and the new machine. The machine and records are available to teachers of English any time they want them."

The records purchased include readings of Beowulf, from Chaucer, which are usable and helpful to the English 7 classes; Chinese Nightingale and The Congo, two poems written by Vachel Lindsay, which can be used by classes of English 6. Readings by Robert Frost have been ordered, but have not yet arrived.

Mr. Hough was brought to South Side by Mr. Ora Davis, athletic manager, in the latter part of May. Mr. Hough gave the life and some readings of James Whitcomb Riley. Previous to Mr. Hough's visit to South Side, Mr. Davis spoke to the English 6 classes of Miss Dorothy Magley and Miss Susan Peck on Mr. Riley's poems, which the classes at that time were studying.

First Freshman Tea Will Be November 4

The freshman tea, which will be held Monday, November 4, will begin the series of class teas to be held for the mothers of South Side's students. The sophomore tea will be held Tuesday, November 5; the junior tea, Wednesday, November 6; and the senior class tea will be held Thursday, November 7. Announcement of these teas has been made by Mrs. Emmanuel Stock, publicity chairman of the PTA.

In the near future there will be a meeting of the executive board with the faculty members. Open house for South Side will be held Monday evening, November 11. The music department will furnish a program.

Pins To Be Given Five Philatelists

Presentation To Be Made October 9; Naval Base Stamps To Be Studied This Term

Pins in the form of a small letter "P" will be awarded to five members of Philatelic Society at the semi-annual installation services in the Greeley Room, October 9. The following members were awarded bronze "P's" by the award committee of Stamp Club last semester: Keith Lakey, Betty Clem, Jack Rogers, and Rosemary Spore. Donald Parkinson was the only member to be awarded a silver "P".

The members voted to have their theme this semester cover the islands from which we received air and naval bases in the Atlantic. The air and naval bases are: Newfoundland, Bermuda, Bahamas, Jamaica, Antigua, St. Lucia, Trinidad, and British Guiana. If it is possible films on these islands will be secured through the Visual Education Department.

The officers are in charge of the next meeting which is the installation services on October 9. They will take Newfoundland and Bermuda for their discussion on the air and naval bases in the Atlantic. The officers of Stamp Club are Maxine Case, president; Etheldrea Behling, vice-president; Robert Wylie, treasurer; Philip Schwartz, secretary; Ralph Herb, point recorder; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Keith Lakey. The sergeant-at-arms, will not be elected until next Tuesday.

The new members of Stamp Club are Jack Braun, Dick Cunningham, Ray Fish, Austin Gardner, Nancy Geake, John Hitzeman, Lee Loeser, Barbara Long, Irene Meyer, Betty Thiele, Kenneth Wolman, and Kenneth Wolman. Any other stamp collectors who are interested in becoming a member of Stamp Club should sign his membership card in room 1 immediately.

Charlotte DuWan Picnic Chairman

Will Arrange Camenean Outing To Be Held October 15 At Park; Program Is On Hobbies

Charlotte DuWan was named general chairman of the committee for the next Camenean Club meeting which will be held in the form of a picnic, which will probably be held at Weissner Park.

The members of her committee are Alice Volmerding, LaVerne Greiner, and Maurine Stiering. It has been suggested that the girls who were seniors and graduated last June, and who were then members of Camenean Club be invited to attend the picnic.

Camenean Club will again have a membership drive, of which Margaret Brower is chairman.

The officers who will have a meeting soon, at which they will select the committees for the remaining meetings. The list of names will be posted on the lower left hand corner of the bulletin board by Miss Thorne's room. Every member is urged to look at the place specified to find out on which committee she is to serve.

The officers who were elected at the last meeting last spring are: Miriam Roebel, president; Jeanne Smith, vice-president; Marilyn Dennis, secretary; Aileen Reinking, treasurer; and Louise Bushing, secretary. Since Jeanne Smith is unable to accept the office, Phyllis Lauer, who was the other candidate for the election, will be vice-president for this semester.

At the previous meeting, which was held last Tuesday for the organization of the club, Kathleen Gould gave an explanation as to what the club means, which is the study of fine arts. The theme of Camenean Club for this semester is to be based on the fine arts as hobbies.

Some forms of hobbies from which programs will be planned are collections of paintings and famous paintings, music, groups of unusual instruments, dancing and the study of dancing costumes, the collection of music records, and literature.

Wranglers Will Hold Wiener Bake Monday

Wranglers' annual wiener bake will be held next Monday in the new pavilion at Foster Park. Jim McClure, president, is general chairman. All who are planning to attend must sign on the bulletin board in room 138 before Friday. The cost is twenty-five cents per person and may be paid before or a few days after the wiener bake. Eating will start at 5:30 p.m.

The committees in charge are: arrangements: Bob Brooks, chairman, Max Atkins, John Gumpfer, Harry Peaser, and Bob Moses; food: Marge McNabb, chairman, Julia Price, Katherine Somers, Evelyn Thomas, Barrie Tremper, Pat Underhill, Dick Bailhe, and Mike Beal; entertainment: Mary Ellen Barrett, chairman, Fred Collins, Bob Guion, Elaine Helms, Alene Loeser, Bob Zimmer, and Bill McNulty.

Club Members Give Speeches To Freshmen

Representatives Advise All Yearlings About Joining Various School Activities

Representatives from clubs that are open to freshmen have been giving talks in all freshman home rooms. These talks are to help acquaint the new students with South Side's extracurricular activities.

The representatives from Meterites, which is under the direction of Miss Susan Peck, are Phyllis Wefel, Dorothy McPherson, and Harriet Shinnick. Philatelic Club talks are being given by Bob Wylie, Maxine Case, Ralph Herb, Philip Schwartz, Don Parkinson, Keith Lakey, and Rosemary Spore. Stamp Club is under the supervision of Miss Pauline VanGorder. Booster Club representatives are Betty Clem, Clarence Freeman, Eileen Goddard, John Virts, Barbara Hughes, Paul Johnson and John Logue. Miss Mary Pocock selected them.

GAA, under the direction of Miss Alice Dean and Miss Gretchen Smith, have as their representatives Jeanne Smith, Geneva Martin, Joan Squires, Frances Nash, Betty Thiele, and Martha Cash.

Mr. Flint, who is in charge of Service Club, has announced the following speakers: Ralph Herb, Claude Davenport, Evelyn Erickson, Jeanne Smith, Marguerite Calkins, Elaine Hershey, and Marile Kimmel. Girl Scouts representatives are Mae Ann Stark, Eleanor Christ, Joan Dodge, Betty Speckman, and Maurine Brackman.

The representatives for USA are Loraine Berning, Ilo Hershman, Doris Jackson, Carolyn Fisher, Opal Springer, and Martha Grieder. The teachers in charge of this club are Miss Kelley and Miss Grace Welty.

Camenean Club speakers are being given by Elaine Hirschy, Emalyn Remmel, and Betty Jane Keppler. Miss Edith Crowe and Miss Mary Crowe are in charge. Representatives from Marionette Club, under the direction of Miss Blanche Hutto, are Mary Morgan and Carol Lyman.

Film Department Reports Statistics

Pupils To See Mr. W. C. Wilson In Room 108 Who Want Work In Visual Education Office

According to the annual report of the Division of Visual Education Department, 555 reels of film were run through the sound and silent moving picture projectors for the school year 1939 and 1940.

Other statistics of interest on this report are: the sound and silent projectors were run a total of 1384 hours or 54 days of continuous operation, and a grand total of 226,800 feet of film were run through the picture projectors of the department.

Each of the seven operators averaged about 20 hours of operation for the school year. The office force of five compiled a total of 489 working hours, an average of 98 hours per office girl. An expenditure of $21.29 cents for postage was recorded by the 15 teachers who ordered films from the department. The films were viewed by 7,203 students, an average of about 3 1/4 reels per student. Slides required 3 1/4 hours for the projection of 147. The film rolls which are shown by the teachers to the students with the aid of the Tri-Projector Projector took up 2 hours for showing.

A new sign has been made by Ralph Herb and placed in the window of the Visual Education office to facilitate the finding of the office, which is located across from room 6 and next to Mr. Louis Briner's office. Teachers may order films, film rolls, slides, and other audio-visual aids to education at any time after school has taken up.

Most of the teachers will be interested in an announcement by Mr. L. C. Larson, consultant of the Bureau of Visual Instruction and School of Education at Indiana University, to the effect that his department has new stocks of films, film rolls, slides, and audio-visual aids, such as charts, graphs, and diagrams.

Frosh Acquainted With Junior Math

Nominating Committee Under-Take Task Of Giving Speeches In All Freshman Home Rooms

John Oleott, George Spear, and Marilyn McGuire, who comprise the nominating committee for the new officers in Junior Math Club have undertaken the task of making speeches in freshmen home rooms to acquaint those students with this club.

George Spears, who was elected at the last meeting last spring, is president of the organization. The other officers will be elected at the next meeting.

The first meeting for this semester of the Junior Mathematics Club will be held next Tuesday in room 138. Junior Math Club meetings are held every two weeks in this new Voorhees room.

The purpose of the club is to create and stimulate an interest in mathematics or, looking at it from another point of view, is to show the side of mathematics that one doesn't see in class.

Meetings of this club are composed of a business and a social program. Games are played and refreshments are served as a part of the social activities. Dues are fifteen cents for each semester.

As there are no scholastic standing requirements every freshman and sophomore boy and girl are eligible to join this organization since every freshman student takes the subject of mathematics.

Current Problems Face PTA Forum

Mr. W. C. Wilson Acts As Chairman At First Meeting; Discussions Meetings Are Open To All

Plans were discussed for dates of meetings and topics for discussion at the first meeting of the PTA Forum last night. Mr. Wilburn Wilson acted as chairman. Discussions on present social problems will be held to acquaint the public with the historical background of current topics.

Some that probably will be discussed are: Political Parties and Their Place in Democracy, America in the Far East, Why Europe Went to War, The Conditions of Peace After the World War, and Should America Assume World Leadership. It is likely that the Forum will meet once every two weeks and the meetings are open to anyone interested.

Contrary to what was said in the city newspapers, there will be no discussions on the presidential candidates and their issues.

Girls' Gym Head Is Radio Leader

Miss G. A. Smith Is Chairman Of "School Of The Air" Program; Name Guidance Groups

Miss Gretchen Smith has been chosen as chairman of the "School of the Air" radio program. The aim of the radio broadcasts is to inform the public of school activities, to provide a medium for public development, and to develop an appreciation among participants for artistic perfection and for the value of radio as a medium for education.

There are supervision committees from each school. The members of these committees are appointed by principals at the beginning of the school year for writing, training, and music. Instruction of the committee is also done at beginning of school year by director and station staff in radio methods. There are two supervision committees from each school.

A half-hour weekly variety of programs is given by each school in turn. The radio serial consists of music, short dramatic sketches, news items, and talks.

The motivation is to have a board of experts and laymen to determine outstanding programs. Plaques are donated by station to be awarded to winners at end of season.

Leonard Koch, '38, Is Winner Of Art Award

Leonard Koch, '38, who has received two full-time yearly scholarships to the Fort Wayne Art School, was again this year offered another year of advanced work at the Art School. Although Leonard appreciated his scholarship, he has decided to study at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

While in South Side, Leonard studied for three years under Miss Erma Dochterman of the art department. Miss Dochterman, in an interview, said that Leonard was one of the most talented artists that she has ever had.

June Flaig And Rebecca Abbott Are Elected To Other Important Senior Posts

Eighteen Nominees Primary Choices

Final Vote Devoid Of Politics Held Tuesday; Winners Active In School

James McClure, Ralph Shimer, and Elizabeth MacKay have been elected presidents of the 1940-41 senior, junior, and sophomore classes respectively. Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, announced yesterday. Other officers of the senior class are June Flaig, vice-president; Rebecca Abbott, secretary-treasurer; and Marjorie Dyer, Dick Theye, and Marjorie Sheldon, members of the social council.

Juniors who have been elected class officers are as follows: vice-president, Roger McVay; secretary-treasurer, Marilyn Loomis; social council, Mary Ellen Barrett, Joan Cox, and Sam Johnson.

Victor Kaufman and Marian Faux are the new sophomore vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively. Members of the social council are Dorothy McPherson, Marcella Schwartz, and Richard Shinner. These elections came as the result of a final ballot held in sophomore, junior, and senior home rooms Tuesday. Primary elections were held last Friday.

Eighteen Are Nominated
Eighteen members of each class were left after the primary elections: three each for the office of president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer; and nine for members of the social council. Each student who voted crossed off all but one name for the first three offices, and all but three for the social council.

Other candidates for senior class offices in the final election were: president, Sam Bacon and Bob Hines; vice-president, Lois and Faye Gumpfer; secretary-treasurer, Frank DuWaldt and Robert Young; social council, John Bonsib, Richard Gallmeyer, Katherine Kuntz, Maurine Leas, William Miller, and Phyllis Mueller.

Warren Cook and Marjorie McNabb were opponents for the senior office in the junior class. Candidates for other junior offices were vice-president, Harry and Carolyn Sanders; secretary-treasurer, Warren Hoagland and Paul Johnson; social council, Charles Beal, James Holzworth, Arthur Howard, Alene Loeser, Rose Stemen, and James Worman.

All the new officers have been active in the school activities. James McClure, senior president, is an outstanding public speaker and has been chosen to be the master of ceremonies at the assemblies. June Flaig is not only outstanding in school work, but also has mastered the musical instrument, the harp. She has recently won a scholarship for which she receives free music lessons at Indianapolis each Saturday. Rebecca Abbott held an office in the junior class, is a worthy worker on The Times staff, and is president of the Hi-Y. Marjorie Dyer is known for her ability in art, which she uses to help the school in many ways. Marjorie Sheldon is at present the general manager of The Times and former French Club president. Dick Theye has won many medals for his shooting ability.

Ralph Shimer, the junior president, is active in the field of sports. He was the sophomore president last year. Roger McVay is an active Times and Hi-Y member. Philo, Times, Library, and SPC are enjoyed by Marilyn Loomis. Mary Ellen Barrett is feature editor on the Times staff and also gives her ability to Wranglers Club. Joan Cox is a member of Wranglers, Times, and chorus. Sam Johnson prefers the sport line, for he is active in football and track. The sophomore president, Elizabeth Meterites, is program chairman of Meterites. Wranglers Club draws the attention of Victor Kaufman. Dorothy McPherson spends most of her time on The Times and lends Tuesday afternoon to Meterites. Marcella Schwartz has the art of playing the piano for the dance classes. Richard Shimer gives the Boy Scouts his pastime.

Wo-Ho-Ma To Greet Newcomers To Club

Welcoming all new members will be the feature event of the first meeting of Wo-Ho-Ma Club, which will be held this afternoon in the Greeley Room at 3:30. Helen Dicks will give a short report stating the aims of the club and its contributions toward knowledge of home economics. The president will present a special invitation to all new girls.

Games will be played after a short business meeting. The program was planned by the new officers, who will take over their duties at this meeting. Miss Pearl Rehorth is sponsor for the club this coming school year.

The new officers are as follows: Katherine Bultemeyer, president; Laurie Lou Hancock, vice-president; Betty Lou Hancock, secretary; Lois Gumpfer, treasurer; and Mary Ellen Barrett, Inter Club Congress representative.

If You Want To Be Like A Real Heroe, Read These Words

All criticism and no praise is hard on human nature. This time we inject a bit of a compliment into the editorial domain, a compliment to the student body of South Side in general; and specifically to those who customarily inhabit the study hall during the fifth period. Last year there was quite a bit of commotion and trouble in the study hall during the noon hour. Instead of the gym, which is the proper place for noise if it has to be, the study hall came to be a regular center for social congregation and "gab sessions". It took the student mental faculties of great proportions to concentrate on any school work while troops of gossiping girls and bellowing boys wandered up and down the aisles. Finally, Mrs. Scott and the rest of our faculty took matters in hand and made the social hall a study hall once again. Of course this was accomplished only by means of rules and regulations concerning entering, leaving, and conversing in the hall.

However, this semester, these restrictions have not been strongly enforced, with the result that students free this period are showing that they can behave themselves without force. Students have been entering and leaving as they please, but keeping noise and conversation to a minimum. The element which caused so much trouble last year is absent this term. Maybe we have learned our lesson; let's hope so. Our praises go to the student body as a whole for staying out of the study hall if they have no business there, and to the fifth period studiers for maintaining reasonable order. Maybe that's been through the teacher's efforts, but we believe that cooperation on the pupils' part is necessary. In any case, let's hope that some of our defects mentioned in another editorial don't ever overshadow the fine work which has shone forth these past few weeks. At any rate, right now let's just keep up the good work!

Time For All Good Archers To Come To Their Own Aid

There has been much talk these days about un-Americans. Although less publicized, there is a certain element in South Side which is "un-American", to say the least. This clique, like the one it parallels, strikes when its target's back is turned or undercover of false identity. In the study hall its presence is evidenced by loud yells. (yes, we said YELLS) when Mrs. Scott is absent from the room. Again we see the group in operation each time a scribble appears upon freshly-painted walls. Even we students are not free from the menace. Our so-called "friends" who belong to the "organization" are quick to switch the blame for incidents like the ones mentioned above towards us or our classmates.

What is the cure for our internal ailment? Since we borrowed a comparison from our national government, let's also apply its remedy. As we've seen by the papers, the United States plans to combat the undemocratic faction by exposing its activities and arousing public sentiment. Although, we are sure, the sentiment of our faculty has long been aroused, we believe that, until now, our students have been extremely indifferent.

Let's all join the patriotic reform movement within our school's borders. If we become vigilant enough against our hidden enemies, perhaps some day these same individuals, who really aren't so bad after all, may join our ranks.

Freshmen aren't wallflowers—they're just waiting there to get through the rushing mob to their lockers.

This is the "Age of Mental Telepathy"—One student writes down the correct answers on a test; and his neighbor, by concentrating hard for several seconds, succeeds in transferring the answer to his own paper. (Oh yeah!)

It's getting so we hear it in our sleep: Start paying on the 1941 Totem.

It's not too late to buy a football ticket and still save a lot of money. Consider, please.

Isn't it surprising how grown up freshmen appear after the first day?

The new trackless trolley system is going to result in more study for South Side students. Class activities on the west side of the building used to cease for a minute when a street car went past.

Fable: Once there was a first day of school when a few students escaped being bugged by the Times agents.

Truthfully now, underneath all that show, aren't you glad to get back to school?

Guess Who?

Have you guessed the identity of the maestro pictured above? If the photograph reveals nothing of his person to you music fans, consult the clues listed below. Last week the Old Professor, Kay Kayser, held sway in this column; this week a relatively young professor has taken over. The clues are tougher than last time for the unknown leader is not as well known as were the leaders featured in the initial editions. Here are the clues:

Presenting—a swing leader of top-notch calibre. Born in Salt Lake City. He stands about six feet tall and weighs around 170 pounds.

Recognized—By flaming red hair. Started in Music—When only four years old. His father was leader of a civic band.

Plays—A trumpet. Theme—"Wail of the Winds." Organized Band—After first World War.

Famous For—Five Pennies quintet (drum, brass, sax, trumpet, piano); however, a new quintet organized and made some recordings last December under Red's leadership.

Orchestra Style—Sweet and swing, good on hot numbers.

Personality—Well liked by musicians and fans. Usually wears a smile.

Likes—Loud sport clothes.

Popularity—Average attendance. His band was the most popular back in the early thirties.

Records—Cuts for Bluebird.

Has Introduced—"She Shall Have Music" and "Let Me Dream".

Most famous recordings—Of The Five Pennies:

Parade of The Pennies.

Robins and Roses.

Melancholy Baby.

Of his Entire Band:

You're So Desirable.

Our Love.

Wail of the Winds.

Ever in City—Yes, in 1938.

Next week watch for one of the nation's leading swing pianists in this column.

Spotlights On The Sophomores

And to think a measly little fly caused this! Well, anyway, it all started when Mr. Collyer gave over the last fifteen minutes of a history class to study. Dick Bailhe, however, found more interest in the flies, who flitted about the room and settled on, among other things, Dick's arm. Seizing one of the innocent creatures, Dick commenced to pick off its wings. Then Dr. Bailhe set the wingless fly on the desk surface and proceeded to observe its struggles as it ran about. Not content to keep this scientific light under a bushel, he attracted the attention of some of his neighbors to the experiment. About this time Mr. Collyer's attention also was attracted and he sallied with this, "Are you going home and tell your mama how much history you have to do?" Professor Bailhe has not "de-winged" any flies since.

Gerry Mansbach ran afoul of Miss Magley in a recent English class. It seems that Miss Magley was late to class and Gerry somehow got himself pinned between two other boys in their seat. Anxious to get back in his seat before Miss Magley arrived, and, as his escape from either side was blocked, he decided to go over the top of the back of the seat. In the midst of his acrobatics the pedagogue returned and was not overly pleased with the demonstration. Tch, tch.

If you ever get a chance, swipe Martha Shaffer's Sketch Book and take a look at it. She's a real artist, and has really drawn some swell pictures in it.

Hats off to the sophomore members of the football squad! Among the most important are the Gilbert twins, Art Garrison, Dick "Sherlock" Holmes, Joe Barberi, Kenneth Giese, and particularly Curtis Kyvik, who has been playing with the first squad and has turned in some mighty fine performances in the games.

One after another they say. Anyway, one of South Side's cuties, Priscilla Anita, Lane Eller, has really found a great romance. Her lucky man is none other than Dick Imboden from North Side High School. Anita has been holding her affections for someone great. This boy must have quite a lot of overwhelming power. Nice going, Dick, South Side sends all her congratulations.

Roses to a new love affair. Those beautiful roses go to none other than Jane Chenoweth. For Jane, as I have been informed, has found new esteeming interest in Dean McKean. Dean is another lil' fella' who hasn't shown his admirations until this year. It looks like a prosperous year for Dan Cupid.

The Sun Never Sets---

Oh, the life of a dirt digger may be compared to that current hit (slightly altered) "That's Not For Me". I've tried, yes truly I have tried, but I'm afraid I'll Never Smile Again" until you outside excavators dig up some knesky knickknacks and place them in the appointed container. However, I shall stand on the burning deck and hope that one of this week's victims have cause to burn.

Everyone thought it a catastrophe for Marilyn Wolf when Jim Hartman left our fair halls, but she seems to shed no tears over him because Jim Worman is always on hand to see that she doesn't.

Our dancing, prancing (?), "casanova" Bob Druhot has been heard to exclaim that he has definitely come to the turning point in his life. Old "gumps gus" would like to start life anew with Bay Meyer but if he did so, he would have to give up his present occupation of being a killer with the women. Should he choose Bay? Should he give up his career? Or should he take his case to "We, The People?" What do you think?

One of our recent gay gatherings marks the spot where social history was made over night! Your seeing-eye observed some many mighty new combinations. Of course, Yehoodi escorted the same old Brenda and Cobina but alas, a third woman was unknowingly present. It was the wife of the little man that wasn't there whom Yehoodi had taken quite an interest. Scandal!!! Down with polygamy and Yehoodi! Along with the above mentioned was the Leininger-Heffelinger duet; Jim Straley and Pat Racht; Rosa Lee Hall with Jim Gerig; Lola Rodriguez plus Tommy Thompson; Dottie Cooper and Willie Doyle, and to conclude, Lorraine Lord and handsome Dave Saylor.

All you male Marge McMahon fans better step up your pep talk but quick, 'cause a very handsome Bob Sturm, who hails from Central Catholic, is waiting for the chance to sweep our fair damsel off her feet.

The Fifth Column

This time we're writing from atop an oak tree. In case you haven't already guessed, the occasion is the Woodward-South Side game. If our example of mooching is a bit too extreme, we'll try to make it up to you all in our TAPPINGS FROM THE GRAPEVINE:

Whispering Grass—Study Halls. All This And Heaven, Too—Home-work, tests, and book reports. And So Do I—Want a free pass to the games.

You Can't Brush Me Off—I'm the little thought that wasn't there when you needed me last period.

If you haven't heard the following from another source, why not spare yourself the grief of discovering that Christmas vacation is to be shared of at least its "mas" to make up for the extended summer vacation recently concluded. In other words, get ready to do the Algebra on New Year's Eve, instead of the town!

On the brighter side we see a beam of light in the person of Pat Seibel. If memory is still a thing of the present, you will recall that in our last installment we stated that Pat Seibel had returned to her studies at Stephens. This week we acknowledge ourselves as the biggest fools who rush in by retracting the statement. Final Conclusion: Patricia Seibel will attend South Side High School this year.

A domestic science enthusiast passed this gem to us, saying that it is a life saver in one of those emergencies where Ma is called out during your 50-minute lunch "hour".

Egg salad sandwiches:
5 hard-cooked eggs,
¼ cup chopped pickles,
1 teaspoonful prepared mustard.
Salt.

10 slices buttered bread.

Undercover stuff: It is rumored by a certain undercover mob known as census takers that the present population of our town is only 118,000. We've been trying to tell the takers all along that the circus was in town the week they calculated:

From "The Grill": Booth 1: M. Carlo forgetting a list of sophomore boys for a senior.

Booth 2: B. R. watching her forget.

A local paper reports that "finger-tip-length" coats are the latest thing. We noticed that our "below the knee" coats of two years ago are now up to our finger tips. Economical, eh?

Senior classes are just discovering the ability of their instructors to do a bit of hard work, too. Congratulations to Mr. Wilson for his excellent text, "City Government In Fort Wayne".

This week we were swamped by the Dirt, junior, sophomore, and senior editors, respectively, because of the lack of material sent in by YOU! If YOU would like to see stuff appear about YOU, then send your notes to the box outside the Study Hall.

Announcements and gossip, having gone dry, we gracefully bow out of print until next re-inking time!

THE SUBVERSIVE ELEMENTS.

These Loony Lines Are Really Old Proverbs Turned Around

While in one of our classes, we thought of this bright idea; why not, just for fun, twist a few of the day's proverbs around for humor. The following constitutes the net results:

A new broom killed the cat.

A fool and his money spoil the broth.

Enough is in the eating.

Never put off till tomorrow while the iron is hot.

A rolling stone is not gold.

Make hay as good as a feast.

Birds of a feather do not make a right.

He who plays a tune saves nine.

A stitch in time gathers no moss.

The proof of the pudding sweeps clean.

Strike while the sun shines.

Lincoln Life Foundation Offers Facts And Fun For Everyone

Pictured above is Marilyn Wolf, a senior, just ready to debunk the old postulate that one has to spend money in order to have a good time. She is shown entering the Lincoln Life Foundation in our city. Although this organization offers to us one of the most comprehensive collections of Lincoln lore in the country, there is no obligation incurred by visits to either the Lincoln Museum, the library, or the department of archives. Dr. Louis A. Warren, noted historian, has been largely responsible for the success of the Foundation. He has also helped to publicize the life of the great president.

Approaching the Foundation's headquarters, the visitor is first impressed by the enormous statue of Lincoln, as a Hoosier youth. This statue, which all of us have seen at one time or another, occupies the central area on the plaza in front of the building. Inside is found the impressive library. Among other items, the library consists of 5,000 books on Lincoln; 150 periodicals similar to those Lincoln read; 2,000 books about his contemporaries; 3,000 indexed magazine articles about Lincoln; and over 30,000 clippings.

As interesting, if not more so, is the Lincoln museum. It displays rare busts, statuettes, plaques, and prints of Lincoln. Besides these, quite a few photographs and oil paintings of the Civil War martyr may be viewed.

The department of archives is interesting and instructive to those who wish to delve into old letters, etc. It houses records, manuscripts, and personal documents which throw much light on the political situation during the reconstruction period. As if these features were not enough, The Lincoln Foundation issues three publications and maintains three bureaus—Research, Speakers, and Information. The sponsor of the Foundation, The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company, invites, in particular, all students interested in either wholesome recreation or serious study to visit its headquarters any time. With such an attraction as the Foundation to start with, we hope to point out to our student body that you CAN have fun in Fort Wayne for little or no cost. Watch for our next article and send in your suggestions for this series of features.

Three Years Down And One Yet To Go Describes Juniors

Petite Arlene Snyder has really found one who makes her auricles and ventricles skip a beat ever so often. The lucky boy is none other than Chuck Gallmeyer, a graduate of North Side. Ever since Jeanne McCarty was introduced to Bob there has been a great ray of sunshine in her life. Vitamin D is very good for one's health. I'm told.

One of our illustrious South Side pedagogues told a class to make two copies of a certain letter. Bill Selby quickly inquired, "Do you mean a bicarbonate?" There have been many dances held recently. Of course many members of our class attended. Some of the Irene and Vernon Castles there were: Mac Arick and Betty Bohn; Ruth Werkman plus Pete Kuttner; Violet Reiter and John Gumpfer; and Rose Stemen and her one and only Bud Lampton.

Al Verriere has been lamenting this sad tale to many of his companions, being in such a miserable plight. I quote Al:—

"Last night I sat upon a chair
A little chair that wasn't there.
It wasn't there again today;
Oh! well, I couldn't sit down any way."

Jean Junk seems to enjoy a downtown hamburger stand a great deal. Each swain who escorts her on a date, must afterwards take her to the place for a repeat. The reason—she has a very strong interest in Al Hertle, the guy who directs traffic there.

Mike Beall asks this bright ditty, "What did one elbow say to the other elbow?" (Let's get out of this joint).

Is it Dale Amstutz Orr Dan Purvis of New Haven for Gloria? Both boys are quite lovesick over this popular little gal. We are wondering which one she will finally decide upon. Dale has his fingers crossed (in fact they're almost numb) in hopes that he's the lucky guy.

Two more links in the never-ending chain of affections are Phyllis Stein and John Hefelinger. They were seen at a recent dance and neither had eyes for anyone else. Sounds good, doesn't it?

This is all for this time, but more next week.

South Side always seems to put a little romance into all the young hearts. It seems that of late, the front light on the McNabb house causes a lot of curious inspection. For some unknown reason Johnny Mast has to be at the front door every night at eight o'clock to inspect the light. Of course Mary Louise McNabb has nothing to do with it. And if anyone should ever let it slip that she does—well you know the rest.

Grade School Grads Are Only Freshmen To The Rest Of Us

Hi, freshies. This week the freshman dirt column is merely a preview of the cute kids, boys and girls, who will probably get around quite a lot in South Side. Three comrades who will thrill the girls with their good looks and wonderful personalities are Jack Corrigan, Clarence Lahrman, and Richard King—beware girls! They'll sweep you off your feet. Hugh Ferguson, who moved here from South Bend, is another good looking boy for the girls to look out for.

Peggy Kayser is one of the cute girls who is bound for popularity. She has already done all right, but now since she's in South Side, she's bound to be a feminine bomb-shell. Gloria Coleman, a blond Archerdome invader, is footloose and fancy free—so there's your chance, boys.

Mary Ann Duemling has her eye on Jack Drummond, the lucky guy. Bud Gardner has been trying his best to get Marge Peterson. We don't blame you, Bud! North Side boys have stepped right in and taken the upper hand with some of the cutest freshman girls. Marilyn Cairns and her North Side Romeo, Jack Waggoner, seem to be doing all right; while Marge Reithmiller is all a dither over her North Side football hero. Pat Barley talks about her handsome boy friend from North Side constantly. Come on, boys; let's show those North Siders that they can't do this to us.

A cute couple which came to South Side this year consists of Marilyn Brackmann and Dick Etzler. Good luck kids, but remember, all is fair in love and war. With that bit of philosophy, I will bid you good-bye, 'til next week, but don't forget—This is the last free issue of The Times, so if you want to keep up with South Side and your fellow Archers be sure to subscribe now.

Your reporter wonders why Harry Kelsey always "hics" when he is declining Hic, Haec, Hoc in Latin. Now we don't want to insinuate, Harry, but what do you have for lunch?

Watch out, girls! Danny Hiner, that smooth, suave, sleek, sophisticated gentleman, may cause some of you to lose your heart.

Many of our frosh have "friends" at other schools such as Alice Briggs, (her heart-throb goes to Central); Barbara Jeanneret, who lost her heart to North Side when Jack Danker moved; and Don Clibon, who can't get Central Catholic off his mind.

Poor Patty Sundheimer! She can't get used to the locker rooms. She must always work her combination three or four times before it opens, then, and just as the poor kid is about ready to get her books out someone gives her a flying shove. This act makes her look like a mummy in a tin case. But don't worry, Patty, you'll get used to it eventually!

Notice to all boys: Marjorie Reithmiller is now without a boy friend. It's rumored that she goes with a certain senior at North Side. What happened to Jack Stark this summer, Marjorie?

These Upperclassmen Have Mix-Ups Just Like You, Me

There's more than one damsel who has examined Bob Worman with that "Mama, I want that" look in her eyes but the North Siders put one over on us. It took a gal like Jackie Huguenard to get an introduction, and from there on I'm not saying.

Jim and Bob Brooks are going to give Willkie a run for his money. With Marg Sheldon and Lois Likins and a few more, I guess Wendell and his Willkiettes don't have anything on them.

There might be a slight difference in the height of Dick Green and Jeannie Weil, even enough to make him look as though he might be her father, but there's no paternal phase to that enveloping glance he throws at the Little One.

Football must take more than just the wind out of our V Men. Jim Straley's bashfulness is already slowly ebbing away from him. With all this football notoriety, Jim is coming up in the "date world", and walking Pat Racht to her classes isn't a bad way to announce his coming out party.

Barb Brower's social life is becoming a little too complex for her own good. Competitors Waldschmidt, Hamilton, and Spiker are going to be at swords points in place of being involved in a continual verbal battle, if this male eruption isn't calmed down pronto.

John Alden's flowery oration to Priscilla is a minor speech compared to the ejaculations Marilyn Sondles filled Herb Kramer's ear drums with, and a little on the opposite side, too. Must I explain it all in detail or may I just reaffirm the rumors that Marilyn is back in the field? And who knows, it may soon be the football field!

Dick Evert's recent trip to the North to forget could quite plainly be called a failure. He neither forgot his hay fever nor his Little Woman. Right now he's back in dear ol' South Side, sneezing and coughing while escorting Cleaver to-and-fro—. (And loving it)

Final Flash: Brsk! Brsk! Dealing with a more serious problem of "How To Get Your Man". Gloria Werkman, queen of the senior class, is now giving lessons. You know, six lessons from Madam LaWerkman! It seems she was walking down the hall the other day and happened to drop her pencil. A certain boy approaching her, picked it up and handed it back. Gloria immediately exhibited one of her Dentine smiles, (no commercial). He immediately fell under her spell, so who else is so capable of giving these lessons as our own little Gloria? She has also for a collection a huge list of boys who are wanting a date with her. Three of the most ardent fans of Gloria's are Bob Englehart, Bob Geyer, and Whitey Dager. However, Gloria just does not want a date with any one of these three. At least it seems that way since she won't give any of them a tumble. Gloria's slogan must be, "No attachments, lots of fun". Oh! Well.

For Future Reference

A star in our round-up of super seniors is this week's personality-plusser, a swell fellow who's talked his way up to fame. Let's tip our hats to—you-guessed-whom, James McClure.

A CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK

Jim is dark, handsome, clever, well-liked and rather dignified. Recognize any of those traits in a certain history teacher...?

ALL THIS AND HEAVEN TOO

That suave master of ceremonies at the pep sessions, that powerful oratorical speaker, that smart guy, that good dancer, that fellow who's president of Wranglers—that's Jim.

TALKING ABOUT SPEAKING

Jim does plenty of it in Wranglers and Extemp Clubs. And competition is awful tough when he's around. It seems he usually brings home the well-known bacon.

SIR JAMES

is keen on fencing, which occupies loads 'n' loads of his time. That's a new one for our "hobby lobby".

CINEMATIC COMMENTS

Bill Powell takes the list of this senior's favorite actors and Jim will go to see the glamorous Lana Turner any time (blame him?) Of the more recent pictures, he picks The Mortal Storm as number one on his hit parade.

THE TRADITIONAL HAMBURGER

It seems to be a habit with Jim as well as the rest of the high school kids. It comes first and last on his "favorite foods" list.

OFF TO COLLEGE

And it's Michigan State for McClure. Here he plans to study veterinary medicine.

THE SWING'S THE THING

Jim craves sweet, sweet swing. The music of Blue Baron or Sammy Kay really gets him.

WATCH IT, GIRLS

Yes, Jim has a pet peeve, too. It's jewelry that jingles all over the place. Dame Fashion may say "Yes", but unless you'd rather win her approval than Jim's, don't wear it!

Presenting A History Expert-- Miss Hazel Miller, Room 12

Editor's note: This is the first of a series of features on teachers written for The Times by Mary Ellen Barrett, feature editor.

A native of Fort Wayne, now history instructor and mistress of room 12, is Miss Hazel Miller.

Miss Miller, who is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George A. Miller, well-known Fort Wayne residents, found in school that her favorite subject was history, strange to say, which she pursued throughout high school and college.

Miss Hazel Miller

Her studies began at the Hanna and Hoagland grade schools. After graduation from Central High School, Miss Miller furthered her education at the University of Chicago where she received her Bachelor of Philosophy Degree. From Chicago, she went to Columbia University and was graduated with a Master of Arts Degree. Upon graduation from Chicago, she received a position to teach history at the Hanna grade school. Later, she was transferred to Harman. When South Side High School was built in 1922, she was given a teaching position here. So as South Side grew Miss Miller developed with it, until today she is one of the best-known and best-liked teachers. Besides her several classes in general and United States history and government, she is busy directing the activities of the So-Si-Y Club. She has been Junior Class adviser for years.

On a cold, wintry night you may find Miss Miller watching the figures gliding over the ice at Reservoir Park, since her home is across the street at 219 East Ogden Avenue.

When asked what her favorite movie was, she replied, "I think I enjoyed 'The Great Waltz' more than any movie I have ever seen. I dislike these western or gangland thrillers; I go to a show to rest, not to be kept on the edge of my seat with excitement."

One of her hobbies is to read biogographies of famous people in history and to eat oranges. Her favorite radio programs are the Radio City Hour, Ford Hour, and Information, Please. A final hint to Miss Miller's students—her pet peeves are marking on the desks and putting chewing gum under them.

Ladies and gentlemen, I give you the grand little lady of room 12—Miss Hazel Miller.

Mr. Gould's Botany Classes Make Large Weed Collections

The students of Mr. Gould's botany classes collected and pressed weeds and then mounted them on cardboard. The requirement was to secure from eight to fifteen different types of weeds. Mary Spiegel, a student in the third period class, had the largest collection, 47 different varieties.

Several students of the second period class had large collections. These students are Rosemary Rediger with 45 types of weeds, Elinor Muntzinger with 32, and Betty Stump with 30.

In the fourth period class Constance Bender, Mary Bowlby, and Ellen Harry had very good collections.

Marilyn Burns, Lenora Moyer, Rosemary Spore, and Gloria Kramer, students of the seventh period class, had very good collections which were neatly arranged.

Among the varied groups of weeds, some of the following were included in many collections: pigweed, ragweed, smartweed, pigeon grass, witch grass, panic grass, beard grass, love grass, jimson weed, knot weed, nightshade weed, chick weed, burdock weed, yellowdock weed, cocklebur weed, Spanish needle, poison ivy, milk weed, wild lettuce, dogbane, dog fennel, pepper grass and wild astor grass.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Mr. Collyer's home room held election of officers. The votes read as follows: Bill Wolf, president; Jeanette Whetsel, vice-president; and Dick Wilson, secretary.

Jean Foreman and Warren Spanier wrote the first two students to report on outside reading books in Mrs. Welty's Latin class. They both reported on "The Standard Bearer."

The sewing 1 classes of Miss Rehner wrote papers on the essentials of an attractive girl. The sewing 2 classes are studying the difference between real silk and synthetic fibers. Her sewing 3 classes are studying the yearly events that influence fashions.

The best short story reports in Miss Pocock's English classes have been given by Joann Cox, Margaret Tenhoff, and Elaine Polman.

Members of Mr. Sidell's home room 54 have elected Ronald Rainden president for the semester.

In Miss Edith Crowe's health 1, period 2 class, Margaret Heine brought in horsehair, wood fibre, and some pig bristle. John Lomont brought in some finger prints, and Betty Hargan, embryo.

Mr. Sidell's physics classes have been finishing work on the hydraulic press.

Betty Jean McCloen is a new member of Miss Mellen's home room 77. She came from Central.

In a recent check up test given by Miss Osborne over the principal parts of verbs to her English 1 classes, the following had perfect papers: Albert Kratz, Helen Welbaum, June DeWood, Ruth Gold, and Dolores Nicodemus.

The pupils of Mrs. Rieke's public speaking classes have been working on parliamentary procedure. For their text book they are using Mr. Makey's "Have Your Say in the Meeting." They have also been giving reports on magazine articles.

Two new members have enrolled in Mr. Post's home room 186. They are Vera and Virginia McCormick, who entered South Side from New Haven.

In Mr. Makey's English 1 classes LaVonne Taylor, Ruth Gerlach, Mary McNabb, and Marilyn Danner made perfect sentence analysis papers.

Victor Kaufman introduced Donald Kitcher, a new member of Miss Pocock's home room, with a short talk.

Miss Bean's 10A home economic classes are serving breakfasts this and next week. Later they will have luncheons and dinners.

Mr. Briner's gym classes are studying the fundamentals of speed ball.

Mr. Bex's drawing 5 classes are learning the Inclined Gothic lettering, which is the simple type.

Those students in Mr. Whelan's physical geography 1 classes who received 100 on a test are: period 1, Elsie Korte; period 3, Betty Jean Kites, Max Stobaugh; period 6, Ellen Christman and Dorothy Rizon.

Mr. Sidell's algebra 1 classes have been learning the addition and multiplication of sign numbers.

HAVE YOUR CLOTHES MONITE INSURED MOTH PROOF CLEANING

Mr. Joe Plasket spent his vacation, at the Wainwright Camp. He also went to Michigan City.

Jack Collins and Juanita Drews, new students in Miss Hemmer's home room 25, were formally introduced last week.

In Mr. Walker's business organization class, the following students made the highest grade in a test: Kathryn Eipper, Lois Holzworth, Lois McLellan, Wilbur Scholle, Phillip Hannan, and Leah Schwartz.

Miss Gretchen Smith's gym classes are now playing speedball in the stadium.

Mary Lou Baker is a new member of Miss VanGorder's home room 64. She came from Peru and is a 12B student.

In Miss Demaree's English 7 classes Richard Bussing gave a report on the Norman Conquest and Frank DuWaldt gave one on Beowulf.

Miss Miller's government 1 classes gave reports from Bryce's "Hindrances to Good Citizenship." Those who gave reports in the first period were: Robert Allen, Dolores Daniels, Joyce Cleaver, Dick Green, and Marie Lebamoff; seventh period, Hilda Schubert, Helen Savage, Frances Nash, Emalyn Rempel, and Gertrude Merkel.

Donald Baur and Philip Muller made modernistic book shelves, which are advanced projects of Mr. Plasket's period 4 class of industrial arts.

Miss Kiefer's English 3 classes are reading other Shakespearean plays to supplement their study of The Merchant of Venice.

Warren Cook

Warren Cook was elected chairman in Miss Hutto's home room last Wednesday.

Mr. George Collyer spent his vacation working in a city park. He also spent some time on a farm in Noblesville, Indiana.

During the summer Mr. Furst spent his vacation in Michigan and traveled in the East. Niagara Falls, Portland, Maine, New York, and Philadelphia were the places of interest which he visited.

Miss Mabel Fortney spent her vacation in Fort Wayne and on a farm.

Mr. Francis Fay spent his vacation by attending the University of Michigan. He also took a short trip through Canada.

Home room officers have been elected in Miss Fortney's home room. Carolyn Snoke was elected president and Byron Singer, secretary.

Lloyd Doehman and Norbert Rehm, students of Miss Pocock's English 3 class, made book reports the first week of school.

Norman Shidler and Isabel Johnson were the first students in Miss Peck's period 1, 9B English class to make book reports. Both Norman and Isabel read and reported on two books in one week.

In Mr. Furst's 9A home room, David Link was elected chairman; Pat Klebe, vice-chairman; Gene Murphy, secretary; Marilyn Meyers, treasurer; Dorothy Meyer and Arvilla Rediger, social chairmen; and Robert Ruckel, sergeant-at-arms.

The students in Mr. Walker's marketing class are studying frauds.

Howard Tyndall, a student of Mr. Plasket in the industrial arts department, made a cabinet for a small radio.

Charles Beall, Pat Sanford, and Joan Cartwright, English 6 students of Miss Pocock, gave oral reports on famous men. Pat gave an oral report on the Biography of Theodore Dreiser. Joan made a report on Thomas Burke, and Charles gave a report on the Biography of Robert L. Stevenson.

In Mr. Wilson's government 1 classes, Jean Sheets and Joy Davis made the highest marks on the first test.

Eleanor Alvather, a member of Miss VanGorder's home room, is at home recovering from an automobile accident.

Miss Mellen's home nursing classes are beginning to study hygiene in relation to physiology.

Fritz Kahl, an English 3, period 3, student of Miss Pocock's, was the first person to make a book report this semester. He reported on two books.

Mr. Schnepel's health classes are giving magazine reports in regard to skin and appearance.

Mary Ann Gaskins is a new member in Miss Hutto's 12B art class. She entered from Cody, Wyoming.

In Miss Covall's typing 3 class, Miriam Roebel and Lois Ringenberg qualified for awards. Lois wrote 51 words per minute with 90 per cent accuracy and Miriam wrote 50 words per minute with 90 per cent accuracy.

Bob Grosjean has joined Miss Mary Crowe's home room. He entered South Side from Franklin.

John Virts, a Latin 4 student of Miss Oppelt, was the first student to report on a Latin outside reading book. He read "A Friend of Caesar" and "With Caesar's Legions."

In Miss Kiefer's senior English 2 classes, Everett Truelove and Betty Porter made good reports on Beowulf.

Several students of the art classes are again competing in the national contest in making posters for Fire Prevention Week which will be held October 6 to 12. Those who are entering the contest are Richard Green, Bud Brudi, Bob MacMahan, Margaret Brower, Marie Lebamoff, Homer Smeltzer, Gerald Dolin, Paul Ream, Paul Gnaul, Lester Oppenlander, Marvin Rutz, and Neva Rabel.

Room 80 Vacationists Reveal Summer Of Work, Play, Sleep

Archers spent their vacations in many and varied ways. Reading, traveling, loafing, and working seem to have occupied the time of most students. Here are the results of the Times' home room poll in room 80:

Harold Gerbers: I worked for Meyer's ice cream plant, pushing one of their carts. The work took in the whole summer. I received seventeen dollars in prize money while competing with the other boys. I covered a large part of the city and came in contact with all sorts of people.

Marjorie Gerding: Played tennis and ping-pong and a little badminton. Went to shows, read and slept.

Martin Gernand: I rented a cottage at Lake James with eight other boys. We had a great time. I also played tennis, golf, indoor, and football.

Margaret Geroff: I did not go on a vacation. I stayed at home.

Mary Glander: Spent a week-end at Quincy, Michigan, a week at Lake Wawasee and also some time at Lake James. Spent the rest of the time at home, sleeping and reading.

Ellene Goddard: Went to the lake. Visited friends in Ohio. Kept house.

Elaine Goette: I spent two weeks at Coldwater, Michigan. Went on picnics and had lots of fun.

Francis Gross: I went east for five weeks and saw the World's Fair and many other interesting things in New York. I went to Atlantic City and Asbury Park and Philadelphia. I also played tennis and softball.

Faye Gumpert: I spent my vacation loafing, sewing and reading. I spent several days in Gary. Went to Northern Michigan and stayed at Glen Lake.

Lois Gumpert: Went to a convention; took a trip through Northern Michigan and stayed several days at Glen Lake; stayed at a house party for one week at Crooked Lake.

Clifford Gunn: I did nothing all summer except fly my gas model airplane. I also did various carrying jobs around Fort Wayne and Lake Wawasee.

Norma Haley: I spent my vacation at Rome City. I went swimming, dancing, and fishing. I also spent a week in St. Louis.

Harriet Greer: I went to the lake much of the time and then went to New York and then spent a few weeks in Pennsylvania.

LaVerne Greiner: I spent the first part of the summer beginning a good coat of tan at our cottage at Lake Papakeechie. During the first of August I went to Camp Arcadia to get some relief from hay fever and to finish the coat of tan I had started.

Dick Green: I didn't do an awful lot during vacation except to visit a few places and to spend several days at Lake James.

Bill Goodwin: I worked for the Meyer Drug Company in their warehouse. I also solicited orders for the Wayneswood Dairy Company. Also spent a month at Kendallville and Adams Lake.

Martha Jane Krauskoff: Went to Lake Webster for a week. I also had my tonsils out.

Jack Koch: All I did during my vacation was a lot of loafing and listening to the baseball games over the radio.

Clarence Freeman: I spent most of my time at home working, but I spent one week at Winona Lake.

Sailing Over Bounding Main Holds Interest Of Don Penz

It's anchors away for Don Penz, who recently left South Side to become a Navy man. From Fort Wayne he left for Newport News, Virginia, where he will attend a welding school for four months. The purpose of this school is to teach the sailors how to weld, and, on the side, how to be an expert brass polisher. After Don has completed his studies at Newport, he will return to Fort Wayne for a month of vacation. After this he is ready to board ship, whichever that may be. The new sailors never know where to find their station until they are notified.

Then out to sea to see the world! The conditions on the ship are very favorable. Each new sailor is given free, three uniforms, all different; one pair of heavy shoes, and three other pairs of ordinary shoes. Don's salary per month is more than attractive. He gets Saturday and Sunday off usually, unless the ship does not land. Most ships land every 48 hours, and the sailors are granted four hours off at each stop. The only unattractive feature on a ship is the "brig." If any sailor has committed an offense, he is sentenced to jail, according to the charge brought against him. These "brigs" are heavily guarded by the U. S. Marines.

Don has signed up with the navy for a period of six years, after which he will sign up for a longer period.

He plans to quit when he reaches thirty-eight years of age. After he has resigned, he will receive a pension of $147.50 per month. During his pension, he is permitted to hold any other position if he chooses. That is, he can take up a different profession and still get his navy pension.

While Don is in the service of the navy, he must not be dependent. He cannot support anyone but himself. However, Don says he plans to marry as soon as he resigns. The east coast holds his attraction so he will probably take up residence there.

Don attended the Civilians' Military Training Camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, this summer where he was inspired to take up the navy as his career.

(Sad conclusion: After Don reached Newport News, the navy discovered Don was not eighteen years old. Hence Fort Wayne will see him for a few more months until he is.)

Archer Squad Will Get Rest This Weekend

After Two Successful Tilts, Kellies To Be Idle This Week; Play Garrett Next

After winning its first two football games, in defeating Bluffton 7 to 0 and the tough Woodward of Toledo team 16 to 0, the Archer griders have earned a rest, and because of the open date next Saturday, they will have had plenty of time to prepare for the rest of their tough schedule. On October 12 they will meet Garrett.

Concerning the open date October 5, Mr. Ora Davis, faculty athletic manager, has been trying to secure an opponent. He has received several unfavorable replies from schools who already have scheduled games for that day, but he has written to Indianapolis in order to make a final attempt at carding a game.

With the two weeks of practice, the Archers will have a swell chance to toughen up and perfect their plays.

Ends Are Strong

At the end positions the Archers squad is strong, although it has only one experienced man, Worman (30). During the two games, the archers have wondered who some player was, as they are hard to distinguish. This is the reason for the number after each name. These ends have improved considerably on defense and thus provide part of the strong line. The other ends who have a chance for a starting berth and who must fight it out among themselves are Dager (18), Siebold (29), and Hockemeyer (39). Next year's squad should be strong as Dager and Worman are juniors. Also, Ward Gilbert (23) is a promising sophomore.

At the tackle position the Green and White squad has three experienced men who have alternated in the games so far. Loos (19) and Dixon (22) are two veterans who have plenty of experience from last year, and Ralph Letter (33) has developed rapidly since being converted from his end position of last year. Two other boys who have been trying for a starting berth are Neff (14) and Mayer (35). Saalfrank (28), a freshman, also should develop into a good player by next season.

Guard Posts Sought

The guard position seems to be strong as good players are two men on each side. Birkenbeul (43), a starter last year, leads all prospects at that position. Bond (21), Underwood (00), and Kyvick (15) are the other promising griders at this position. All have seen much action so far and all have at least one more year after this season. Handicapped by a bad leg, finger, and wrist, Moeller (44) is having a tough time getting started so far. A sophomore, Walt Gilbert (41), should prove promising in a few years.

Gingher (31) seems to have the center post sewed up by his brilliant defense play and, so far, excellent centering. But Moeller (44) is crowding him for the position and should be all set to take over there next year.

Straley Is Quartering

At the quarterback position, a veteran of last year, Jim Straley (27), seems to have control. Formerly known as "one point", he is South Side's point-after-touchdown kicker. Winkler (24) also is trying for the job and will probably be next year's field master. But close behind him is Lahrman (25), a small but tough player who has been fighting for a starting berth since he entered South Side. At the other three backfield posts are Close (30), Shimer (13), and Englehart (11), who have proved to be a good combination and should start all the games if they continue their present rate. Backing these up are three juniors who should vie for honors next year. These are Babbitt (12), McClain (17), and Spangle (45). In addition, other prospects are Yant (20), Tieman (26), Skole (37), and Barberi (40).

All these make up the Archer squad which can boast of one of the strongest lines in years and a fast triple-threat backfield, which should be able to win all of its games if it develops into the squad Coach Gift expects it to.

Archer Students Help Govern Fair Grounds

Virgil Berning and Bob Babbitt, both 11B's, were among thirty-two boys from Indiana who were selected by the American Legion to help govern the State Fair grounds for eight days. These boys who went to Indianapolis, had to decide what type of governing to do.

Then they had to attend classes for four hours and pass examinations. Virgil passed his police examination and Bob Babbitt passed his law examinations. They were then officers during the time of Boys' Week at the State Fair grounds at Indianapolis. Ed Langan, a former Central student, was elected governor.

Sale Of Season Cards Reaches Total Of 329

Exactly 329 students had purchased all-year athletic tickets up to Friday night. Twenty-five adults also made purchases of all-year tickets. Season tickets may still be bought in the gym office. To the present, the sale of this year's tickets has not reached last year's total.

Twenty adults bought football tickets for this season and twenty-six students also purchased the same. Up to the present, twenty-five people purchased full-year tickets on the installment plan.

Schedules Huntingburg

Mr. Ora Davis

Faculty athletic manager, Ora Davis announced early this week that he had scheduled a home basketball game for the Archers against the perennially tough Huntingburg team. The game will fill the open date of Saturday, January 4, 1941. Judson Erbe, who formerly coached the Berne Bears, is now in charge of the net squad at Huntingburg High School. This game will be the first meeting between the two schools, and also the Happy Hunters have filled out a complete twenty game schedule for the Fiddlemen.

Christmas Holiday Will Be Shortened

Board Of Trustees Decides To Resume School December 30, Instead Of After New Year's

"All Fort Wayne public schools will have one week cut from the Christmas vacation due to the delay of opening the schools this fall," the Board of School Trustees announced at its regular meeting September 24.

Consideration was given to the closing of the schools again because of new cases of infantile paralysis. The members also decided that opening or closing of the schools would make little difference in the spread of the malady, since so few school children have been affected.

The schools were closed from September 3 to September 16 because of fear of the disease. This time will be made up by re-opening the schools on Monday, December 30, instead of Monday, January 6, as the original Christmas vacation provided. The vacation will start Monday, December 23. The schools will be closed on Wednesday, January 1, in observance of New Year's Day. The board also decided to extend the spring term to Wednesday, June 18. The original closing day was Friday, June 13.

Merle J. Abbett, superintendent of schools, said this year's unusually long winter vacation is the possibility for the students to have a full week's vacation and still make up the time lost.

Girls' Sportsettes

For the first time in the history of the Girls' Athletic Association, a golf tournament is being held. Lowest scorer for eighteen holes will be considered the winner. The players are Barbara Scudder, Mary Cleland, Mimi Bornschein, Jeanne Sidel, Julia Kaser, Lorraine Lord, Barbara Cross, and Margery Schannen.

Personal attention should be paid to Barbara Scudder, Jeanne Sidel, and Barbara Cross for displaying such a fine brand of golf during the summer.

It seems as if our star button-hole maker, Geneva Martin, has gone to the dogs. Could it be that her love life has got her down? It must be wonderful.

The Student Leaders are invited to attend the party given for them, which is to be held October 1. The general chairman, who is Martha Cash, has appointed Ho Hirschman chairman of the entertainment committee, Maxine Voltz, chairman of ticket committee, and Alice Fisher, chairman of the clean-up committee. Martha is chairman of the refreshment committee.

The first student leader meeting was held last Tuesday and Miss Smith explained the rules for speedball. Martha Cash was chosen chairman of the party at the meeting.

The sophomores made a fine showing in their first real game of hockey held Friday, and we hope that they will continue the fine work in later games.

Intramural Sports Looked Upon With Favor By Fellows

This week the freshman boys were asked their opinion on intramural sports. Though intramural sports are not in full swing as yet, many of the boys have entered the first intramural sport, which is cross-country. There are quite a few boys who intend to go out for different sports later on in the season.

Here are the opinions of a few of our freshmen:

Dale Schouweiler: I don't know because I haven't entered anything yet, but I hope to.

John Mast: I think they're all right.

Bob Gildea: They are not very educational except for the boys learning to play some certain game. It also helps them improve their game.

Tom Yates: I think they are fine for those boys who can not make varsity. It gives them all a chance to get some kind of a letter.

Freddie Smith: I think they are swell. It gives the fellows a chance to show their ability in sports, and it also gives them all a chance to use the gym and stadium.

Don Schmidt: I don't really know, because I can not go out for intramural this year, but I would advise every boy who likes sports to go out for intramural.

Audis Ignat: I like intramural sports very much. I think they are swell.

Abe Truner: I think they are swell. It gives all boys a start on the road to varsity sports.

Norman Shidler: I don't know because I don't like sports, but I guess they're all right.

Paul Yundt: Intramural sports are very good and very recreational, and they are also very good for the body.

Ray Fish: They provide for better sportsmanship, and they build up the body. They also give the boys a better knowledge of sports.

Bob Hansel: It gives boys an opportunity to show their athletic ability, and also provides them with fun and exercise.

So-Si-Y Member Named To Council

Marguerite Calkins Elected Vice-President Of Girl Reserve Inter-Club City-Wide Body

Officers for the year were elected by the Inter-Club Council of the Girl Reserves at an all-day meeting at the YWCA on Saturday, September 21. Marguerite Calkins, of the So-Si-Y, was elected vice-president; Kathleen McNamara, of North Side, was chosen president.

Those who attended the meeting from South Side are Ho Hirschman, Opal Springer, Mae Stark, Carolyn Fisher, Lorraine Berning, Bernadine Bender, Gertrude Merkel, Marguerite Calkins, and Romaine Rediger.

The USA Club had charge of the installation of new officers. Ho Hirschman was in charge of the candlelight program and Opal Springer gave the prayer.

The program opened in the morning with registration. Cabinet meetings were held throughout the morning. Mrs. E. A. Hartman was the luncheon speaker and her topic was "Taking Time Out To Live". The Inter-Club Council business meeting and election of officers were held after lunch.

Wilma Lipp, Central, and Alice Green, Whitley Center, were elected secretary and publicity chairman respectively.

Office OK Is Needed For All Hall Posters

All posters and notices appearing in school must be stamped in the office. Those appearing without will be removed.

Requests for posters to be made by the Art department must go through the office. Such requests must state the amount of posters, the date they will be done, the subject matter, and must be handed in one week in advance.

All posters should be uniform in size, either 12x18 or 22x26. The cost is 10 cents and 25 cents respectively. The organizations using the posters must be responsible for their removal on the proper date.

Mothers Plan Gym Class For October 7

The Mothers' gym class has set next Monday evening for its first meeting of the new term. These classes will be held every Monday night from 7 to 9. Any mother or her friend may attend. Miss Alice Dean, gymnastics teacher, will be in charge.

The following sports will be played in the gym classes: volleyball, badminton, baseball, basketball shooting, relays and aerial dart. The classes first start out by light exercises and marching and then end up with the above sports.

The class has two social functions on its calendar. Those two functions are their Christmas and spring parties. The class last year consisted of forty-five members.

National Fraternity Honors M. J. Abbett

Superintendent Writes Letter For Sigma Chi Praising The Extra - Curricular Activities

Superintendent of Schools Merle J. Abbett has written a letter expressing his philosophy of school activities as enforcing character and scholarship, and how it is practiced in the Fort Wayne public schools. It is incorporated in a national pledge training booklet of Sigma Chi, national college fraternity. This booklet will be distributed to each fraternity chapter in the United States.

Dr. W. Henry McLean, an outstanding worker in Sigma Chi and educator at Chicago, announced the honor awarded Mr. Abbett. He wrote Mr. Abbett a month ago, asking for his point of view on extra-curricular activities.

Mr. Abbett's letter in part follows: "The extra-curricular activities are curricular in fact. The objectives are certainly the cultivation of character, personality and leadership. First, the organization should embrace the following endeavors: Publications, music, art, athletics, speech and subject matter, clubs, forums, etc. There is in each case a responsibility for fees and accounting memberships, committees, official duties, assignment requiring industry, care, truth, etc., followership, leisure-time occupation; free activity, creative atmosphere, thinking required, responsibility assumed, results expected; health, proficiency, success, competition, quality of product all involved, and limitation of membership to no more than two activities."

"There is too little learning sometimes in the classroom because of the austere, presumably learned, and supposedly ultra-dignified bearing without a due concern for the heart, soul and ambitions of young people. The activity area is not cramped; there, students are not glued to the chair with hands folded in adoration. It is truly or can be a dignified endeavor with freedom to speak, create, stimulate, belong and have a part. Co-operation, participation and genuine interest can abound. I value scholarship and character as the ultimates in education, and I want these attributes to guide the activity of pupils. They must be free from timidity, extra interests conflicting, by having a positive worthy interest. A careful study of this program will find that the thing itself violates no sound pedagogy or philosophy of living. It fits in with it. It provides for happiness or at least satisfaction."

Several students have entered South Side this semester from many different schools. They are: Jean Moise, Richard Pettit, Central; Joel Zimmerman, Richard Flory, Central Catholic; Charles Rettig, Marilyn Rietdorf, Concordia; Margaret Tenhaeff, Wilmer Dammeyer, Lorene Dammeyer, Elmhurst; Vera McCormick, Virginia McCormick, New Haven; Mary Cox, Shirley Watts, St. Petersburg, Florida; Patty Muldoon, Patricia Seibel, Stephens, Columbia, Missouri.

Others are Philip Hannon, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Helen Forst, Huntington; Mary Baker, Peru; Juanita Drews, Churubusco; Robert Newhard, Lawrenceburg, Indiana; Thomas Ulrich, Springfield, Ohio; James Timmons, Oak Park, Illinois; William Walker, Hicksville, Ohio; Walter Ferguson, South Bend; John Collins, Montezuma, Indiana; Eleanor Pell, Grand Rapids, Michigan; Vivian Shamburger, Wabash, Indiana; Barbara Wilson, Russel Springs, Kentucky; Elinor Muntzinger, re-enter.

Frank DuWaldt, 12B, also wrote about his hobby. Frank says model airplane building is a good source of mental exercise, and he disagrees with the person that says there's nothing to building models.

Rose-Marie Vogel, 10B, describes the argument between mother, father, and daughter which takes place on Saturday morning at her home. The cause for discussion is her dog which at about 7 o'clock, whines for somebody to come and let him out when they'd prefer to keep on snoozing.

Girls' Locker Room Is Considered Spot Of Beauty By Boys

There are many beautiful and interesting spots around South Side, but some are more outstanding than others. After asking a few of the students strolling around the halls what they considered were the most beautiful, your roving reporter decided that he had received some very amusing replies, and now with your permission, he shall forward them to you.

Elinor Muntzinger: Oh, the library! I think libraries are always particularly appealing. They have such a romantic touch about them! (Oh, boy!)

Jack Vetter: The Grill.

Betty Stump: The plaque on the north side of the building.

Carol Trenary: The library, by all means.

Dan Auer: The girls' locker room! Ruthann Stiegler: The north entrance.

Albert Verweire: The girls' locker room. That's my honest opinion.

Rosalie Hall: The exit.

Ruth Hageman: Ditto.

Kolman Gross: Gloria Workman.

Barbara Hadley: The north entrance with the beautiful shrubbery.

Dale Amstutz: The building itself—the architecture.

John Heffelfinger: Front hall.

Byron Singer: The women.

"Weezie" McNabb: I think the Times room is the most interesting.

Marjorie Peterson: The library.

Three Girl Scouts To Talk To Frosh

Eleanora Christ, Mae Ann Stark, Joan Dodge Are To Represent Senior Scout Organization

Eleanora Christ, Mae Ann Stark, and Joan Dodge were appointed representatives of the Senior Girl Scouts to speak in the freshman home rooms.

The appointment was made during the first meeting of the semester, September 25. Eleanora spoke in room 58, Mae Ann in 14, and Joan will speak in home room 26.

Plans for the coming semester were also discussed. Dancing, knitting, and sewing were discussed, but no definite plans have been made.

Senior Girl Scouts invite all freshman girls to attend the next meeting, Wednesday, October 9. The meetings are held every other Wednesday, after school, in room 114. Dues are 25 cents per semester.

Officers of the organization are as follows: President, Joan Cartwright; vice-president, Betty Dice; secretary, Eleanora Christ; treasurer, Mae Ann Stark; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Alice Martz. No leader has been appointed for the Girl Scout council will be present at every meeting until a leader is appointed.

Several Students Enter From Various Schools

Several students have entered South Side this semester from many different schools. They are: Jean Moise, Richard Pettit, Central; Joel Zimmerman, Richard Flory, Central Catholic; Charles Rettig, Marilyn Rietdorf, Concordia; Margaret Tenhaeff, Wilmer Dammeyer, Lorene Dammeyer, Elmhurst; Vera McCormick, Virginia McCormick, New Haven; Mary Cox, Shirley Watts, St. Petersburg, Florida; Patty Muldoon, Patricia Seibel, Stephens, Columbia, Missouri.

Others are Philip Hannon, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Helen Forst, Huntington; Mary Baker, Peru; Juanita Drews, Churubusco; Robert Newhard, Lawrenceburg, Indiana; Thomas Ulrich, Springfield, Ohio; James Timmons, Oak Park, Illinois; William Walker, Hicksville, Ohio; Walter Ferguson, South Bend; John Collins, Montezuma, Indiana; Eleanor Pell, Grand Rapids, Michigan; Vivian Shamburger, Wabash, Indiana; Barbara Wilson, Russel Springs, Kentucky; Elinor Muntzinger, re-enter.

At present The Times is leading the North Side publication, but the Northern is not far behind. The contest will close October 11. South Side has kept possession of the award for the last three semesters.

Survivors are the parents, three sisters, Mrs. Donald F. Romary, Mrs. Allen Lomont, both of this city, and Miss Esther Ann Forbing, and four brothers, Frederick, Robert, Billy, and Richard, who is a 12B.

Boy And Girl Take Top Honors At Smart

Martha Dirmeyer and Albert Krantz, two new Archer students coming from the James H. Smart School, rank top-most among students coming from there this term. An award, a gold medal pin, was given to each for having the highest average in their class.

Martha is intending to join GAA, and is yet undecided about the other clubs she may join. She is taking a commercial course and is not sure to which college she will go. Martha's average was 96.55 per cent.

Albert is taking the college preparatory course and is not yet sure as to which clubs he will join or to which college he will go. Albert's average was 89.48 per cent.

Sophomore 2's Win

By a score of 1-0 the sophomore 2's defeated the sophomore 3's last Friday in GAA hockey. Helen Marchand made the only point during the game. In the second game the junior 1's were victorious over the sophomore 4's, 3 to 0. Lenora Moyer, Elaine Boerger, and Dorothy Snavey scored. The junior 2's defeated the senior 1's by a 1-0 score. Kathleen Neith scored.

The sophomore 1's were defeated by the senior 2's by a 1-0 score. Rosanna Weston made the only point.

Archer Footballers Win Second Game of 1940 Season

Kelleys Take Woodwardites By 16-0 Score

Two Touchdowns With Conversions, Safety Account For Points; Power Shown

Coach Wayne Gift's South Side footballers conclusively defeated a veteran Woodward team, 16-0. Previous to this clash, the Polar Bears held a series edge of three wins against one loss. A good sized crowd was present at this fray, and the South Side fans were treated to a well-played game. South Side's scores came in the first and third periods; Woodward failed to pass the Archer thirty-yard line.

In the first quarter the Green struck once through the veteran Woodward team, Chick Shimer running fifty-four yards for the score. Jim Straley converted the extra point. With only seconds remaining in the initial period, the big Green team scored two points on a safety. Mynder of Woodward's team, in attempting to quick kick, found Bill Siebold making a fine block of his try; the Polar Bear halfback retrieved the ball, but the pigskin had already rolled back into the end zone. South Side held a first quarter lead of 9-0. The Archers maintained their nine-point advantage through the half.

Early in the third quarter Chick Shimer quick-kicked to the Polar Bear ten-yard line. After two running plays, the Bears tried a short shovel pass over the right line of scrimmage. Englehart intercepted the pass and was hit on the ten-yard strip. Charlie Close plunged twice to put the ball on the one-yard line. Chick Shimer, receiving the ball on a reverse, ran over from the one for his second score. Jim Straley converted for his second placement of the day. During the fourth quarter, the coaches substituted freely. Here are the starting line-ups:

Friday Deadline For Tag Football

All Entries Must Be In By Then; Opening Game Played Tuesday; Officials Are Wanted

A good attendance was present for the first meeting of the tag football enthusiasts. Various points of importance were thoroughly gone over by Mr. Louis Briner, intramural sport head, for the benefit of the frosh "mural aspirants and those upperclassmen who were vague on the subject.

The rules state that the quota is ten men per team. To date, ten teams have entered the battle for the tagball title. The initial tagball game was played Tuesday and will be followed by games on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week. The Blitzkriegers tied into the Bulldogs to usher in the tagball season with Wuttke and Swager officiating.

Officials are wanted to work the games; boys interested are to sign up in the gym office. These boys will be required to have some knowledge of tagball. The officials will receive two points per game for rendering their services, ten points for participation, and five points over and above this as the rewards to the members of the victorious team.

The deadline for entries of tagball teams has been set for tomorrow.

Intramural Sportlights

The fall season brings the first intramural sport into fullswing. This sport, under the direction of Louis Briner, is tagball, a form of football. Tagball is played with nine men—four men in the backfield, and five men on the line. The line consists of a center, two guards, and two ends, while the backfield consists of a fullback, a quarterback, and two halfbacks. Everyone is eligible for a pass except the center.

The tournament is already under way with the schedule as follows: Tuesday, Blitzkriegers vs. Bulldogs, and Wednesday, Dog Patchers vs. Mixed Nuts. Mr. Briner would like to have about six boys to officiate at the tagball games. If any boys would be interested, they should see Mr. Briner as soon as possible.

Other intramural sports that are coming are boxing, wrestling, horse-shoe, speedball, and handball. Any boys wishing to take part in intramural sports should see Mr. Briner for the details and how to be a participant. The bulletin board will keep all boys posted on the coming sports.

Kenworthy Trophy Attracts Athletes

Kenworthy Trophy

Herbert Kenworthy

South Side's varsity athletes are again vying for the coveted award presented by Herb Kenworthy, proprietor of the South Side Grill. The trophy, pictured at the right, is offered to the Archer athlete who proves himself outstanding in all three major sports. Leroy Cook, who was graduated last June, was awarded the trophy for three successive years; David Roth shared the honor with Cook in 1938. Starting with the football season, running through basketball, and finishing with track, every South Side varsity competitor will be seeking this recognition day sports award.

Redskins Crush Purple 50 To 0

North Siders Take First City Series Game By Impressive Display Of All-round Power

North Side's powerful Redskins opened their season with an impressive 50-0 win over a scrappy Central Catholic eleven. The North Siders were in complete control of the play, for the Irish offensive never passed the fifty-yard stripe. Bob Nulf's charges counted two touchdowns in the first quarter, a six-pointer and a safety in the second, two more touchdowns in the third, and a like number in the fourth.

In the first period the Redskins drove from their own forty-two to a score. Mike Bojinnoff plunged from the one-yard line for the initial score. Later in the first quarter the North-erners drove from their own forty-one to another score. Again Bojinnoff counted the marker.

Bob Cowan was responsible for the extra points after the first two scores. Bob Young received a long pass from mate Cowan for the third score. The North Side forward wall blocked an Irish punt near the C.C. end-zone; Lombard hit the Catholic runner, who had picked up the loose ball, and the result was a safety. At the half the Redskins held a 27-0 lead.

The second half of play was climaxed by a sensational run by Bob Cowan. This play occurred late in the fourth quarter. After Young and Cowan had scored for the Red in the third period, the latter opened the final session with a fifty-seven-yard touchdown run. Later in the last quarter, Cowan again counted for the North Siders.

Although Central Catholic was definitely outclassed by the speedy North Side gridders, the Irish showed up well on their defense and offense. The Red and White is now tied for the city series lead with the Central Tigers.

Team, Coach Introduced At First Pep Session

Mr. Wayne Gift, South Side's new football coach, was introduced to the student body by James McClure at the pep session held last Friday in the gym. Members of the football team, who were in their uniforms, were asked by Mr. Gift to form a line across the gymnasium floor to acquaint the student body with the team. An exhibition of football was given by several team members.

Mr. Gift stated that no student should be afraid to ask him questions concerning football so that they may acquire the knowledge of the proceedings of the game and thus enjoy them more.

School yells were led by the cheer leaders and the student body as a whole cooperated very well. The school band furnished the music and concluded the program by playing the school song.

Tigers, Reds In City Fray Here Friday

Clash Will Have Much Bearing On Title; Irish To Play Howe At Academy

Central's Tigers and the Redskins of North Side High are scheduled to tangle in an important grid contest on Friday evening at the South Side stadium. The Irish of Central Catholic will meet the tough Howe Military team at the academy on Saturday afternoon. North Side's game with the Bengals will decide the leader in the city series football race, while Howe and Central Catholic will be trying to settle an old grid feud.

On Friday night the North Side powerhouse will feature the speediest backfield in the state, with Short and Bojinnoff executing the blocks and Bob Cowan and Bob Young carrying the ball. Murray Mendenhall will rely on his famous spread offensive to strike back at the Red and White. Rice, Leon, Sitko, and Shaw will form the Bengal backfield. Neither the North Siders nor the Centralites can boast of a veteran line; however, a real duel should develop between the rival backfields in the air and on the ground.

Central Catholic will have a tough time in subduing the rugged Howe Military team, but the Irish are expected to flash a tough passing game against their rivals.

Goal Dust

by Bob Young

Nice Going, Archers—In running over another fine team, the Green gridders definitely established themselves as a courageous and energetic eleven. Bill Siebold played a fine game at end for the Archers, breaking up several plays and blocking the punt which rounded into a safety against the Polar Bears. Chuck Underwood of South Side and Hal McKenzie of the Bears mixed a few glances and words in the second period; however, the boys soon seemed to settle their differences.

Chick Shimer's 54-yard run in the first quarter was an example of perfection in blocking. The Archers were really hitting harder in the Woodward game, for some of their tackles were as well executed as those of a well-coached college squad. Charlie Close certainly adds color to any game with his peppy cheers to his mates, and more by his fine offensive and defensive work.

Bob Birkenbeul deserves a world of credit for his great play, despite a very bad leg which forced him out at the start of the second quarter. Jim Straley will certainly come in handy when the Archers have some tight battles with their bitter city foes. Those extra points are real touchdown insurance. All of the Green and White footballers gave a good account of themselves in Saturday's game; and after polishing up in this off week, Coach Gift's charges should really be geared to win.

A Natural—North Side vs. Central. That is the setup for tomorrow evening when the local pigskin book is opened once more. Coach Nulf's eleven can boast two of the finest pair of blocking and running backs in Cowan and Young, while wiry Murray Mendenhall will undoubtedly rely on his touted spread offensive to strike back. By Saturday morning the

Teachers Impressed By Green's Showing In Gridiron Games

Last Saturday's game proved to be a sample of the excellent teamwork which has already brought two wins to our school on the gridiron. Sharp tackling, near perfect blocking, and Jim Straley's ever successful point after touchdown are only a few of the characteristics which make our grid team a championship squad.

It is altogether fitting that we should ask our wise scholars, the faculty, what their opinion of the gridiron eleven is for this season, so here 'tis.

Mr. Null: It looks to me like the team is coming along in fine shape.

Mr. Whelan: The football squad is much improved over last year.

Mr. Post: The team has real spirit, they are hitting hard, working together well, and tackling and blocking excellently.

Mr. Schnepel: They are sincere in their attempt to play the game well. I have observed that they are determined to make a success this year.

Mr. Fay: They are a very good team and are excellently coached.

Mr. Rex: They look pretty good to me and I look forward to a strong year.

Mr. Yoder: The team is showing more snap than I've seen for a long time, from the coaches on down.

Mr. Flint: They show the results of good hard training and very good coaching.

Mr. Welborn: They have improved distinctively since our first game; their tackling has become sharp.

Archers will definitely know which squad they must point for to capture the city title. I'm picking North Side to win, 13-7.

City Scoring Race—Here are the ten leaders in the city football scoring race. The South Side and Central players have been in two games, while North Side has been in but one. Central Catholic has yet to tally a score. The leaders:

Bengals Vanquish Decatur Jackets

Central Registers Sixteenth Consecutive Win By Trouncing Downstate Gridmen 39 To 0

Using a variety of offensive power and displaying a rugged defense, the Central Tigers easily defeated a strong Decatur team, 39 to 0. The Bengals, encountering little trouble from the husky Yellow Jackets, scored freely in all four quarters to register their sixteenth straight triumph.

The Tigers gave evidence of their power early in the first period, when a 23-yard run was made by Johnny Leon, giving the Centralites their initial six points. Another touchdown was counted before the period was over on a 23-yard pass from Red Sitko to Russ Wilkins. In the second period the Tigers drove to the Decatur 4-yard line, but failed to score before the first half had elapsed. A pass from Red Sitko to Fred Shaw put Central in scoring position in the third period with Johnny Leon going over. In the fourth period three touchdowns clinched the victory for the Blue and White.

On the first of the three scoring plays Jack Loechner, Tiger back, skirted the Decatur right end for 20 yards; a 38-yard pass from Chuck Stanski to Jim Miller carried the ball over. A few minutes later Red Sitko tossed a 20-yard pass to Russ Wilkins, who sidestepped several Yellow Jackets to count the second touchdown of the final period. With only seconds remaining, Dick Tackett intercepted a pass thrown by Granger of Decatur; the big Tiger center ran unopposed 40 yards for the final scoring thrust.

Decatur's Jackets threatened only once to penetrate the tight defense of the visiting Tigers. Late in the fourth quarter Chilote of Decatur blocked a Bengal punt, with the Yellow Jackets recovering on the Central 20-yard line. The Tigers braced and held the Jackets for four successive downs, thus breaking the only Decatur scoring attempt.

Mary Alice Dunten, Super Girl Of GAA, Can't Digest Eggs

Mary Alice has been a GAA'er for three and one-half years. She participated in sports the year around. Her favorites are basketball and swimming and she doesn't exactly bring up the rear in tennis. She also enjoys hiking and skating. Through all these sports she has earned 1258 points. Outside of GAA Mary finds time for Service Club and Camean.

Reading this, you have found that Mary has an interesting curricular life; she also has an interesting private life. Since the day she was born, which was May 30, 1923, she has indulged in hamburgers and apple pie; but she doesn't seem able to digest spinach or eggs. Outside of sports, Mary's hobbies are reading and the movies. Her favorite book is Northwest Passage and her favorite movie is Rebecca, although she was disappointed because the title roles weren't given to Jimmy Stewart and Baby Sandy. When she is graduated, Mary intends to become a nurse. According to Don Dammeier, she won't have much time for the training it takes.

For those who cannot place Mary Alice Dunten, she is a tall sophisticated blond, blue eyed, and round nosed.

Cafeteria Head Divulges Staff, Names Rules

Miss L. Mellen Selects Aides From Many Applicants; List Patron's Regulations

Miss Lucy Mellen, who is in charge of the cafeteria, has again selected a staff from many applicants. Those students chosen were Maxine Clark, Virginia Griffith, Marcella Reinking, Eva Vulgamot, Maurice Pulz, Charlotte Baker, Mary Brinker, and Alice Dolin. Some of the members of the cafeteria staff last year who are again on this year's staff are Bernice O'Brien, Betty Baker, Robert Buddy, H. Hirschmann, Richard Hamilton, Betty James, Virginia Ormiston, Helen Peck, and Jeanette Whetsel.

A list of rules to obtain more courtesy was given by Miss Mellen. Students and other patrons should follow these as closely as possible.

1. Patrons should remember not to stack books on the table and turn down chairs in an effort to save a place for a friend. This act shows lack of courtesy and is not democratic.
2. Patrons should not go along railing and ask some member to hand them something, but should stay in line and wait patiently.
3. The dining room should be kept quiet.
4. When the patrons are finished they should leave their table clean.
5. Patrons should especially remember not to stick gum on the furniture or drop it on the floor. The following rules are to be observed by all students who are on the cafeteria staff.

1. Have hands and fingernails clean.
2. Keep handkerchiefs away from food.
3. Watch health condition.
4. Be courteous to everyone.
5. Take all complaints to Miss Mellen.
6. Do not take counterfeit or Canadian money as pay for food purchased.
7. Be honest in all dealings.

The cafeteria is a place where one may secure excellent food and a well-balanced meal at low prices. Fresh vegetables and fruit salads, as well as other hot and cold foods, are served daily. The patrons may also have a choice of things to drink. It is hoped that the students will appreciate these factors and help support the cafeteria.

Social Sci Group To Talk Politics

Roosevelt, Willkie, Schrieker, Willis Will Be Discussed By Members Of Organization

"Political Personalities" will be discussed at Social Science Club on October 11. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Wendell Willkie, Schrieker, and Willis will be discussed by Maxine Case, Jim Brooks, Bob Wylie, and Betty Koehler.

At the November 1 meeting, Marjorie Sheldon and Ralph Herb will present "Political Issues." "Pan-American Relations" will be given by Gloria Staley and Roger McVay on November 20.

On December 6, the "Reciprocal Trade Treaties" will be discussed by Pave and Lois Gumpfer.

Ruth Dauner and Dick Fishering will speak on the topic "Should We Appease Japan?" at the December 20 meeting. Miss Eleanor Smetlyk on January 10 will speak on her journey to Alaska. The final meeting of the semester will be in charge of Marjorie Dyer and Evelyn Erickson. They will discuss "Should the United States Take a Position of World Leadership?"

Social Science's civic project for the year, a magazine campaign to raise money for the visual education department, was discussed. Marjorie Dyer was appointed chairman of the committee to investigate the idea of a dance to raise money. Assisting her will be Evelyn Erickson and Ralph Herb. The club again will take charge of the Armistice Day program.

Dance Instructors Disclose Schedules

Twenty Girls Join Dance Club At First Meeting; South American Dances Are Taught

Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean, supervisors of Dance Club, have announced the club's yearly program. Twenty girls signed up at the organization meeting. Those girls are: Joan Blum, Dorothy Burke, Helen Camp, Lois Campbell, Joyce Cleaver, Thelma Draper, Berneta Eggers, Valletta Favory, Irene Franke, Marilyn Hull, Barbara Hadley, Gloria Kramer, Audrey Longworth, Peggy Harrod, Jean Simmers, Joan Smith, Phyllis Stein, Rosemary Zeigler, Jeannette Zahn, and Marilyn Wolf.

Since the 1941 GAA exhibition is centering around the South American countries, dances will be taught that are connected with these countries. The first dance to be taught will be the Chorale I which will be taught by Barbara Hadley and Irene Franke. This dance will be accompanied by the Glee Club. Other dances to be taught are: Jitterbug by Dorothy Burke and Lois Campbell, Mexican Hat by Helen Camp and Jeannette Zahn, Rhumba by Joyce Cleaver and Gloria Kramer, and tap by Thelma Draper and Marilyn Wolf. Berneta Eggers will be the pianist.

These dance club meetings will be held on Thursdays in 170 or in the handball court and will start promptly at 3:30 o'clock.

French Rule Booklets Handed Out At Club

Eleanora Christ won the game based on the knowledge of French in which the members forfeited one toothpick for each English word they spoke at the first meeting of the French Club last Thursday.

Booklets, made by the members, containing rules and other club information were distributed. The new president, Katherine Kuntz, presided. Joyce Reed, the secretary, read the constitution; and the point-recorder, Eleanora Christ, explained the point system.

New club members were introduced, and cards for Miss Pittenger were signed.

Miss Olive Perkins, faculty adviser, directed group singing.

Sixty GAA's Are Competing In Next Tourney

Weisser Park Is Location Of Tennis Matches; Scores Of All Games Are Given

GAA Tennis Tournament, being played at Weisser Park, is well under way. Sixty South Side girls are participating in the tournament. No winners have, as yet, been named.

Very few freshmen girls have taken part in the tournament. The results for the freshman games are as follows:

Singles—Cadorette defeated Smith, 6-1, 6-3; Hyvik defeated Horn, 6-0, 6-1.

Doubles—Pope and Dirmeyer defeated Horn and Smith, 6-3, 6-2; Hyvik and Cadorette defeated Hacker and Jackson, 6-1, 6-0.

The largest group of girls participating in the tournament are the sophomore girls. Results are as follows:

Singles—Faux defeated Reinking, 6-0, 6-2; Marchand defeated Amstutz, 6-1, 6-1; Beck defeated Voltz, 6-2, 6-3; Rison defeated Disler, 6-0, 6-0; Anderson defeated Harris, 6-3, 6-0; Kaser defeated Hardendorf, 6-0, 6-1; McCarthy defeated Rodgers, 7-5, 6-2; Pontius defeated Kite, 6-3, 6-3; Pontius defeated McCarthy, 6-4, 6-1; Kaser defeated Anderson, 6-2, 6-2.

Doubles—Dodge, Majorjke defeated Swager, Harnish, 6-0, 6-0; Rodgers, Reinking defeated Kaser, Gumpfer, 6-5, 6-3; Russel, Marchand defeated Hardendorf, Harris, 6-4, 6-1.

In the junior singles Batdorf defeated Spore, 6-3, 6-3; Stemen defeated Sholey, 6-6, 6-2, 6-3; Hargan defeated Moser, 6-0, 6-1; Moyer defeated Menze, 6-0, 6-0; Stemen defeated Batdorf, 6-4, 6-2; Hargan defeated Moyer, 6-6, 6-2. No doubles were played because so very few girls entered.

Senior doubles—Moyer, 6-2, 6-4, and Wylie defeated Duntin, 6-4, 6-1, in the senior singles. No senior girls entered the doubles.

At the first meeting of Meterite Club, the officers were introduced, and they in turn explained the duties of their offices. Miss Susan Peck, adviser, explained the name of Meterite to both new and last year's members. After this, the roll was taken, and dues were paid.

Mary Cleland was elected Inter-Club Congress representative at this meeting. The other officers are: Dorothy McPherson, president; Mary Whittier, vice-president; Harriet Shinnick, secretary; Phyllis Wefel, treasurer.

The game, "Take It or Leave It" was played. Joan Brubaker sang two selections, "Blueberry Hill" and "I'll Never Smile Again."

USA Club Welcomes New Girls At Meeting

Freshman and sophomore girls were welcomed as members of USA at the first meeting, Sept. 26, at Loraine Berning, president. Mrs. Grace Welty, one of the sponsors, explained to the new members what the club's purposes is and how it helps to make leaders of the girls by actual participation in the meetings.

After the business meeting, Wanda Stillwell, social chairman, conducted the games that helped the members to become acquainted with each other.

South Side Athletics Hand Out Knockout To Old Man Deficit

The 1939-40 athletic season closed last year with a profit of $1,449.37. Considering the fact that the season opened with a deficit of $405.73, the year was a profitable one. The gate receipts for the student admission tickets was $1,448.90, general admission tickets $3,265.42, tournaments netted $774.07, while $142.87 came from miscellaneous sources. The sum total of all athletic events was $9,460.36. A five per cent general school fund deduction of $473.02 was made.

The expenses of athletic activities were as follows: Foot football, $2,875.57; basketball, $3,630.23; track, $648.52; general expenses, $774.39; golf, $265.64.

Other interesting expenditures are as follows: For officials $625 was paid out, while professional (doctors, massagers, etc.) wages came to $134.00; transportation cost the school $607.33; for licensed insured carriers, and the laundry bill was $298.76; medical supplies amounted to $175.77; and when equipment had to be repaired it cost the school $645.35. The cost for letters and sweaters was $192.00. The total cost was $22,171.52 which was made up by the basketball profits.

Officers Introduced At Meterite Session

At the first meeting of Meterite Club, the officers were introduced, and they in turn explained the duties of their offices. Miss Susan Peck, adviser, explained the name of Meterite to both new and last year's members. After this, the roll was taken, and dues were paid.

Mary Cleland was elected Inter-Club Congress representative at this meeting. The other officers are: Dorothy McPherson, president; Mary Whittier, vice-president; Harriet Shinnick, secretary; Phyllis Wefel, treasurer.

The game, "Take It or Leave It" was played. Joan Brubaker sang two selections, "Blueberry Hill" and "I'll Never Smile Again."

USA Club Welcomes New Girls At Meeting

Freshman and sophomore girls were welcomed as members of USA at the first meeting, Sept. 26, at Loraine Berning, president. Mrs. Grace Welty, one of the sponsors, explained to the new members what the club's purposes is and how it helps to make leaders of the girls by actual participation in the meetings.

After the business meeting, Wanda Stillwell, social chairman, conducted the games that helped the members to become acquainted with each other.

Post Graduate Dies

Harold Hoon, post graduate, known to South Side as Hank, passed away this summer June 12. He was a prominent character here, showing especially great ability on our football team last year. Harold was a carrier for the Journal-Gazette.

Grad Receives Appointment

Miss Margaret Dickmeyer, a South Side graduate, has been appointed to succeed Mrs. William Stolte as parochial school nurse. She was a graduate of the Lutheran Hospital and Children's Hospital in Washington, D. C.

Three E's Will Study Language Background

Classical background of the English language will be the Three E's club's chief interest this year, and some attention will be given to the Anglo-Saxon and the Anglo-Norman influence on the language. The theme of the club is to study words of the English language and their history. The programs this year will consist of reports on intersecting derivations, vocabulary games, spelling games, synonyms, and homonyms.

All juniors and seniors who have had two years of foreign language and have a B grade in English are eligible to join. Anyone interested is to report to room 38 as soon as possible. Miss Emma Kiefer is the adviser.

The first meeting will be held Saturday, October 12, at Miss Kiefer's home, 2124 Wells Street.

FANCY GROCERIES

South Side Comes Of Age!
Second Generation Now Enrolled
In Person Of Willis Carto II

Willis Allison Carto Seated in Miss Miller's Room in Seat His Father or Mother May Have Sat In

By Virginia Gray

History often repeats itself. In the eighteen years that South Side has been in existence, it has never before this year been said that the history in South Side is repeating itself. However, this year Willis Allison Carto, commonly known as "Al", entered South Side from Harrison Hill. Al's father, Willis Carto, and mother, formerly Louise Allison, both graduated from South Side in 1924. Al is the first student to enter South Side who can boast of this; in fact, he is the first Archer student who has had even one parent graduate from South Side.

Willis Carto and Louise Allison both entered South Side as juniors in 1922 when South Side was first opened. Perhaps if South Side had not been built, Mr. Carto and his wife would never have met, for, states Mr. Carto, "We met for the first time at one of the early meetings of the advertising staff of The South Side Times." At this time Mr. Carto and Miss Allison were advertising solicitors. Mr. Carto later becoming advertising manager. When he was a senior, he was General Manager of The Times and also president of the Senior Class. Mr. Carto was general manager of both the Senior Carnival and the Senior Play, and was a member of the Hi-Y and Debating Clubs.

Wife Also Active Here

Mrs. Carto was editorial and feature writer and ad solicitor on The Times; she was a member of Philo, Math-Science, and So-Si-Y; and she participated in the Senior Carnival.

An interesting fact to note about the Cartos and their son is that Al's home room teacher, Miss Hazel Miller, was their history teacher in their senior year. Once and in some cases both Mr. and Mrs. Carto had the following teachers who are still teaching at South Side: Miss Martha Pittenger (who also taught English at that time), Miss Elizabeth Demaree, Miss Rowena Harvey, Miss Hazel Miller, Mr. Ward O. Gilbert (who was then coach), Mr. E. S. Gould, Mr. Louis R. Hull, Mr. Herman Makey, Mr. Maurice E. Murphy, Mr. Benjamin Null, and Mr. Lloyd K. Whelan.

In reference to the school paper, Mr. Carto said, "The astonishing record that The South Side Times has made in the past years was initiated when the paper was but a few weeks old. We were judged to be 'Best in Indiana.' This was a new record for Fort Wayne schools. It is interesting to note that under the guidance of Miss Harvey, each year has brought new and greater honors to South Side. I believe that it is fitting to point out that the experience gained in Times

Here Are Some Of Teachers
The Cartos Had Back In 1924

When asked about the sports in South Side during the first two years, Mr. Carto replied, "It was expected that our competition in athletics and other activities would be nil, but there was a new and different spirit in the whole school. We were vitalized. South Side's football team won almost every contest including the ones with Central. In basketball we had one of the finest teams in the state. In 1924 the Green and White basketball team was the first Fort Wayne squad to enter the finals at Indianapolis."

Officers Selected
At Torch Session

Franklin Neff Is Elected President;
Robert Childers Chosen
For Office Of Vice-President

Franklin Neff was elected president of the Torch Club at the meeting last Thursday evening. Robert Childers was chosen vice-president; Russell Sipes, secretary; Ken Iba, treasurer; Walter Timme, sergeant-at-arms; and Bill McCarty, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Mr. Hull gave a demonstration of blowing square soap bubbles. This was followed by a soap bubble blowing contest between Mr. Hull and the boys of the club. Mr. Hull won by blowing bubbles four times the size of those blown by the boys.

Bill McNulty, George Charles Waldschmidt and John Virts comprise the program committee which will meet every fourth week at the YMCA. The Torch Club meets every Thursday night. All freshmen and sophomore boys are invited to join.

Wranglers Hold Hunt
For Treasure At Fete

Fun and plenty of food were had by everyone at the Wranglers' wieners bake last Monday night, with about 120 members attending. There was plenty of food; wieners, buns, cider, and marshmallows. A treasure hunt was held after the bake. Notes were planted all over Foster Park, and each person on the winning group received a sucker.

Jim McClure, president of the Wranglers, was general chairman. The following committees were in charge: Food, Marge McNabb, chairman, Julia Priess, Katherine Somers, Evelyn Thomas, Barrie Tremper, Pat Underhill, Dick Balle, and Mike Beall; arrangements, Bob Brooks, chairman, Max Atkins, John Gumpfer, Harry Feaser, and Bob Moses; entertainment, Mary Ellen Barrett, chairman, Fred Collins, Bob Guion, Elaine Helms, Alene Looser, Bob Zimmer, and Bill McNulty.

Theme Of Meterites
Is Modern Literature

Modern literature has been chosen as this year's theme of Meterites. Betty MacKay, program chairman, has planned next Tuesday's program around this topic.

All members have been asked to pay their dues to Phyllis Wefel, treasurer, before Tuesday's meeting.

Plans for the roller skating party, Roller Rumpus, to be held at Bell's Rink on November 1, are under way, as announced by the president, Dorothy McPherson.

Members Of Rifle Club Plan
Safety Programs For Rooms

Demonstrations How To Handle Guns Will Be Shown In Home Units As Part Of Campaign Arranged
By Faculty

Members of the Rifle Club under the supervision of Mr. Cook will present demonstrations concerning the safety of holding a rifle and how to protect oneself from getting hurt while using the gun, during the week of October 14, in the home rooms. This plan for a safety lesson has been announced by the faculty safety council under the supervision of Mr. Paul Schnepel. Since there are only twelve members in Rifle Club, each home room will have to wait its turn. Home rooms that will be scheduled for these demonstrations on certain days will be listed in the teachers' rest room. Friday of this week is being devoted to the lesson of Fire Prevention.

In the safety questionnaire that was given to the home rooms last week, some answers have been tabulated. The year's program is to be based on the questionnaire answered by the students. It asked the students just exactly what kind of accidents they came in contact with, their causes and how they could be prevented. The object of this questionnaire is to arrive at a program which will be not only of much interest to the greatest number, but also which will be applicable to the students' need. Mr. Schnepel said that some of the students have been very sincere and frank in their answers.

Early reports on the questionnaire indicates that the freshmen and sophomores are primarily interested in safety in the school, and safety in relation to getting to and from school on a motorist and as a bicyclist. They are also interested to know how to preserve safety in the home, sports, and also in recreation. Seniors and juniors answered their questionnaires differently. They stated that they were more interested in traffic safety, physical and mental fitness in regard to driving, safety on the highways, responsibilities of the motorist and the pedestrian. Just as soon as all the questionnaires are tabulated, the safety committee will announce the year's safety program.

Mothers Are Asked To Help By Sewing

Parent-Teacher Association has invited all mothers who are able and willing to knit and sew for the American Red Cross to come to Room 170 at the school every Tuesday. All-day or part-day work will be appreciated. Room 170 will be opened at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning for knitting and sewing purposes. Both hand and machine-sewing will be accepted. All articles made will be sent to unoccupied countries, such as England. Red Cross work of this kind has been going on for a long time and will last for at least two more months.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, has loaned the mothers five of the school's sewing machines for their use on Tuesdays. Mrs. Simpson Parkinson is chairman, and Mrs. Herb Siner is assistant chairman. It is most urgent to have mothers for this type of work, they announced.

Philatelists Install
By Candle Light

Bermuda, Newfoundland Discussed; Bronze, Silver Pins Awarded; Pictures Are Shown

Installation of officers by candlelight services was featured at the Stamp Club meeting yesterday evening in the Greeley Room. The officers who were installed into their respective offices are as follows: Wayne Case, president; Etheldrea Behling, vice-president; Philip Schwartz, secretary; Robert Wyle, treasurer; Ralph Herb, point recorder; Keith Lakey, Inter Club Congress representative; and Jack Rogers, who was elected sergeant-at-arms.

The officers in charge of this meeting chose Bermuda and Newfoundland for their discussion of the air and naval bases that we received from England.

The members of Stamp Club who had acquired more than 400 points were awarded pins in the form of a small bronze "P." They are Keith Archer, Mervin Jackson, Jack Rogers, and Rosemary Spore. A silver "P" was awarded to Donald Parkinson.

Lantern slides were shown by Ralph Herb on views both in Bermuda and Newfoundland. Refreshments consisted of cider and doughnuts. The installation committee was in charge of Betty Cleland with Rosemary Spore and Nancy Geake assisting.

Marionette Club Votes
For Weekly Meetings

Twice as many meetings will be conducted this semester by the Marionette Club as were previously held, it was announced at the first meeting of the club. The members enthusiastically approved the new arrangement of meetings. Those who already have their activities planned will be excused from the alternate Thursday sessions.

A new ruling, that all dues should be paid within the next three meetings or they will be doubled to fifty cents, was made. This year absence from club sessions will not be tolerated except in case of absence from school. Miss Blanche Hutto will divide the club into groups to work out individual ideas and each group will work out a separate play. All meetings with the exception of a few, will be held in Miss Hutto's home room 62 from now on.

Lettermen To Hold
Get Acquainted Dance

Lettermen's Club will hold its annual "Get Acquainted" dance tomorrow afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock in room 170. This is the first after-school dance to be held this term. Bob Anweiler's orchestra will provide the musical entertainment. Refreshments will be served. Admission price will be 10 cents. Any person may attend the dance, either with a date or without.

Officers of Lettermen's Club who are in charge of the arrangements for the dance are: Bob Olines, president; Ralph Shimer, vice-president; Chuck Fiestkorn, secretary and treasurer. Bill Miller and Ernie Vogel are in charge of the refreshments. Chuck Fiestkorn and Rudolph Wuttke will be in charge of the door.

Clarence Freeman
Heads Operators

Mr. Wilson Appoints Bob Ault,
Co-manager Of Visual Education Department Committees

Clarence Freeman, senior B, was appointed manager of the Visual Education department with Bob Ault, junior A, as co-manager by Mr. W. C. Wilson, faculty member in charge.

Several committees were appointed by Mr. Wilson for the purpose of furthering interest in Visual Education department. One of the main committees is the production committee whose main purpose is to make films on views in South Side that would be used for educational purposes here in this school. This group is headed by Ben Harris with Dick Theye assisting. There is also the publicity committee which is in charge of Ralph Herb with Theodore Taylor helping out.

Following is a list of students who will do the operating this semester for the Visual Education department. They are: Clarence Freeman, Bob Ault, Ralph Herb, Ben Harris, Theodore Taylor, Dick Theye, Charles Rettig, Tommy Plueger, Frank DuWald, Frank Thompson, and Herman Turner.

The office force has a staff of three girls who type letters and do book-keeping and scheduling of films. They are Jane Rinard, Evelyn Thomas and Alice Volmerding.

A total of ten films were shown to the teachers last week. Several teachers have stated that one of the best films the Visual Education department has had was "The River." "The Plover That Broke the Plain" was rated as the best film this department has ever shown. This was expressed by a majority of the teachers who ordered films through this department. Both films were made by the Government for educational purposes only.

Times Editorial Staff
Will Meet Today

The Times staff, excluding the business staff, will hold a meeting today at 3:20 o'clock in Room 114. Everyone is requested to be there or give an excuse for not attending. Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser, will speak.

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly And Sister, Known
As World-Wide Travelers, "Explore" Last Frontier Of American History, Alaska

By Carol Whittier

"Alaska, the last frontier of American history, is still a very primitive but marvelous land," explained Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, world traveler and resigned instructor of world history in South Side who recently returned from a 12,000-mile trip to Alaska.

Leaving early in June she and her sister, Miss Mary Catherine Smeltzly, formerly of Central High School, started to Chicago. From there they followed the Santa Fe Road through Southwestern United States. These two sisters, always on the lookout for any historical point of interest, visited many places before starting on the first leg of their Alaskan journey.

Detouring to Lamey, they viewed this great center of Indian excavation. On their way to California, they passed through the Grand Canyon. They went into California from the south and continued on to the Mount Wilson Observatory. At this point in the narration of the journey, Miss Smeltzly paused to explain about the marvelous observatory and its huge lenses. Their sixty-inch lens is used for research purposes only, but the forty-inch lens is for the visitors' use.

Tours Yukon Circle

"Traveling on from Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland, Oregon, we arrived in Seattle. There we boarded the 'Alaska,' steamer, which carried us north on the first leg of our journey through the Georgian Straits," she went on. "Our voyage was marked by the cities of Victoria, Ketchikan, Wrangell, Petersburg, Juneau, Chilkoot Barracks, Haines, and Skagway. At Skagway we completed the first leg of our tour.

"Authors" To Be
Theme For Philo

Mrs. Archie Keene To Give Book Review At November 25 Meeting;
Annual Dance Arranged

Wayside Home of Authors will be Philo's theme for this semester, it was decided at an organization potluck held at Rebecca Abbott's home on October 7. Biography of an author during his life in the home and architecture of the home will be the context of each discussion. Mrs. Archie Keene will give a modern book review on November 25.

Skyhigh Skip, theme of Philo's annual dance, a tradition after the South Side-Central football game, will be held November 8. Bill Miller's orchestra will provide the music; Rozella Fouts will direct the floor show, and Katherine Kuntz will have charge of attendance prizes.

Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, was the feature speaker at Philo's first meeting which was held in the Greeley Room last Monday. She gave an inspirational talk, telling the traditions of Philo. Noting the privilege of membership, she encouraged girls to belong and to make Philo greater than in previous years.

After an installation of officers, acknowledgements of their offices and duties were given. Maurine Leas, program chairman, began the program with a song by Kathryn Beckman. Mary Bowly introduced a get-acquainted game, which was followed by club yells which were led by Hilda Leininger. The meeting was closed by singing Philo's Parting Song.

Miss Elizabeth Demaree, faculty sponsor, urged all new girls to write their letters of application immediately. Old and new members who have not signed membership cards may obtain them from Ellen Harry.

Club officers for the fall term are: Rebecca Abbott, president; Mary Bowly, vice-president; Tompise Hall, treasurer; Ellen Harry, secretary; Maurine Leas, program chairman; Jean Karns, inter-club congress representative; Mildred Hanke, pianist; Ruth Dauner and Kathryn Beckman, music co-chairmen; Wilma Lagemann, director of Thespian; Lois Hoff and Carolyn Snoke, publicity; Gloria Staley, scrapbook.

1500 To Hold Tepid
Canine Bake Tomorrow

The 1500 Club will hold its weiner bake tomorrow at 5:30 o'clock in Foster Park. Committees for this occasion are as follows—Food committee: Tompise Hall, chairman; Wanda Eller, Delores Reiter, and John Gumpfer; fire wood committee: Joel Salon, chairman, John Bonsib, Bob Robinson, and Sam Bacon; entertainment committee: Elaine Hirsch, chairman, Louisa Haugk, and Bob Brooks; transportation committee: Bob Robinson, chairman, Joel Salon, Sam Bacon, Bob Young, Jim Brooks, and Lou Hallenstein.

Campaign Officially Opened
At Upperclass Meeting
Monday; To Close Nov. 1

Subscription Total
Is Set For 1,100

Students, Take Two Steps In The Right Direction; Subscribe, Order Pictures

Staff members of the 1941 Totem are jubilant today over the brilliant success of their campaign. Their efforts were rewarded by the fact that all previous first day records have been smashed by the amazing total of 369 subscriptions. The previous record for Totem subscription sales was set last year. Their total was 236 subscriptions. Thus the 1941 Totem staff smashed the record by 133 sales.

Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser, was happy at the feat and expressed her gratitude to the school for its enthusiasm and loyalty.

"I wish to thank the agents who really worked during the first day of our campaign. John Bonsib, editor, was obviously pleased at the enormous success and said, 'Now we can publish the biggest and best Totem ever.'"

Last Monday the 1941 Totem campaign was officially opened at the senior meeting. At this meeting Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, talked about the value of a yearbook. Next John Bonsib gave a first hand preview of the coming book. Joel Salon told the students how each could help in reaching the first day goal of 300 subscriptions and a final goal of 1,100 subscriptions. Last, Miss Harvey told the students how they could cut red tape and trouble by keeping their payments up to date.

It has been announced that the campaign will run until Friday, November 1, a period of three weeks. During this time the staff wishes to reach their goal of 1,100 sales. Nine hundred of these must be sold in order to insure that a 1941 Totem will be published.

In full swing, some of the seniors are wondering when the Totem campaign for senior pictures is going to begin. At the senior meeting last Monday morning, John Bonsib and Miss Harvey announced that orders for senior pictures are being taken now and will continue to be taken until Thanksgiving.

The class picture contract has been awarded to the Clippinger Studio at 828 1/2 Calhoun Street. The price for the class pictures is $1.00 for the seniors and thirty-five cents for underclass pictures.

Students, take two steps in the right direction.
First—Subscribe for the Totem.
Second—Have your picture taken for the Totem.

Social Sci To Discuss
"Political Personalities"

Maxine Case, Jim Brooks, Bob Wylie, and Betty Koehler will have charge of Social Science Club's discussion tomorrow. "Political Personalities" will be the theme of the meeting. Lives of Wendell L. Willkie, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Henry F. Schricker, and Glenn H. Davis are to be presented by the committee.

All interested persons are invited to attend. Dues are twenty-five cents which are to be paid to Ruth Dauner, secretary, as soon as possible.

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly

"With a party of fifty we toured the Yukon Circle, going inland on buses. On the third leg of our trip we spent twenty-three days on the Yukon River in an old-fashioned river boat. We stopped at White Horse and Carcross. To keep the engine going, the river boat, which was propelled by a large wheel at the back, took on board thirty cords of wood at our next stop, Dawson. Dawson is that tremendous center of the Klondike gold rush. Mines today are still operating there and also at Juneau.

At Yukon we crossed the Arctic Circle at which point we had the advantage of the Northern Lights. But of course my sister and I had seen them in Norway, so we didn't get such a thrill out of them as most of the other passengers.

"Again we detoured at the 'Big Bend' of the Circle and went on to Fairbanks. Miss Smeltzly went on to say, 'There they are carrying out a big government project—that of building an eighteen million-dollar air base.'

"After visiting Nenannah, we went to the McKinley National Park. Mt. McKinley, over four miles in height, is the highest mountain in the New World. It is quite outstanding."

As she continued her narrative she mentioned Curry and Palmer from where they went in buses to view the Matanuska Valley project. Here she introduced the interesting information that the one hundred sixty-five families, sent there by the United States Government, have a new lease on life. They live in government-planned homes which have, on an average, five rooms, usually two stories high, and are electrically equipped. For a fence, they improvise the stumps of the trees they have felled. Miss Smeltzly remarked at the tremendous success of the valley. After visiting Anchorage, they journeyed to Seward, where they took the "Columbia" on to Seattle.

Tells Alaskan History

Completing the round trip, Miss Smeltzly turned her attention to just telling some facts and observations about Alaska. "In 1867," she began,

Are You A Tortoise Or A Hare When It Comes To Studying?

Do you have your book report in yet? Are you behind in any themes or special reports? Have you made up that big math test given last time you were absent? If not, it's high time you were thinking of such things, because U and S cards will be coming out very shortly. A U in some subject this time is obviously not very conducive to an A+ at the end of the semester. Naturally we don't expect everyone to take home a card full of A+'s this January, but there is no reason why anyone should shamelessly show a U or two for this grading period.

You undoubtedly are all very familiar with the story of the hare and the tortoise. The tortoise and the hare are comparable to two different types of students. The tortoise is like the consistent worker, who, though no genius to start with, is very careful to get all his work in on time and to make sure that nothing goes in that is worth less than a C. On the other hand, one may draw a comparison between the hare and that student who, having no little ability, decides that he will just let things slide for the first half or two-thirds of the semester and then bring his work up to A's and B's by a final brilliant spurt.

Too often the story of these two contrasting types of pupils comes out similar to the tale of the race between the tortoise and the hare—the tortoise being the winner over his more capable rival. If you planned to fail this semester, you have wasted your time reading this editorial; but if you are in the hare's category, and if you plan to produce good grades in January, why not turn over a new leaf and change that slim S or U into a good substantial B by the end of the semester? A word to the wise, we always say!

National Fire Prevention Week Deserves Everyone's Attention

This week being set off for National Fire Prevention, it becomes fitting that each Archer devote some time to thought or action concerning this all-important subject. Needless to say, the topic of fire prevention affects us all in one way or another. Narrowing fire prevention to South Side alone, there still are uncountable elements to be taken into consideration.

Probably the most important point with which we should all be familiar is South Side's system of fire drill "exodus." John should know that when he is in Room 142, upstairs, he is to exit via the Calhoun street door instead of jumping from the window. Bill must learn that the fire gong means, "Go from our building in an orderly fashion" instead of "Change classes." Seriously, knowledge of fire drills is most important, especially when YOUR life is at stake.

Also important is the matter of personal carelessness. It is necessary that all of us be ever alert in regard to the way we treat matches, waste paper from our lockers, and the instruments in the physics and chemistry labs. Last, but by no means least, we should all feel that deep sense of responsibility which caused one of our fellow students to report the recent blaze in one of the locker rooms. Although the consequences of the incident referred to were not serious, they could have proven to have been such if it had not been for the alertness of that pupil.

Join in the observance of National Fire Prevention Week! You may be benefited!

A step in the right direction, Totemize!

Last week was Fire Prevention Week, as we could all tell by the way our student body rushed down the halls.

Lettermen's dance will be held in the near future. Start your policy of attending school activities NOW!

Don't forget to cast your vote and subscribe to a good school paper at the same time.

Trackless trolleys are a boon to the students whose classes are on the Calhoun Street side. No longer do proceedings stop at the approach of a trolley.

Ideal afternoon class—Listening to the World's Series over the loud-speaker.

If you don't have a season athletic ticket, and yet if you attend movies and other activities regularly, you deserve to be called a traitor.

Shaky Knees And Nervous Nods Are Mrs. Rieke's Odds

Here's a shining personality in the art of pedagogy, who possesses not only splendid teaching technique, but also has that "little bit of something" that inevitably wins over every one of her students. Presenting—Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke.

Madame Chairman

Mrs. Rieke sponsors and manages (very efficiently—we might add) Wranglers. She is chairman of the annual freshman-sophomore speech event, too.

Work or Pleasure?

Madame Rieke combines both, for her work is definitely her pleasure, and her pleasure is her work. Says she, "One of the reasons I enjoy teaching public speaking so much is that here is the type of work where one can see progress. I really get a thrill out of watching a nervous, shy, backward person be transformed gradually into a fluent speaker."

Only Human

Pet peeves? She has them, too. And topping the list is lack of promptness. She may be especially provoked if a member of one of her classes fails to have his speech prepared at the appointed time. Mrs. Rieke believes that promptness is an essential trait of a public speaker.

Three Cheers for Mrs. Rieke

Do the students like her? How could they help it? The fact that members of her classes show so much interest in the students themselves. She can make the weakest knees stop shaking; she can put the most inexperienced speaker at his ease.

"Get Get Around" Say Our Frosh!

We freshmen are always being kidded about being so green, and not doing so well. But, after overhearing some gossip here and there in the hall, we find that some DO get around!

They say summer romances don't last long, but LaVonne Taylor still carries a torch for Phil Channess in a big way. Joan Didier and a certain Louise F. from South Bend were fighting for glamour-boy Dick Snyder. Joan won the battle because Louise had to return to South Bend.

Peggy Kaiser surely knows her way around school. She tells the freshmen that upperclassmen aren't so bad. Peggy casts longing glances at a senior, Jack Schoenher. A boy's pockets are his storehouse; Bob Smith carries in his the perfume hair ribbon of Mary McNabb. Guess some of us just don't wear the right kind of perfume! Joyce Dent doesn't think South Side has such a good choice of men. She goes to Central Catholic to get Bob Burns. Gee, already the South Side freshman boys are losing their grip.

Another cute couple who are doing all right together are Stanley Trier and Mary Condrey. Last reports stated everything was "hot-sy-totsy!" We don't know which one is doing the pursuing, but Martha Hall and Bob Sheldon seem to get together quite often in the hall.

Maxine A. has a monopoly on the blonde, Franklin Carlo. Come on, Maxine, give us a chance, too!

Well, maybe you upperclassmen will still kid us about being green, and not knowing our stuff. Just the same we don't care because some of us do better than most of you!

Westminster Abbey And The Times Both Have Their Poetry

A pun is the lowest sense of humor, but a poem is verse. This column has been written especially for those intellectual intelligents who enjoy reading poetry. Westminster Abbey has it Poet's Corner and so does The South Side Times. Following is some of the best poetry written by contemporary authors this week.

So What?

Autumn's come School's begun,
Ain't we got fun?
So What!

The football squad
Wins by a nod,
Ain't we got fun?
So What!

Exams are next.
We know the text,
Ain't we got fun?
So What?

Spring is here
Bringing cheer,
Ain't we got fun?
So What!

And now, school's out
Without a doubt,
Ain't we got fun?
You said it!

Happy Days

We love our teachers,
And our home work, too,
Such easy problems,
They have us do.

We see all the shows,
As everyone knows.
We never take a chance
To miss a single dance.

Our parents don't care.
They give us the car.
Let us stay up late,
And never miss a date.

Let's hope 'tis true,
What I'm telling you,
In this little verse,
I composed—oh nerst!

Stubborn Locks Break Down When Mr. Vonderau Comes

If you should see a genial-looking, sturdy gentleman with slightly thinning hair (apologies if you are sensitive, Mr. Custodian), hustling through our halls, you would know (especially if you ever forgot your lock combination or if the handle mechanism on your lockers ever went haywire) that this man is Mr. Carl Vonderau, pictured above. The reason that you would know him if you ever had trouble with your locker is that a great many locker complaints are turned toward him. Mr. Vonderau says that there is little trouble with the lockers now, but at the beginning of every school year he has a mob of pupils come to him and say, "I forgot my combination and can't get my locker open." Our custodian handled approximately fifty such cases the first week of school.

Of course, Mr. Vonderau doesn't devote all his time to opening lockers. There are a great many other duties which fall to him and his staff. Doors must be locked and unlocked, floors must be swept, polishing must be taken care of, drinking fountains kept sanitary, the gym must be kept clean and repairs must be made—things which we Archers as a rule don't appreciate. Mr. Vonderau is a carpenter by trade and this fact comes of great use when broken desks, tables, and other articles are to be mended. We pupils of South Side don't realize how much we are indebted to Mr. Vonderau and his co-workers. Without their constant and (to them) probably monotonous effort, South Side would fall into a state of ruin, with 2,000 students all seemingly doing their best to promote this condition. Every scrap of paper you drop on the floor, every scratch or mar you put on the wall, every mark you put on the desks must be carefully cleaned up! "There is no other school that can compare with South Side!" asserts Mr. Vonderau. If offered a job similar to the one he has here at any other high school in the city, he said he would reject it. His job at South Side is seven years old, and he intends to make it much older. There are two Vonderau boys in school here, Kenneth, a junior, and Ray, a sophomore. Ray was in the preliminaries of the state algebra contest here last spring. If you ever have locker trouble, you are invited to see the custodian, Mr. Vonderau. He is always most obliging. One evening a Times writer left an editorial in a classroom sixth period and found the room locked when he returned after school. As it was very necessary to get the editorial that very night, the custodian willingly consented to walk out of his way and open the door. This is only one example of a seemingly hopeless problem solved by our friend and helper, Mr. Vonderau.

Dear Miss Dix---

That Shakespeare was a great fellow! His tales of romance will always be remembered as ingenious works. But old Bill hasn't a thing on a dirt column writer! The romances heretofore inscribed are almost as important as Romeo and Juliet! Apologies to real literary fans!

What's all this propaganda we Americans have absorbed about Barbara Seudder planning a "blitzkrieg" on non-belligerent Ken Iba? Barbara insists that all is fair in love and war, and this is war!

Who's Julia Kaiser two-timing now? Not so long ago Camille Applegate held her interest, but we hear "It's All Over Now."

Mary Alice Duntens got a right to sing the blues since John Blundell joined the Navy. Dick Laird, however, wastes no time in offering consolation to her.

Betty Gibson has tried her best to live up to her name as the "Gibson Girl of 1940." Her oomph and charm seemed to have hypnotized the handsome ex-Archer, Chuck Jordan!

Daring Dick Dosch seems to be keeping as many women on the string as he can handle. But "Too Hot To Handle!" Joan Reichardt has been his latest addition, and Dick might be forced to give up all previous strings. How's Phid De Haven of North Side going to react to Dick's decision? Will this cause another civil war between South Side and North Side? What is our destiny? Will South Side squelch North Side in the coming football game? Stop me, if I'm getting off the subject!

Dorothy Gilda keeps singing "The Nearness of You" day in and out. We know it's a pretty song, but when we turn around and find Don Duiser incessantly singing the same song, that's too much! There must be some hidden connection!

Dale Showeller, "the notorious jitterbug" of South Side, was seen hopping around the dance floor recently with co-partner, Phyllis Wefel.

THIS WEEK

Your Personality

By Delores Daniels

Simply because you're not a double for a glamorous movie star, there's no reason whatever for you to be unpopular with boys OR girls. You've no cause to brood about your facial features. We can't all be beautiful, so we might as well make the most of our "looks."

No, you don't have to have dollars crinkling or coin jingling in your pockets when you walk to have people want to be with you. That is, if they are the sort of people that you want to have admire you. No expensive creams or toiletries, no English tweeds or high-priced jewelry is necessary. It all lies within your own power. Banish the foolish ideas that you'd have to flout around in a maroon convertible in order to obtain popularity. What you want is the true kind of popularity, so that people, young and old, enjoy your company for your own personal self, not for any of the other various reasons that I've hinted.

Look yourself over. Is there any reason that people should shun your friendship or avoid you? Evidently there must be! Start right now and correct those offending faults. If you're sensible you'll read all the "teen" articles in your reach. They usually set up some rules for correction. But let me help, if I may, to start you on the road to popularity.

First of all, be modern. By that I don't mean be ultra-modern. I suggest you participate in a few of the "moderate" Joe College ideas. Clothe yourself well. Wear clothes to fit the occasion and to suit your age, but get in on the fads of the day and the newest styles. And don't think you have to buy an entire new wardrobe. Turn yourself into a little seamstress and remodel those old clothes! If you like baggy sweaters and sloppy clothes, wear them. But be neat and clean about it.

But there are a lot of things more important than clothes. For instance? Well, stop, look, and listen for a few do's and don'ts. Don't blacken your record by any single incident that may seem unimportant at the time, but may turn out to be the talk of the town. Think before you speak or act!

Do be neat and clean. Don't don a wrinkled skirt or a shirt that relates your dinner menu. It doesn't take long to press them or rinse them out and it may save you a lot of disappointing glances.

Be sweet and dignified, not caty and two-faced. But don't be ultra-sophisticated or people will feel you are looking down your nose at them.

Maybe your trouble isn't in your natural features but in that greasy "painted" look. A little moderation in your make-up may help beyond all hope.

Juniors Know How To Win Friends, To Influence Teachers

A pretty party dress, a dance, but no date. Such boys should be executed. This happens occasionally, but not to the girl we have in mind. Whenever she has a date with a boy, he is there on time, if not a half an hour or so sooner. For this girl is one of the highlights of the junior class. For when Joan Cox has a date with a fella, he shows up. At the present time Joan is seen quite often with a boy by the name of Bob Gregg. Let's leave this matter up to Dan Cupid and hope for the best.

Hold everything! Today the truth has been released. What about? Why about the love affair of Violet Reiter and John Gumpfer. No, the public wasn't mistaken. Violet was seen with John last week-end and, if we're not blind, they seemed to be having a grand time. You've got to admit, the public's nearly always right.

Back to the good old days. The junior class certainly is not leading a dull life. No sir, there's always something to keep it stirring. Last fall we were surprised to hear that Edith Ream and Kenny Welman had broken up. However, this last week reports that it's proud to see Edith and Kenny are taking up where they left off. More power to both of you.

Barrie Tremper seems to be quite a wit in Latin class. At least so the fourth period pupils tell me. Barrie seems to have found himself a cute little green caterpillar one day, and landed it in Mr. Sterner's pill box. Barrie thought it was quite cute until he found out differently.

Here's More About What We Kids Did During The Summer

Vacation is a topic bound to interest almost every student. If it doesn't, the student just isn't average! There is a variety of things that can be done during a summer vacation, and according to a recent poll taken, a lot of things were done.

Phyllis Amstutz visited North Carolina this summer where she attended the World's Fair. The rest of the summer she occupied herself with bicycle riding and playing on the Bob Inn softball team.

Richard Swain turned farmer boy during the month of June. He spent that time out on his uncle's farm. Also Lake Hamilton was a place of activity for him during the summer.

Joseph Barbieri must have been lake conscious because he spent the summer at the following three lakes: Crooked, Sylvan, and Pretty.

The summer was full of domestic duties for Harriet Swager, who stayed home and helped her mother.

Rosemarie Swain took a very interesting trip to North Carolina. While there, she visited the state college in Raleigh. She was greatly impressed by the magnificent horses and the large amount of tobacco found there.

Theodore Taylor's love of golf inspired him to caddy all summer. Laurence Bacon visited the state fair in Wisconsin. He also attended Boy Scout camp at Sylvan Lake.

During Edith Banker's vacation, she traveled through the state of Michigan and saw many points of interest.

Sophomores Show They're Not Second-Rate In This Column

Do you know what's going on in your class? Do you know who goes with whom? Who does what? And why? And what for? If not, this is to enlighten you.

Did you know that Evelyn Arnold and Ward Gilbert are on the brink of going steady? George Waldschmidt and blue-eyed Julia Ann Wilson are another pair of our almost-going-steadies. "Pretty-boy" Ken Iba and that blond doll Barb Scudder is another couple that has been hittin' it off pretty regularly lately. Most of us are mourning the loss of our most prospective free-lancer, Bill Zeddis, who has been in the sunny South for about two weeks now. He would have to leave just as he and Joan Brubaker were beginning to hit off smoothly.

Glamour-gal Mary Cleland, has given up looking for someone of interest in our own dear school, and has been roaming among the Redskins. It seems that Jim Baker of North Side has won her heart and is doing a good job of keeping it.

Latin 3 classes seem to be much more interesting since the arrival of our new, young, and very nice looking instructor, Francis Fay.

Although this is the sophomore column, we mustn't leave out a two-some like Pat Racht and Jim Straley. Won't someone please tell me what happened to "Saf" McMyler?

Being out of circulation certainly didn't hurt Mary Carlo. Since she and Bob Wely broke up, Chuck Harrison has taken up where Bob left off. We might also add that a certain "Katie" has pieced Wely's broken heart together again. For those who are interested in our slang line, Bob Druhot, Homer Haley, Frank Neff, Calvin Singer, and Ken Breimeier are still running around loose.

It seems that South Side just doesn't have enough eligible fellows—Another one of our cuties, Janice Tremper, has been seen very frequently with Jack Brown and Jim Hayes, both of Central Catholic. By the way, did you know that that beautiful dark-eyed Nan Cherry is actually running around loose? Something ought to be done about this. At least that's the impression we're under. With this last bit of encouraging news, we leave you for this week. So until our next meeting—Keep your shoe-strings tied!

Fashions For Fall--

For that ultra-fresh look pinch your pennies and buy one of those ever-popular white crepe or silk blouses. They touch off your fall suits to the "nth" degree and give you that scrubbed, pink look.

All kids are raving about those solid (on the outside anyway) gold watches, just like your Granpappy cherished. Here's the catch: open them and, instead of a timepiece, you'll find the nearest compact you ever saw. Generally, they're worn around your lily-white neck suspended on a tiny gold chain. The main cue is that they're so cheap anybody can afford them!

Lately a new color has taken possession of the fashion picture and is named patriotically, "soldiers blue." Slip your slim figure into a suit of this color and all eyes will be glued on you, and what gal would hate that!

Loll around the house while you're studying (or are we presuming too much?) in smart, tailored corduroy slacks. If your favorite break breaks in on you at an unexpected moment, you'll never look sloppy and ragged around the edges.

Forecast: Finish your school wardrobe with a pair of brown and white golf shoes (with the cleats removed, of course). They are a novel change from saddle-ox-fords.

Out of the blue and designed for you are the between-the-knee-and-ankle boots which fit perfectly over your flats. These are naturals for school wear on rainy days.

Come, one! Come all! Try your luck at one of the new three-piece "Luckalure" outfits. You have three complete outfits or you can wear any of the three pieces; skirt, short sleeves, or the long sleeved blouse, with your other skirts and shirts.

In the line of stockings, Nylon is gradually making its way to the front. It is really worth the price you pay! In the regular hose the color will be changed this fall to a reddish hue. The shades are more neutral in order to blend with all things.

The materials for the new clothes, you will find, have a feeling for smooth looking fabrics rather than the rough looking ones. For colors, choose from grayed "carbon" blues and muted greens. Purple is a brave new color, and there are the wonderful bright "flag" shades, sparkling scarlets and blues, to keep your patriotic spirits up. For a really neat looking dress-up outfit, why not try a black velvet with a white lace collar and cuffs. The wasp waist gives you that slim, 1941 silhouette look.

Skirts will be narrow in all weights of fabrics but that doesn't mean you'll look like a beanpole or a slinky vamp. There'll be front fullness to take care of your uninhibited stride, with box or kick pleats center front or even the modified drapery. There'll be fine all-around pleats with that straight and narrow look, but free and easy in action.

In the line of fall shoes, both low and high heels are good. The wedges are still holding their own and plain suede or suede and leather combined are still best. Saddle shoes will be seen in the brown and white (as usual) and also in the two tones of brown.

For a cute little trinket to wear on your sweater or on your lapel, a silver or gold question mark will really look smart. Not only is it a decoration but the end is a small round locket where you can keep a snap of your newest heart-throb. Of course if this doesn't appeal to you, one can always be patriotic and wear a small flag instead.

Diplomas And Degrees Seem Far From Lovesick Seniors

Several brain trusts on The Times (namely, Green, Cooper, Sondles, and Brower) lent their worthy (hose laugh) talents to this column and this is the all-time result. However, this has no reflection on the people mentioned above, of course. Can they help it if they were playing post-office when the brains were being handed out?

Headliners this week are Barbara Brower and Jack Waldschmidt! After a whirlwind affair they decided to tie the knot and go steady. Of course, after observing Barbara all week with that lovelight shining forth from those lovely, big brown eyes, we could hardly act surprised when we found out.

Every seventh period, Marilyn Wolf expounds on the lovable qualities of Jim Hartman, pouring into the ear of a willing listener a good one-sided debate on why she should go with the lucky guy. However, we don't quite see where the debate comes in; 'cause, seems to us assuming me, that Jim is quite gone on the gal.

Two Hundred-Fifty Archer Cyclists Apply For Permits

Approximately 250 Archer boys and girls have applied for bicycle permits, it was revealed by Mr. A. Verne Flint. The main reason for registering all bicycles is to protect the owners. Some of these are:

Poll Of South Side Students Favors Conscription Bill

The majority of South Side students are in favor of the Conscription Bill, a recent poll showed. This much-argued-about bill is one of the most important issues at the present time. It will undoubtedly affect the lives of many young Americans, and also, in time, the students of South Side. Therefore it is only fitting that we should see what they think about it. Following are the opinions:

Carolyn Snoko: I think it's fine. Paul Kiel: Terrible! Marjorie McNabb: I believe we should have it. I think all boys should know how to defend their country. Clifford Matson: Appalling! Hilda Leininger: I think it's kinda terrible. John Wells: It's all right. Catharine Somers: Oh, it'll take all the men away! John Logue: I'm for it, but I heard a very good speech against it in Washington by Senator Wheeler. Paul Johnson: In some cases it's good and in others it isn't. Lois Bloemker: It's a good thing for the country. Jim McClure: I think it's a very fine thing. Naomi Koopman: It's a good idea to be prepared in case of an emergency. Sam Bacon: I can't comment because I'm undecided. Marilyn Loomis: I'm for it, because there will always be an army in case of war. Jim Holzworth: I think it's a good thing, but the government's spending too much money on it. Kathryn Guild: If they have to go, they'd better get in on the ground floor. Howard Tyndall: It's a good thing for defense. Joan Cartwright: I think if they have to go to war, it's better if they know how to fight. Harold Brudi: On the whole, it's a good thing.

Marjory Kruse also brought in three sea shells.

Don't Be Surprised At Names You Hear Flying Around Here

Are you answerable to such monikers as "Butch" or "Goon?" If you are not, something is surely amiss in the proverbial woodpile. In probing around good old South Side High School, we discovered more nicknames than you could find in a cell-block in Sing Sing.

The other day as we were walking down the hall, we heard someone yell "Screwball!" We were almost tempted to turn around but found that someone was hailing Mary Ellen Barrett. One of the best known of nicknames around the school is the often-heard "Lou." This moniker has even gone so far as being pronounced in numerous different ways. The luckless owner of this nickname is Louis Hallenstein. There are also many special signs that go with this nickname that are almost impossible to describe. This name has even been used in dedicating songs. Now that's what is called having a nickname with power behind it. "Success" Brings Name

There is another very interesting nickname but more interesting is the history behind it. That is the moniker "Bookie." Now "Bookie" is a nickname for Sam Bacon. It means that the story behind Sam's nickname goes like this, About two years ago "Bookie" bet on a horse (for the benefit of the censors it was all a parlor game). The horse he had bet on won and since he had been giving tips on that same horse, he has been known as "Bookie" ever since.

Another well-known nickname around school is the handle "Gabby." Now "Gabby" is the moniker of Dick Gallmeyer. We don't know just how "Gabby" got this name but by just looking at it we could make a fairly good guess.

"Buck" is a common nickname in wide use. Karl Eberly and Chuck Harrison both answer to this name for no particular reason.

Most Of Archers Get Around During Summer Vacation Days

Vacation time was not idle time for the majority of South Side students, a poll of the Archers shows. Trips to many parts of the country, fun at the lakes, and short jaunts filled up much of the summer time for many of them.

The greater part of three months of Mary J. Wallace's vacation was spent in New York and New Jersey. Of course, the World's Fair was visited.

Virginia Woods walked to Lawton Park nearly every day to swim when she wasn't at the lake or at her aunt's farm.

Farm life three miles south of Hamilton Lake engrossed Howard F. Werner for two weeks, and softball and baseball took up the rest of his time.

Swimming in Lake Michigan, visiting the country, riding her bicycle, jogging on horseback on the farm gave Helen Jeannette Welbaum good times.

Visited in Mid-West
Trips to Vincennes, Alton, Illinois, Lafayette, and St. Louis were high spots in Paul D. Yundt's vacation. He also enjoyed swimming, bicycle riding, and relaxing in general.

Camp Yarnelle included Phyllis Ann Westerman for a week and another week was spent at the lake.

Louise Webster passed three weeks in Petoskey, Michigan, and saw the sights of Northern Michigan. She also visited in Illinois and South Bend.

Life in and around Lake Papakee was enjoyed by Donald Weberus. He liked to visit nearby farms and hike into the woods and swamps.

Evelyn Whitney visited in Michigan for two weeks.

A week in Chicago and Wisconsin was spent by Barbara Weibel. Crooked and Pretty Lake also gave her fun.

Sees Lumber Camp
Ann Welborn spent her vacation in Northern Michigan at Pictured Lake. She also went on a trip into Canada and to Mackinac Island. In Canada she visited Aubrey Falls and a lumber camp.

Anna Wright brought companionship to her grandmother by staying all summer with her.

When not playing ball or swimming, Naomi May White helped with the work on her aunt's farm.

Turkey Run and The Shades, Indiana

Eugene Zollinger had the privilege of visiting the nation's capital.

When not playing ball or swimming, Naomi May White helped with the work on her aunt's farm.

Turkey Run and The Shades, Indiana

ana state parks, and the World's Fair gave Lavon Witmer a chance to travel.

Philip Allen attended Epworth Forest the second week in July.

W. Eula Teel sampled small-town life at Butler and Bourbon.

Nila Thayer took trips to Toledo to see the zoo, to Pokagon State Park, and to Terre Haute to visit relatives.

Fishes For Lake Trout
Walter Timme pursued piscatorial pleasures in several Indiana lakes but got the biggest thrill trolling for lake trout and white fish, near Travers, Michigan. He also worked part of the time.

A house party at Lake Webster, trips to the lake, to camp and to Chicago brought variety to Margot Todd.

Herman Turner spent several weeks with relatives in West Virginia and the rest of the time in playing golf, tennis, basketball, baseball, and fishing.

Betty Valentine worked for about half of the summer, went to Camp Mack for a week, and spent a week at the lake.

Eugene Vancuren gained experience working in stores, mowing lawns, washing cars, doing errands, and otherwise swelling his bank account.

Rose-Marie Vogel saw the World's Fair and entertained a house guest.

Bob Wade put in eight weeks at summer school and then relaxed on a trip to camp and to Sturgis Lake, Minnesota.

Wilbur Walda worked two months at a filling station at LaSalle and Hanna streets.

In Southern Indiana

While her family was in the west, Bette Walden spent a month in southern Indiana. She also visited at Hamilton Lake and at Chicago.

William Waldman enjoyed sports in Fort Wayne as he had to be here to carry a paper route in the afternoon.

Most of Dorothy Kline's vacation was spent with her grandparents in Huntington.

Ralph Fortriede turned soldier by attending CMTC camp, Edwin F. Glenn, at Fort Benjamin Harrison during August.

A farm on Cedar Creek was the abode of Bill Wilson much of the summer. He was at Lake Wawasee for a week.

JoAnn Gable enjoyed sewing and bicycle riding and also trips to Fredericktown, Ohio, and The Shades.

Archer Gridders Set To Play At Garrett Next Saturday

Kelly Eleven Hopes To Win Third Victory

South Siders Expect To See Good Brand Of Ball As Result Of Two Weeks' Rest

After a two weeks' rest, the South Side football squad will play its third game with hopes of a third victory when it will tangle with the grid squad of Garrett next Saturday afternoon. The game will be played on the Railroaders' home field. This is the only out-of-town game for the Archers. The Archers have previously won over Bluffton and Woodward of Toledo.

With the strong showing in its second win and because of the two weeks' rest, which have been spent in toughening the players, the Kellys expect to play good ball. Wind sprints have been held to help speed up and strengthen the players. Talks, review of plays, and correcting errors of the previous games have been on the bill for the Archer gridders.

Garrett Has Lost Two
The Garrett team this year has had some bad luck, having lost both of its games. The first was a 19-0 loss handed them by Laporte. Their second tilt was close, but they were defeated by Columbus City 25-13. This should be a comparatively easy game for the Kelly Klads; but too much confidence would be a dangerous foe for the Archers, because with the fleet Neighborhood in the backfield, it is hard to predict what might happen. Coach Wayne Gift has been building up his Archers in preparing for the three city series games in four weeks. The game with the Railroaders should be a tune-up for the Central Catholic game the following week.

Backfield Going Strong
By next Saturday, the wound suffered by Ralph Shimer, triple threat backfield man of the Green Archers, should be healed. This will be a distinct advantage for the Green and White along with the improving backfield, which, together, should prove one of the best in Northern Indiana and be good enough to challenge North Side and Central's teams. This Straley, Close, Englehart, and Shimer, there are also plenty of reserves. On the line, the Archers are gaining experience as the season progresses and are developing strength, having come a long way since the first game.

City Grid Squads Have Busy Week

Central To Meet Auburn, North Side Faces Whiting Friday; C. C. vs. Decatur Saturday

One of the busiest grid weeks of the season is in the offing for Fort Wayne football fans. Central and North Side have attractive night contests here tomorrow evening, while the scrapping Irish of Central Catholic entertain a mediocre Decatur squad on Saturday afternoon. The three tilts are expected to produce a definite forecast of the ability of the three local schools in state prep football competition.

Coach Murray Mendenhall's Central Tigers are figured to have little trouble in subduing the big Auburn eleven; however, the Red Devils are expected to give the downtown footballers some real competition via passes. Auburn, in its first starts, has shown several flashes of real offensive power, but the Devil defensive is known to be weak. Denny McDarby, big Auburn center, should cause the Bengals a bit of trouble by his fine line work; but the Tigers have undoubtedly worked out plans to keep the big boy and his mates from causing any defensive trouble. The game is to be played in the South Side stadium, with time set for 8 o'clock tomorrow evening.

A highly touted Whiting grid machine will offer the North Side Redskins plenty of competition tomorrow evening. Although Whiting boasts of a triple threat half-back duo and a powerful line, the North Siders' mighty backfield of Bob Young, Bob Cowan, Kay Short, and Mike Bojinnoff is expected to be too fast for the big Whiting line to fiddle. Coach Bob Nulf has been drilling his charges on pass defense this past week, indicating that the northern Indiana team is to use a passing offensive against the Reds.

The Irish of Central Catholic are hopeful of registering a triumph over the Yellow Jackets of Decatur on Saturday. Coach John Levicki has his team well drilled on defensive fundamentals and offensive blocking, meaning that the Irish should present a well-gearred machine on Saturday afternoon. Central Catholic's game will occupy the local stadium on Saturday afternoon, and the Irish gridders will be heavy favorites to duplicate their 19 to 0 win of last year.

South Side Withdraws From Northeastern Indiana Conference With Big Share Of Twenty Championships In Five Major Sports Won During Last Nine Years

Titles Are Gained In Tennis, Basketball, Golf, Track, And Football By Archer Teams

After having annexed over twenty conference titles in all three major sports, South Side High School has announced its withdrawal from the Northeastern Indiana Conference. Central High School also has dropped from the association, while the third city power, North Side, resigned last spring.

South Side's athletes have brought a major share of the conference titles to this school; in fact, the Archers have been consistent conference champions in almost every event. The Kelly Klads have won three football titles, those coming in 1932, 1933, and 1936; track titles were won in 1933 and 1939; the basketballers brought home the title trophies in 1931-32, 1933-34, 1937-38, 1938-1939; tennis conquests were made in 1931, 1936, 1937, 1938, and 1939; the golf team drove home conference championships in 1931, 1934, 1935, 1937, 1938, and 1939.

The South Side teams entered into conference competition in the spring of 1928. During their first year of activity, the Archers won their first track title.

After the resignation of the three city schools, only seven squads now remain in the loop. The remaining squads are Hartford City, Bluffton, Decatur, Auburn, Garrett, Columbia City, and Kendallville.

South Side Enters Conference
Several reasons for the withdrawal of the local schools have been advanced. First of all, the conference schedules were not drawn to the satisfaction of all the members of the association. The smaller schools were

Redskins Take Lead In Chase For City Title

Beat Central Tigers 13 To 6 Before Largest Football Crowd Ever Seen In City

Five thousand spectators, the largest crowd ever gathered to see a high school football game in Fort Wayne, were jammed in South Side's stadium last Friday night to witness a terrifically hard-fought battle between the North Side Redskins and the Central Tigers. After a tough battle in which both teams displayed high caliber football, the Tigers were downed 13 to 6.

To start the game off with plenty of excitement, Red Sitko, ace ball carrier for the Blue and White, ran the opening kickoff 72 yards down the field before being tackled by North Side's halfback, Bob Cowan, who barely managed to overtake Sitko on North Side's own 13-yard line.

Central Scores First
However, three plays later, Pat Bailey, a North Side guard, intercepted a Central pass on his own 9-yard stripe. Cowan proceeded to kick out of danger, but a short time later, a 37-yard pass by Sitko to Chuck Shaw, a Tiger tackle, brought the Blue and White back to the North Side 8-yard line. Three plays later, Sitko went over the line, drawing first blood. He failed to boot the extra point, but Central was ahead 6 to 0.

Throughout the first period, the Redskins were unable to get out of their own territory, due to the superb defense of the Fighting Tigers. But early in the second quarter the tables were turned when a 50-yard punt by Bob Cowan set the Tigers on their own 5-yard line. Sitko tried to kick Central's way out of danger, but his punt went wild and the Redskins gained control of the ball on the Tigers' 26-yard line.

Redskins Count On Pass
This time the North Siders drove to the 11-yard stripe from where Young tossed a pass to Cowan in the end zone. Cowan also converted the placement which gave the North Siders the lead of one point.

In a series of inspired runs, Cowan again crossed the goal for another 6 points, putting the Northerners ahead 13 to 6. Young's attempt for the extra point was blocked. The scoring ended, and it developed into a defensive battle mostly in the midfield.

Neither team had had a loss chalked up against it for a long time and this decided who was to be the undefeated champion. This defeat ended Central's winning streak of 13 games, while it was North Side's seventh win since last year.

Thinlies Start To Limber Up Their Muscles

George Collyer Wishes All Members Or Candidates To Report During Week

Track Coach George Collyer has issued his call for the fall practice sessions. The Archer cinder mentor is planning to give out the first equipment during the coming week. All boys who were members or candidates on last year's squad are to report, except those tracksters who are now engaged in varsity sports. The next few weeks on the track will be devoted to conditioning and a general review of track fundamentals.

So far twelve boys have reported and only five of the twelve are veterans of last year. The five experienced boys who will be the nucleus of this year's team are Martin Bernard, Lester Oppenlander, Bill Miller, Rudolph Wuttke, and Richard Kilpatrick, and the newest recruits are Paul Dannecker, Richard Siebold, Ralph Siebold, John Galbreath, James Morrison, Paul Wuttke, and Ned Hudson.

Coach Collyer will be sorely handicapped when it comes to the problem of reorganizing another championship team, because approximately seven of the Archer's best speed, hurling, and pole vaulting specialists have either been graduated or completed their period of eligibility for the different track positions. Those eliminated by either of these circumstances are Leroy Cook and Bob Adams, sectional winners in the mile event; Ernest Vogel, high jumper and hurdler; Arden Altman and Eugene Hofstetter, pole vaulters, and Ronald Duiser and Paul Freeman, half milers.

Last year Coach George Collyer came through for the Archers with an exceptionally fine track team. This year, despite the fact that there are many obstacles, the Kelly track coach feels confident that hard work and co-operation will obtain an even better record than last year.

B. Dice, D. Ontario
On Scout Committee

Betty Dice and Doris Ontario were appointed as program committee for this week during the last meeting of the Senior Girl Scouts. Representatives from the dance clubs taught the girls a few popular dance steps.

During the business meeting, further plans for the coming year were discussed. A wiener bake is slated for Saturday at McMillan Park. The time has not, as yet, been decided. The purpose of the bake is for the members to become acquainted with the freshman girls.

'Mural Boys Sign For Cross-Country

Athletes Work In South Field, Stadium Before Season Begins; Forty-nine Take Part

Following the initial meeting for cross country enthusiasts which was held two weeks ago, an avalanche of entries descended upon our intramural instructor, Mr. Louis Briner. Many of the boys who were outstanding last year have signed up for this season's tournament. During the last week the boys have been working out in the stadium and the south field, following the theory that practice makes perfect. The field seems full of eligible crown capturers and the tourney will be a tight battle throughout.

The tourney will start in about a week; the results will be published as soon as they are recorded by the teams.

Soph 1, Junior 1, 2 Win GAA Hockey

Jo Ann Spore, Pat Ehle, Betty Hargan Captain Victorious Upperclass Teams In Match

JoAnn Spore's sophomore 1 team, Pat Ehle's junior 1's, and Betty Hargan's junior 1's were winners in last Friday's GAA upperclassmen hockey games.

Sophomore 1's defeated senior 1's by a score of 2-1. JoAnn Spore and Joan Schwartz made the points for the sophomores, and Geneva Martin for the seniors. Carolyn Fisher was scorekeeper.

Junior 1's took the sophomore 3's 5-0. Sylvia Sholy made two points, Elaine Boeger, one, and Dorothy Snively two points. Scorekeeper was Carolyn Fisher.

A tie resulted between senior 2's and sophomore 4's. Kate Sanders kept score.

A score of 2-0 was registered when Kathleen Nieth and Betty Bligh made points for the junior 2's against the sophomore 2's. JoAnn Spore kept score.

Miss Gretchen Smith, sponsor of GAA, was referee for all games.

Seven Schools Remain In NEIC; Kelly Klads Entered Conference In Spring Of 1928

somewhat dissatisfied with the draw-up, for the city schools were definitely accorded the schedule breaks in that the county schools could seldom break through with enough wins to edge out a local team. South Side and Central disclosed that their second reason for resigning was based on the first.

Since the city schools monopolized practically all of the titles, the county schools were shut out of much chance at the trophies. Since 1935, when the powerful Decatur football team annexed the conference honor, the Fort Wayne schools have held a complete monopoly in all six of the competitive events.

Athletic officials of South Side have made no attempt to join another conference, for without association restrictions the Archers will have a chance to schedule more of the stronger teams of the state. The conference card for the coming season will be played; however, the South Side and Central victories will make no difference in the NEIC title race.

Speedball Played

Phyllis Jackson and Martha Diermeyer's teams tied 7 to 7 in the first game of speedball in GAA. Martha Harader made a field goal for Phyllis' team and Pat McMahan and Dorothy Krone made field goals for Martha's team. Touchdowns were scored by Phyllis Jackson and June DeWood on Phyllis' squad and Barbara Burt scored a penalty kick for Martha's squad.

The second game was between Joan Pope's team and Hocker's team. Hocker's squad won by the score of 6 to 2. No field goals were made, but Phyllis Crabill and Janet Moore scored touchdowns for Joan's team and Patty Hocker and Nancy Griffith made penalty kicks for Hocker's team.

Fighting Irish Win Over Howe Team

Central Catholic Wins 18-0, Scores First Win Of Season; Krouse, Carr, Dehner Lead

Central Catholic's fighting football squad, working under the strain of three straight defeats, came through with its first victory last Saturday in beating a mediocre Howe Military Academy team, 18 to 0. The scrappy Irish scored once in the first quarter and twice in the third; these three markers proved more than enough for victory, since the academy unit failed to come near the Central Catholic goal line.

In the first quarter Jerry Dehner tallied for the locals on a perfect quarterback sneak. The Irish had recovered a Howe fumble on the 3-yard line. With the big Howe team expecting a short thrust through the center by Fullback Dick Huttlinger, Quarterback Dehner scored unopposed over guard. The Central Catholic placement was wide. During the record period the two teams exchanged punts and passes; however, neither eleven were capable of hitting pay dirt.

After marching for 60 yards to the Howe 4-yard stripe, the Fort Wayne boys scored their first marker of the third quarter on a plunge by Halfback Dick Krouse. Jerry Dehner's attempt at the extra point was blocked. Soon after this scoring play, left guard Bob Carr of Central Catholic snatched a Howe pass from the air and gawloved 20 yards for the third Irish score. Carr intercepted the ball in the open, crossing the remaining line stripes without any degree of trouble. The third Irish placekick was blocked by Captain Clancy of Howe.

Howe's gridders played good ball throughout the fray; however, the Irish forward wall proved to be too big and experienced for the Howe team.

Local Optometrist Springs Surprise

Convinces Most Skeptical

Patient after patient is overjoyed when the Doctor (a registered Optometrist) says to him, "You do not need glasses," or he says, "The glasses you are wearing do not need changing."

This outstanding practice is not a MYTH, it is in fact A REALITY. The public now considers the Dehler-Hughes Optical Store in effect a safe and economical place to come to find out if their "eyesight" needs correction—NOT a place just to BUY GLASSES. When a careful examination shows the need of glasses, THEN, Dr. Dehler, or one of his doctors, recommends them. If in doubt, at least talk to the Doctor—he always tells you the truth.

Bill Blass, '40, Wins Style Contest Award

Bill Blass, a South Side graduate of 1940, won a prize at the American Fashions Contest in Chicago. All winners of the contest were professionals except Mr. Blass.

Last Thursday, he left for New York where he will attend the MacDowell School of Art for a year. At South Side, Mr. Blass studied art three years under Miss Blanche Hutto and Miss Mary Helen Ley. He also attended the Fort Wayne Art School with several scholarships from South Side.

Two Archer Students Win Art Scholarships

Bud Brudi, junior, and Richard Green, senior, have won scholarships from the Art School. Bud is a student of Miss Erma Dochterman and is in his second semester of art. He is especially proficient in water colors. This was the first scholarship presented to him.

Goal Dust by Bob Young

GARRETT'S RAILROADERS—No. 3—After a week of solid practice drills on offensive power and defensive tackling, the South Side Archers will be well prepared to cope with the Garrett Railroaders Saturday afternoon. Chick Shimer and Bob Englehart have been drilling on their passing game, so perhaps Wayne Gift will begin to give the Archer fans a team well-rounded both on the ground and in the air.

Garrett, under Coach Cameron Parks, has notched several victories already this season; however, the Trainmen are lacking in capable linemen and good kickers. With the Archers about ready to hit top form, the Green and White should give their opponents a fair dose of Gifted football. It's picking the Archers to win, 20-0.

ARCHERS—APPRECIATE YOUR ATHLETES—Here are some figures which should give all of you some tingle of satisfaction in being an Archer supporter. This week, I have tabulated the Archers' competition with the city schools. (All games played since the opening of South Side in 1922 are included). Won from:

	F.B.	B.B.	Tr.Mt.
Central	7	30	34
North Side	8	23	28
Central Cath.	10	10	0
Lost to:
Central	14	19	31
Central Cath.	1	2	0

NORTH SIDE—POWER PLUS—The big Redskins of North Side demonstrated their real power when they came from behind to whip the scrappy Bengals, 13-6. Bob Cowan, working well from the newly acquired spread offense, notched two more touchdowns and an extra point to his city scoring lead. Although the Central gridders failed to break the supremacy of the Red and White, they gave a great fight in trying to add to their 23-0 game winning streak. The city series grid title now is squarely in the hands of the Redskins; however, the Archers are soon to start after the North-erners in their coming city series battles.

STAR OF THE WEEK—This week a new feature is in the offing, the "star of the week" in Summit City football. Red Sitko of Central, brother of the former Notre Dame field general, Steve Sitko, is pictured as the outstanding performer of the week. Red has scored over 30 points for the Central squad up to this time in the city scoring race. Last Friday night, Sitko definitely established himself as a local luminary. On the first play of the game, Red snatched the kickoff and returned the pigskin 74 yards through the rugged Redskins. A few minutes later, the Bengals scored their only touchdown of the evening.

Thirty-two Enter Horseshoe Clash

Tourney, Composed Of Heavy, Middle, Lightweight Groups, Rapidly Nears Third Round

Boys' Mural Horseshoe Tournament, which started a week ago last Monday, has progressed very rapidly and is now in about the third round. The total number of boys entered in the heavyweight, middleweight, and lightweight divisions was thirty-two.

Those participating in the heavyweight division are Ostermeyer, Vonderau, Clinton Miller, H. Davis, MacMillan, Stroble, VandeBunt, Thompson, Zehrung, Hartzell, Stine, Reynolds, Tapp, Jordan, Trott, Swager, Selby, Zumbrun, Becker, Haines, Raiden, and Bye.

Entrants of the middleweight division are Stults, Russell, Sterling, Rehm, Hirschy, Latz, and Steiner.

In the lightweight division only three boys signed up and these are Fortress, Bredemeyer, and Ham-brock.

Many interesting matches have been played in the heavy and middleweight divisions, but so far it has been noticed that the most sensational twirler in that division is Hirschy. In the first and second rounds very decisive victories have paved the way, and in the third round Hirschy beat Russell 21-20, 21-19.

Very little action has been seen in the middleweight division, but so far it has been noticed that the most sensational twirler in that division is Hirschy. In the first and second rounds very decisive victories have paved the way, and in the third round Hirschy beat Russell 21-20, 21-19.

Because of the very small number participating in the lightweight division, little or no action has been seen as yet, but the champion will have been chosen sometime during this week, and the results will be announced later.

As the tournament steadily creeps to the finish, the matches grow more and more interesting, and the outcome cannot be safely predicted. If weather conditions are favorable, Mr. Briner says that the champions of all three divisions will have been decided upon by the end of this week.

In Miss Perkins' French 1, period 6 class, Sally Hobbs and Arleen Perry received grades above 90 in a vocabulary test.

Girls' Sportsettes

It certainly was fun watching the freshmen play speedball for the first time. Phyllis Buckmaster and Isabelle Johnston should be on Mr. Gift's football squad for they would make excellent tackles. They showed this ability while playing speedball. They fell all over each other and got all tangled up. The trouble was, they couldn't get untangled.

Congratulations to Frances "H" Nash and Bernadine Bender for annexing the senior doubles championship from Jeanne Smith and Charlotte DuWan.

All of the Student Leaders had a swell time at the Student Leader party. The committees should be congratulated for showing everyone a good time.

Too bad Helen Anderson hasn't earned her letter yet because she is just dying to go to Central's Play Day tomorrow. Right now, she's trying to buy a letter.

We should have Miss Gretchen Smith give a public demonstration of the foot exercise which is used in dance class.

All upperclass hockey players remember to bring in the shinguard as the small boys in the neighborhood are using them to play football with.

Intramural Tagball Season Is Opened

Players' Rules Are Reviewed; Coming Sports Will Include Bowling, Boxing, Speedball

The tagball season is now in full swing with teams playing at the south field three nights this week. The schedule included: last Tuesday, Nine Old Pals played Nine Hares, yesterday Super Prunes battled the Easy Aces, and today the Blitzkriegers will meet the Musketeers.

To eliminate any accidents in intramural sports, tagball is played in preference to tackle. To play tagball nine men are required for a full team. The line consists of a center, two guards, and two ends, while the backfield has the same as that of the regular eleven-man team, one quarterback, two halves, and a fullback. All men on the team are eligible to receive passes except the center.

When blocking a body block cannot be used but hands are necessary. To stop the ball carrier, he must be tapped twice above the belt. Probably the most outstanding team in the league is that of the Nine Old Pals, who won the championship last year.

This year the team is comprised of Dale Zuzer, Lefty Werkman, Mac McClain, Don Reitdorf, Loren Sprunger, Bill Weber, Sam Johnson, Dick Kilpatrick, and Harry Hines. The only absence of the team is that of Billy Martin, who is going to St. Joseph College in Collegeville, Indiana.

Other coming sports are bowling, boxing, wrestling, and speedball. Speedball is played in the boys' gym classes and is about like soccer. There is no limited number on either side. The game is played on a regulation football field and the ball is placed on the fifty-yard line and the two opposing teams line up on their own twenty-yard lines. At the signal of the referee the two teams rush toward the ball and try to kick it. The object of the game is to kick the ball in between the goal posts, which count two points. The game is played until one team gets five goals or ten points.

Tennis Games To End On Saturday At Park

Intramural tennis games will be concluded next Saturday at Weissner Park, Louis Briner, intramural manager, announced Tuesday.

Intramural tennis started a week ago last Saturday at Weissner Park, under the supervision of Dick Trott. Only a few of the preliminary games were played.

Results of the games were: In the heavyweight division (130 pounds up), Strobel defeated umpper, 6-4, 6-2; Applegate beat his opponent, Link, 6-3, 6-3; Shirk defeated Trott, 6-4, 6-3. In the middleweight (110-130 pounds), only one game was played. The game, Lotz versus Stultz, ended with Stultz losing to Lotz, 8-66, 6-2. The final result of the lightweight (up to 110 pounds), was, after Stamets lost to Shannen, 6-2, 7-6, and Fortress defeated Kast 7-5, 6-3, Shannen, as champion. Shannen beat Fortress 6-2, 6-2. Games for last Saturday were cancelled because of wet grounds and lack of nets.

Vacations In East

Dorothy Jagers, junior B, took a ten-day vacation trip through the eastern and New England states. She visited Portland, Maine, Boston, and the New York World's Fair.

South Side's Sports Capture Enthusiasm Of William Siebold

Ever since Bill Siebold entered South Side, he has been interested in varsity sports; but just this year, Bill has taken a liking to varsity football. Wayne Gift has developed this liking of the sport which Bill displays. In fact, Mr. Gift has developed Bill into one of the finest ends in the city.

In grade school, "Willy" went out for basketball and baseball. As a baseball player, he was a member of the grade school champions; and on the basketball floor, Bill became one of the finest grade players in the city. Under George Collyer at Harrison Hill, "Willy" was a member of the city grade school basketball champs. In fact, Bill was directly responsible for the entry of Harrison Hill into the finals of that tournament.

Upon entering South Side, Bill first went out for varsity track; he specialized in the dashes. Burl Friddle has found the likable Archer reserve a valuable addition to his gridder basketball teams.

On the football field and on the basketball floor, the energetic senior will be seen battling with the varsity squads.

As for the future, "Willy" hopes to be a member of all three varsity squads—football, basketball, track. Bill wants to attend college and become active in the physical education department; however, he has yet to decide where his future education will take place. Mr. Siebold likes the women, especially a certain Rosella. As for food, Bill leans toward fried chicken and home-made apple pie.

Bill Siebold typifies the athletic spirit of South Side in the words, "I like to play for South Side teams, for in playing with our boys, I have a chance of fighting for the best high school in the country."

Lettergirls Are Invited To Playday At Central

Central High School GAA'ers invite North Side and South Side lettergirls to attend the annual lettergirls' playday at their school tomorrow night.

Activities scheduled are basketball, volleyball, and dancing. Following, a potluck will be held.

The girls who are attending are Eva Jean Wylie, Frances Nash, Genevieve Martin, Maxine Sterling, Irene Meyer, Betty Thiele, Bernadine Bender, Bernadine Pressler, Jeanne Smith, Betty Nichols, Gertrude Merkel, Marguerite Calkins, Betty Porter, Bettliu Stein, Lois Holzworth, and Betty Hargan.

Lloyd Dolhman, an English 3 student of Miss Pocock, has made all of this semester's book reports.

Leaders Of GAA Hold Sports Fete

Fifty Student Heads Attend Annual Party; Baseball, Basketball, And Volleyball Played

Approximately fifty girls attended the GAA student leaders' annual sports party Tuesday, October 1. The girls were divided into four teams which were called the Pink Pussies, the Purple Pansies, the Red Rompers, and the Brown Bums, and played baseball, basketball, and volleyball.

In baseball the Pink Pussies defeated the Purple Pansies 9-0. The Brown Bums won over the Red Rompers, 4-3; and the Pink Pussies beat the Brown Bums to become winners at 5-1.

In basketball the match was not played because of lack of time. The scores were Pink Pussies vs. Red Rompers, 10-10.

Pink Pussies beat Brown Bums, 5-2; Red Rompers were victorious over the Purple Pansies, 9-8. In volleyball the scores were Purple Pansies beat Brown Bums, 21-5. Pink Pussies beat Purple Pansies, 14-2; Brown Bums tied Pink Pansies, 5-5.

Those attending the party were Norma Russell, Marilyn Brackman, Geneva Martin, Jeanne Smith, Ilo Hirschman, Alice Fisher, Phyllis Baldwin, Phyllis Amstutz, Jo Ann Spore, Irene Meyer, Eileen Reinking, Nelda Runge, Jacqueline McCoy, Maxine Volz, Marilyn Bullerman, Pat Jackson, Betty Valentine.

Other leaders who attended were Donna Peel, Sally Ogden, Gloria Hardendorf, Wilma Kellogg, Virginia Simmons, Bernadine Pressler, Jo Ann Schwartz, Speed Bacon, Kate Sanders, Helen Marschand, Betty Hargan, Coleen McCarty, Dolly Disler, Gloria Hearn, Carolyn Fisher, Martha Cash, Shirleene Smith, Helen Anderson, Julia Preece, Peggy Faux, Ann Haller, Dorothy Snavely, Janice Fruth, Marcella Schwartz, Harriet Swager, Julia Kaser, Patsy Haruff, and Nina Beam.

Veterans To Head Cheering Division

Ed Kettler, Bud Lampton Will Have Charge Of South Side Yelling At Remaining Games

Ed Kettler and Bud Lampton, the two veterans of last year's cheering staff, will be in general charge of the Archer booster sections at the remaining football and basketball games.

Captain Kettler has announced that the following boys will make up the Green and White's rookie cheering staff: Fred Collins, Bud Puff, Bob White, Ben Hartman, and Bill Wade. Assisted by the group mentioned above, Ed and Bud will have charge of all the pep sessions for the coming semester. The rookie leaders will be initiated this year at the preliminary basketball games and pep sessions, while the senior members will handle all of the varsity games.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, has announced that Miss Lucy Osborne, Mr. Albert Heine, and Mr. Jack Wainwright will form the committee for planning pep rallies. This committee will appoint a group of teachers to handle each separate assembly. Jim McClure will head the student players; but no other member of the committee have been selected.

Times Leads North Siders In Circulation

South Side Boasts 1,150 Subscriptions, 70 Per Cent; Redskins Follow With 900

South Side is leading in the circulation campaign with North Side, Bob Robinson, circulation manager of the Times, announced Tuesday. The Times has about 1,150 subscriptions or about 70 per cent, while North Side is close behind with over 900 subscriptions and about 65 per cent.

So far in the campaign there are four 100 per cent home rooms with at least three more expected before today is over. These four home rooms have all received their candy bars for having 100 per cent. Lois Likins' room 32 was the first to attain this with Rosetha Bracy, room 32; Hilda Schubert, room 102, and Betty Stumpf, room 138, soon followed.

Book five, Hilda Leininger's book, leads with 222 subscriptions and 73 per cent. The other books are: Book one, Tom Yates, 169 subscriptions and 58 per cent; book two, Becky Abbett, 204 subscriptions and 62 per cent; book three, Lois Hoff, 95 subscriptions and 65 per cent; book four, Barbara Brower, 193 subscriptions and 66 per cent; and book six, Peg Harrod, 169 subscriptions and 57 per cent.

Since the campaign for this semester is coming to a close, a meeting of the agents will be held last night in room 114 to make a final check with the agents to see that all promissory notes and subscription blanks were turned in.

Willkie is still leading with 525 votes while Roosevelt has 332 votes. All of the agents, however, did not turn in their votes.

Miss Rowena Harvey
Completes Style Book

Miss Rowena Harvey, publications adviser of The South Side Times and The North Side Northern, recently completed editing a style book to aid the editorial staff of both school papers.

The book, which has about seventy pages, contains information about punctuation, capitalization, figures, titles, spelling, faulty expressions, and samples of proofreading and copy editing. Miss Harvey has been working on the book for approximately eight years.

All members of the editorial staff will be expected to have copies of the book and be able to take tests over the contents.

Visits New York

During the summer, Sally Hobbs, junior B, spent a week in New York City, where she visited the World's Fair, Rockefeller Center, and other places of interest about the city.

Sophomore Visits Chicago

Ann Haller, a sophomore A, visited her aunt and uncle of Chicago this summer. She accompanied them to White Lake Michigan, and returned in their cabin cruiser on Lake Michigan.

Well-Known Attorney Talks To Hi-Y Group

A talk on his European trip last year, just prior to the declaration of war, was given by Mr. J. M. Barrett, Jr., of Barrett, Barrett & McNagney, attorneys-at-law, at the meeting of Hi-Y at the YMCA last Thursday. Countries which he had visited included England, Switzerland, Italy, and France.

Mr. Barrett commented at the conclusion of his speech that, "The good old United States is the best place to live in, after all."

Preceding Mr. Barrett's speech, the members were allowed to swim in the pool for a half-hour. The main topic of the business meeting was to collect fifteen cents for the winner like the following evening. Members were instructed to meet at the large pavilion at Foster Park at 5:30 o'clock Friday evening. Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, was chosen as adult adviser for the winner like in the absence of Mr. Clyde Peirce, adviser, due to illness.

Wo-Ho-Ma's President Welcomes Freshmen

Katherine Bultmeier, president of Wo-Ho-Ma Club, gave a hearty welcome to all new freshmen girls at Wo-Ho-Ma's first meeting last Thursday in the Greeley Room. Helen Dicke gave a talk to the girls of the club and Miss Rehors, sponsor, gave a short talk to the girls. The theme chosen for the semester is "Home Decorating."

Membership cards were filled by all the girls. Charades were played and candy sticks were given as refreshments.

New officers, Katherine Bultmeier, Laura Nahrwald, Lois Bonebrake, Betty Lou Hancock, and Marjorie Barrett, were in charge of the meeting. The committee in charge of the next meeting is Marilyn Bullerman, captain, Alleen Hattis, Anna Marie Roth, Mary Jane Kissner, and Betty Kite.

Junior Math Elects Officers For Semester

George Spears was elected president of the Junior Math Club at the meeting of the club last Tuesday evening. The other officers elected were John Olcott, vice-president; Jean Stewart, secretary-treasurer; and John Virtis, Inter-Club Congress representative.

The committee for Tuesday's meeting were Marilyn McGuire, John Olcott, and George Spears. At the meeting, John Virtis gave a game puzzle problems for the group. Refreshments were served. Program committee for next meeting is composed of Eleanor Muntzinger, Ellen Briggs, and Paul Benedict.

South Side Comes Of Age! Second

Side, said, "Today, with your Rifle Club, Model Airplane Club, and many other guided groups, you are particularly fortunate in the early days of South Side the student had but few organizations so ably sponsored."

By November 1 the Carto family expects to move into their new American Colonial type home at 4707 South Calhoun Street which is now in the process of completion. South Side has reason to be proud of this successful business man. He proved to be a leader in school, and from all indications, he has not lost any of his ability to be a leader among men since he graduated. South Side should also be proud of the fact that the son of this man is a student of South Side and can follow in the footsteps of his father. Al has somewhat of an advantage over most of the students since his parents attended South Side, but if he is at all like his father, he will not need this advantage.

Four Kelly Teachers Tutor Outside School

Some of South Side's teachers are instructors at other schools in the evenings. Mr. Benjamin Null and Mr. Louie Hull teach at the Indiana University Extension division. Mr. Null teaches English grammar and also elementary composition for teachers. Mr. Hull teaches physics. Mr. Earl Murch teaches commercial subjects for adults at the Vocational School. Mr. Herman Mauley teaches business English for adults at the Stenotype College.

Graduate Made Assistant

Mae Persing, '38, student at Maryville College, Maryville, Tennessee, has been selected as an assistant in the College English department in recognition of her high scholastic standing. Miss Persing is active in the college band and orchestra, college athletics, and the college mission extension work among mountaineers in the Smoky Mountains.

Miss Persing was a member of National Honor Society while in high school and also active in school athletics, band, and various clubs.

Improvements Are Made

During the vacation months several improvements were made in the school. Five rooms on the east incline have been painted, and the gym floor has been resurfaced. Changes in the boiler room have also taken place since last spring.

Grad Designs Trucks

Russell B. Crumrine, '40, has been appointed to the engineering staff at the International Harvester Company. His work consists of drafting and designing of the new 1941 models of International trucks.

S-Men Organize First Tea Dance

Bob Hines, President Of Club, Has Charge Of Affair; Other Officers Aid With Plans

Planning the first after-school tea dance of the year, the Lettermen's Club of South Side held its initial meeting of the year last Friday afternoon. Bob Hines, president of the organization, is in charge of the after-school affair; the other officers, Ralph Shimer, Charles Feistkorn, and Rudy Wuttke, are aiding the president in the distribution of tickets for the dance. Mr. A. Verne Flint, adviser for the athletic group, is serving as the faculty assistant in forming the final party arrangements.

At the opening meeting, the officers, coaches, and school officials made short speeches concerning the athletic situation at South Side. Principal R. Nelson Snider stressed the importance of an athletic program in the school curriculum. Mr. Davis, faculty athletic manager, told the lettermen and their guests about the type of equipment that South Side is using; during his speech Mr. Davis also gave some interesting and worthwhile figures concerning the history and official scoring records of South Side's coming season.

Other speakers included Wayne Gift, George Collyer, Burl Friddle, and A. Verne Flint. Mr. Gift made several comments and disclosures concerning the remaining football games, while Coach Friddle entertained the group with a humorous speech on the coming season. South Side's track mentor, George Collyer, asked for recruits for his 1941 squad. Mr. Flint closed the meeting by discussing the events and projects which the club will sponsor and promote during the coming school year.

Five Archers Will Be On "School Of The Air"

A talk by Mr. Merle J. Abbett, superintendent of schools; a student discussion, a dramatic sketch, and selections by a girls' chorus of 65 members will be the main events of the South Side High School program on the Fort Wayne School of the Air, to be held on October 24 from 8 to 8:30 o'clock. A rehearsal will be held tonight at 7 o'clock.

Jim McGuire will be the boy student in the discussion, Becky Abbett, the girl student, and Kenneth Lampton, the announcer. Bob Robinson will take the part of General Anthony Wayne and Dick Gallmeier will be General Wells in the dramatic sketch entitled "Treaty at Greenville."

"Calm is the Night" by Bohn, "Al-lah's Holiday" by Finck, "Country Gardens" by Granger, and "Little Old Garden" by Hewitt are selections to be sung by the chorus.

Miss Emma E. Kiefer To Be EEE's Hostess

Miss Emma Kiefer, sponsor of the Three E's Club, will be hostess of the next meeting, which will be held Saturday, 2:30 p. m., at her home, 2124 Wells Street. The main feature of the program will be an introductory lesson on importance of Greek in English. The remainder of the program will consist of the study of some interesting derivatives, an exercise in homonyms, a vocabulary test, and, also the game, "Categories."

All members and prospective members are asked to sign in Room 58 not later than Friday. To be eligible for membership, the student must have completed two years of foreign language study and should have a grade of B or above in English.

Hold Wiener Bake

Airplane Club held a wiener roast last Thursday at Foster Park at 4 o'clock. The officers, Frank DuWaldt, president, and Richard Stevenson, secretary-treasurer, and the sponsor, Mr. Plaskes, were in charge of the bake. The Airplane Club holds its meetings on the first and third Thursday of every month at 7 o'clock in the gym. The next meeting will be held next Thursday.

Howey Sells Most

Tours Fifteen States

Virginia Gray, junior B, spent three weeks this summer touring the east coast. She visited Niagara Falls, Portland, Maine; Boston, New York City, Atlantic City, Philadelphia, and Washington, D. C. This trip covered fifteen states and the District of Columbia.

First Grade Period Will End Tomorrow

First grade period will end tomorrow. U and S cards will be issued the following Tuesday. All work which should be done for the first month should be completed by this time by all students.

Bob Bushman To Be German Club Prexy

Robert Bushman was elected president of the German Club at the last meeting in Room 144, October 2. Janet Whetsel was elected vice-president; LaVerne Greiner, secretary-treasurer, and Elmer Kahl, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Mr. Paul Schnepel, sponsor, announced that all club members should have their dues, which are 25 cents a semester, paid by the next meeting, which will be on October 16.

Mr. Schnepel is planning on having speakers who have lived in Germany at some time of their life to give talks for the club members at several meetings.

Fifteen Initiates Enter Club During Ceremony

Library Club's annual initiation ceremony was held at Foster Park last Tuesday. Initiates, dressed as Shakespearean characters, walked down Rudisill Boulevard to Foster Park where they attended a wiener bake given by the older members.

New members are Joan Cartwright, Tompsie Hall, Marilyn Loomis, Ellen Harry, Thelda Tyndall, Marjorie Wigbel, Eva Jean Wylie, Hilda Leininger, Dorothy Heslip, Katherine Guild, Janet Whetsel, Carol Trenary, Bob Gunzenhauser, Earl Sweeney, and John Gumpner. The next meeting of the club will be on October 22.

Halloween Is Theme Of USA Party Today

Halloween will be the theme of USA's annual membership party today at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Games following this theme will be played.

The following committees have been appointed for the party: Entertainment, Ilo Hirschman, chairman, Carolyn Fisher, and Opal Springer; refreshments, Mae Ann Stark and Wanda Stillwell; and publicity, Mimi Dunbar. Invitations were given to members after they had paid their dues.

French Explorers Is Theme Of French Club

Talks, carrying out the theme of French explorers in Canada, will be given on Cartier, Champlain, LaSalle, Marquette, and Joliet at the French Club meeting tonight at 3:40 o'clock in the "Fourhees Room."

Two explorers will report on the next cliff of the Saint Lawrence region, Gloria Staley will talk on the discoverer of Louisiana, and Hilda Leininger will discuss the Jesuits who sailed down the Mississippi and its tributaries. French songs and games will be sung and played.

Life Pictures Archers

Senior Paints Posters

Dick Green, senior B, who works for the advertising department of the Allied Mills Incorporated, paints large posters to be used in grain store houses. This work continues part time during the fall. Dick has a scholarship at the Port Wayne Art School. He is now a student of Miss Erma Dochterman.

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, Sister

"you will remember, our government bought Alaska from Russia for $7,200,000. Today their main occupations are farming, engaging in the fur business, fishing (mainly salmon), canning, mining, and carrying on the tourist business. Their tourist trade lasts only two months out of the year; after the middle of August the trade ceases to operate. When the rivers freeze, huskies, the real Alaskan dog, and sleds are used for transportation. Alaska also uses more airplanes than does the United States, because their transportation facilities do not compare with ours."

Going into detail about the geography of Alaska, Miss Smeltzly said that "Alaska's mountains are far greater than the Canadian Rockies and are comparable to those in Switzerland. There are innumerable glaciers, but they are not as big as those in Norway. The Yukon River is next to the Amazon in length."

"Alaska has produced many famous writers, among whom are Robert Service, Rex Beach and Jack London."

"People often ask how cold it is in Alaska. Although it was not cold on the boat and some people stayed out on deck, the natives consider forty to fifty degrees below zero a common occurrence. When the thermometer reads sixty degrees below, the natives tie cloths across their faces to guard against the cold. Some wear Alaskan glasses, which are made from wood with two small slits for the eyes, to shield against light, the snow, and wind."

Alaska is considered the "Home of the Totem Poles," because Alaskans are of Indian origin. Miss Smeltzly considers the Eskimo settlement of Beaver a very beautiful place with natural primitive, unartificial scenery.

Alaska is famous for its bears, moose, and caribou. Although there is a great quantity of meat, there is a shortage of vegetable and the larger fruits. Miss Smeltzly exclaimed about the cost of a bushel of potatoes being eleven dollars; eggs, two dollars a dozen; and tomatoes, sixty cents a pound. Alaskans never leave any portion of food on their plates after eating, and you can readily see why. Miss Smeltzly liked the caribou steaks very much; maybe it was because it was well-cooked.

Fishing and canning are very important industries. On the return voyage fifty thousand crates of fish, mostly salmon, constituted the cargo. In confidence, Miss Smeltzly admitted that all salmon, regardless of its label, is all one kind.

Not Worrying About War

Wars in Europe do not cause worry in Alaska; since radios are scarce, and newspapers expensive and few, most people do not come in contact with the news.

Alaska's population is comprised of missionaries, teachers, Indians, merchants, miners, cannery, fishers, Eskimos, and tourists.

Having been a teacher herself and always interested in education, Miss Smeltzly discovered that qualifications for teachers in Alaska are just as high as in the United States.

It is interesting to note that about eighty-five percent of the population are men. The women have always been pushed back.

Having experienced a delightful and inspiring summer, Miss Smeltzly returned home from Alaska the latter part of August, eager to tell of her travels.

YWCA Delegate Talks To So-Si-Y

Miss Elizabeth Dinsdale Discusses Topic, "What Service Work Should Mean To You"

Miss Elizabeth Dinsdale of the YWCA, gave a ten-minute talk to the So-Si-Y members last Tuesday on service work. Her topic was, "What Service Work Should Mean To Every Person."

To carry their theme of service work further, the girls hemmed squares, each member completing one square during the meeting. Wanda Bowman played fourteen numbers on the piano while the girls sewed. "Only Forever," "Stairway to the Stars," "Sweet Lelanie," "Orchids for Remembering," "Too Romantic," "Nearness of You," "Memories," "Trade Winds," "Alice Blue Gown," "Moonlight Serenade," "Scatterbrain," "My Prayer," "Little Skipper," and "Shake Down the Stars" were her selections.

Gertrude Merkel read a poem on service work. Preceding the reading of the poem, the group was led by Margaret Calkins in singing "In Christ There is No East or West." The hymn, "Spirit of Light," followed the reading. Martha Thomas played softly during the reading.

Wilma Kellogg gave a dialogue on "Freshman Romance." Romyne Rediger, service chairman, and her committee of Marjorie Gerding, Gwendolyn Kelly, and Lois Rediger, had charge of the squares and the equipment.

The social committee for the affair consisted of Marjorie Gerding, Betty Horstmeier, Lois Holzworth, Louise Buesching, and Dorothy Saalfrank.

Louisa Haugk, aided by Marjorie Voltz, Wanda Bowman, Bernadine Bender, Wilma Kellogg, Marjorie Gerding and Ethelene Behling, had charge of the program.

Miss Dinsdale poured tea, and Miss Beulah Rinehart, one of the sponsors, served cake at the tea table. The table was decorated with a lace table cloth and marigolds in the center.

Indiana U. Extension Plans Mixer Saturday

Indiana Extension students will hold a mixer dance in the Indiana Extension ballroom, on October 12, from 9 to 12 o'clock. The price is 15 cents per person and 25 cents per couple. The following chairmen have been named: Jean Scott, general chairman; Ray Kreager, orchestra; Charlotte O'Mara, chaperones; Eugene Seidel, tickets; Betty Jean Brunner, publicity; and Janice Dyer, posters.

Social Science To Launch Annual Magazine Drive To Raise Picture Funds

Yearly Campaign Will Open Next Monday; To Follow Curtis Vocational Plan Group Arranges Four Bank Days

Cash Prizes Will Be Awarded On Tuesday, Thursday, Monday, Wednesday

To raise money for the Visual Education Department, the annual magazine campaign is being sponsored by Social Science Club, through the Curtis Vocational Plan, from Monday, October 21, to Monday, November 4.

Tuesday, Thursday, Monday, and Wednesday will be bank days. Cash prizes or merchandise will be given on these bank days to the student having either the largest number of magazine subscriptions or the highest sales total.

Departments May Share

The various departments of South Side will be able to share in the profits of the magazine campaign. Of the total profits 25 per cent will be split among the different departments according to the efforts they have expended in making the magazine campaign a success. Students will tell their home room teachers what department they wish to work for. For every subscription a student turns in, the department he is working for will receive credit.

All the money from the magazine subscriptions is to be turned over to Social Science Club. After the campaign, 25 per cent of the total profits are to be divided up among the various departments according to the efforts they have made in making the campaign a success.

Much Profit Possible

"To give an idea how much money can be made, several years ago, Social Science Club, through their magazine campaign, raised about $1,000," Mr. Wilburn Wilson, visual education director, said. "With this money they bought most of the equipment that the Visual Education Department is now using to show films."

"If all the students in South Side get behind this campaign and give it a boost, they will have better classroom movies, they will have records of famous stories and poems written by well-known authors, and be able to buy statues of famous Romans and medals to be awarded for the highest averages in Latin with the money that is earned by the students for the different departments," he pointed out.

School To Form Two Teams

The school is to be divided into two teams with a captain for each team. These will be responsible to the general manager of the campaign. In each home room there will be a lieutenant who is responsible to the team captain.

A general assembly will be held next Monday, at which Mr. Harry Lippincott, of the Curtis Publishing Company, which sponsors the Curtis Vocational Plan, will outline the plans of the campaign and the objectives. He will also tell the students how to go about securing a subscription, how to fill out the subscription blanks, and what prizes are to be given for earning two or more credits. A master prize will be given to the student obtaining the largest number of subscriptions.

For each dollar a student collects through selling Curtis magazines, he will receive 1 credit. The magazines published by the Curtis Publishing Company are: The Saturday Evening Post, Ladies' Home Journal, Country Gentleman, and Jack and Jill.

Credit For Each Sale

For each dollar a student collects through selling other popular magazines, he receives 1/2 credit. Some magazines which are not Curtis publications are: American Boy, American Home, Harpers, House Beautiful, Look, Nature, Open Road For Boys, Popular Mechanics, and Science Digest. No award will be given for less than two subscriptions.

The Visual Education Department, the progeny of Social Science Club, is going to co-operate with it in this campaign by showing motion pictures during periods 1 to 7 inclusive on school activities. These pictures were shown Tuesday and will be shown today and tomorrow in the Greeley Room. Students may go from the Study Hall to the Greeley Room after the roll has been taken. On Tuesday those students from rows A to H who wished to see the films went, today rows I to O may go and tomorrow rows P to Z may go. This system will operate each period during the day.

The general manager of the magazine campaign is Paul Keil. Bob Brooks, and Ruth Dauner are assistant managers and team captains.

Halloween Is Theme Featuring USA Party

Halloween was the theme for USA's annual membership party last Thursday in the Greeley Room. Marjorie Meyer won the prize for making the most words from "Halloween." Each member drew a slip on which was written a humorous subject. As the leader called a number, the member made a one-minute speech on her topic. Other games of this type were played.

The committee for the party was: Entertainment, Ilo Hirschman, Carolyn Fisher, and Opal Springer; refreshments, Mae Ann Stark and Wanda Stillwell; publicity, Mini Dunbar.

Auction Of Stamps Will Be Wednesday

Owners Given Instructions How To Turn In Material To Be Sold; All Schools Are Invited

A stamp auction, the first ever to be held in South Side, will be sponsored by Stamp Club next Wednesday at 7 o'clock in Room 112. The purpose of this auction is to give the students in the various grade and high schools a chance to have their stamps sold for them.

North Side, Central, Central Catholic, and the public grade schools are invited to participate in the auction, as well as the students in South Side. Any person of school age who wishes to buy or wants his stamps auctioned will be able to inspect them the night of the auction from 6:30 to 7 o'clock.

Students desiring to have their stamps auctioned for them are to put them either in glassine or transparent envelopes. The catalog values of each stamp in the packet should be in the upper left hand corner of the envelope, leaving the right side blank. The owner's name is to go directly under the value of the stamps and covers. All stamp values should be secured either from a 1940 or 1941 Scott Catalog.

First-day covers and envelopes will also be auctioned off. These are to be mounted on paper, using picture tabs for holding the covers and envelopes on the paper. Owners are asked to be sure not to use glue to attach the envelopes and covers on the paper. They are to be signed just like the packets of stamps with the values on the left-hand side of the paper and the name under the values.

The stamps, covers, and envelopes are not to be turned in later than October 18, in Room 64. A member of the committee will be there to take care of the stamps and covers and give a receipt for the stamps that have been turned in. The committee for the auction are Max Stobaugh, Donald Parkinson, and James Steiner.

Albert Verweire Is Band Director

Mr. Jack Wainwright Announces Student Leaders Of Music Groups; Invite New Members

Albert Verweire is student director of the military band, which plays at South Side's ball games, announced Mr. Jack Wainwright, music director.

This band meets every Tuesday and Thursday during the fifth period.

The beginners' band, of which Mary Ann Duensing is student director, meets every school day during the second period. This band consists of about forty members. Joan Zimmerman has charge of the attendance for this music division.

Fifty-five members comprise the concert band, which meets every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday during the fifth period. To be eligible for this band, the member must receive a good grade in his examination given by Mr. Wainwright. He also requests that those who have signed to be a member come to the meetings.

Committed Named For Witching Party

Frances Nash Chosen Chairman Of Program For GAA Affair To Be Held Friday Evening

Frances Nash was elected program chairman for the GAA Halloween party tomorrow. The appointment was made last Monday by the GAA executive board. Marjorie Pressler and Pat Ehle were made her assistants.

Maxine Sterling was elected chairman of the menu committee. Irene Meyer and Kate Sanders are assistants.

The chairman for the decorations is Bette Thiele. Ilo Hirschman, Jeanne Smith, and Delores Boderhorn will help with the decorations.

The sale of tickets is in charge of JoAnn Spore and Harriet Swager. Martha Cash was elected chairman in charge of prizes. Peggy Faux will be her assistant.

Math-Science Ghost Festival Is Friday Eve

Party To Be In Room 170 At 7:30 p.m.; Members Asked To Get Ticket In Room 80

Ghosts will prowls and cheer will prevail at the Halloween party arranged by the Math-Science Club for tomorrow night in Room 170 at 7:30 o'clock. The decorations, entertainment, and refreshments will be in keeping with the festive occasion. All members are asked to report to Room 80 and receive a special ticket of invitation from Miss George Anna Hodgson either today or tomorrow afternoon at the latest.

The president, Safford McMyler, will preside at the festive ceremonies. All members are asked to come masked. Prizes will be awarded for the most original, the prettiest, and the ugliest costumes. The program planned thus far will consist of dancing and other entertainment, which will be in charge of the entertainment committee consisting of James Brooks and Eva Jean Wylie. The club now has approximately sixty members, and it has been estimated that a good share of the members will come to the club's annual event this year.

The next regular meeting of Math-Science Club will be November 15. At this meeting Miss Adelaide Fiedler will speak on "The Relation Which Mathematics Bears to a Progressive Civilization." Also a mathematics student who has not been selected as yet will speak on the "Origin of Arabic Numerical System."

In January, the most unusual program that Math-Science Club has ever presented for its members will be given by H. W. Miller. The famous "House of Magic" from the Central Electric Company will be the outstanding feature. This exhibition will be practically the same as the one presented at both of the World's Fairs last year.

R. L. Davis from the General Electric will speak on "Plastics" at the December meeting. This talk has been long anticipated, as it is a very timely subject since so many new things are being made from plastic.

First Class Rating Allotted Yearbook

Totem Receives 985 Points In All-American Critical Service; Staff Is Congratulated

First class honor rating was given to the 1940 Totem of South Side, which was entered in the Twentieth All-American Critical Service by the National Scholastic Press Association.

The Totem received a total score of 985 points. Various points on which the yearbook was judged and the score each received were Special Pages, 75; Administration and Instruction, 75; Classes, 105; Organizations and Activities, 130; Athletics, 90; School Life, 85; Plan of Book, 90; Artistic Appearance, 85; General Effect, 60; Physical Appearance, 55; Material Quality, 50; and Financial Status, 85.

"The staff and advisers of the 1940 Totem are to be congratulated on the excellent job they have done this year. The section telling about the achievements of the students at your high school is one of the best I have ever seen," was one of the comments made by the judges of the National Scholastic Press Association.

Boys' Rifle Club Tries To Promote Safety In Using Guns By Giving Demonstrations In Home Room Periods All During Week

"If we can prevent even one injury or death caused by carelessness and misuse of fire arms, our time spent in giving these demonstrations will be well spent," stated Mr. Elmer Goebel, sponsor of Boys' Rifle Club. The purpose of these presentations is to encourage safety in home and other places where guns are placed. In nearly every home, there is some form of a fire arm.

Demonstrations given by members of Boys' Rifle Club will consist of points to check in caring for gun while in a car, carrying gun properly, climbing a fence while carrying a fire arm, loading and discharging gun at proper time, using gun as a club, and unloading fire arms before entering home.

Demonstrations Listed

A demonstration is being given in each of the home rooms this week, continuing through Friday. The schedule being carried out this week follows: Edmund Bauer, room 144, Tuesday; room 64, Tuesday; room 138, Wednesday; 30, this morning; 184, tomorrow; Joe Berkins, room 82, Monday; 94, Tuesday; 108, Wednesday; 186, this morning; and room 190, tomorrow. ## Senior Picture Campaign Will Start Next Monday, Extend Till Thanksgiving

Senior Poll To Be Taken In Home Rooms October 30 For This Year's Annual

Subscription Total Now Numbers 607

Second Yearbook Payment Of Twenty-Five Cents To Be Payable On October 25

Hundreds of steps have been taken toward the Totem office in the last week and a half. Some large, some small, some slim, some fat, some arched, some flat, but all with one purpose in mind—to subscribe for the Totem.

The whole staff has been working at top speed the last several weeks in an attempt to canvass throughout the entire student body for yearbook orders. During this time the agents have received a great deal of cooperation from the students and teachers, and the staff wishes to thank everyone for their help. This sincere cooperation has created in everyone on the staff a desire to repay the students by putting out the finest yearbook that a high school of our size has ever produced, John Bonsib, editor, announced.

Wednesday, October 30, in cooperation with the circulation campaign, Faye Gumpfer, senior editor, states that a poll will be taken of the senior class. This poll will ascertain the leaders of our graduates in all phases of school life. The poll will be conducted in the various home rooms by their respective Totem managers. The staff asks that all home rooms cooperate in this survey tomorrow.

The second payment on the Totem will be due on Friday, October 25. This payment of 25 cents must be made on or before that date or your roll will be for the time being. Payments, of which there are seven, will be due at the end of each month in order that all books will be paid for by spring vacation. These dates are: Second, October 25; third, November 22; fourth, December 20; fifth, January 24; sixth, February 21; seventh, March 21; and eighth, April 4.

Patriotism To Be Wrangler Theme

Charlene McAtee Is To Direct Program Of Choral Speeches, Declarations, Pledge, Songs

Patriotism is the theme of the second Wranglers meeting next Monday. This will be the first time that such a program has been given in Wranglers. Charlene McAtee is in charge and will introduce the songs and speakers.

James McClure, Bob Young, and Harold Brudi will each give the oratorical declamation, "My Country 'Tis of Thee," which received the Pulitzer prize in 1939 for the best editorial written. This will be the finals of the Oratorical Declamation Contest. Ed Meyer will present a dramatic declamation entitled "The Man Without a Country."

A new type of speaking, choral speaking, with a musical background will be introduced. "America for Me," a poem by Henry Van Dyke, will be given in this way. Wranglers' Pledge of Patriotism will be written and given by Sam Bacon. In this speech will be told ways of using speech in patriotic speaking. Patriotic songs will be sung by the members, which are "America, the Beautiful," "America," "God Bless America," and "The Star Spangled Banner." Also at this meeting, plans will be announced for the political meeting to be held on November 4.

Seniors' Popularity Poll To Be Taken

Senior home rooms are requested to set aside Wednesday, October 30, for the senior poll. This is an annual poll taken of the senior class by The Totem. Winners will have their pictures in the book.

Leading Totem subscription agents and their total number of subscriptions are as follows: Maurine Leas, 42; Mildred Hanke and Bob Brooks, 27; Elaine Hirschy, 26; and Jo Frosh, 25.

Other agents are: Fishing, 7; Graney, 4; Wolf, 3; Guild, 1; Lageman, 7; Light, 7; Hull, 3; Kettler, 10; Meyer, 7; Meyer, 7; Sanford, 13; Grazier, 11; Sheldon, 3; Werkman, 8; Rubin, 5; McVay, 12; Brower, 7; Robinson, 6; McNabb, 7; Young, 12.

Kuntz, 10; Jackson, 6; Yeager, 15; Harrod, 13; Lybrook, 3; Michelfelder, 8; Likins, 15; L. Gumpfer, 12; Holtmeyer, 1; J. Brooks, 8; Loeser, 3.

Ferguson, 10; Sondles, 7; Lampton, 3; Schubert, 12; Remmet, 9; Gallner, 3; Smith, 9; McMyler, 14; Weil, 12.

Lou, 5; McAtee, 9; F. Gumpfer, 9; Harris, 2; Hall, 5; Bacon, 2; Daniels, 7; Parkinson, 1; Sweet, 3; Haller, 3; Simmers, 1; Bowly, 8; Heavner, 1; Theye, 2; Hines, 3; Greany, 3; Miscellaneous, 19.

EEE's To Sponsor Monthly Meetings

Members of Literary Club Will Begin Study Of Greek Background Of English Language

Miss Emma Kiefer, sponsor of Three E's, has announced that the meetings of the club will be held once every four weeks instead of every two weeks as formerly. The change was announced at the group's first meeting held at Miss Kiefer's home, 2124 Wells Street, last Saturday. She also explained rules of the club and stated that the group would begin their study with the Greek background of the English language.

Members studied a list of Greek words and attempted to get the English derivatives of these words. Each person then read an explanation of the origin of a current slang expression. A clever contest that illustrated the usage of words pronounced alike but spelled differently and a vocabulary drill were conducted. The word game, Categories, was played. Refreshments, consisting of punch and cookies, were served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Charlene McAtee, 2528 Hoagland Avenue. Alice Sweet and Delores Daniels will be assisting hostesses.

Bi-Weekly Matches For Rifle Experts

Boys Will Compete For Trophies Offered By Magazine For Top Team In Junior Club League

Two series of bi-weekly National Junior Club League matches will be held by the Boys' Rifle Club during the coming year.

First place trophies will be presented to the winners by officers of the Open Road for Boys magazine. Each team which competes in the league is matched with a team of the same relative ability. Any club has a chance to win a trophy regardless of experience or equipment.

The following boys representing this club gave talks to the freshmen home rooms: Karlbach, Bauer, Myers, Theye, Puff, Bekius, and Hornberger. The purpose of this club is to teach the safe and accurate handling of firearms, to provide a means of pleasant recreation, and to give an opportunity for competitive activity. The club's accomplishments are as follows: NRA Qualification, won thirteen matches and lost six, won first place in the county and state, won eighteenth place in the nation in the Bi-Weekly matches, and awarded ten men letters.

Latin Club Theme Is Based On Arts

Greece, Roman Skills To Furnish Subjects For Semester; Art Of Sculpture Discussed Today

The arts of Greece and Rome have been chosen by Latin Club for its theme of the year. The first few meetings will be devoted to the art of sculpture.

Latin Club will meet today in Room 138 at 3:30 o'clock. Hilda Schubert and her committee will have charge of the meeting. Hilda will talk on Venus de Milo, and Thompson Hall will tell about Diana of Versailles. Kieth Lakey and Mary Whittier will give a short report on the Discobolus and the Winged Victory.

A Latin chorus, composed of some of the advanced Latin students, will sing "Gypsy Sweetheart," "Melody in F," and "Adeste Fideles" in Latin. Mary Whittier will sing "Ave Maria." Some contests will be conducted by Ellen Harsty, and refreshments will be served.

Journalism Lecture To Be Given Today

Vivian Crates Logan, a member of The News-Sentinel editorial staff, will give a journalism lecture today at 3:30 o'clock in Room 114. She will conduct a study and discussion on the Style Book. This discussion will be presided over by a quiz the following week. News stories that were written at the last meeting will also be discussed.

All members of the Times staff are requested to attend, as the roll will be taken. These lectures, which were previously held on Fridays, will be on Thursdays from now on.

Clippenger Studio On Lowest Bid Chosen To Take Class Photos For Totem

Upperclassmen's Photographs, $1

Ask Students To Subscribe From Home Room Agents Now To Avoid Late Rush

"Watch the birdie" or "Hold that pose!" will be in every senior Archer's vocabulary from next Monday until Thanksgiving vacation, for during that time an extensive drive will be made for senior pictures. These plans were announced yesterday by Faye Gumpfer, senior editor of the Totem, in cooperation with the rest of the staff.

Last summer the business manager announced to all the commercial photographers in town that the staff was now accepting bids on the class and club pictures to be used in the 1941 Totem. After all bids were in, Miss Rowena Harvey, adviser, was consulted and it was decided to accept the bid of the Clippenger Studio. The prices arrived at were $1 per senior picture with four proofs to be taken of each person. The price set for underclass prints is 35 cents.

If a senior is desirous of ordering more pictures for his or her own use, the price is $4 per dozen for 3x5 prints. Other sizes may be had at slightly increased prices. Underclassmen may obtain six prints for 25 cents.

Seniors are asked to subscribe from their home room agents immediately to avoid the later rush when both student and photographer will be busier.

Senior agents are: Room Agent 36—Emalyn Remmel 70—Mildred Hanke 79—Safford McMyler 44—Don and Ed Meyers 80—Dick Gallmeyer 82—Bob Brooks 91—Elaine Ferguson 102—Hilda Schubert 144—Jo Frosh 172—Marilyn Sondles 98—Bonnie Yeager 56—Kathryn Kuntz 64—Maurine Leas

These agents are also responsible for all subscriptions and for any business concerning the Totem during the year.

Take that second step in the right direction now! Order your senior picture.

Junior Symphony To Give Concert

Civic Orchestra Will Present First Program October 28; Alice Light To Play Solo

Fort Wayne's Junior Civic Symphony will present its first concert on October 28 at the newly-remodeled Civic Theater. Members of this organization attend junior high schools, high schools, and some are graduates of the city's public schools. Alice Light, South Side senior A, will play a Mozart concerto accompanied by a string orchestra. The Lions Club is helping to sponsor the concert with the cooperation of Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of public schools. Tickets may be purchased from members of the Lions Club and members of the symphony.

Miss Blanche Hutto is the faculty adviser on the Civic Symphony Board from South Side. Students from South Side who are in the symphony are Hilda Schubert, Elaine Boeger, Dave Link, Frances Weir, Dorothy Rutz, Betty Nichols, Betty Elbersen, Alice Light, Ruth Dauner, Dick Virts, John Myers, and Faye Gumpfer. South Side graduates in the orchestra are Bob Wiehe, Velma Connert, and Loretta Rinearson.

French Group Plans For Skate And Dance

Hilda Leininger gave a talk on the explorations and missionary work of Marquette and Joliet following French Club's theme for the semester. The French in America, at the meeting of Le Cercle Francais Thursday in the Voorhees room. She spoke of their travels up and down the Mississippi. Clifford Springer talked on Cartier and Champlain, who were the first explorers of the New World for France; and Gloria Staley gave an account of LaSalle.

Plans for the annual French Club skate and the after-game dance on January 25 after the Elwood game were discussed very briefly.

All of the members participated in playing "The Prince of Paris Lost His Hat."

Get A Death Hold On Those Studies For A Fuller Year

Too often there is told the tale of the high school student who graduates from his high school with flying colors. This student perhaps goes to college and ranks high scholastically in all the subjects he takes. Upon graduation from college he receives a good job. He makes out fairly well with his job but there seems to be something lacking. This man does not lose his job, or slip backwards, but he does not seem to make the progress that one with his school grades should make. He leaves no more marks in the trail of life than his schoolmate who went through school with grades of C's and an occasional B.

This situation might be caused by one of two reasons, or both. The first reason is that perhaps the person in this case failed to grasp a permanent hold on the things he studied. He may have had a splendid knowledge of the text book for the year or years that he took the subject. However, he did not take enough interest or do enough outside research on the course to lay hold on a lasting knowledge. This is one of the problems which faces most high school students. The second, and perhaps more important reason, is that the man may have not realized the value of self education. A great man once said, "A truly educated man is not one who knows everything about some things, but rather one who knows something about everything."

Naturally a high school student cannot take everything that will interest him in later life. He must interest himself in various things: radio, modeling, historical, instructive books, etc. Clubs and extra-curricular activities are an excellent source of practical knowledge.

If You're Not Having Fun, Try A School Dance Or A Skate

Much has been said in the past about attending school activities. While our annual plea does seem to be making some headway, we believe that a bit of repetition can produce more and better results. To begin with, there are definite reasons why every South Sider should go to our functions. First and foremost comes the matter of increased pleasure. Just about ninety per cent of the students who come to these affairs are impressed by the added enjoyment derived from the informal atmosphere so carefully preserved. Ask any one of these persons and be convinced!

In addition to the fun we can draw from our dances and the like, is another consideration: We refer to the matter of better relationship between pupil and teacher. In our classrooms we are deprived of our mentors' "off-duty" personalities. At most school dances and skates, members of the faculty are present as chaperones. Many a lasting and worthwhile friendship has sprung up between an instructor and his pupil at such an affair. It is the promotion of these healthful relationships which tends to make South Side run more smoothly.

Not the least important reason is the matter of mutual cooperation. Most of us do belong to one or more organizations within the building. If we attend, let's say, the Latin skate, then most probably our club's dance will be patronized by many members of this group. This coordination of various organizations cannot but help to further the success of Archer extra-curricular activities.

In short, let's all keep that resolution we made (and broke) last year to be loyal to South Side. In this way we preserve "the school there is no equal."

Amateur Wood Carvers Can't Use Our Desk Tops, Say We!

Hey, quit running your pencil up and down the groove on that desk! Did you ever stop to think why that groove is here? Did you ever consider what it costs in labor and materials to repair your desk top which looks like a relief map of the Rocky Mountains? First of all, these tops must be removed from the seats. An electric plane must be applied to all the writing surfaces planing up to one-eighth inch. After the planing, the tops must be electrically sanded. Coats of filler and varnish necessarily follow before the arms are replaced on the seats.

The janitorial staff is endeavoring to repair the desks in South Side this year. For every single seat (and you can readily see how many there would be) all these steps must be gone through before the arm is ready for service, only to be marked and scarred again. Let's see if we can't keep these rejuvenated seat arms looking new. You can easily see that it doesn't take many eighths of an inch before we would need new arms. Of course this calculation is looking far into the future, but there is no reason for us trying to write on washboards when we can keep the desks in good condition merely by curbing our little habits of scribbling.

Who's Who? In Music

Last week Red Nichols held your attention in this music column, and this week a great sweet artist holds sway. With the guessing a bit easier in this edition, take caution—some real toughies are soon to follow. In addition to the guess who in this issue, the new feature, "Song of the Week", will be inaugurated.

Presenting—A tall, handsome maestro. Smiles constantly from under his curly black locks; loves reviving old hits; started playing in orchestras thirteen years ago.

Born—St. Louis, Missouri.

Age—29.

Married—Not yet.

First Band—In high school at Wheaton, Illinois.

Plays—Saxophone and clarinet.

Theme—Drifting and Dreaming.

Features—Sweet music. Uses violins on most numbers. Good vocals.

Carries—A full band of nineteen instrumentalists, and one girl vocalist.

Vocalists—Bonnie Baker (that gave it away), The Bodyguards, Sammy Sims.

If you have not guessed our feature yet—try these clues:

Has Composed—Twilight Interlude.

Most Famous Discovery—Manuscript of Oh Johnny.

Has Introduced—Oh Johnny, You'd Be Surprised, My Resistance Is Low, Stop! It's Wonderful.

Popularity—Broke all records at Chicago's Palmer House. Drew 10,000 in one night stand in Buffalo.

Personality—Very likable. Energetic in behalf of others. Takes breaks with a smile.

Song of the Week—"A Million Dreams Ago". Dick Jurgens, Lew Quaiding, and Eddy Howard have another real hit. This tune should prove as popular as the famous hit paraded leaders which this trio has composed, "Careless", "My Last Goodbye", and "If I Knew Then". Next week—another Guess Who and the second Song of the Week.

Maurine Leas Stars As One Personality Worth Remembering

Here's a senior celebrity who's hitting a new high in personality. This girl has to her credit beauty, brains, charm, vivacity, and the ambition and ability to work. (My, my! All this, and Bob Hines, too!) We take it by this time you've already guessed her name—that last clue sort of gave it away. We salute you, Maurine Leas. Take A Lesson, Students.

Maurine isn't just another human being who sits around and waits for the world to come and lay everything at her feet. Here is one young lady who really works for what she gets. Proof-a-plenty: Miss Leas is program chairman of Philo, and a member of SPC and Booster Clubs. What's more, she's champion Totem agent so far, heading the list with forty juicy subscriptions for the bigger and better 1941 Totem. Nice going, Maurine! Another Da Vinci?

Maurine seemed a little perplexed when asked what her hobby is, but she decided that drawing (scribbling, she modestly termed it) comes about as close to it as anything. Gone, But Not Forgotten

We underclassmen will certainly miss Maurine next year, when she'll be strolling around the corridors of Ferry Hall, a girls' college at Lake Forest, Illinois. She's still undecided as to what course she will study.

Miscellaneous, And Stuff

Maurine has picked "Elizabeth and Essex" as her favorite movie. Her toes start tickling when she hears the music of Glen Miller's famed orchestra. She is another kid who appreciates the blessings of a hamburger (with!) and she rates history as her number 1 subject. And she's every bit as nice as you imagine her!

By now you should be fairly well acquainted with Maurine Leas. The introduction may not be as complete as you might like it, but it should do 'till you meet this popular senior personally!

Here's The News From Month-old Frosh Classmates

Do you freshies know how to dance? If not, then you had better make an appointment for your lesson from the future Eleanor Powell, none other than Phyllis Puff who is capable of giving any type of lessons. Take it from one who knows Phyllis, she is tops in dancing and we probably will see a lot of her this year, and the years to come. Sometime get Phyllis to show you how she does an aerial cartwheel or get her to tap dance for you.

Ah! These math class romances. Elaine Brown just dates on Hugh Ferguson. You better watch out, Hugh; Elaine is a go-getter and she thinks you are just magnificent! Another romance in a math class is between Marilyn Myers and Carl Simmons. Dean White has had his eye on a certain freshman in his algebra class. Spill it, Dean, who is it?

The girls at South Side do not agree with Bill Wissler. He rides his bike over to Central for his pick. We believe that at least our frosh should stay at home! There seems to be a young gentleman in Doris Siple's class who attracts her attention. We don't want to get personal but could it be Gale Schlup?

Phyllis Crumrine, that bright-eyed head, has just finished taking six lessons from Adam Lazonga. Whom is she going to try it out on? Watch out, boys! Charlotte Baker seems to like the freshman boys over at North Side. We wonder who the lucky fellow is. Betty Gibson isn't satisfied with our handsome boys here at South Side. She, too, has gone to Central Catholic for her pick; could it be Bob App?

Mr. Murphy Remembers Willkie As Good Student Willing To Help Others Do Better

Wendell Willkie

Mr. Maurice Murphy

Willkie, the man—we use our own judgment. Willkie, the politician—we read the papers for information. Willkie, the student—we go straight to Mr. Maurice Murphy, South Side's revered history teacher! Yes sir, Mr. Murphy really ought to have the "lowdown" on the presidential candidate for, "I was a classmate of Wendell's way back in our 1911 history class," states the mentor.

Mr. Murphy then went on to tell of Willkie's system, "I don't know how good a president Willkie would make, but I still can remember his outstanding ability in the study of English history. Usually an A+ student, Wendell always kept an outline and was the only member of the class who had a perfect notebook".

Our South Side mentor also had this to say about Willkie's desire to help others.

Mr. Willkie, who sat in back of Mr. Murphy, one day noticed him copying down three-fourths of the comments

Dr. Harding made. After class he told Mr. Murphy and two other students to come to his room after class. He took each man's notebook and discussed the reason and explained how to make a notebook which will be acceptable to Dr. Harding.

Mr. Murphy said that Willkie had always been active in debating and club activities at Indiana. "One of the most noticeable things I observed about this man was his freeness at asking questions. This, he used to say, was the only way to learn".

In 1913 Willkie was graduated with an A.B. degree. Later he returned to complete his law course. Mr. Murphy was enthusiastic over this splendid example of perseverance. In the same year, we learned, both Mr. Willkie and Mr. Murphy voted for Woodrow Wilson. "We were both good Democrats in that year," quoted the instructor. "I will not give any political preference at this time".

Your Poetic Ability

By Delores Daniels

MAKE THE MOST OF

We, the contemporary poets of South Side High School, submit the following contributions to this paper. If you follow this column weekly, you might come across a masterpiece. Who knows, perhaps we have another Milton at South Side. Yes, we do—Milton Haller.

North Side vs. Central
Did ja see the kid
At our stadium
With a papier mache lid?
'N tail like a pendulum,
Let out a cheer
That Central was here?
Tie grrr

School Daze
'Tain't so many,
'Bout hundred-ninety,
'Till vacation—
Oh, contemplation!
Daze-Y

Guy Named Si
Walked to school one day
With a little feller;
Kids all yelled, "Hey, Hey, Who's the guy?" Sez I, "It's Si."
Q-T

Home Work
I can't go out
Unless the work's in;
I can't pass up,
If I don't put it down;
Out, in, up, down,
Can't smile—only frown!
Pess-I-Mist

Emily Post Says
Roses are red,
Violets are blue;
If I had your face,
I'd join the zoo.

Ah! Spinach
I like to listen to all swing bands,
For I'm really a Dorsey fan;
Home work seems to interfere
And I can't hear Glen Miller;
But when Count Basie is on the air,
Then regardless, I don't care—
I listen 'till he has finished.
Just like Popeye—that's my spinach.
Al Schaaf and Bud Brudi

My Diary
I tell you all,
You little old book,
Of whose hand I held
And whose pin I took.

I tell you my secrets,
When I go to bed
And have the covers
Pulled up over my head.

Don't tell a soul,
I trust you so,
From the top of the page
To the bottom so low.

SCHOOL DAYS SPECIALS

Hail, hail, the gang's all in here! What the heck do you care? (I hope). Or should I sing, hay, hay, the gang was all there and I'm referring to a recently staged hay ride. If you were one present, you will remember having seen Kent Lentz escorting Elaine Ferguson! Did you notice his pleased expression? Bob Welty turned the tables on Bob Druhot and took la belle Meyer. But not to be outdone, Druhot showed up in fine spirits with Barbara Cross. What is this, a conspiracy? Also "Casanova" Young gave Jeannie a Ringle on the phone (foul pun) and they proceeded to this spectacular scene of gaiety.

Tsk, tsk, this younger generation! After being in South Side for only four weeks, some of our freshman Brendas and Cobinas have already hooked some men! Nancy Brudi has successfully won the attentions of Lee Loeser. Is this a family tradition or something? It wasn't so long ago that Nancy's cousin Bud was seen often in the company of Alene Loeser! Also Weezie McNabb is making rapid progress in getting Richard King to notice her. P.S. He's already noticed, Weezie!

There's a certain drinking fountain that Bebs Leas is especially fond of drinking from every sixth period. Coincidence: Buck Harrison always shows up at the same place at that same time!

'Tis rumored that Bea O'Brien, the blond beauty and bombshell, would like very much to take Margaret Brower's place in Tiny Altman's life!

Marilyn Sondles took it pretty hard for a while, when her affair with Herbie Kramer became a ruined romance; but now her days are brightened 'cause she's discovered Newell Beaty's hard to beat! We thought that after Joyce Dent and Bob De-metric had become South Siders, they would soon forget their happy days together at Harrison Hill. But no chance, they still think each other's company the best by far.

It's really rare news when you hear about any girl who's enthusiastic about math class! However, there is an occasional case like this, such as that of Joan Hatmen. Every day she hurries into class only to find Jack Sterling waiting there for her! Many fair damsels in our great institution would gladly respond to Jack Vetter's call, but he would be, oh, so happy if only Eileen Eidner were among these worshippers.

It would take too long to elaborate upon all the students included who are unhappy because someone near and dear is furthering his or her education at college. However, I have found an appropriate poem for you Ardent Archers to send to your fans away at school. I hope that you are able to recognize a true piece of poetry when you see it, because this isn't it!

When you are far away, dear—
I promise to be true;
Whenever I'm out with someone else,
I'll always think of you.

Sophomore Serenades

Maybe the moon won't talk but this column certainly will. This week we are devoting most of our time to the love-life of our class officers.

Class Prexy Betty MacKay has finally fallen in love. Although we don't know who this miracle-man is, he certainly must be quite something because he is the first one to have broken down Betty's man-hating ideals. Our tennis-playing secretary-treasurer, Marian Faux, finally, after two weeks of contemplation, jumped the net of timidity and asked "Lefty" Werkman to a weiner-bake. The heart-throb, resisting, woman-hating vice-president of our class, Victor Kaufman, has finally fallen. Mary Current is the li'l gal who deserves credit for this bit of undoing, as it were.

Wonderful what a gal can do—Bill Bone, who used to be about the most timid li'l bunny in South Side, is quite changed. Who caused it?—None other than Mary Ellen Barrett—but who else could have?

All summer long, Connie Harrison and Bud Balser of C. C. hit it off very well. And even now that school has started, it doesn't seem to make a bit of difference that they don't go to the same school. Thank heaven for the week-ends! Another summer romance that has lasted thus far into the school is that of Vera Hammond and Bob Lazoff.

Of course, my dear readers, you all realize that any similarity of persons mentioned in the above column to persons living or dead is purely coincidental.

P.S. Please watch out for funny things happening in class rooms as well as dirt. Inform us by merely dropping a note in the dirt box outside of Room S.

Just Junk For Juniors

This week we turn our spotlight on one of the cutest junior girls, Gene Lou Harges. Gene Lou's favorite orchestra leader is Kay Kyser. Her idea of the best singer on radio is Bea Wain. Gene Lou has a lot of likes and dislikes; among her likes are french fries, sizzling sirloin steak, hot fudge sundaes, and plain colas. Some of her dislikes are fried onions and oysters. Her favorite South Sider is Bud Bornschein. Let's just leave a blank space for the future. Luck be with them!

No one has heard about Romeo and Juliet, Gertrude Irmischer and Walter Clendenen—this year. For the information of the public could someone please give us a little hint on what is going on? We'll let the public know just as soon as we find out!

At the South Side Grill a group of boys revealed the love affair of Bob Worman and a certain Wanda from his physics class. Well, a class may not be so good to promote love, but from the sound of things this affair has the love; all it needs now is a little time. Consequently, time will tell!

If someone could see Dot Gildea and Don Duiser together every Tuesday and Thursday noon, don't be astounded, for this romance is not new. Dot and Don have been going together for nearly a year or more. Dot is saving all her time for Don, so if you see her rushing home from school you'll know she's rushing home to Don.

Next on our debutante No. 1 list we'll name Marjorie Wigbel. Marge has found herself thinking more about a Centraite than about a Caesarite. If only Latin didn't interfere with our love affairs! (There'll just have to be a new ruling.) Good for Central for gaining one of our promising young hearts, though.

Betty Cowan has really fallen in love with crosstown. We can't imagine any more suitable for Betty than this certain "Bud". She also likes the song, "We Three". Could it be because she's also interested in a certain Gus?

Goofy Gallmeyer Is On The Loose Again

Do you see spots of light before your eyes when you look into the sky on a clear night? Do you feel a little dizzy after running up ten flights of stairs on a circular staircase? That's bad. Do you feel a little winded after five fast sets of tennis, or do you scare when rounding a corner on two wheels? You are rundown, your nerves are shot. If it unnerves you to look down the barrel of a loaded gun, you are emotionally unsteady.

No, a doctor can't help you; he would throw up his hands in despair and have you removed to an asylum. You, my friend, need Dr. Slackwit's new and improved Pep Session. Its high garlic content will lighten your troubles in no time at all, and you will feel like new again. Dr. Slackwit has spent years in his laboratory at Michigan City preparing his new and improved remedy and you can rest assured he put it through rigid tests before releasing it to a trusting public. This tonic has a marvelous new ingredient called sulphindollar which peps up the system and soothes tired weary nerves. If your vital fluids do not flow at the rate of one hoghead per hour, you need our new cure-all.

Mr. Ripper Slitgut of Richmond, Indiana, endorses our new product in an unsolicited letter. We quote, "I have used Dr. Slackwit's new remedy for two weeks now and let me tell you its results have been remarkable. I never used to be able to keep from running down to the corner tavern, but since I have taken your remedy I am a new man, I just live there." As you can see, people all over the United States are going wild about our relief-giving liquid. Get yours while the present supply lasts and insist on the one and only Dr. Slackwit's.

Fashion Decrees---

Be outstanding in... a big, splashy reversible made of bold red and blue plaid that fairly knocks your eyes out. It has a detachable hood you can pull over your crowning glory when bad weather threatens. In or out of rain you'll be definitely "in" the fashion picture with this gift to the fashion-wise girls.

... a jumping rope tied around your slim waist pinching for your regular belt, and it's the cutest and most novel pinch-hitter you ever saw. Just wrap it around twice and then tie it in a knot. Sounds simple but the effect is astounding on that old dress which seems touching up.

... an all red outfit. This may sound a bit flashy for some of you more conservative misses but it really is very striking. People will automatically stop and take another look at the little lassie who is so arrestingly attired.

... in the new pompadour hair style. This coiffure is becoming to almost all types of girls and really puts that neat look on your appearance. Most of us are wearing a big bow to match our sweaters at the back of our grandmother's pompadour taken up so joyously by us modern "grandmas." Just try it and be delighted with the results.

We've been advocating with all our power these roughish, boyish casual slippers. Get a nice light one in soft woodland knit style. If you don't think that your strained budget will allow a real English knit, then some of the downtown stores are featuring some imitations that are guaranteed to hold up after a washing.

... a new pencil slim skirt with fullness in the front and absolutely straight in the back. You'll be happy instead of hippy in one of these newer creations.

The Fifth Column---

This week our usually crude (or is that the word) column goes in for the better things of life. What brought about our sudden change of policy? Well, be it here witnessed and attested to, that we are writing this week's contribution subsequent to the acceptance of a straight "S" grade card! As a first indication of our, should-we-say, cultural policy, we begin by tapping the proverbial grapevine with classical music:

The Afternoon of a Faun—He had the seventh period off and sipped a coca cola at the Grill.

Mine Heart at Thy Sweet Voice—Tells me that thou has caught me in the hall without a pink slip.

None But the Lonely Heart—Fails to read the dirt column appearing in The Times each week.

The Bohemian Girl—Had nothing on Barbara Cross, so there!

Siegfried, Cid, Faust, Martha Samson, and Delilah—"Still have book reports out—These are due tonight!"

Talking The Town:

LOCAL: Last week's fire drill was what Mr. Snider and any decent soul would call "languid."

SUBURBAN: We always knew Wildwood Park had an attraction for Mike Beal. Could it be "Ginney", too, by any chance?

LONG DISTANCE: Congratulations to Morgan Harrison, '36. He, by reason of a valuable fellowship, will continue his studies at Chicago University.

PERSON TO PERSON: Don't tell a soul but we just found out that thing in the hall isn't an elevator! (Freshman, you know).

Our neutrality prevents us from mentioning any names but it is rumored that a certain presidential candidate from Indiana, who represents the party in which Abe Lincoln was once active, has cancelled all plans for his proposed visit to Indiana's second largest city.

Scholars But Swell Kids At The Same Time, Our Seniors

Lois Likins is shunning all the personality men in our midst for a mysterious "Ned" who resides in Columbus, Ohio. Here's hoping the mail isn't censored on account of the war; there might be a little propaganda therein.

Congratulations to Ginny Wilson and Whitie Dager on their seventh anniversary (week) of steady life. These Dager boys must have some kind of unusual appeal to get the pick of the senior class every year! Some of the old twosomes have been hiding behind the door when the notoriety was handed out: Hines and Leas, Hauck and Jamieson, Sanford and Winters, Bowlby and O'Brien, etc., for instance.

Jim Brooks is thinking seriously of turning chemist and inventing some kind of solution that will evaporate Joel Salon. Is he offering "a little" interference with Sheldon, Jim? Wonder of all wonders! Helen Ninde and Pert Lyman are taking a step in the right direction. They're not Totemizing; they're just compromising. Another astounding bit of news is this little rendezvous between Eileen Eidner and Harold Kitzmiller. Surprising? Yea, but pleasing. It was the general conclusion of the public that Bon Yaeger was going to become a she-hermit, but it appears that a football player better known as Chick Shimer is pinch hitting for Willie Peters.

From IB's To Senior Archers Is Jump Made By Earl Sterner

Editor's note: This is the third of a series of features on teachers written for The Times by Mary Ellen Barrett, feature editor.

"Et tu, Brute", "Repetitio est mater studiorum", and many other well-known Latin quotations may be heard flowing from the mouth of that well-known Latin instructor, Mr. Earl Sterner, of Room 28.

Mr. Sterner was born and reared in Newton County, near Brook, Indiana. He attended high school and grade school in Brook. As you all guessed, his favorite subjects in school were Latin and English. A certain girl and Mr. Sterner tried to outdo each other for the highest grades; later this same girl became his sister-in-law. Mr. Sterner remarked that all through his schooling there was one teacher he will always remember, Mrs. Daisy Downey, Latin instructor at the Brook High School. While in school, Mr. Sterner was a member of a mixed quartet which sang at many social functions in Newton County. During the summer, he worked on his father's farm.

In 1919 he entered Indiana University, next studied at Purdue and Columbia Universities and then was graduated from Indiana U. in 1924, with his Bachelor of Arts degree. He has one more course to complete at Indiana in order to receive his Master of Arts degree. He also served one year in the United States Navy. When asked about his teaching career, he answered, "Well, I started out in a one-room rural school teaching seven grades, with thirty-seven pupils, five of whom were 1B students. Can you imagine me teaching those little tykes how to read and write?" he laughingly remarked. He taught English and Latin in several small high schools in Indiana. Then in 1929 he came to Fort Wayne and has taught at South Side ever since.

Earl Sterner

For the past five or six summers he has been counselor at the Crosley Camp at Muncie.

Besides Mrs. Sterner, there are Jacqueline Ann, aged 12, seventh grade student at Harrison Hill, and little Dan, second grade at Harrison. Oh yes, "Josie" the dog, the love of the family. Mr. Sterner delights in eating devil's food cake with chocolate icing and taking long walks in the woods.

In the cinema world, he votes for "Elizabeth and Essex" as the best movie he has ever seen, and lists Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy along with Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney as his favorite stars.

You may see Mr. Sterner with his family any Sunday in their Merry Oldsmobile touring the countryside. A final hint to his students (quoting Mr. Sterner): I dislike gum chewers in class, but I think there is a time and place for chewing gum. Unquote.

Tom Yates Enjoys Finding What Makes Automobiles Click

One thing everyone should have. That one thing is a hobby. Thomas Yates, 9A, has an unusual hobby, that of obtaining information, collecting pictures, delving into all the working of the automobile industry. In an interview with Tom, he told about his collection of pamphlets containing information on the production of automobiles from the moment they are scrap metal to the time when they are produced into beautiful cars.

All around Tom's room there are pictures of cars. All you can see are cars, cars, and we believe there is even one more car. They are so many, they take the place of wallpaper.

Recently, Tom sent to the Nash Company for specific information about the new car they were producing. So now in case you want to know something about the new Nash, just ask Tom. Tom also writes to General Motors for certain details about cars.

Every year the auto dealers around Fort Wayne see a boy come in and look at the cars over. In case you haven't guessed, yes, it's Tom. When these new cars come out each year, Tom always goes around to each showroom and looks them over from front to back. Talk about research! Well, there it is in the finest form.

Jack Snyder, now in Riley Hospital at Indianapolis, sent a card to his Home Room S. Miss Osborne, Mr. Walker, and Mr. Flint have charge of this home room.

Miss Hemmer has given true and false completion tests to her sophomore English classes.

In Miss Kiefer's English 2 classes, Theodora Stephens and Marilyn Foote have made the highest averages this semester.

Mary Lybrook and Betty Elbersson, Shortland 3 students, gave a speed demonstration to Mr. Murch's Shortland 1 classes.

In Mr. Walker's business organization classes problems of starting a new business are being studied.

In Miss Perkins' French 4, period 1 class, the following students received grades above 90 on an idiom test given over the first seven lessons of Sans Famille: Dorothy Koomjohn, Berdine Lochner, and Roberta Steck.

Elaine Helms, who is a sewing 2, period 2 student of Miss Rehorst, finished a brown wool circular skirt in eight hours.

Bob Druhot was elected chairman of Miss Hemmer's Home Room 25.

Mary Bowlby, June Flaig, and Katherine Kuntz received grades above 90 in a test over relative pronouns given by Miss Perkins to her French 3, period 2 class.

Miss Mellen's home nursing classes are now learning how to make beds according to the hospital method.

Barbara Hadley was elected president of Miss Rinehart's Home Room 66. Other officers are vice-president and program chairman, Ruth Hageman; secretary-treasurer, Rosa Lee Hall; educational program chairman, Natalie Hoppe; social program chairman, Mary Ellen Barrett; pre-vocational program chairman, Mark Hoover; safety program chairman, Ruth Ann Gumpfer; and scholarship program chairman, Ellen Harry.

Frank DuWaldt and Earl Sweeney have made all A's in Drawing 5 classes of Mr. Bex. The following boys have made A's and B's: Eugene Backofen, Bob Foraker, Norman Karbach, Robert McMahon, Duane Shilder, Ralph Vetter, Robert Buschman, Eugene Reichart, Don Trott, and Howard Tyndall.

Marjorie Sullivan of Mrs. Welty's Home Room 34 read a poem in honor of Columbus Day last week.

During the past week two pupils have won typing awards in Mr. Post's Typing 2 classes. Margaret Kutsch won a white ribbon award for writing 43.7 words per minute with three errors. Dale Amstutz also won a white ribbon for writing 41.0 words per minute for ten minutes with three errors.

Art, Essay Topics Of National Youth Forum Announced

"To help young men and women to live purposefully and successfully in the world ferment and to discover for themselves the permanent and great good inherent in American democracy," was recently announced by the American Youth Forum as the purpose of its fourth annual contest. The Youth Forum is sponsored by the American Magazine.

Every undergraduate student under 21 years of age who is regularly enrolled in a junior or senior high school is eligible. Students may enter either the article or art division. The subject for articles is "What Americanism Means To Me," and for art work is "What My Community Contributes to the Nation." The awards for both first place entries will be $1,000, and a trip to New York for the winners and their principal or teacher sponsors.

The judges have been announced by the Forum and will be people competent in their line. The competition will not close until midnight March 28, 1941. Further information may be obtained in the office.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

On Mr. Collier's General History 1 test Philip Allen, Franklin Neff, Betty MacKay, Beverly Sprunger, Kenneth Breimeier, and Marcia Adler made a grade of A.

Miss Mellen's Home Room 77 has elected officers for this semester. They are as follows: Bob Gildea, chairman; Jean Fisher, vice-chairman; and Ray Fish, secretary-treasurer.

Barrie Tremper, an English 6 student of Miss Pocock, gave a good report on the life of H. G. Wells. Max Atkins of the same class, reported on Ray Stanard Baker, whose pen name is David Grayson.

Miss Pocock's English 6 class finished the short story section in their text. The best grades on a test over this were made by Joan Cartwright, Joan Cox, Dorothy Gildea, Coleen Glemzer, Kathryn Guild, Jean Harges, Elaine Polman, Phyllis Rolf, Dolores Selby, Richard Smith, Arlene Snyder, Margaret Tenhaeff, Barrie Tremper, and Carol Whittier.

The officers of Miss Hutto's 11B class are Warren Cook, chairman; Joan Druot, vice-chairman; Bernita Eggers, secretary. Marilyn Dennis was elected program chairman.

Margaret Brower has designed and is painting a mural representing All-American life. She is assisted by Lester Oppenlander, who is using the air brush; and Herbert Schmoee, who is doing the lettering.

Mr. Hull's physics classes are making mercury barometers.

Harry Feaser, English 6, period 4 student of Miss Pocock, made an A on the two last outside reports.

Girls in the dancing classes of Miss Smith and Miss Jean are taking turns teaching modern rhythms.

Program committee for Mrs. Welty's Home Room 34 consists of Mae Ann Clark, chairman; Opal Springer, Joan Spore, Joan Strahlem, and Marjorie Sullivan. They are planning programs for Halloween, Education Week in November, and Thanksgiving.

Marcia Adler and Lester Julian made an A on a recent test over the first two acts of Merchant of Venice. They are English 3 students of Miss Pocock.

For Miss Mary Crowe's U. S. history classes recently, Jack Vetter loaned a portable victrola, Caroline Lichtenberg brought her record of "A Ballad for Americans" sung by Paul Robeson, and Emalyn Remmel brought records of Abraham Lincoln in Illinois with Raymond Massey as Lincoln. All were very much appreciated by the students.

On a recent sociology test by Mr. Peire the following received the highest grades: Doris Bolinger, Bill Cragg, Jack Dunifon, Rozella Foutz, Madeleine Howell, and Larry Phipps.

Jeanet Whetsel, Walter Turner, and Stanley Trier scored in the highest grades. Doris Bolinger, Bill Cragg, Jack Dunifon, Rozella Foutz, Madeleine Howell, and Larry Phipps.

Miss Demaree's English 7 classes are studying Chaucer's Canterbury Tales.

Helen Forst and Herbert Grosvenor are the new members of Mr. Maurice Murphy's home room 110. Helen came from Huntington and Herbert lived in Kendallville.

In Mr. Makey's English 7 classes, Rose Redinger and Fred Schrier tied for the highest grade on a literature test. Bill Dreyer, English 6 student of Mr. Makey, made the best grade on a recent contemporary English test.

June DeWood and Lois Lenz made the highest scores on a test given by Miss Fiedler. Later on another test, June DeWood and Tom Rehner were the high scorers in period 3; and Marjorie Ballier, Ruth Gold, and Joyce Dent scored the highest in period 4.

Those who made perfect scores on two tests given by Miss Fiedler are Donald Meyer, Harold Hollenberg, Clifford Matson, Safford McVeyler, an Freeman, and Sarah Jane Makey.

Meet Joyce Reed, Versatile Senior A, World Event Expert

Probably the best informed student on world affairs at South Side is Joyce Reed, a senior A, whose hobby is that of following the daily course of world events. Joyce is taking a course at Indiana Extension on world affairs under Dr. Cordier of Manchester College. Joyce specializes on European affairs and recently on the Near East question.

This versatile young lady also is interested in writing and reading poems. Upon graduating from South Side, Joyce plans to attend Manchester College where she will take a course in general writing.

Someday we may hear much of this ambitious senior and read many of her short stories and poems, and we will be proud to say that we knew her "way back when."

Mr. Walker's marketing classes are studying general principles of buying.

Miss Smith's Home Room 138 have elected the following class officers: Chairman, James Strawbridge. His committee consists of the following: Theda Tyndall, Genouse Babcock, Jack Vetter, Jack Stine, Ann Stephans, and Betty Stump.

The pupils of Mrs. Rieke's speech classes have been giving speeches on interesting experiences of their lives. Special emphasis was laid on the following points: addressing the chairman, the way the students stood, their position on the platform, their use of notes, and looking at the audience. Some of the best speeches were given by Lois Bloemker, Marjorie Jean Smith, Carolyn Snoke, Clifford Springer, Mary Ellen Barrett, Dick Dreyer, Lois Gumpfer, Elaine Hirschev, Carol Whittier, Bob Allen, Pat Sanford, Mary Nell Spiegel, and John Warner.

Barbara Brower, a Sewing 2, period 2 student of Miss Rehorst, is the first one to complete her work on a garment. Barbara made a brown wool skirt in seven hours.

Elsie Korte of Miss Pocock's Home Room 30 discussed "nevers" which a high school student should observe in the home room period. Joan Lee recently discussed scholarships.

In Mr. Cook's English 2, period 6 class, Keith Blauvelt, Charlotte Bohler, and James Miller, led the class on a recent punctuation test. Dorothy Meyer and Doris Wullman were close behind.

Mr. Plasket's period 1 students are selecting their modern furniture projects for this term. The projects which have been made are bedside tables, coffee stands, and telephone stands.

In a test given by Mr. Sidell to his Physics 1 class, Ruth Werkmann made a perfect score. Margaret Heine and Dick Kilpatrick were next, each scoring 95.

Joe Barbieri was chosen as president of Home Room 24 in their recent election. The class selected Evelyn Arnold as vice-president, and Camille Applegate as secretary-treasurer.

New officers of Home Room '52 for this semester are Bill Schlose, chairman, and Jeanne Seidel, secretary.

The highest grades received on a test over fundamental economic terms, given by Mr. Maurice Murphy, were made by Kathryn Beckman, Marcelle Driftmeyer, Miriam Jackson, Joyce Reed, Shirley White, and Gloria Wiebe.

Martin Gernand made a report on "Guilds" to Miss Demaree's English 7 class.

Two Archers Bold Find Their Waterloo On Bicycle Journey

Due to lack of excitement and thrills in our metropolis, Bob Wade and Bob Quinn took a joy ride on their bicycles this summer. They started from home about 4 o'clock one afternoon and decided to make Waterloo, Indiana, their destination. The two reached as far as Garrett that evening where they put up their tent and camped for the night.

The next morning, just a little past dawn, our two energetic campers again hit the open road. They went through Auburn about 10 o'clock that same morning. Then about 10:45 o'clock they finally met their Waterloo! Here they ate their lunch and stayed just long enough to see the town. Then with knapsacks and all their camping gear, they started on their bikes, they wended their way homeward at 11:30 o'clock.

At 2 o'clock, both the bikers, happy but exhausted, arrived at Fort Wayne. A bicycle is an excellent way to let off excess steam and enthusiasm during a dull summer, say these boys, so if any of you students like to hike all day and avoid mosquitoes all night, you'll enjoy a bicycle and camping expedition.

Miss Susen Peck Positively Doesn't Peck Puzzling Pupils

Editor's note: This is the second of a series of features on teachers written for The Times by Mary Ellen Barrett, feature editor.

Blackford County, Indiana, although a small community, made a great contribution to South Side High School in the person of Miss Susen K. Peck, English instructor. Miss Peck attended the Eaton School for all twelve years since they were both in one building.

While in school her favorite subjects were English, strange to say, and history. In high school she was extremely interested in dramatics and took part in many school plays. Miss Peck had only one pet peeve when she was in school, that was because in their community the people did not approve of dancing; therefore, they were not permitted to hold dances, much to Miss Peck's disgust.

She attended Miami University for one year, another year at Indiana University, and then completed her course at Ball State Teachers' College for her Bachelor of Arts degree.

With Mr. Snider, Mr. Makey Her first teaching position was instructing English in the Eaton High School, her old home town. Among her fellow teachers at Eaton were Mr. R. Nelson Snider, South Side principal, and Mr. Herman Makey, English instructor at South Side. She spent two years at Eaton, then went west to Oklahoma to teach for three years. She then came to Fort Wayne and taught the sixth grade at James Smart School for one semester when she was transferred to teach English at South Side.

Scrapbooks Provide Interesting Pastime For Kelly Freshman

"The most interesting of my scrapbooks are the ones concerning the flood of 1937 and South Side basketball," said June DeWood, 9B, when she was asked about her hobby which is making scrapbooks.

June collects pictures and interesting articles on the various subjects about which she chooses to make scrapbooks. Some of the scrapbooks which she has already made are on Safety, Home Economics, and her trip through the east. In the one about her trip, June has postcards and snapshots which she took.

"I am also very much interested in playing classical music on the piano," June continues, "I have been taking piano lessons from Mrs. William Miller since I was six years old."

Archers Flag Down Railmen To 32-0 Stop

Hang Up Red Light In First Three Quarters; Giftmen Good In All Departments

Recording their third successive victory under Wayne Gift's tutelage, the South Side Archers decisively throttled a mediocre Garrett team, 32-0, last Saturday at the B. & O. tower. The powerful Giftmen tallied twice in the first quarter, once in the second, and twice in the third. Garrett's Railroaders threatened the Archer goal on two occasions; however, the Green forward wall proved too much for the light Garrett halfbacks. As the result of a kick blocked by fullback Chuck Close, the Archers received their first scoring break. After Bill Siebold recovered the blocked pigskin, the Green machine rolled to a score in three quick thrusts. Bob Englehart picked up 8 yards over left tackle; Chuck Close plunged through the center for 7 yards, and then the big fullback again broke 6 yards over center for the score. Jim Straley's attempt at conversion was wide of the posts.

Score Soon Again

The Archers had another chance a few moments later. Chuck Close, playing a brilliant game, snatched a wayward Garrett pass from the air at midfield, but the Green grid machine failed to gain through the Railroaders' inner wall. After Chick Shimer kicked out of danger to the Garrett 5, the Railroaders kicked back from their trouble zone to their own 30. In three plays the Giftmen had another score. Bob Englehart circled the right end to the 15-yard stripe, and then Chick Shimer cut off tackle to the 7-yard stripe. Englehart cut around the left tackle for the necessary 7 yards and the second Kelly tally. Bob's drop kick for the extra point was blown wide of the goals.

Drive 70 Yards To Score

In the second quarter the South Siders drove 70 yards for their third touchdown. After Close and Shimer plunged the ball through to the Garrett 40-yard line, Bob Englehart cut off tackle for a great run of 30 yards. Chick Shimer, receiving a lateral from Close, skirted the left end of Garrett for the score. Quarterback Straley made successful his second playstick. The Archers again began to roll in the second half of the tilt. Coach Gift's charger returned the kickoff to the Garrett 40-yard stripe. Chick Shimer gained 12 yards through center, and Chuck Close plunged straight through the Garrett line for 16 yards, and then Chuck Close scored on a 2-yard plunge. Jim Straley converted his second extra goal.

Score On Pass

The second third-period tally resulted from a perfectly executed pass play. With the ball resting on the Garrett 30-yard line, Chick Shimer rifled a 15-yard pass to Bill Siebold. Bob Englehart cut off tackle for 16 yards, and then Chuck Close scored on a 2-yard plunge. Jim Straley converted his second extra goal. Garrett's only real threat came in the final minutes. Roger Neighborgall, Garrett's fleet back, had carried the ball to the 2-yard stripe; however, the time run barked before the Railroaders could advance the ball. The Green Archers looked very good on both offense and defense, while the Parkermen displayed a mediocre defensive and a sporty ground and aerial game.

Victory No. 4 Seen As Likely By Fans In Saturday Fray

According to the rabid football rooters of South Side, the Archers are sure to defeat the Irish on Saturday. Most of the opinions of the Archers reveal that the result should not be in doubt; however, several conservative fans give the Levickimen a good chance of threatening the Green and White.

The questions asked for this issue, unlike those of the past, are taken directly from the football field; in fact, those quizzed were busily engaged in watching Coach Gift send his Archers through practice drills. The question, "How will the Archers fare against the Irish?" was answered in the following ways:

Tom Brower: I think the Archers will win by three touchdowns. Maybe more!

Carl Ortstadt: It's a pushover for the Green and White.

Bob Holzwirth: We'll win, but not without a good fight.

Pat Racht: With our fine team and coach, how can we lose?

Ann Pontius: South Side will mow 'em under.

Shirley Rogers: With Worman in there, we can't lose. The game will be close; however, we should win easily in the last half.

Dick Morton: I certainly can't see how C. C. could beat us.

Lloyd Doehman: It's in the bag.

If the comments run true to form, the Green and White should have victory No. 4 by Saturday night.

College All-Stars Show Archers How Their Team Plays Football

Two of football's All-Americans of 1938, Don Heap and Bob Voights, gave the students of South Side their first taste of college football practices. The two all-star mentors brought their Illinois Wesleyan eleven to the southern stadium for a short limbering-up drill on last Friday afternoon. With the Wildcats scheduled to meet the strong Akron University squad on last Saturday the South Side officials gladly permitted the visitors to work out in the stadium. Although the practice session lasted only fifty minutes, the Wesleyan squad had ample chance to go through running, passing, and punting formations.

Bob Voights

Coaches Heap and Voights, pictured above, both starred for Northwestern University in 1938; they were both named to the College All-Stars in 1939. Don Heap was formerly the triple-threat halfback on Coach Lynn Waldorf's Northwestern eleven, while Bob Voights "carried" the Wildcat line with his fine tackling work. Although both coaches are relatively new at the tutoring game, they professed great satisfaction in their progress thus far. Illinois Wesleyan's athletic teams, dulle in the past because of the lack of good coaching, should be winning consistently, under two new coaches so well drilled in fundamentals of sport competition. Before going to Akron last week-end, the Wildcats had chalked up successive wins over Illinois College and Carroll College of Wisconsin. The Wesleyan team, which comes from Bloomington, Illinois, is noted for its "rambling" football schedule; that is, the Illinois squad plays its games anywhere in the country. In the near future the squad will engage many of the "smaller might" of the gridiron, meeting Pensacola College in Pensacola, Florida; Louisiana Technical College at Bloomington; Bradley Tech at Bloomington; Milligan University at Granville, Ohio; and Illinois State Normal at Peoria, Illinois. With such an imposing array of tilts yet to be played, the one thousand students of Illinois Wesleyan should have an ample chance to see their two new coaches match wits with some of the nation's classiest elevens. (Incidentally, Illinois Wesleyan defeated Akron last Saturday, 16-6).

Intramural Sportlights

Cross country practice is in its final stages, as the distance runners will begin their crown competition next Monday. Mr. Louie Briner, our mural mentor, announced early this week. With a total of forty-nine boys on the participation sheet, it may easily be seen that a hard-fought tourney lies ahead. Some of the boys who look good are Howard Bolyard, Jack McNeal, and Don Stroebel.

Blasting their way through the first and second defenses of the tagball tourney, the Nine Old Pals are proving themselves true to the form they had when they annexed the heavyweight tagball crown last year. Defending the crown, they handed the Nine Hares a 7-to-0 defeat. Harry Hines and Dal Zuber proved to be the scoring duet, with Zuber receiving the scoring pass in the end zone and then snagging another fling from Hines to chalk up the seventh point for the Nine Old Pals. Close upon this team's heels are the Blitzkriegers, a powerful team which have been rolling over their opposition. The scrap to watch will be when the NOP's meet the Blitzkriegers.

Intramural horseshoe is fast drawing to a close with the fourth round of the tourney about to be concluded. The heavyweight division is dominated by four boys, Thompson, Jordan, Trot, and Haines. Hirschy is the best bet to take the middleweight class crown, and Fortress probably will annex the lightweight title.

The initial meeting of the intramural golf enthusiasts was held last Friday after school in the intramural office. It was decided that eighteen holes should be played at the Foster Park Municipal Golf Course. The score cards must be turned in by next Monday at 3:30 o'clock. The seventeen entries so far in the intramural golf tourney have surpassed all previous participation records. The boys will play in threesomes in order to counter-check each other's scores. The boys taking part will be divided into two divisions—130 pounds, over, and under.

The participation sheet lists the following boys as having signed for golf: Ed Wade, Tom Reher, Bob Haines, Ken Iba, Bob Shannon, Earl Cheeves, Porter Myers, Frank Carlo, Richard Hirschy, Dan Rhodes, C. Schurenberg, Jim Kocks, John Kocks, Tom Parkinson, Henry Schaaf, and Jim Steiner.

Indianapolis Foes On Red, Blue Card

North Side To Battle Cathedral There While Tigers Take On Shortridge Here At Night

While South Side and Central Catholic are opening the Archers' title quest on Saturday, the other city powers have tough assignments in facing two Indianapolis schools.

Both the Redskins and Tigers are to play their southern foes on Friday night; the North Side gridders will meet the strong Indianapolis Cathedral team under the arcs at that city, while the Blue Tigers will play host to the Indianapolis Shortridge squad under the South Side mazes.

Shortridge Is Powerful

After turning in an impressive 33-to-12 victory over a good Auburn team, the big Central Tigers feel confident of turning back the Shortridge machine. In preparing for the southern powerhouse, the Bengals are being drilled especially on pass defense and offensive passing plays. The Shortridge team has lost only one game this year, losing to the Indianapolis Cathedral eleven.

In addition to this tough game tomorrow evening, the Mendenhallmen will play two good teams on successive nights next week. On Tuesday evening, the Blue gridders entertain the Columbia City team; while on Wednesday, the down-town gridders move to Huntington to meet the scrappy Vikings. The Tigers, playing three games in five days, will have to be playing consistently well on offensive and defensive to register three victories; however, Coach Murray Mendenhall has expressed the belief that his squad will be more than ready to handle any of the threats of the tough opponents.

Cathedral Downed Elwood

Coach Bob Nulf, again holding the reins of a championship eleven, is drilling his rampaging Reds for the perennially tough Cathedral of Indianapolis gridders. While the North Siders were drubbing the highly touted Whiting team last Friday night, the Cathedral squad was also running wild over a stubborn Elwood team, 27-0.

North Side definitely should be accorded the edge in offensive ground and aerial work, but the Cathedral line should outweight and outclass the Red forward defense. With Cowan and Young again carrying the mail, the big Indians should register their fourth consecutive win.

Lettergirls Attend Playday At CHS

Seventeen South Side Girls Are Present At Sports Gathering; Potluck Supper Is Served

Lettergirls from all four high schools of the city attended the playday at Central last Friday. Betty Mathews, president of Central G.A.A., was in charge. Games, dancing, and a pot-luck supper offered entertainment.

Six sports were offered and after being divided into groups of twenty, the girls advanced from one to another when the whistle was blown. The games were baseball, basketball, volleyball, badminton, ping-pong, and shuffleboard. The pot-luck supper was held in the cafeteria after which dancing was enjoyed.

Kelly Kounters

South Side's Archers gained over 200 yards against the Railroaders, indicating that the Green gridders are finally beginning to launch their ground attack. The Garrett squad, as the figures indicate, looked weak on the ground and in the air. Below the Archers-Railroaders summary are the complete figures on the first three games.

	South Side	Garrett
First downs—first half	8	3
First downs—second half	9	5
Yards gained rushing—first half	147	40
Yards gained rushing—second half	77	81

Central Catholic Defeats Decatur

Burns, Krouse, LaMaster, Dehner Register Touchdowns As Irish Win Easily By 27-16

Central Catholic's fighting Irish, warming up for their final city series test against the South Side Archers, defeated a mediocre Decatur team 27 to 16. The result was never in doubt, as the Irish completely outplayed the visiting Yellow Jackets both on offense and defense. Central Catholic's touchdowns were scored in every period with the exception of the first; the Irish tallied once in the second quarter, twice in the third quarter, and once in the final period.

Central Catholic's first touchdown was registered in the second quarter by Burns, right halfback, who drove over tackle from the Yellow Jackets' 14-yard line. Krouse failed to convert the extra point.

Two more touchdowns were made in the third by a 64-yard run by left halfback Krouse and by Dehner's plunging. Walker converted both placements. The other Irish tally was made by LaMaster, a reserve halfback, who crashed over the 1-yard stripe after a beautiful 55-yard run by Huttlinger. Walker converted the extra point. Decatur's lone tally came in the first half when Johnson threw a 15-yard pass to Lynch, who ran 10 yards to score. Johnson failed to convert.

Girls' Sportsettes

Attention, GAA'ers! Don't forget to come to the Halloween party in Room 170 tomorrow at 7:30 o'clock.

The Senior 1 and Junior 1 teams surely made their game a pushover. The results were—the Senior 1's were not there.

Compliments go to the freshmen for picking up and understanding speedball in such a short time.

Friday night all of the games played in hockey were ties. The first game was a default. The second game was between the Senior 2 and Soph 3. Fisher and Volz scored for team 3, and Wylie scored for the Senior 2 team. The final score was 2 and 2. The third game was played between the Soph 1 and the Junior 2 teams. The final score was 1 and 1. The only scorers were Spore and Ernst. The fourth and last game of the evening was fought out by the Soph 2 and Soph 4 teams. The score ended at 1 and 1. Marian Faux was the scorer for Soph 4 and Gloria Hardendorf for Soph 2.

Now that the tennis tournament is completed, we can look forward to the other sports, such as basketball. Basketball seems to still rank No. 1 with the girls. In about every gym class before time to play speedball, they are found practicing their shooting ability. Some can hit the basket, too.

Blitzkrieg Scuttles Bulldogs 13 to 0

Nine Old Pals, Tagball Defending Champs, Trim Hares, 7-0; Dogpatters Down The Nuts

Tagball is now flourishing in the intramural department since the tang of fall and the football season is now underway. In the heavyweight division the Blitzkriegers dropped the Bulldogs by a score of 13 to 0. The Blitzkriegers scored their first touchdown in the first quarter on a pass from Ed Welch into the arms of Dick Forbing. The touchdown play was set up by a sleeper pass from the team's passer, Ed Welch, to the outstretched hand of Jack McNeal. The try for extra point failed, and the Bulldogs took the ball on the kickoff, but were unable to do anything with it.

The score remained 6 to 0 until the fourth quarter when McNeal got loose for a nice jaunt around end to take the ball deep into Bulldog territory. Again the passing combination of Welch to Forbing clicked, and Forbing went over for another 6 points. The extra point was good.

The defending champions and one of the favorites to repeat, the Nine Old Pals, defeated, in a hard-fought battle, the Nine Hares by a score of 7 to 0.

The first quarter was deadlocked at 0 to 0, but in the second period the Pals broke the Hares' tight defense, and Zuber pulled down the pigskin in the end zone for the one and only score of the game. Hines tossed the ball to Zuber for the extra point.

In the middleweight division, the Super Prunes won an exciting and close game from the Easy Aces by a score of 8 to 6. Paul Wutke scored a touchdown in the first quarter to lead the Super Prunes' attack. Later in the game the Prunes caught the Aces behind their goal, scoring a safety for an additional two points. With the score 8 to 0 and with but seconds to play, the Easy Aces pegged one over the goal line for their only score.

In the lightweight division the Dogpatters romped over the Mixed Nuts 38 to 0.

Archers Are To Play First City Series Game This Saturday

Battle To Be With Central Catholic Irish

Kellies Have Advantage In Football Tilt On Home Gridiron With Weak Foe

South Side will begin its campaign for the football championship of the city series next Saturday afternoon when they engage the Irish of Central Catholic on the South Side field at 2 o'clock. This will be the fourth victory attempt for the Archers.

The Irish school this season has shown that it has its strongest team in many years, but because of battles with superior teams has not been able to reveal its improvement. It does have the advantage over South Side by having played one more game, and two of those played were with Central and North Side. These tilts should have given them valuable experience and toughened them. So far this season the Purple and Gold squad has lost to North Side and Central, won from Howe Military Academy, and defeated De la Salle.

The backfield is considerably lighter than the Archers, which is a disadvantage to South Side.

Although the Irish have Krouse, a junior with lots of experience who can pass, run, and kick, and Dehner and Burns, who also have gained much valuable experience in their play this year and last, the Archer backfield should still have a huge advantage because of the weight and speed of its fullback, Chuck Close, the defensive play of Bob Englehart, the quarterbacking of Straley and the passing, punting, and kicking halfback, Ralph Shimer.

The Central Catholic line is about the same average as the Archers' but the swiftness of the Archer forward wall should prove a powerful factor in favor of South Side. Thus having the edge on the line and backfield, the Kelly Klads should come through with the fourth victory of the 1940 season and strengthen itself for the North Side meet the week following.

The probable starting lineups are as follows:

Central Catholic	South Side
Siebold	Left End
Dixon	Left Tackle
Giringer	Center
Birkenbeul	Right Guard
Loos	Right Tackle
Woyan	Right End
Straley	Quarterback
Englehart	Right Halfback
Close	Fullback
	Burns

Showing a varied offense and a rugged defense, the Central Tigers scored a decisive victory over the Auburn Red Devils last Friday night at the South Side stadium, with the scoreboard reading 33 to 12.

Early in the first quarter the Tigers roared their defiance, when Johnny Leon, Central's husky fullback, plunged over the goal from the 2-yard stripe for the first touchdown of the game; from then until the final gun the Tiger squad had many opportunities. Seconds later Sitko, Central's fleet halfback, dashed a thrilling 55 yards for the second touchdown of the Blue and White.

The kick for the extra point was slightly low.

In the second quarter the Red Devils gained their first touchdown, when on the kickoff, Broderick received the ball on his own 25 and dodged 75 yards down the field for the most exciting run of the evening. The try for the extra point failed. A few minutes later Coach Murray Mendenhall substituted his second string for the regulars, and the Blue and White added another seven points to the score, when Lochner successfully passed to Wilken over the line. Lochner's kick for the extra point was blocked, but Gator recovered the ball and carried it over the line.

Early in the third period Auburn steadily advanced to the Tiger 1-yard line, but lost the ball on downs. As a safety measure Central kicked; and Broderick, the spectacular halfback of the Red Devils, took the ball on his own 20 and brought it deep into Central territory before he was stopped. On the next play Broderick threw a short pass to Phister, who was stopped within 2 yards of scoring, but immediately Auburn went into action and gained their second touchdown when Foults, the rugged Red Devil fullback, plunged over the line. McDarby's kick for the extra point was blocked, and Central led 20-12 at the end of the third quarter.

At the start of the last quarter the starting lineup for the Blue and White returned to the field and scored two more touchdowns, both by Johnny Leon, and in both instances on passes from Red Sitko. Only one point was scored after a touchdown, and this was made by Red Sitko, who carried the ball around the right end.

North Side Scores 25-6 Over Whiting

Victory Over Oilmen Puts Northern In Top Bracket Of Indiana High School Football

Displaying power plus on offensive and defensive formations, the big North Side Redskins swept over a highly touted Whiting eleven, 25 to 6, last Friday night at the North Side field. This victory placed the Northerners in the top bracket of Indiana football. Although the Oilers had won decisive victories over four of the state's toughest schools, the powerful Redskins had little trouble in penetrating the Whiting inner guard. After Assistant Coach George Nulf of North Side had spent several weeks in scouting the Calumet squad, the North Siders were more than prepared to meet any threat of the invading Oilmen.

Early in the game a poor Whiting punt gave the North Siders the ball on their opponents' 45-yard stripe. With a pass and running attack featured by seniors Young and Cowan, the big Red eleven drove to the Whiting 5-yard marker. Bob Young, cutting toward the right end and then slicing through right tackle, scored from this point. Cowan converted the extra point. Soon after the North Siders called their first score, the Oilers marched from their own 34 to the North Side goal. After plunging the ball through to pay dirt, the big Oiler team failed to convert the extra marker. Late in the first period the Redskins surged into a seven-point lead, as the result of several good passes and a brilliant 40-yard run by Bob Cowan. With only seconds remaining in the second quarter the powerhouse Northerners scored their third touchdown. After recovering a Whiting fumble at midfield, the Reds drove to their opponents' 20-yard line. Bob Young rifled a long pass into the end zone to husky Kay Short, giving the Redskins a 19 to 6 half-time lead.

In the second half, the Redskins and Oilers fought on even grounds; however, the locals notched the only second half score in the fourth period. While the two varsities battled to a stalemate in the third quarter, the seconds took charge in the fourth. The fourth quarter score came as a result of Bob Young's end run, which climaxed a long rushing advance by the Nulfmen. During the final minutes of the last quarter, the North Side and Whiting reserves exchanged punts and drives with little gain.

Whiting's big team definitely looked to be capable of giving the Nulf-coached North Siders a thorough going over; however, the Fort Wayne Gridders completely outplayed their Calumet opponents. In the air, on the ground, and on the defensive the scrappy North Siders looked much better than their heavy foes.

GAA Speedball Season Is Opened On Monday

The first game in speedball Monday evening was between Phyllis Jackson's squad and Patty Hocker's. Phyllis's team proved its superiority over Patty's in the first half by leading 9 to 0. In the second half Jackson's squad turned on the steam and ended the game 13 to 3. Betty and Dent were the only ones to score field goals.

The second game was a battle between Doris Pape's team and Martha Dirmeyer's teams. At the half Martha's squad led Doris' team, 2 to 1. Ruthetta Firse was the star on Doris' team. Ruthetta made a good share of the points and did most of the scrambling for the ball. The final score was 12 to 5. Doris' team was victorious.

This Is Archers' First City Series Foe

Above is pictured the Central Catholic High School football team which South Side will battle Saturday afternoon in the Archer stadium. They are from left to right: Front row—Jim Poitras, Jerry Putnam, Tony Offerle, Fred Beckman, Captain Johnny Mahor, Jim Sternberger, Phil Derloshon, Jim Huddleson, Dick Krouse, Jerry Dehner, Phil Zursolo, Dick Osmon. Second row—Roy Brown, Tom Shank, Bob Reilman, Harry LaMaster, Dick Hageman, Bob Weitz, Jim Firestine, Bud Gladieux, Tom Carr, Jack Kerney, Bob Burns, Chuck Dahm. Back row—Frank Avilla, Bob Woenker, Jim D'Angelo, George Flory, David Hipskind, Tom Bogenschultz, Charles Poinsett, Patrick Quirek, Art Barile, Ed Hines, Ed Moore, Dick Blauvelt, Jim Miller, Bert Keenan, Bob Walker, Bud Luther, Bob Larimore, Jim Daney, Bob Huttering, Dick Butler, Dick Bosch, Jim Hayes, Don Kelly, Don Filippo, Joe Zursolo, Sam Vastana, and Joe Baurle.

CENTRAL CATHOLIC — HERE WE COME!—South Side's 1940 city series bid will be placed on the block on Saturday, and the scrappy Green Gridders should definitely come through with a decisive win. For the Gifted Archers have drive, spirit, a good defense, a well-rounded offensive and above all—a really fine coach. Could we ask for a finer team! Not only did the Archers display their usual fight and power against Garrett, but our Green footballers showed that they can put three good units into action. I'm choosing the Green and White to beat Central Catholic by the score of 26 to 0.

CLEATED HEROES RE-DRESS.—South Side's football team has become outfitted with a complete stock of new football suits. The Green machine displayed its new garb at Garrett last week; and if we may judge from the result, the new suits seemed to be pushing the boys just a bit harder toward those scores. Unlike the old suits of Kelly green pants and white jerseys, the new uniforms consist of gold satin pants and green sweaters. Quarterback Straley and his three backfield cohorts have dark colored stripes running down their green trousers, while the linemen have the same colored material with smaller green stripes on the side pleats. The new uniforms are by no means flashy or meant to be classy; however, they are made of the finest material and by the outstanding makers of good football equipment. Earlier this season the Kelly Klads received new shoulder pads, which were designed for the use of the Archers by Mr. Ora Davis. The new shoulder pads are considered the safest shoulder protection yet devised.

SUMMIT CITY STAR.—As the star of last week's grid battles, I have chosen Bob Englehart of South Side. While Bob was in there running and pitching for the Green, the Archers really rolled. On off-tackle cuts and end runs "Baldy" looked especially good. Bob gained 120 yards in scrimmage plays against the Railroaders; incidentally, this figure represents more yardage than the entire Green backfield had carried against either Bluffton or Woodward. Nice work, Bob.

COWAN VS. SITKO.—The annual football scoring race has turned into a tight battle between Bob Cowan of North Side and Red Sitko of Central. With over four games left for each of the city squads, there is a possibility that such performers as Leon, Shimer, Englehart, or Young may threaten the leaders. Here are the leaders in the race:

Player	Yds	E.P.	Tot.
Bob Cowan, N. S.	6	4	40
Red Sitko, C.	5	8	38
John Leon, C.	5	0	30
Bob Young, N. S.	3	4	22
Russ Wilkin, C.	3	0	18
Chuck Close, S. S.	3	0	18
Ralph Shimer, S. S.	3	0	18
Mike Bojinoff, N. S.	3	0	18
Bob Englehart, S. S.	2	0	12

Briner Not Satisfied With Harrier Showing

Only forty-nine boys have gone out for cross country this semester, as compared to the seventy-three who went out last semester, it was stated by Mr. Louis Briner, head of intramural activities last Friday evening. He also said that the ones who are out are not working as hard as they could.

Golf Tournament For Boys Opens

Seventeen Playing In 'Mural Meet At Foster Park; Score Of Each Determines Rank

Boys' Intramural Golf Tournament, which started last Monday, is being played at the Foster Park Municipal golf course. The number entered in the heavyweight division, which is 130 pounds and over, was only four, but thirteen boys signed up in the middle-weight division, which is 130 pounds and under.

Those participating are Ed Wade, Tom Rohr, Bob Hunsul, Ken Iba, Bob Shannon, Gerald Lahrmann, Earl Reeves, Forest Myers, Frank Carlo, Richard Hirsch, Dan Rhodes, C. Schurenberg, Jim Kocks, John Kocks, Don Parkinson, Henry Schaff, and Jim Steiner.

Last year a total of only six boys signed up for 'mural golf, and this year a new record for all time was made, with the entrance list revealing that seventeen boys are participating. Before Monday, October 28, at 5:30 o'clock, eighteen holes of golf must have been played and the scores turned in, in order that the entrants might be eligible for a winning place in the tournament. In order that the scores might be checked and counterchecked, the participants will play in threesomes and foursomes.

Mr. Louis Briner, director of the boys' intramural sports activities, was well pleased with the large and enthusiastic turnout for this event, and he hopes that next year, the record for the number of participants in intramural golf will again be broken or at least tied.

Grid, Basketball May Be Curtailed

State Association To Decide On Holding Football To Nine Games; Net Games, Eighteen

Whether football and basketball schedules will be limited during the coming years will be decided when the Indiana High School Athletic Association holds its annual fall meeting at Indianapolis on October 23. Mr. Arthur Trester, head of the association, announced that a proposal had been placed in his hands which asked for a definite limit on football games played and that a few number of basketball games be decided upon.

Present football restrictions permit the high school elevens to schedule an unlimited number of games. The new plan forwards the resolution that only nine games be permitted. The new amendment also may allow only eighteen basketball games per season; present rules allow twenty-game cards. South Side would not be affected by the football proposition, for the Archers have not carded nine games for several seasons. The South Side cage schedule of twenty tilts may be cut by the rulings.

Other new rules are also pending before the board; in fact, the association is reviewing changes of six football and four basketball rules. Another proposition before the athletic group calls for at least ten days of organized practice before any team may compete in interscholastic athletics.

All of the basketball rules, if passed, will become effective immediately; the football rules may not be written into the state code before December 1, 1940.

Upsets Are Few In State Football

During the last week of football competition, the majority of the state's foremost games ran true to form. The only real upset occurred last Friday night at Evansville, where an inspired Evansville Central squad defeated a highly touted Bosse eleven, 13 to 12. Most of the big powerhouses, North Side, Cathedral of Indianapolis, Shelbyville, Marion Central, Brazil, Emerson of Gary, and Hammond, registered easy victories. The state-wide results follow.

Masonic Dance To Be Saturday

Gingham And Overalls Will Be Theme Of Initial Sport Hop For Young People, Friends

A young peoples' sport dance, sponsored by the Scottish Rite, will be given Saturday night from 9 to 12 o'clock. It is to be a gingham and overalls dance, and Hal Druman's orchestra will furnish music. Tickets may be secured from a member of the committee in charge of the dance or from any member of the committee in charge of the dance. The committee in charge of the dance is composed of the following: Mrs. W. K. Krueger, general chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bixby, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Forks, Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Merchant, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Myers, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Rietmiller, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Riffe, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Adrian Summers, met recently to make plans for the series of dances sponsored annually by the Scottish Rite bodies for the young people in the families of Rite members, Masons, Eastern Stars, members of DeMolay, and Job's Daughters and their friends.

Other dances to be held this year and their dates are as follows: November 30, Sport Dance (High School Night) with Masonic Home basketball team as guests; January 18, Sleighbell Dance; February 15, Military Dance; April 19, Semi-Formal Dance.

Meterites Plan Skate For November First

"Roller Rumpus" has been chosen as the rollicking theme of the Meterite annual skate, which will be held November 1 at Bell's Rink. The various committees that have been appointed for the skate are as follows: Attendance prizes, Mary Current and Rose Marie Vogel; ticket committee, Marian Faux and Colleen McCarty; general arrangements, Nancy Cherry, Barbara Leas, and Nancy Fishering; and posters, Connie Harrison, Jacqueline Bock, Betty Rhodes, Mary Current, and Rose Marie Vogel.

Teachers Slap Mosquitoes, Enjoy Outing At Oliver Lake

Whiz—! That was the grand rush the teachers made last Friday immediately upon the closing of school. The occasion which prompted this stampede of pedagogues was their annual picnic at the Jack Wainwright's Camp Lumberlost on Oliver Lake.

Everyone knew he would have a hilarious time, for the entertainment plans included slapping mosquitoes, boating, playing ping-pong, walking along the lake, and admiring Mr. Wainwright's beautiful tea-roses. Oh, yes, they were to eat, too.

While these things were occupying the time of the majority, the table committee consisting of Mr. Elma Gould, Miss Crissie Mott, Mr. James Mills, Mrs. Grace Welty, Miss Emma Kiefer, Miss Mary McCloskey, and Mr. Delivan Parks, arranged the tables.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carson, Genevieve Hemmer, and Jean Scott.

Ring the dinner bell at 7 o'clock assembled all in the dining hall. The dinner, which was prepared by Mrs. Wainwright and the cafeteria staff, consisted of swiss steak, scalloped potatoes, creamed corn, apple sauce, sliced tomatoes, ice cream and cake. Miss Lucy Osborne called for pie. "Alamo" but her wishes could not be fulfilled for the lack of the pie.

Mr. Davis acted as toastmaster after dinner. The toast was addressed to the staff, Mr. Francis Fay, Mr. Paul Schepel, Mr. Wayne Gift, and Mr. Lester Hostettler were "formally" introduced and welcomed to South Side by various members of the faculty. Then the group sang some songs under the direction of Mr. Hostettler and accompanied by Mrs. Lillian Scott on the piano.

Short after-dinner speeches followed this scheme: South Side's "Notoriously Diligent" Each Recruit Contest Is Held

Note what the capital letters at the left spell. Each one who made a speech had one of those letters as his first letter. The best sentence using words which began with one of the capital letters in the right column. Mr. Sidell received the first prize for writing the best sentence in regard to grammar and syntax. His prize was under the sentence "Smile, you ain't et yer tomatoes."

Mr. R. Nelson Snider read a poem which he had composed, thanking the Wainwrights for their generous hospitality.

After the speeches everyone went to the lodge. Mr. Hostettler again led the group in singing around the big fire that was roaring in the fireplace. Bridge, bingo, and ping-pong tables had been arranged, and while some used up excess energy playing these games, others sat around in groups and just visited. Everyone must have had a wonderful time. The proof? No one wanted to retire. They continued their talking until Mrs. Snider finally remarked that if someone would pop some corn, she'd go to her cabin and go to bed. Mr. Delivan Parks, one of the few eligible bachelors of South Side, who is the obedient servant of the women, married or single, said he would fulfill her wish. How he did pop corn! And such popcorn! Proof: Mrs. Snider and Mr. Cook each ate at least a peck! The hour was 1:30 a. m. Still Mrs. Snider didn't go to her cabin and go to bed.

Retired By 2 O'clock However by 2 o'clock most of the picnicers had retired and were sleeping soundly, when suddenly they were rudely awakened by a chorus of serenading. The serenading song was Miss Keller's "It's a Wonderful Life." "Ain't It Fun To Be Crazy?" Later a second serenading was heard. A symphony of automobile horns. The Moral: lock your automobile next year.

Finally all was quiet and the remainder of the night was spent peacefully while all at the camp slept.

Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock, fifty hungry people, some guests having left Friday night, more sleepy than hungry, being very willing to break the fast, rushed to the dining hall. There was a sight! Mr. Wainwright, playing chef, was swinging the spatula flapping the stacks. After breakfasting, the group lolled around in leisurely fashion and finally made ready to leave. Everyone had enjoyed himself to the fullest extent, thanks to the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright and to the entertainment committee which consisted of Miss Magley, Mr. Davis, Mr. Null, and Miss Fortney, and didn't want to leave, but by 11 o'clock Lumberlost Camp was pretty well deserted by the South Side faculty. The invitation, which started this week-end frolic, appeared as follows in the mail-boxes of the teachers:

Faculty picnic date—September 27 and twenty 8 place—Mrs. Wainwright's Lost Lumber Kamp starts at 8:30 Friday—best part, eatin'—starts 7:00 breakfast the necks morning from 7:30 to 8:30

Opinions Are Given Mr. Snider's statement to the teachers concerning this was: Yesterday I didn't get to tell those of you who missed the faculty picnic. Food, wit, music (?), and gracious hospitality were rampant. If you had been there, you would have been sorry for those who were not.

Other opinions were: Miss Oppelt: We had lots of fun, lots of pep, lots of food, lots of song, lots of noise, lots of people, lots of humor, and lots of speeches.

Mr. Flint: We had a good time, plenty to eat, and lots of fun. The program was well-organized. Bouquets should be given to Mr. Parks and to the waiters (of which I was one) for their excellent service. My children, Martha and George, were amazed at the way the teachers un-laxed.

Der Schwarze Wald Is German Club Topic

Der Schwarze Wald, the Black Forest, was the topic discussed at the German Club meeting October 16 in Room 144 by the program committee, which consisted of Al Speckman, Phyllis Ann Stein, and Lester Oppenlander.

Bob Bushman called the meeting to order and LaVerne Gruber read the secretary's report. The dues, which are 25 cents per semester, were collected.

Elmer Kahl was chosen as Inter-Club Congress representative.

Times Worker Earns Gold-Jeweled Award

Martha Jane Krauskopf, 12B, received her gold-jeweled Times pin on October 9, which was her sixteenth birthday. She started her career on the Times as a home room agent, ad solicitor, and reporter when she was a 9A. Within a short time, she had earned her bronze pin. After a year and a half on the staff, she became credit manager. Last January Martha Jane was appointed assistant business manager. She now serves as business manager.

Gloria Kramer Shows Dances To Girl Scouts

Gloria Kramer, representative of the Dance Club, taught a few popular dance steps to the Senior Girl Scouts at their meeting Wednesday. Taffy apples, prepared by Betty Dice and Doris Orlano, were served.

Joan Dodge was game chairman for the Girl Scout weiner bake last Saturday noon, at McMillan Park. Maurine Brackman was assistant game chairman, and Mrs. E. L. Cartwright was chaperon.

Pledged To Fraternity

Robert Parrish, '36, was among eleven pledges to Phi Delta Phi, honorary local fraternity, at Indiana University. He was selected last spring on the basis of scholarship, character, and recommendation of the Dean of the School of Law.

Wo-Ho-Ma's To See Wishmaker's House

Wo-Ho-Ma's meeting today will feature a tour to Wolf and Dessauer to see their Wishmaker's House. Members are asked to meet in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock before leaving. They are also asked to bring street car fare. The committee in charge is Marilyn Bullerman, chairman, Aileen Betts, Anna Marie Roth, Mary Jane Kissner, and Betty Kite.

GAA Tennis Tilt Winners Are Crowned

Jeanne Smith, Betty Hargan, Gloria Cadorette, M. Faux Are Singles Queens

Gloria Cadorette, Marian Faux, Betty Hargan, and Jeanne Smith became winners in the Girls' Athletic Association Singles Tennis Tournament, played at Weisser Park last week. Jeanne also won her semi-finals match in the school championship race.

Gloria became winner of the freshman singles when she defeated Betty Kyvik by a score of 6-0, 6-2. Gloria also defeated Martha Smith, 6-1, 6-3.

By defeating Jo Ann Spore with a score of 6-0, 6-0, Marian Faux became champion of the sophomores. On her way to the championship, Marian defeated Eileen Reinking, 6-0, 6-2; Helen Marschard, 6-0, 6-1; Julia Kaser, 6-0, 6-1; and Jo Ann Spore, 6-0, 6-0. Jo Ann was the sophomore runner-up.

Betty Hargan won the GAA Junior Tennis Tournament by playing Vera Moser, 6-1; Lenora Meyer, 6-0, 6-1; and Rose Stemen, 6-1, 6-3, in the junior finals. Betty played a fine game of tennis all the way through.

The senior tennis tournament winner is Jeanne Smith, city tennis champion. A score of 6-1, 6-0 was made when Jeanne defeated Betty Thiele, 6-1, 6-0 for the championship. Betty Thiele is the senior singles runner-up. In the school championship semi-finals, Jeanne defeated Betty Hargan, junior tennis champion, 6-2, 6-2. The match between Gloria Cadorette and Marian Faux has not been played.

Mr. Harry Lipponcott Speaks To Social-Science

Mr. Harry Lipponcott from the Curtis Publishing Company spoke to the Social Science Club last Friday in the Greeley Room concerning the club's magazine campaign. He gave valuable suggestions for obtaining the success of such a campaign. Betty Koehler was appointed chairman of the committee for the Armistice Day program. Assisting her will be Lois Gumper, Bob Wylie, Ralph Herb, and Dick Theye.

Talks and discussions on political personalities completed the club meeting. Maxine Case, Bob Wylie, Bob Brooks, and Betty Koehler spoke on Franklin Roosevelt, Henry Schricker, Wendell Willkie, and Glenn Hillis.

All juniors interested in current events are invited to attend and join the Social Science Club. The club as soon as possible, as membership to the club is limited to forty members.

John Myers Obtains Expert Rifleman Title

John Myers, junior B, is the most recent rifleman to qualify for the expert rifleman title. To gain this he had to shoot in four positions, prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing. John shot 417 out of a possible 500 at the standing position. To be an expert rifleman he first had to qualify for pro marksman, marksman, marksman first class, and sharpshooter fifth out of five.

About 800 boys have qualified for that title. Joe Bekius, Edmund Bauer, and Richard Theye gained this title last year. John won thirteenth place in both 50- and 100-yard match in a national match this summer. He is a member of the Fort Wayne Rifle Club.

War Poems Headline Meeting Of Meterites

War poems and biographies of various writers featured the Meterite meeting Tuesday in the Greeley Room.

Ruth Ellen Yoder gave the biography of John McCrae and Evelyn Arnold also read a biography. The poem, "Trees," along with other poems in connection with biographies, was given.

Miss Susan Peck, adviser, who read war poems, announced that anyone wishing to sell tickets for the Meterite skate on November 1, should come to Room 60 Friday night.

Commercial Students Type For Registration

Various commercial students typed for the registration taken here yesterday in Room 22 and the library, from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock. The students who took part in it are the following: Betty Elbersson, Mildred Hanke, Eileen Hormann, Marcella Kimmel, Wilma Lagemann, Betty Lapp, Caroline Liebenberg, Helen Lisius, Mary Lybrook, Betty Nichols, Donna Neff, Betty Pepler, Bernadine Prosser, Lois Ringenberg, Pauline Schoenherr, Marian Seemeyer, and Jeanne Smith.

Enrolls In Pomona

Dorothy June McAlister, '40, has enrolled in Pomona College, Claremont, California. At South Side Miss McAlister was active in public speaking, interested in mathematics, and secretary of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Mr. Snider is a member of the state committee. On Monday he was present at the meeting of Committees For Education Co-operation in Indiana.

Totem Wins Prize In CSPA Critique

First Place Rating Is Awarded To 1940 Yearbook By Press Group Of National Renown

The South Side Totem of 1940 has been announced winner of first place in the Annual Critique and Contest sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. It was announced by Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser.

The highest score to be made was 1,000 points and the Totem came through with 915 points, the highest rating given. This contest was among high schools of enrollment of 1,500 to 2,500 students. In this critique each book is compared with the others in its own particular class and is rated according to its relative standing with reference to the other entries. The points that were considered in this contest are as follows: Idea of book, 150 points; layout, 200; editorial content, 300; photography, 100; engraving, 50; printing and typography, 75; paper stock and binding, 50; and other considerations, 75.

"Idealist," mark signifies publication from the First Place group selected for their outstanding qualities, but it is intended that such recognition shall be accorded to not more than ten per cent of the class entries.

Four Archer Students Participate In Musical

Several students of South Side High School took part in a program given last Thursday afternoon by the wives of Fort Wayne Realtors. They are Ruth Danvers, Mildred Hanke, Light, violinist; Mildred Hanke, pianist, and Emalyn Remmel, vocalist. Emalyn sang, "Jeanne with the Light Brown Hair," and "Alice Blue Gown" from the opera "Irene." Alice played the numbers "Harmonious Blacksmith," by Handel, Schubert's "Severed," by Robert Schumann, "Shoen Remembering," by Brahms, and a Brahms waltz. The trio played "Russian Dance," by Friml, a serenade by Herbert, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," by Saint Saens, and "The Puppet Show," by Rowley.

Teachers Are Named To Associate Posts

Mr. Dorsa Yoder was named as a delegate to the Indiana State Teachers Federation at a meeting held Tuesday night, October 7, by the Fort Wayne Teachers Association. He was one of the twenty-one delegates chosen. Other teachers from South Side High School were named on the following committees: membership, Mr. Earl Sterner and Miss Mabel Portner; legislative, Miss Lucy Mellen; social, Mr. Earl Sterner, salary, Miss Erma Dochterman and Mr. Ward O. Gilbert.

Principal Will Speak To New English Club

Mr. R. Nelson Snider will speak on the subject, "We Are Americans," at the English Club, Wednesday. The English Club is a newly organized club, sponsored by Miss Susan Peck and Miss Dorothy Magley. This club is composed of the fourth period English classes of Miss Peck and Miss Magley. Herbert Schmo is president of this club; Dolly Disler, vice-president; and Jack McNeal, secretary.

Nine Times Members Guests Of Northerner

Nine members of the Times staff were guests of the staff of the Northerner at a wiener bake held last Thursday evening at Foster Park.

Those who attended are Martha Jane Krauskopf, Mary Lybrook, Jeanne Smith, John Bonisb, Joel Salom, Marge Sheldon, Louis Hallenstien, Bob Young, and Bob Robinson.

Principal Attends Meetings

Mr. R. Nelson Snider went to Indianapolis recently to attend various meetings on education. On Sunday he attended the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Mr. Snider is a member of the state committee. On Monday he was present at the meeting of Committees For Education Co-operation in Indiana.

Mr. Ora Davis Is Heard By Philos

James Whitcomb Riley Theme; Committees For Club's Dance Are Announced At Meeting

James Whitcomb Riley, establishing the new Philo theme, Literary Houses, was discussed by Mr. Ora Davis at the meeting held last Monday in the Greeley Room. Amusing incidents from the life of Riley were related by Mr. Davis in his biography of the actor, the humorist, and the writer. Mr. Davis concluded his interesting talk by reciting the characteristic poem by Riley, Little Orphan Annie.

Preceding the introduction of Mr. Davis, Kathryn Beckman, who gave a solo accompanied by Mildred Hanke, sang Riley's poem set to music, "There! Little Girl, Don't Cry."

Committees for the Skyhigh Skip, Philo's annual dance, were announced as follows: Tickets, Emalyn Remmel, chairman, Margory Roberts, Suzanne Roebel, Helen Savage; prizes, Kathryn Kuntz, chairman, Jean Weil, Bettu Stein, orchestra, Maurine Leas, chairman, Patricia Siebel, Betty Helen Harrison; decorations, Mary Bowlby, chairman, Marjorie Dyer, Mary Burt, Kathryn Beckman, Mary Dunbar, Mary Carlo, Jean McCarty, Marjorie McMahon, Bay Meyer, and floor show, Rozella Poutz. October 28 will mark the meeting for the initiation of all new members. New members are requested to send their letters of application to Miss Elizabeth Demaree, faculty sponsor, before the next meeting.

Five Archers' Articles Are On Youth's Page

Five South Siders, three of whom wrote articles, and two of whom wrote poems, made contributions to Youth's Passing Show in The News-Sentinel last Saturday evening.

John Edward Logue tells the public of his father's opinion that initiative died when President Roosevelt came into office. Mary Whittier's article relates her ambition to become an opera or concert singer, while the ambition to become a contractor is that of Norbert Rehm.

"Peace and War," poem by Dick Nahrwald compares the war in Europe and the World Series in America. Violet, Steinbauer's poem, "Man's Worth" tells about man's ever-seeking quest for glory and fame.

Albert Leakey, Freshman, Son Of 1925 Graduate, Is Fifth In Family To Attend South Side

Albert Leakey in Library

Another second generation has been discovered in South Side. Albert Leakey, a freshman A, is the son of Victor Leakey, who graduated from South Side in 1925. Mr. Leakey attended South Side for three years, entering from Central in his sophomore year.

In his story about South Side, Mr. Leakey said, "After a freshman year at Central, I transferred to South Side in 1922. The school was only partially finished, and the grade school had use of the building half the day and high school, the other half. In some classrooms we had no desks and sat on planks between two chairs.

"Concrete mixers were 'going to town' in the unfinished gymnasium, and confusion reigned supreme; but we got along all right and made the best of it.

"Two of my teachers in those days I shall always remember, the beloved Mr. Greeley and Mr. Voorhees, now passed on. No doubt we enjoyed our school days as much and made as many friends as you folks do today.

Followed Athletics Closely

"We had good athletic teams in the early days, too," Mr. Leakey also said. "I remember the first basket-

School Looked Like This When Leakey Came Here

View of School Toward Main Entrance

North End of South Side

When Victor Leakey first came to South Side in the fall of 1922, the school looked like this. In fact, this picture is complimentary to the school as it was in the fall of 1922 when classes were started. Though the exterior of the building was completed, the interior was mostly a shell and the grounds were heaps of dirt and rubble.

In order to get a picture of the school to run in the 1923 Totem, the yearbook staff had a photographer take a picture of the building and then hired an artist to retouch the ball game on South Side's floor, a 7-to-6 victory over Shortridge of Indianapolis. Naturally, my biggest thrill came in 1938 when South Side won the state championship in basketball. I have followed South Side through the years in sports and had a nephew, Dale Hamilton, on the state championship team.

"Incidentally, Albert is the fifth of our family to attend South Side. I was graduated in 1925; my brother, Arden, in 1929; my sister's first son, Dale Hamilton, in 1938; her other son, Ralph, in 1940; and I hope my son, Albert, in 1944.

"Albert is more than anxious to follow in Dale and Ralph's footsteps, as the boys all grew up together. You see, Dale and Ralph live next door to us with Albert's grandmother."

Building Much Changed

While at South Side, Mr. Leakey played on the interclass basketball championship team in his junior year. He was a member of Hi-Y both at South Side and Central. When asked about the changes in South Side, Mr. Leakey said, "The remodeling of the building has changed the

Lieutenants Picked To Be Leaders In Magazine Campaign

Selections Made By Ruth Dauner, Bob Brooks, Captains In Sales Contest

Prizes Are Offered Leading Salesmen

Assembly Held On Monday Morning To Launch Drive To Raise Funds For Films

Ruth Dauner and Bob Brooks, team captains, have announced the home room lieutenants for the Social Science Magazine Campaign who are to take care of the money and the subscriptions of their home room and turn it over to their team captains. The sales drive is to raise money to carry on the work of the visual education department.

The school has been divided up into two teams, "Green" and "White". Bob Brooks is head of the "White" team and Ruth Dauner is head of the "Green" team. Candy bars or ice cream bars are to be awarded to the home room having the highest subscription total. Today and Monday and Wednesday of next week have been set aside as bank days. Yesterday a ticket to the Central-South Side football game and double credits were awarded to the student having the largest sales total. The team captains will give or have given out buttons to the home room lieutenants which they are to wear. "Green" buttons will be given to the "Green" team lieutenants and white to the "White" team lieutenants.

Lieutenants Listed

The following students have been chosen home room lieutenants. The "Green" team lieutenants and their home rooms are: Ethelreda Behling, 6; Margaret Kienzie, 8; Betty Soderlin, 10; Anita Eller, 25; Carolyn Tackler, 26; Richard King, 28; Ed Steele, 34; Betty Porter, 36; Tom Niblick, 38; Eileen Normann, 44; Jo Ann Schwartz, 52; Bob Wylie, 56; Carl Schureng, 58; Edmund Baur, 64; Ellen Hardy, 66; Laura Nahrhold, 68; Bob Young, 70; Jack Broyles, 72; Patricia Jackson, 75; Eugene Gettel, 77; Everette Trulock, 79; Mary Alice Dunten, 91; Kathryn Scholer, 92; Clifford Matson, 98; Fred Schiwer, 102; Evelyn Erickson, 144; Byron Singer, 145; Mary Whittner, 178; Don Knorr, 188; and Lucille Zion, Cafe.

The "White" team lieutenants and their home rooms are: Robert Budde, 4; Phillis Crabill, 12; John Mast, 14; Kenneth Greimeier, 32; Nina Bean, 46; Ann Welborn, 60; Betty Clem, 61; Le Briggs, 62; Gilbert Baumgardner, 76; Eileen Goddard, 80; Bryce Marilyn McGuire, 186; June DeWood.

Latin Club Studies Roman Sculpture

Hilda Schubert, Tompise Hall, Mary Whittner, Keith Lakey Compose Programs Speakers

Greek and Roman sculpture was discussed at the Latin Club meeting in Room 138. Hilda Schubert and her committee had charge of this meeting. Hilda gave a brief history of sculpture and told about the statue of Venus de Milo. Tompise Hall followed with a report on Diana of Versailles, and Keith Lakey and Mary Whittner spoke on the Discobolus, or Discus Thrower, and The Winged Victory.

A Latin chorus, composed of advanced Latin students, sang "Cypsis Love Song," "Melody in F" and "Adeste Fidelis" in Latin. The chorus was accompanied at the piano by Laura Grazier and at the harp by June Flaig. Mary Whittner was to have sung "Ave Maria," but her solo was postponed to a later meeting. Ellen Harry, vice-president of the club, then conducted some contests of which Victor Kaufman won the prize. The school song was sung and refreshments were served.

The committee for the next meeting, which will be November 14, will be Bob Zimmer, chairman; Evangeline Whittner, Ellen Motz, and Ione-Jean Tracht.

"Paintings" Topic Of Camenean Club

Meeting Next Tuesday In Room 138; Wiener Bake Is Enjoyed At Kathryn Eipper's Home

Collections of paintings, painters, and hand-painted china will be featured as the theme of the meeting of Camenean Club next Tuesday in Room 138. The committee in charge is Frances Nash, chairman, Ada Prange, Kathryn Guild, and Eva Jean Wylie. The meeting October 15 was in the form of a Wiener bake at Kathryn Eipper's home. The Wieners were roasted in an outdoor furnace in the large yard surrounding her home. Mrs. Eipper decorated several tables, which were also in the yard, with Halloween favors.

The business meeting and part of the social program was held inside. A game was played in which each member was given an opportunity to show her ability as an actress by performing the title of various recent movie pictures. Transportation was furnished by cars driven by the advisers, the Misses Mary and Edith Crowe, and by mothers of some of the members.

Each member is asked to bring a friend to the next meeting and persuade her to join the club.

PTA Forum Topic To Be Third Term

"The Third Term Issue" will be the topic for discussion at the next PTA Forum on October 30 at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Mrs. John F. Brooks has been appointed discussion leader for this meeting.

Mrs. Paul Iba Mothers' Gym Semester Head

Selected By Mrs. A. K. Remmel, PTA President; Now Twenty Members In Class

Mrs. Paul Iba has been selected chairman of the PTA Mothers' Gym Class, which is held every Monday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock in the gymnasium. She was chosen by Mrs. A. K. Remmel, president of the PTA.

Miss Dean, who instructs the members, starts the class with a new set of sixty exercises. Later in the evening games are played. Women attending these classes are learning the games of badminton and volleyball. Later in the season basketball, aerial dart, and softball will be played and relays will be held. Two parties will be given, one near Christmas, and another in the spring. The dues are 50 cents for a semester.

The following are members of this class: the Misses Elfrida Haugk, Helen Hess, Vee Miller, Myrtle Runge, Cecelia Merkler, Geraldine Duiser, Clarice Pyork, Wilma Miller, Catherine Suelzer, Frances Suelzer, and the Mesdames Paul Iba, J. E. Cunningham, Lillian Longworth, D. R. Lockwood, R. D. Stogdill, E. L. Pfeiffer, Naomi Longworth, Grover Shannon, John Duiser, H. Pan, B. Richter, and C. G. Fries.

Philo To Initiate Entrants Monday

Ellen Harry, Mary Bowly, Joan Cox Are In Charge Of Meeting; Newcomers' Names Given

Ellen Harry, Mary Bowly, and Joan Cox are in charge of the coming Philo formal and humorous initiation to be held Monday in the Greeley room at 3:30 o'clock.

New girls who have not written their letters of application to Miss Elizabeth Demaree, club sponsor, are requested to do so immediately.

Five Pairs Of Senior Twins At South Side Give Students, Teachers "Double Trouble"

You South Side seniors may not be aware of the fact that many of your fellow classmates lead double lives! Amazing, isn't it? (No reference to Jekyll and Hyde!) The awful truth is that back in 1923 when the Gumpfers, Meyers, Siebolds, Wylies, and Brooks hoped for one bundle from heaven, they were blessed with double trouble instead.

Lois and Faye Gumpfer are the only identical lassies of this group. They both attend and enjoy the same clubs in South Side. These include Times, Totem, 1500 Club, Philo, Library, Math-Science, Social Science, Letter Girls, SPC, and Wranglers. When these two smile, they display

Totem Orders Swell; Picture Sales Lagging

"Name In Gold" Offer Ends Nov. 1; Maurine Leas, Bob Brooks Lead Sellers

John Bonsib and Joel Salon in cooperation with Faye Gumpfer, senior editor, and her assistants stated yesterday that the campaign had accelerated considerably since the slow start of last Monday.

The Senior Picture Drive of the 1941 Totem was launched with a slightly slower start than the previous start of the subscription campaign with only twenty-two picture orders being taken for the first day. But high hopes were held by Faye Gumpfer, senior editor, and her staff of agents, because of the unusually large graduating class in 1941. Eventually, all of the seniors are expected to pay their dollars and have their pictures taken.

Some Agents Changed

Some changes have been made in the ranks of the Senior Picture agents. They now are Emalyn Remmel, Room 36; Mildred Hanke, 70; Safford McMyler, 79; Ed and Don Meyer, 44; Faye and Lois Gumpfer, 80; Bob Brooks, 82; Delores Daniels, 91; Hilda Schubert, 102; Charlene McAtee, 138; Jo Frosh, 144; Marilyn Sondles, 172; Bonnie Yaeger, 98; Kay Kuntz, 56; and Maurine Leas, 64.

In connection with the subscription campaign the staff jubilantly announced that approximately 750 subscriptions had been turned in at 3:20 o'clock last evening. All the staff expects the goal of 1,100 sales by the end of the drive.

Campaign to End November 1

The subscription drive will be promoted until Friday, November 1. It has previously been erroneously circulated that the campaign would close today and that this would be the last day to get one's name in gold upon his Totem.

Totem Subscription Agents

Fishing, 13; Greany, 4; Wolf, 5; Guild, 1; Lageman, 8; Light, 7; Hull, 3; Kettler, 12; D. Meyer, 7; E. Meyer, 8; Sanford, 12; Grayzer, 17; Sheldon, 3; Werkman, 8; Rubin, 5.

Underclassmen Asked

All underclassmen are asked to step to the Totem office hereafter to subscribe for this year's book because it will be impossible to send agents into your rooms again!

Picture Agents!

All Totem senior picture agents are to be at their meeting on Tuesday, October 29, at 3:30 o'clock in the Totem Office.

SENIOR POLL!

All senior home room teachers are reminded that Wednesday, October 30, is to be set aside for the senior poll.

"America" To Be Assembly Theme

Student Body To Sing Patriotic Songs During First Music Program Tuesday Morning

"America" will be the theme in general for the first music assembly of the year which will be held next Thursday morning, October 31, in the gymnasium. The entire student body is to join singing of well-known patriotic songs.

Those students who don't know the songs will be supplied with song sheets. Songs which will be presented are "America, the Beautiful", "God Bless America", and "Star Spangled Banner".

Others are "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair", "Let Me Call You Sweetheart", "My Wild Irish Rose", "Follow the Glean", melody of university songs.

The committee that is assisting with the program is Miss Lucy Osborne, chairman, Mr. A. W. Heine, Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, and Mr. Ora Davis.

The choir will be under the direction of Mr. Lester Hostetler, and Mr. Jack Wainwright will conduct the band.

Class Officers Again Choose Advisers Who Assisted During Past Two Years

Gowns, Invitations Prices To Be Got

Principal To Write For Information; Many Events For Year Are Arranged

Miss Dorothy Allen Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell were re-elected advisers of the Class of 1941 at a meeting of the senior class officers with Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, Monday afternoon. These two teachers have served as advisers during the past two years.

The announcement came as a result of class officers' meeting with Mr. Snider. The officers who made this choice are James McClure, president; June Flaig, vice-president; Rebecca Abbott, secretary-treasurer; Marjorie Dyer, Dick Theye, and Marjorie Sheldon, members of the social council.

Tradition On Events Set

Discussion was made of the cap and gown tradition, invitations, and senior class activities. Mr. Snider will write to companies for information concerning the prices of gowns and invitations.

The main activities of the senior class are the Senior Fest, which will be held March 28; Senior Play produced with only seniors on April 18; the Ivy Day ceremonies on May 16; Baccalaureate Service on June 15; Commencement Dance on June 10; and finally the Commencement, which will be held June 18.

Only One Official Ring

Mr. Snider stated that there is one standard class ring and pin which may be obtained from several jewelers. Many invitations may be on the market, he said, but there is only one real standard style.

Miss Magley is the adviser of the English Club, which consists of Miss Susan Peck's fourth period English class. She was formerly adviser of the Marionette Club. Mr. Sidell is skilled in mathematics, which he has taught in the past.

Sophomore and junior advisers were chosen at meetings held Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons by the class officers and Mr. Snider. These advisers will be announced in next week's Times.

Wranglers Offer Patriotic Speeches

C. McAtee Is In Charge Of Program; E. Meyer, B. Young, J. M. McClure, B. Brudi Talk

Patriotic speeches were given and songs were sung at the first meeting of Wranglers Monday. Charlene McAtee was in charge of the program.

The singing of "America, the Beautiful" started the program, and Ed Meyer gave a dramatic declamation entitled "The Man Without a Country." After the National Anthem was sung, Jim McClure, Bob Young, and Bud Brudi gave the Pulitzer Prize winning declamation, "My Country 'Tis of Thee'."

A new type of speaking, choral speaking, was introduced and given by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke's second period public speaking class. They gave Henry VanDyke's poem, "America for Me." Janice Sprunger accompanied them on the piano with the music written by Henry VanDyke's wife. Sam Bacon gave Wranglers' Pledge of Patriotism after which "God Bless America" was sung to close the program.

Wranglers' next meeting will be held in the form of a political rally. Committees for the rally are: Demonstrators: Helen Ninde, chairman, John Craig, Richard Shriner, Carolyn McNabb, Carolyn Lichtenberg, Warren Cook, and Shirley Watts; Republicans: Ed Meyer, chairman, Joyce Cleaver, Jeanne Seidel, Pat Sanford, and Kent Lentz.

Inter-Club Prexy To Be Ed Bauer

Betty Koehler, Vice-President; Gertrude Merkel, Secretary; Norman Fortress, Treasurer

Officers of the Inter-Club Congress were elected for the coming semester at the meeting held Monday. Those chosen are president, Edmond Bauer; vice-president, Betty Koehler; secretary, Gertrude Merkel; and treasurer, Norman Fortress.

Mr. A. Bex of the industrial arts department spoke to the members about the work of delivering the Thanksgiving baskets. Committees were appointed for the carrying out of the delivery of these baskets.

The bulletin committee consists of Janet Holtmeyer, who is chairman, Eva Jean Wylie, and Louisa Haugk. A meeting of the committee will be held today in Room 58.

Rudolph Wuttke is the chairman of the home room committee and is assisted by Safford McMyler, Jean Kams, Maxine Sterling, and Laverne Michelfelder. Keith Lakey, chairman, Keith Virts, and Rosemary Zeigler are the members of the delivery committee.

It has been requested by Miss Emma Kiefer, sponsor of the Inter-Club Congress, that the clubs pay their 50 cent dues as soon as possible as the money is needed for fall projects.

Read This If Your School Spirit Needs A New Coat Of Paint

Willkie or Roosevelt? Democracy or dictatorship? War or peace? With all the Americanism speech making, radio programs, posters, and even patriotic clothes, every citizen of the United States is made definitely aware of the fervent wave of nationalism and patriotism that is sweeping the country. A distinct effort is being made to make Americans glad they are Americans.

But stop! Midst all this national feeling and pride of America and its ideals, did you ever stop to think to be thankful that you are not only an American but a good old South Sider? We Archers, be it known to you or not, are lucky to have such a splendid school, paralleled by few and surpassed by no other high schools in the world. If you don't believe this paper is of the best of its kind, just take a look at the Times trophies in the showcase, or step inside the Times office and gaze at the certificates that adorn every wall. If you think that our athletic opportunities are poor, just place the Green's record beside that of any other high school; and if you should find a school that is a shade better athletically, find out if they regularly send contestants to national speech contests.

If someone should tell you that our faculty is poor, just visualize for yourself the quantity and competency of our pedagogues. If you should then think that we do not offer a full curricular schedule, glance at any of the blue sheets you see posted about the school as High School Curricula. Every student may choose any of three complete courses, each giving a sufficient amount of preparation along particular lines, yet providing for enough electives to suit each pupil's individual leanings. If, as a last resort, you should question the facilities of our grounds and buildings, then you surely are a pessimist. The fact is clearly visible that South Side High School, with its 100-odd rooms, its in and outdoor track, concrete stadium, large gymnasium, inclines for safety, wide corridors, and the like, is a building to which the majority of high schools are not in the least comparable. Is there any reason why every Archer cannot wholeheartedly sing, "TO THE SCHOOL THAT HAS NO EQUAL"? We say NO!

Accomplishments Are Needed In This Overcrowded World

"Oh, to be famous! Oh, to be in the shoes of some lucky person who has so much popularity he can easily afford to give half of it to poor little obscure me!" There are a large number of students at South Side who go through high school life with this sob-story as a theme song. Not only is this inexpressibly ridiculous and unquestionably incongruous, but, what's more, it just doesn't do you any good.

If you want to make a name for yourself, wailing phrases such as the afore-mentioned will get you about as far as a rowboat in the desert. In the first place, nobody is particularly enthusiastic at the prospect of hearing you voice this complaint morning, noon, and night. Secondly, we sincerely believe that the only way to reach the tiptop is by hard, earnest endeavor.

You may have a sketchbook in your bureau drawer that you've never had the courage to exhibit. Even if you can't paint like Rembrandt, you ought to be able to draw posters for school events or cartoons for your school publications. If you're musically gifted, let the world in on the fact. If you have superior mental ability, don't let it pass as average. The results of your exertions might present you with the valedictory.

One of the things you should do this week is survey yourself and just see how smart you really are. You may be surprised.

When you're angry, count to ten before you speak; by that time you have thought of more to say.

If you are patriotic, you certainly have subscribed to The Times by now.

A senior is one of those individuals who is clever enough to utilize his old clothes as a "new fad."

How do you know you can't sing in our chorus or speak in public.—Have you tried yet?

There is no duty on brains; the revenue would be to small.

And don't forget to remember yourself next year by having your Totem picture taken now.

Keep our halls clean, pick up those scraps.

Let your hits, not your errors, get in the news.

Archers Are Happy Despite Prospects Of Shorter Vacation

With the postponement of one week of our Christmas vacation we have received comments from various students. The opinions have differed, but we have made a survey of a few of the students. The results follow:

John Craig: It seems a shame that we have to sacrifice a good week of vacation, but I suppose it is better than staying in school longer in the spring.

Roy Heavner: It doesn't make any difference to me as I will have a grand vacation anyway.

Robert Auld: It seems like a dirty shame to me.

Dale Russell: It really doesn't matter to me, except I do like vacations.

Kathryn Guild: I would appreciate a grand vacation, but we didn't have to go to school as early as usual, so I suppose it's only fair to us.

Jean Peterson: I will have a grand time, no matter how short our vacation is.

Alice Minier: It doesn't matter, but it better not be any shorter!

Kathryn Kuntz: I believe it is only fair.

Miss Rinehart Has Many Fine Friends To Be Thankful For

Room 66—the third from the end in the southeast hall—is the headquarters of a familiar figure, a grand English teacher, and a grand sponsor, Miss Beulah Rinehart.

Miss Rinehart, Adviser

Under Miss Rinehart's excellent guidance, the So-Si-Y Club, which has always been one of the finest organizations of South Side, continues to maintain that standard. Miss Rinehart declares that she enjoys being instrumental in helping girls make contacts with this international organization, which has Christian living as its purpose.

During Spare Hours

Miss Rinehart has no definite hobby, says she, but tending to her house and lawn absorbs what spare time she has. That's her hobby enough!

A Word To The Students

Here's a hint for all members of Miss Rinehart's classes, and other students, too: Her biggest peeve is seeing people waste valuable work-time. Second on the list is inattention.

Working Is Her Pleasure

Miss Rinehart likes conveying English to high school students. She explained, "I receive the most pleasure in seeing a new world open up to boys and girls when they begin to appreciate English."

From Our Own Desks

We perceive that Miss Rinehart owes much of her success to her genial nature and her perseverance. Always a smile, and never a harsh word—except when deserved—Miss Beulah Rinehart ranks high in the estimation of "We, the pupils."

Entering South Side, we freshmen got our first impression of the great metropolis which was to be our second home for four years. It was so big and spacious that at first, we were scared! Coming into the building, we were caught in the great whirlpool of the school; and, before we knew what was happening, we were lost. After asking some "dignified" senior or upperclassman, we were either on our way or lost completely. Then about ready for tears, we finally found our room and sank down in the seat with a sigh only to discover that we are in the wrong room. So went the first day in South Side. Oh! Yes, we almost forgot, in the gym we all huddled together and tried to hide our cards but were not fortunate and, before we knew it, we were down on the gym floor getting our shoes. Was our face red? Oh! Well, one consoling thought is that we have only a few days to get used to this schedule and then we can act just as though we were somebody big.

Seriously, there are really a lot of things we believe can be improved in South Side and first of all is the treatment of the new students. They are abused and some even develop an inferiority complex. So why don't some of you upperclassmen take pity on the freshmen and leave us alone? We are not going to hurt you. Another thing

We Like Study But...

Writer Tells Of The Trials Of Wearing Saddle Oxfords

"Say, Sam, seen Sue's saddle shoes?" That, my friend, is a poor try at alliteration; but what can you expect on the day before the end of the grade period with me worrying about what I'm going to get on the English test tomorrow. Anyway, you may not have seen Sue's saddle shoes, but you certainly have seen plenty of them. From the lousy pair that adorn the front hall case for the Totem campaign, to the very latest and smartest, they're all the rage and have pushed clodhoppers and the almost-forgotten doghouses into the backfields and gutters.

The shoe stores are putting such a drive behind the sale of the pedal protective pieces that they are threatening to give away reins and bridle with every pair and are already giving raffle tickets on an Indian Riding Stable horse with every purchase, provided you show a certified sales slip signed by every clerk in the department and tear off the saddle part of your new shoes and send it with a 500-word theme on horse flesh to the Nifty-Spiffy Shoe Corporation. Then, too, the leading company selling to high school students is placing an authorized signature of Tom Mix on the heel of each pair.

I, myself, am rather disgruntled about their popularity. I wear a size 15 and 17/18 (I will not admit a 16) and the new shoe is unavailable in that small a size. The nearest I could come to being in style was to put a pair of huge spurs on the back of my golf shoes and make believe. This didn't work so well when I went to put my feet on the back of the chair of the person in front of me in home room. I unintentionally jabbed the occupant with the spur of the right shoe and he, being the teacher's pride and joy, let out a squeal most ungentlemanly. The pedagogue at once perceived the source of Johnny's misery and rained on me a torrent of remonstrance concerning not so much Johnny's skin as the varnish on the back of the seat. So now I am quite out of style.

Another thing about saddle shoes seems to be the fact that to clean them is a disgrace. In fact, I've even seen one pair of brown and white ones smeared with mud to make them resemble the newer two-tone brown jobs. You'd think that in a mechanical age like ours, people would feel saddles outdated and prefer their two-tone leather upholstery in their cars to model their shoes after.

Since you fans responded favorably to last week's inserted poetry in this column, it is only fair that you should share one of the finer arts again this week! Thereby I submit the following:

I see all the stars,
When I look up in the sky.
I see Jupiter and Mars
I wonder if they see me?

Do you feel that you've gained something vital from the above verse? Do you feel more cultured? If not, perhaps the following Masterpiece will mean something in your young social lives.

Come on, Betty Sapp, quit beating about the bush and tell us who this Don is that you correspond with in Study Hall. Your fans sent dozens of notes in begging you to confess. Is it fair to disappoint them?

Dolly Disler has been seen lately sporting a C. C. football pin. They say that Tom Rauer is the proud owner of both Dolly and the pin.

How is the monopoly between Bob Birkenbuel and Virginia Belinger buzzing along?? By reports here and there, we're told this romance survived the summer nicely.

Bob Brooks always gave us the impression that his social activities were confined to Wranglers and playing poker! But I'm here to tell you that this impression of ours is drastically incorrect. Marilyn Barnhill has made a new man out of Bob. Now his activities include movies, dances, and playing chess with Marilyn.

It seems that Mary Bornsheim and Barbara Blue have claimed all rights to the Wagoner brothers of North Side. Mary prefers "Ducky" Wagoner to Barbara's Bill. Oh, well, what's the difference as long as they keep it in the family?

North Side is really getting the publicity this week! We just couldn't overlook the fact that Arlene Perry prefers Mark Keefe, of the Redskins, to all her Archer admirers! Hmm, with all these North Side-South Side romances, pretty soon North Side is going to suggest a peace pact.

"Gloria Workman surely looks cute with Jim McClure." A stock phrase at a dance last week. Maybe you missed the dance, but you can't miss seeing these two busily engaged in conversation every fifth period.

The Four Year Trail Along Calhoun Street

Sophomores, attention! Are you going far in any profession? Here are some of the sophs whom we think will do quite well for themselves. Marian Faux is destined to become a champion tennis player—who knows, maybe an Olympic star! She won the first three rounds of the Women's City Tennis Tourney, but was defeated in the fourth round by Jeanne Smith.

* Now we'll look at the musical side—Take Joseph Barbieri, for instance. Joe is the piano virtuoso of the class. This may lead him to the position of conductor of a symphonic orchestra. "But," says Joseph, "Let's not count my chickens before they hatch."

We even have a cartoonist in our midst. He is none other than George Waldschmidt. George made all of the cartoons for the Beacon at Harrison Hill. Maybe he can get in the funny papers. (No, kids, the cartoons, we mean!)

Wouldn't it be swell to be able to say you used to go to school with a movie star? Some day you sophomores may say that because you have a very popular movie star's double in your class. The movie star—Priscilla Lane. The double—Anita Eller.

When a junior girl first arrives at school she goes to her locker to find all her cheese crackers eaten by a mouse. Funny, huh? Then she puts her books on the floor only to have a "two-toner" step on her glasses. With a cry of disappointment she slams her locker door on her fingers. She yells, "Ouch," and waits for the consequences. Not to her surprise, a teacher soon comes up and gives her a five-minute lecture about shouting in the halls. She listens quietly, standing on one foot, then the other. The bell rings and she darts off to a wonderful day at school.

First period she gets by only by the skin of her teeth. She ducks behind the girl in front when the teacher is calling for volunteers. Second period, she goes to study hall. Things to be done? Yes, but what more can you get done in the study hall than a little gossip on the next debatable? Not much! Third period she goes to English class, and to her conscriptible instructor, Mr. Gift. This class is undoubtedly one of her most interesting. Next period she goes to history class. Disregarding the fact she is starving, she tries to act interested, but all the while her thoughts are on her lunch. Sixth period she "hunts and pecks" for awhile in her typing class until a more accomplished student takes away the typewriter.

Portals of the Past!

A year ago today — our parents came back for their yearly visit to our halls, only to find out what it feels like to be a freshman on the first day of school. . . . We kids all walked around with our hearts in our shoestrings during that terrifying period of time preceding the survey of South Side. Remember that committee of principals from the North Central Association? P. S. I think we all survived the horrible experience. Anyhow, our Alma Mater got rated "tops" in the state. . . .

South Side was looking eagerly—or anxiously(?) forward to the annual pigskin tilt with North Side. The Redskins scalped us 12-0. (Grr—we'll show 'em!) . . . Our Times, in turn, out-circulated them, winning the treasured cup. . . .

A certain somebody's name appeared in our celebrated "dirt column" with super-cornish girl. It was then that I really knew that my heart belonged to Daddy. . . . We rushed to the nearest exit, ran home, and stayed there some two or three days 'cause our pedagogs were conventioning. Those were the good ole days. . . .

Dancing Is Essential In Modern Life, Says One Popular Senior

By Marilyn Wolf
Can you jitterbug? Do you waltz? And do you ever fox trot? These three questions are of vital interest to you, you, and you. If you are one of those unfortunate persons whose answer is negative then I personally pity you. Being a dancer myself I can truthfully say that you are missing out on a great deal of pleasure. If I couldn't dance, I think I'd just be lost. For when the dances come I love to go and really "go" instead of sitting on the side lines. Here is one way in which to really be popular and be the life of the dance or party. The advice I'm going to give you is in three little simple words, learn to dance!

Ever since I can remember, I have been dancing. My one hope is to someday be a great dancer, but time will tell. Meanwhile, I'm having the time of my life by going to most of the dances and really having a swell time. The majority of parties held at anyone's home usually end up by dancing either to a radio or phonograph.

Halloween Began As A Holy Eve, Quotes An Interested Scribe

Before you soap that window, consider for a moment just what Halloween is. Halloween is an old institution, dating back probably to the time of the Roman empire. The ancient druids or priests of Gaul and Britain used this day as one of their many days to practice hoaxes and superstitions upon the populace, which was so full of fear of witchcraft and the supernatural that it walked about in a constant terror of being seized by some goblin or other strange creature conceived in its imaginative mind.

When Christianity completely pervaded Europe, November 1 was set aside as All Saint's Day. Then Halloween received its name in the following manner: Halloween is a contraction of Hallow Evening, or Holy Evening. However, the superstitious lore of the druids continued to fill the minds of the medieval peoples in their celebration of All Saint's Eve. As time passed, the younger generation began to take advantage of their superstitious elders by playing pranks. These pranks were intended to resemble the pranks of the ghostly creatures commonly thought of in connection with Halloween.

In the past century, these pranks have degenerated into more or less destructive activities. The little tricks of years gone by have been transformed into deliberate attempts to cause annoyance and destruction. That's hardly in keeping with a Holy Evening. Halloween is really more enjoyed when the old spirit is preserved. Intended spitefulness never gives much pleasure, or does it?

Loeser's Leery Lyrics ---

Poetry
The poets who contribute to this column, Have written ditties gay and solemn. They hope you like all their work And that it won't make you cry or smirk.

My Wish
Give me, O Lord, a country lane,
And give me a horse, not a cane,
So that when I grow old and alone,
I can ride to a home all my own.

A place I can see and hold,
A place where beauty is itself,
And happiness is the highest shelf.

Where all my loved ones, young and old,
Shall be there for me to behold.
Give me this, O Lord, I ask
At the end of my life's task.

—Pat Sanford

War
The news of destruction we hear each day.
War is so foolish, it really doesn't pay.
Caesar and Napoleon have had their Waterloo.
Hitler sometime will have his, too.

There is a God, and He will shame
All the dictators who now have fame.
They believe in might, not right,
But this is not right in the Almighty's sight.

—Janet L.

Halloween

My work is all done, and now for some fun,
'Tis Halloween time and what a temptation,
O! Jones is a man whom we will fix,
Into his lawn, we will mix

A little confetti—perhaps some corn.
He will arise to see his lawn forlorn.
Is this really fun?
Certainly not; it's destruction!

—"Corny" Cobb

S And U
Come on, teachers, with your S and U,
If I had more time you'd find I knew.
But the ol' bean's full of plenty of gray,
And I'll make lotsa jack, and that ain't hay.

—Stu-Dent

A Winning Ticket! Our Own Fashion Poll

What to wear and what not to wear is the age-old war cry of the girls around school. They want to look their best and at the same time they fall short of their ideal. This week I'm going to pass on to you the things the girls are all sporting whether they are in good taste. The poll taken by your fashion reporter reveals that the multitude of Archer-ettes wear the very same thing.

The first item on the list is about four hundred saddle shoes. Practically every other girl in school wears these brown and white classics as footgear.

Next in quantity are the sloppy Joes, and I do mean sloppy! One hundred twenty-three were counted in one day on the backs of our girls. Into this class also falls the hip-length slip-overs.

Corduroy and more corduroy, in fact, thirty skirts walked the halls of South Side in one morning!!

Seems that about ninety lassies in our dear school favor pearls as the perfect ornament for sweaters and blouses. One strand, two strands, and up to six strands are equally popular.

Red is the dominant color this fall. I observed one hundred fifteen different forms of wearing apparel strikingly arresting in fiery red.

Contrary to the fashion books, the high school girls seem to prefer the old standby, bobby socks, instead of the newer knee-length hose. Only three pairs of these knee-length socks were noticed on your legs one day.

Let it rain or shine and around fifty or sixty reversibles are worn to school each day. Some of them are corduroy on the outside and gabardine on the inside.

In order to keep your curls in place while the fall winds whip around you, most of you have again resorted to the gayly flowered kerchiefs. Verily, two hundred forty-five were put into use one crisp morning.

The beer jackets that were so popular a few seasons back have come into style again this year. One hundred seventy-three were snugly covering and protecting the smarter ones in the morning.

That takes care of most of the really outstanding fads in South Side and my conclusion, drawn from these facts is that the average teen-age girl dresses mainly for comfort and places style as secondary. Don't forget that next week I'll discuss whether these fads are the best things to wear.

Angels, Devils Caper At GAA Halloween Fete

About One Hundred Twenty Seven Attend Frolic; Ten Costume Prizes Are Given

Spanish people, Indians, clowns, skeletons, colonial people, Uncle Sam, Hawaiians, angels, the devil, Santa Claus, 1918 Gym suit and bathing suit, Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae, Russian, and almost every nationality were represented under the lanterns, corn stalks, pumpkins, and orange and brown decorations at the annual GAA Halloween party Friday in Room 170. They were chaperoned by Miss Alice Dean, Miss Gretchen Smith, and Miss Martha Pittenger.

Everyone incognito marched in the Grand March. Prizes were then awarded to the best costumes. Those who were awarded prizes are Rosemary Spore, Betty Hargan, Kathleen Soudes, Joan Spore, Wilma Kellogg, Bernadine Bender, Gertrude Merkel, Marguerite Calkins, Peggy Faux, and Alice Fisher.

After the Grand March everyone unmasked. Immediately following, the guests were entertained by a program. On the program were Thelma Draper and Ilene Franke who played an accordion duet; Wilma Kellogg sang "Practice Makes Perfect"; Marjorie Williams did a tap and acrobatic dance; Bettie Stein sang a solo "Capital Ship"; Joan Dodge played two xylophone solos; and Gloria Kramer did a sword dance. To conclude the program Miss Smith and Miss Dean gave their version of Stars and Stripes Forever.

Bernita Eggers played popular pieces on the piano while everyone danced. Committees for this affair were: Program, Frances Nash, chairman, Marjorie Pressler and Patricia Ehler; Music, Maxine Volz, chairman, Irene Meyer and Kate Soudes; decorations, Bettie Thiele, chairman, Ilo Hirschman, Jeanne Smith and Delores Bodenhorst; tickets, Jo Ann Spore, chairman and Harriet Swager; prizes, Martha Cash, chairman, and Peggy Faux.

Barn Dance Open To South Siders

Gingham dresses and overall pants, plus dancing and refreshments, will be a few of the high lights at Christie's barn on State Highway 24 Saturday night. The barn dance is being sponsored by the young people of the Anthony Boulevard Presbyterian Church and is open to all South Side students. The price is 15 cents and will entitle the guests to an evening of dancing, games, and all-round fun. Additional entertainment will be in the form of penny booths placed in the upstairs of the barn. These will include fortune telling and bobbing for apples.

Froshs, Now Graded, Stamp Their Official O. K. On U, S Cards

Did you see a student stumbling down the hall on Tuesday, the day U and S cards were issued? Probably a freshman wondering how he was going to explain that U on his card. But perhaps all of our fair freshmen didn't have such trouble. Anyway, here are some of the official reports.

Mary Harry: I think they are rather frightening.

Martha Harry: It's just a case of yes, no, maybe so.

Evelyn Knapp: I think it is a fairly good idea.

Barbara Leas: I think they are better than grades.

Weezy McNabb: They are better.

Virginia Vetter: I think they are O. K. They give you a good warning.

Barbara Weibel: I won't say.

LaVon Whitmer: I think they are just swell.

Meterites Club To Give Ghost Frolic Tuesday

Halloween atmosphere will prevail at the Halloween party of Meterite Club next Tuesday. The games and other entertainment will be under the direction of Nancy Fishering. Jeanne Seidel is in charge of refreshments. The party will begin at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. This was announced last Friday by Jane Chenoweth, social chairman of Meterites.

Wo-Ho-Ma Girls See Wishmakers' House

How unusual colors may be blended together was the chief thing that the Wo-Ho-Ma members witnessed at the Wishmakers' House at Wolf and Desauter, last Thursday afternoon. A short business meeting in the Greeley Room preceded this trip.

The committee in charge of the next meeting is Virginia Applegate, chairman; Pauline Kaiser, Dorothy Gene Lemert, Norma Close.

Torch Club Schedules Dance December 21

A lecture, "What's in October Skies", was given by Lloyd Whelan, physical geography teacher, to the members of the Torch Club last Thursday night.

Plans for an after game dance to be held on December 21 after South Side's basketball game with Horace Mann of Gary, were discussed.

Squads leading in speedball in the girls gym classes are: first period, team 6; second period, 6; third period, 3; fourth period, 1; sixth period, 3; and seventh period, 6.

Norman Shidler and Willodean Norris, students of Miss Peck's English 1, period 1 class, have read five outside reading books since the beginning of this school term.

Perfect scores in solving linear equations in Miss Fiedler's Algebra 1 classes were made by Charles Hoke, Donna Jean Mollgin, Keith Procius, Tom Rehner, Ruth Gold, and Vernon Ehlerding.

Doris Bercot made the highest grade in a literature test given by Mr. Makey.

In a recent test in Mrs. Welty's 11B Latin class those who made above 95 are Ted Haberborn, Bernita Eggers, and Ellen Harry.

In Miss Peck's English 3, period 6 class, the following pupils made A grades in a test given on acts I and II of "The Merchant of Venice": Philip Allen, Elsie Korte, Nyla June Landis, Otis Russell, Harriet Swager, and George Waldschmidt. On the same test given to Miss Peck's period 7 class, the following students also received A grades: Eleanor Christ, Connie Harrison, Dorothy Johnson, and John Swartz.

Many of Miss Rehorts's students have chosen corduroy from which to make skirts.

Eleanor Traycoff gave a report in Miss Osborne's English 6 class the first period on an outside reading book, "To Have and To Hold". The class had read a short part of this book for a report earlier in the term entitled "I Married in Haste".

Janet Merriam, Josie Phillips, Bonnie Haller, Esther Kiermaier, Wayne Meyers, and Donald Perry made the highest grades on a bookkeeping test given by Mr. Mills to his two classes.

Sophomore B's who conduct their home room in the cafeteria have chosen as their officers for the semester Ruth Yoder, president; Frances Weir, vice-president; and Thomas Wilson, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Smutz's metal working classes are changing the end of the second activity. During the semester the boys engage in four activities—machine shop, sheet metal, wrought-iron work, and electricity.

In Miss Kelly's English 7 classes the following students received a grade above 95 on a test over the history of English literature: June Flaig, Ruth Dauner, Mary Alice Duntan, Faye Gumpfer, Lois Gumpfer, Helen Lusius, and Betty Koehler.

Miss Magley's 9B Home Room 140 had a musical. Janet Motz was the chairman and arranged the program. Janet also played the accordion, and Donna Lee Mouglin played the piano.

The English 3 students of Miss Pocock who made A or A— in a test over the short story section are Betty Brubaker, Lloyd Doehrmann, Jane Hickman, Rosemarie Swain, Virginia McCormick, Alice Martz, Mary Morningstar, and Joan Strahlin.

In a test given by Mr. Peirce to his U. S. History 1 students on the period of colonization, the following received high grades in the first period: Robert Ellison, Mary Spiegel, Kathryn Zaegel; period 2, Dorothy Heslip, Jim Holzworth, Sam Johnson; fourth period, Rosa Lee Hall; sixth period, Bernita Eggers, Gloria Kramer, Janice Sprunger, and Ruth Werkman.

Carl Schurenberg is the lieutenant in the magazine campaign in Room 58.

Miss Kiefer's English 3 classes have completed the reading of "The Merchant of Venice" and are beginning the reading of essays.

Mr. Bex's industrial arts classes doing eighth semester work are learning how to design cams which are parts of a machine that give irregular motion.

Eleanor Ditton, Robert Howey, and Theodora Koutras have already completed their home reading book reports. They are students in Mr. Cook's English 1, period 4 class.

Harriet Will, a Shorthand 1, period 6, student of Mr. Murch, made the highest grade on a check up last week. Norman Fortness, a period 1 student, made the highest grade in his class.

Norman Baker, Ralph Fries, Donald Virts, and Thomas Goodwin, period 7 students of Mr. Plasket in industrial arts, have started working on bedside tables.

The following students in Miss Miller's General History 1 class made 90 or above in a recent test: Nancy Cherry, Robert Childers, Mary Cleland, Victor Kaufman, Bob Miller, Jeanne Seidel, and Bob Shawalter.

On a recent "Merchant of Venice" test given by Mr. Cook to his second period English 3 class, the highest grades were awarded to Gloria Handendorf, Nancy Fishering, Betty Jean Hart, Opal Springer, and Phyllis Wefel.

Members of Miss VanGorder's home room had their own business meeting at Foster Park. Bernadine Bender was in charge of the affair.

Dorothy McPherson, a General History 1 student of Mr. Peirce, reported on what makes the Nile River overflow.

Members of Miss Kiefer's senior English classes who made perfect grades in a test over the period of English literature from the Norman Conquest to Chaucer are Janet Holtmeyer, Everette Trulock, Alice Sweet, Elaine Hirsch, Charlene McAtee, and Miriam Lou Robel.

The subject of Income Tax Returns is being studied by Mr. James Mills' class in business problems.

Ralph Wehrly, a period 6 student of Mr. Plasket in industrial arts, has started work on a coffee table.

Students who have finished their book reports in Miss Magley's English classes are Mary Carlo and Jean Foreman, English 4; and Dorothy Burt, English 2.

Mr. Fay's second and seventh period classes had Latin vocabulary contests last week. The following from the second period classes were highest: Theodore Stephens and Elmer Hueston. Don Schrimp, Bill Brewer, Betty Jane Melan, Betty Calvin, LeAnna Tassler, and Joan Corner received the highest grades in Mr. Fay's seventh period class.

Miss Kiefer's English 7 pupils memorized the opening line of the "Prologue" to Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" and then heard a record of the same as read by Dr. Harry Morgan Ayres of Columbia University.

Gloria Kramer, Ruthann Stiegler, and Jane Klinfelter, U. S. History 1 students of Mr. Peirce, received an A+ on maps on the period of colonization.

Short stories are being told in Mrs. Rieck's public speaking classes. Students who received an A+ grade on their stories are Lois Bloemker, Carolyn Snoko, Karl Eberly, Eva Jean Wylie, Dorothy Cooper, David Azar, John Craig, Ruth Dauner, Faye Gumpfer, Lois Gumpfer, Elaine Hirschey, Jean Weil, Mary Catherine Menze, and Mary Nell Spiegler.

Junior Musicians To Give Symphony

First Concert Of Season To Be Monday Night; Musicales To Be Sponsored By Lions Club

Fort Wayne Junior Civic Symphony will present its first concert next Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Civic Theatre under the direction of Gaston Bailhe, musical director at Central, and conductor of Fort Wayne Civic Symphony. The concert will be sponsored by the Fort Wayne Lions Club in cooperation with the Fort Wayne public schools.

Numbers to be included on the program are "Stradella Overture" by F. V. Flatow, the second movement from Beethoven's First Symphony, "Air de Ballet" by C. W. Von Gluck, "Why" by Robert Schumann, "Forget Me Not" by Allan Macbeth, "Wedding of the Winds—Waltzes" by John F. Hall, "Cossack Dance" by Modist Moussorgsky, and "War March" by F. Mendelssohn. Alice Light, South Side senior, will play Mozart's Concerto No. 5, A Major, accompanied by a small string orchestra.

Members of the string orchestra who are students or alumni of South Side are Bob Wiehe, Hilda Schubert, Betty Elberson, Ruth Dauner, Loretta Rinearson, and Faye Gumpfer.

Other South Side students or alumni of the symphony are Betty Nichols, Dorothy Rutz, Frances Weir, Dave Link, John Meyers, Velma Connott, Thelma Pfeiffer, and Dick Virts.

Members of the Lions Club who are assisting with final plans include David H. Gerig, Dr. O. K. Hilty, the Rev. Howard J. Brown, F. A. Schack, Clarence Wefel, and James Dailey. School representatives who are assisting in the concert plans are Miss Virginia Kinnaird of Central; Miss Blanche Hutto of South Side; and Varner M. Chance and Everett Pennington of North Side.

The organization was organized last spring by Mr. Bailhe with the full cooperation of Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of public schools, City School Board, and members of the music departments of the high schools.

Tickets may be purchased from any Lions Club member, member of the orchestra, in the home rooms of the schools, and from the principals of the schools.

Election To Be Topic At Social Sci Meeting

Marjorie Sheldon and Ralph Herb will present the political issues of the coming election at Social Science's meeting on November 1. There will be no meeting this week due to Teachers' Convention. Dues are to be paid as soon as possible to Ruth Dauner, secretary.

"Susie Flirt" Has Gay Time At Dance Given By S Men

"Gee! It was divine! Rally it was! I never realized how wonderful it was to be a bug in a rug until I was wrapped up in the arms of that great big handsome football player! Rally I didn't!" drawled Susie Flirt after the tea dance given by the Lettermen's Club recently.

You see, Susie had "rally" fallen hard for a handsome "brute" who plays football, and it was to her extreme delight when she received her invitation to this first lettermen's dance.

Giddy Susie went on with her story by telling what marvelous tactics her beautiful boy-friend used when she flirted with the ticket boy. "Why he practically jerked my arm off when he pulled me away, but it was kinda nice!" she exclaimed. Although he nearly strangled her and stepped all over her wedges, Susie said he danced simply divinely.

"And when another beau brummed cut in Jimmie just tackled him and that was the end of it," Susie further drawled. "Of course," she said, "the program and orchestra were awfully entertaining, too, but then, so was Jimmie!"

From this you can see what loads of fun these tea dances are, and the future why not make them a "must" on your list of amusements?

Two Boy Riflers Shoot 100 At Match Monday

Edmond Bauer and Art Puff scored 100 at the rifle match Monday night in their match. This was the first match of the Junior Club League. John Myers shot 99, Joe Bekius 98, Dick Hornberger 95, Dick Theye 95, Clifford Springer 95, Norman Carbaugh 94, Everette Trulock 91, and John Cleland 88.

Seven other riflemen tried to rate among the first ten. Their practice scores were Dick Brintzenhoff 94, Phil Channes 94, Art Gigax 92, David Bastian 90, George Waldschmidt 89, Jack Grosvenor 86, and Tom Young 84.

Math-Sci Holds Halloween Party

Safford McMyler Acts As Master Of Ceremonies; Dance, Games Constitute Evening Program

Apple cider, doughnuts, and candy in keeping with the festive occasion of the season were served at the Math-Science Halloween Party Friday evening in the Greeley Room from 7:30 to 11 o'clock.

Safford McMyler, president, presided as master of ceremonies; Jim Brooks and Elaine Hirsch served on the entertainment committee. Prizes were awarded to masked members. The winners were Evelyn Erickson, Bob Wylie, and Roger McVay. Jean Stewart was awarded a prize because no one was able to identify her.

The program consisted of dancing and other entertainment. Gloria Stanley was in charge of the refreshments. Working with her were Faye Gumpfer, Janet Holtmeyer, and Elaine Hirsch.

Archers Defeat Irish 22 to 6 In First City Series Tangle

First, Final Periods See Green Score

Blanking Record Of Giftmen Broken In Last 30 Seconds By 82-Yard Dash

Displaying a well-rounded offensive and a stubborn defense, the Archers safely notched their first city series victory over a hard fighting Central Catholic team, 22 to 6. Coach Gift's gridders tallied 9 points in the first quarter and 14 markers in the fourth; the Irish scored in the last quarter.

The Archers had successfully defended their scoreless record for 59 minutes last Saturday; however, the Irish broke the spell in the last 30 seconds of play.

Archers Score Early

In the first quarter the Archers scored early. On the first play after Halback Shimer booted the kickoff, the Levickians attempted a pass play. Bill Siebold, Archer end, intercepted the ball on the Central Catholic 30-yard line. The Archers drove deep into Central Catholic territory before losing the ball; but soon the Archer forward wall charged through to cause a blocked punt in the end zone which resulted in a safety. This break gave the Green a 3 to 0 lead.

Bob Englehart returned the Central Catholic "free kick" to the C. C. 48. After Chick Shimer and Chuck Close drove through the Irish line to the 20-yard line, the Archers hit pay dirt in four plays. Chuck Close plunged 9 yards through center, and Shimer followed with a 2-yard end sweep. With the ball resting on the 3, Bob Englehart cut off right tackle for a 2-yard gain; and, following this, Chuck Close tallied the first Archer touchdown on a center plunge. Jim Straley converted the extra point.

Second Quarter Even

In the second quarter the Giftmen and Irish played an even tangle; the Irish failed to pass the Archer 35, but the Archers drove deep into C.C. territory on three different occasions. Early in the period the Green cleaters reached the 19-yard line, only to be stopped by an alert C. C. forward wall. Later in the frame the Archers twice drove inside of the Irish 35; however, the Kelly Klads were unable to strike with any degree of success on the ground or in the air.

Early in the third quarter the Archers again failed to count when inside the Irish 10-yard line. After Shimer drove inside of the Irish 35, carrying the ball deep into the Central Catholic pay stripes, the Archer offensive was stilled long enough for the Irish to take the ball on downs.

Pass Leads To Score

At the start of the fourth quarter the Green and White footballers had possession of the pigskin on the C. C. 45-yard stripe. Chick Shimer then rifled a long pass to Bob Englehart, and the fleet Archer halfback was finally checked on the Catholic 20-yard line. Chuck Close picked up 14 yards in three center plunges, and Bob Englehart circled the Irish 35; 1-yard line. Captain Chuck Close again scored for the Green. Jim Straley's kick for the extra point was blocked.

Quarterback Straley kicked off for the Archers; and after the Irish fumbled the high kick, center Vic Moeller recovered for South Side. Before the Irish players and fans had recovered from this setback, Bob Englehart looped a 38-yard pass to Gene McClain. This aerial placed the ball on the C. C. 2. Gene McClain scored from this point, giving the Archers victory insurance.

Jim Straley booted a perfect placement to settle the issue. With the game going into the final minute, the Archers punted the Irish back to their goal. Tony Zurzola, in safety position, received the ball on the Irish 18-yard line and streaked down the west sideline to shatter the scoreless record of the Green.

Fourteen Archers Arrive At Northwestern Now

Fourteen students from South Side High School are among the 6,300 students admitted to Northwestern University this fall. Because Northwestern University is a private institution, it has been able to maintain a selective process as a result of which only those students are admitted who seem most able to profit from what the University has to offer. More than half the students admitted are from the upper quarter of their high school classes. The Northwestern students from South Side include Don M. Gable, Leslie James Johnson, Jerome Douglas Lebr, Ellen Anne McKay, Bruce Bradbury, Billie Delores Eichhoff, Robert William Adams, Vera Mae Hathaway, Margaret Helen Cox, Ray Reginald Roadcap, Robert Frygme Storm, William Paul Riethmiller, Richard Charles Rastetter, and Richard Ross LaMar.

Kelly Kounters

For the second successive week-end, the South Side gridmen gained over 200 yards on their devastating rushing attack. As the figures indicate, the Green and White footballers held a slight advantage over the Irish in both passing and kicking. Directly below are the counters on the Archer-Irish tussle.

	S.S.	C.C.

Central High Has Busy Week

Bengals' Schedule Cards Games With Two Tough Foes, Huntington Vikings, New Castle

Central's fighting Tigers, completing a busy week of football competition, are scheduled to meet two tough foes this week. The Bengals move to Huntington tonight to engage the rampaging Vikings, while on Friday evening the Blue gridders will play host to New Castle at the South Side stadium.

Huntington's team is expected to provide the Bengals with a severe test; however, the New Castle squad is not regarded as being capable of giving the Centralites a tough battle. Central will definitely have trouble this evening at Huntington, for the Vikings have been pointing all year for the powerful Port Wayne's team. The Vikings have piled up 50-point advantage over three foes this year. Last Friday the Crowmen whipped the Garrett Railroaders, 58 to 0. Coach Murray Mendenhall will start his usual backfield of Leon, Rice, Sitko, and Stanski; Huntington's backfield will be comprised of Gallbraith, Overmire, Overholt, and Grossman. The game will be played on Kreighbaum Field at Huntington, starting at 8 p. m.

When "Strings" Allen brings his light but scrappy New Castle squad here on Friday, the Bengals expect to be more than ready to meet any threat of their southern foes. This contest will end Central's busiest week. Starting last Friday afternoon, the Bengals will have played four ball games come next Saturday.

Kellies Agree That Plays Are Needed In All Pep Sessions

Again your roving reporter records your thoughts. Do we need skits at our pep sessions? Yes? Well, other people think so, too. In fact, here are some of their opinions:

Mary Jo Sites: Oh, yes! I think they're darling.

Laverne Michelfelder: Yes. They add life and entertainment to the pep sessions.

Olive Swanson: Yes. Makes the periods shorter.

Alice Sweet: Sure! They pep up assembly.

Bill Miller: Sure. But an all-girl cast should be chosen for such an entertaining event.

Roger Busch: Yes. Creates interest in pep sessions. They're something to look forward to.

"Gus" Feistkorn: There aren't any good actors in South Side, but I'm in favor of skits anyway.

Wando Bowman: Yes! I think they are fun.

"Red" Bradley: Yes! Then the sessions aren't so boring.

Gloria Axt: Definitely! I like the sessions a lot better then.

Dorothy Allen: Yes! I think they're cute. They always tickle me.

Mary Brandyberry: Yes. Makes the sessions more fun.

Erleen Lee: Yes. They add variety.

Harold Bodenborn: They should have skits when we have pep sessions.

Tagball Tourney Nears Completion

Contest In Last Round; Middle, Lightweight Groups Led By Super Prunes, Dogpatchers

Boys' mural tagball tourney, which started three weeks ago, has progressed very rapidly and is now in the second and last round of the tournament. Three teams were entered in the middleweight division, two were entered in the lightweight division, and seven were signed up for the heavy-weight division.

In the middleweight division, quite a lot of action has been seen with the Super Prunes winning the first round and becoming chief favorites for winning the championship. To win the championship of the first round the Super Prunes beat the Easy Aces 8-6 and the Outlaws with a score of 6 to 0.

In the second round the championship will be between the Super Prunes and the winner of the Easy Aces-Outlaws game. Only two teams participated in the lightweight division and these were the Mixed Nuts and the Dogpatchers. The Dogpatchers conquered the Mixed Nuts in both games with an overwhelming score, making the Dogpatchers the 1940 tagball champions of the lightweight division.

In the heavyweight division the championship of the first round is between the Blitzkriegers and the Nine Hares. The Blitzkriegers beat the Bulldogs 13 to 0, and the Musketeers 12 to 6. In obtaining a tying position with the Blitzkriegers, the NO beat the Nine Hares 7 to 0 and the RAF, 14 to 6.

Goal Dust by Bob Young

ARCHERS AIM AT REDSKINS

After turning back a good Irish squad last week, the Kelly Klads are rarin' to go against the North Side Redskins. In power and speed the Redskins definitely have the advantage, but the hard hitting Archers must be accorded an edge in competitive drive and spirit. Bob Young, who kicks and passes with his right members, and speedy Bob Cowan, who tosses and kicks from the left side, are the stand out performers on the big Red squad. Coach Gift has two packages of offensive dynamite in Chick Shimer and Bob Englehart. The Archers are undoubtedly the underdogs, but the Kelly Klads are more than capable of pulling some fast ones on the big North Siders. Wayne Gift will put a good, scrappy team in there on Friday night. Get out there and give the Archers a push, for the Gifted Archers are definitely still in the city race.

"MAC" AND "BALDY" STAR

After Bill Moss took over at Stumtleff College, Archers Byron McCammon and LeRoy Cook followed the former Archer mentor to the school. Just as the duo were the spark plugs of the South Side gridders of 1939, so are they starting in collegiate roles. "Baldy" Cook is playing center, and "Mac" is being used as the blocking back. All Archerdom was proud of Cook and McCammon last year, and this year in college the former Archers have the well wishes for a great season from all South Siders.

"STAR OF THE WEEK"—Perhaps many of you feel that Jim Straley was not the star of the week; however, Jim has earned the right to be

Horseshoe Clash Names Winners

List Haines, Hirschy, Bredemeyer As Leaders In Heavy, Middle, Lightweight Groups

The horseshoe tournament has drawn to a close leaving Haines, Hirschy, and Bredemeyer on the top of the heavy, middle, and lightweight divisions, respectively. Haines had the longest road, but he downed all five of his contestants rather easily. He did not lose a single game throughout the entire tournament, and the closest game he played was with Trott, whom he defeated 21-14 and 21-6. He then advanced to the semifinals where he dropped Thompson, in two straight games by the scores of 21-5 and 21-12. In the first bracket Strobel defeated Vonderau 21-18 and 21-18. Haines then met Strobel, winning the first bracket, for the championship of the heavyweight division. Haines again won two straight, 21-13, and 21-3, to capture the crown.

In the middleweight division, Hirschy came out victorious. However, he had to defeat one contestant, Russell, whom he had a hard time with. After losing the first game 21-10, Hirschy came back barely to nose out Russell by the scores of 21-20 and 21-19. Hiner, the champion of the second bracket, then forfeited the championship to Hirschy.

There were only three entries in the lightweight division, Fortness, Bredemeyer, and Hambrook. Bredemeyer defeated Hambrook 21-17 and 21-12. Bredemeyer then took the crown by defeating Fortness in two out of three games.

Archer Gridders To Clash With North Side Friday Night

Giftmen Hope To Be Victors Over Redskins

Northern Athletic Field To Be Scene Of Second City Series Battle For Green

After whipping a good Central Catholic team in their first city series appearance, the South Side Archers will make a definite threat to tomahawk the leading Redskins on Friday night. The important city series battle is slated for the North Side field at 8 p. m.

With the city race in its closing stages, the title chase is still a wide-open affair. South Side has one victory over local foes; North Side has two victories; the Central Tigers have won one game and lost one, while the Irish of Central Catholic have dropped all of their three title tilts.

South Side's gridders can annex the city laurels by winning from both North and Central; however, the race could end in a tie if the Archers should trip North Side but lose to Central. The Redskins need only a win over the Giftmen to again capture the city title.

Archers Win Four Straight

South Side's Gifted Archers have played four games with good teams, and on each occasion the Green gridders have come through with victories. The powerful North Side squad has also gone undefeated. Coach Nulf's eleven has been scored on but twice this year, Central's Bengals and Whiting's big Oilers making the full tally; however, only the Irish of Central Catholic have failed on the Green. North Side will employ speed and a great blocking line against the Green; the Archers will strike back with their usual fine ground game and with their fine kicking.

North Side's powerhouse, charged by backs Bob Cowan and Bob Young, should accord the Red wave an advantage in speed and deception. The Archers can count on their capable quarterbacking and solid defense to quell the Northern threat. Coach Gift will send Jim Straley, Chick Shimer, Bob Englehart, and Chuck Close into the backfield to check this potent foursome. Coach Bob Nulf is expected to start Kay Short, Bob Cowan, Bob Young, and Mike Bojinnoff.

Blocking Of Both Good

The blocking for the ball carriers of both squads is of the highest caliber. For the Indians have big Kay Short and Mike Bojinnoff, while the South Siders possess two capable blockers in Bob Englehart and Jim Straley.

If North Side employs its newly acquired spread formation, Bob Cowan and Bob Young will alternate in tossing the aerials. The South Side passing game will be centered around Chick Shimer and Bob Englehart. North Side's punting will be done by Cowan; the Archer booting is dependent upon Chick Shimer's accurate foot. Although the Redskins possess the speed and passing attack, the Archers will have a distinct advantage on their line blocking and kicking.

Crowd Is Assured

A capacity crowd of four thousand fans are expected for the Friday night game. Adult tickets are on sale at both schools, and also may be purchased at the gate.

Girls' Sportsettes

Congratulations go to Jeanne Smith, Marian Faux, and Gloria Chadorette for winning the tennis championship in GAA.

Barbara Cross, Barbara Scudder, and Julia Kaser came in 1-2-3 in the golf tournament.

A small white wire-haired terrier was the chief attraction during the second period gym class Wednesday. He stole the speedball from the girls on the field and held up the games, then came into the gym and entertained everyone by having his own game on the gym floor.

Basketball will start in all gym classes and GAA next week.

Gloria Kramer and Marjorie Williams danced and Joan Dodge played the marimba, Thelma Draper and Eileen Franke played the accordion, Wilma Kello, Nieona Reinhold and Betty Lou Stein sang at the GAA Halloween Party last Friday night.

Archers Need To Conquer These Redskins To Win Fifth Straight

Tigers Outsmart Shortridge 14-0

Sitko And Leon Shine Again In Victory Over Indianapolis, Though Blue Is Outrushed

Using a passing and running attack from a puzzling widespread formation, the Central Tigers conquered the powerful Shortridge Blue Devils last Friday afternoon at the northern gridiron with a score of 14 to 0.

From the crack of the starting gun to the middle of the third quarter, both teams jockeyed for positions but no scoring was accomplished. Then the Blue Devils heard the Tigers roar when two 30-yard aerials, the first from Red Sitko to Fred Shaw and the second from Johnny Leon to Fred Shaw, carried the Tigers to the Shortridge 3-yard stripe. The Blue Devils promptly exhibited a brave goal line defense, but the Tigers, using a spread formation, scored when Johnny Leon plunged through right guard on the fourth attempt. Red Sitko then converted the point by placement, giving Central the lead with a score of 7 to 0.

Just seconds later the Tigers obtained possession of the ball when the Blue Devils fumbled upon receiving the kickoff and the Centralites recovered on the Shortridge 41-yard line. Red Sitko, Central's sensational left halfback, then dodged a thrilling 27 yards around right end and was finally stopped on the 13-yard line.

Red Sitko promptly hurled a short pass in the end zone where Fred Shaw managed to snatch the ball from the fingertips of two Shortridge players who had the ball in their hands, but failed to hang on to it. The point was again converted by Sitko, giving the Tigers their score of 14 to 0.

The Blue Devils exhibited a powerful running attack, threatening the Tigers twice, once in the second period and again in the third quarter.

Shortridge's Blue Devils outrushed the Tigers 202 to 111 yards, giving them 14 first downs to Central's 8, but they couldn't break through that rugged defense even when deep in the Tigers' territory.

Redskins Defeat Capital Cathedral

Northerners Win Over Indianapolis Squad 18-0; Bob Cowan Is Highest Nulfman Scorer

While the Central Tigers were whipping a strong Indianapolis public school team, the powerful North Side Redskins romped over a good Cathedral team at Indianapolis, 18 to 0. The big Red squad tallied once in every quarter but the third.

Early in the initial period the Indians of North Side drove 65 yards to a score. Bob Cowan counted the first score on a 6-yard end run. Coach Nulf's charges scored via a poor kick in the closing minutes of the first half.

Score On Poor Kick

When the Cathedral team was forced to kick out of danger, the punter was forced into making a hurried boot. The ball popped 10 yards into the air, and Lombard of the Redskins carried the ball over the goal.

Late in the fourth quarter the Fort Wayne powerhouse again charged through with a 65-yard rush. Using a modified spread with running and passing plays, the Reds drove to the Cathedral 5- from where Cowan scored the third touchdown.

North Side and Cathedral both used their first strings throughout the fray; but the Redskins looked considerably bigger and more experienced than their southern foes.

Three More Entrants Sign For IM Golf Contest

Three names have been added to the seventeen already signed up for the intramural golf tournament. These were Bob Bushman, Art Longworth, and Kirk Brown. The tournament is being played at the Foster Park Municipal Course. This tourney was divided into two groups, 130 pounds over and under. Promising contestants in the heavyweight division are Art Longworth, Henry Schaff, and Don Parkinson. In the lightweight department Ed Wade looks pretty tough. So far only six scores have been recorded. These are: Tom Rehner, 104; Bob Shannon, 119; Bob Hansel, 124; Tom Deal, 113; Jim Steiner, 119, and Dick Hirschy, 107.

Central Bengals Down Shortridge

Tigers Vanquish Blue Devils By Tally Of 14-0 After Clawing Through Scoreless First Half

With their vaunted spread offensive running in high gear, the Central Tigers defeated a game Shortridge eleven, 14 to 0 Friday afternoon at the North Side field.

The Bengals were held scoreless in the first two quarters, but in the third period the down-town gridders scored their two markers in quick succession. Although the big Indianapolis eleven held a distinct advantage in weight and experience, the Fort Wayne footballers ran and passed effectively through the southern giants.

During the first quarter, neither squad was able to near the opponent's goal. In the second period the Blue Devils drove deep into the Tiger territory on two occasions; however, the Bengals' big forward wall soon thwarted the short lived threats.

Blue Passes Effective

In the third quarter the Tigers clawed viciously with their passing attack. After an exchange of punts, the Centralites began to roll. Red Sitko rifled a 30-yard pass to end Fritz Shaw, and Johnny Leon followed with a pass of 25 yards to the same wing. The two perfect aerials placed the ball on the Shortridge 3-. After three wide-spread plays failed, John Leon cut over guard for the first score. Red Sitko converted for the extra point.

The Bengals kicked off to the Blue Devils, who fumbled the run back of the kick. After Tackett retrieved the loose ball, the Bengals drove down to the Indianapolis 23-yard marker. Sitko then faded back and heaved a wild pass to Shaw in the end zone for the second marker.

Grabs Blocked Pass

On the pass play, two Shortridge backfield guardians had blocked the ball into the air; but, Shaw grabbed the pikekin as it was blocked earthward. Sitko again converted.

Johnny Leon and Red Sitko played a good ball game for Central, and Mitchell and Benjamin looked tough for the Devils. Since the Centralites so thoroughly outpassed and maneuvered their classy foes, the Tigers are once more in the class of the state's finest teams.

Manager Sponsors Plan To Honor All South Side Athletics

Walnut shields with bronze plates inscribed with scores of all games and honors won by Archer teams in all sports are to be placed in South Side, if the plan of Ora M. Davis, faculty manager of athletics, is adopted.

His plan for permanent records of all Archer sports calls for sixteen plates placed on three different shields. Engraved on the bronze plaques will be the games won and lost and the achievements gained by the teams. In addition, the scores of city series battles with Central and North Side and, in the future, the scores of every game in all the sports are to be engraved.

To teachers who wish to leave a memorial to themselves and to clubs which are interested in this worthwhile project, Mr. Davis will be very glad to explain in detail. The bronze plaques cost $3.50 each. Sixteen will be needed at present; more can be purchased later. The name of the donor is engraved on a separate plaque to the six other plates. The shields will be made in the shop and placed near Mr. Flint's office.

Mr. Davis himself made this statement concerning the project, "I am offering an opportunity to those who wish to do so to help provide us with the means of perpetuating our athletic history and, at the same time, leave a suitable memorial within our halls to themselves."

So-Si-Y Presents Patriotic Meeting "Me And Democracy" Theme Discussed By Lucy Osborne; Five Committee Heads Named

Miss Lucy Osborne led the discussion on the theme "Me And Democracy" at the meeting of the So-Si-Y group, Tuesday night. The members were divided into groups with a head at each. Betty Horstmeier, Bernadine Pressler, Louise Hawk, Constance Hirschy, and Dorothy Saalfrank were the heads of the various committees. Each group was given a number of five questions which the five heads answered for their whole group.

Mary Whittier sang "I Am An American". The group sang "America", "God Bless America" and "My Country 'Tis of Thee". Marguerite Calkins led the group in the community singing.

The divine service was led by Marie Schultz, who read the "Recessional". Wanda Bowman played softly at the piano during the receding.

Dorothy Saalfrank, chairman, and her committee of Mary Glander, Patricia Smith, Wanda Rohlfing, Marie Schultz, Marjorie Hopkins, Esther Schuler, and Marie Lebanoff had charge of the meeting.

Refreshments consisting of juice, doughnuts, cider, and Halloween candy.

February 21—Jeffersonville game pep session.

February 27—Tournament pep session.

Chuck Close Captained Archers In Irish Fray

Chuck Close was appointed captain of last Saturday's football game with the Irish by Mr. Wayne Gift, football coach, at the pep session held last Friday.

At this assembly Chuck, having been called to the gymnasium floor, assured the students that South Side would do its best to win the three remaining games since the team then had three down and four to win.

Chuck concluded his short talk by giving the coach deserved credit for his fine supervision and instruction which contributed a great deal in winning the games.

Mr. Wayne Gift was again introduced to the student body by James McClure. The football coach told jokes and also some of the good qualities of the senior football players.

Both Mr. Gift and Chuck Close emphasized the importance of the student body to support the team by attending the games.

The school yells were led by cheer leaders and music was provided by the South Side band.

Hi-Y Announces Plan Of Sponsoring Plaque

The sponsoring of a plaque bearing the record of North Side, South Side, and Central in city series competition was announced at the last meeting of Hi-Y, Thursday, October 17. This is to be done as a service to the school, it was decided.

Dues were paid to the treasurer and orders for Hi-Y pins were also taken by him. Tentative plans for a potluck were announced. Hi-Y decided not to have a meeting this Thursday because of the vacation due to teachers' convention.

Ex-Archer Presents Concert

Kathleen Witmer, '38, was enrolled in the Juilliard School of Music in New York for the summer course. She studied with Sascha Gordinzki, pianist. This summer she also presented a concert at the Women's Club. While at South Side, she received a gold medal in the State Music Contest.

Latin Students To Sing Songs At Convention

Playlet Will Be Presented By South Siders; Kelly Teachers Help Program

Students from the Latin department of South Side will sing Latin songs at the Latin section meeting of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers Association tomorrow at 11:30 o'clock at the Trinity English Lutheran Church.

The songs rendered will be "Gypsy Sweetheart", music by Victor Herbert and lyrics by Smith; "Adeste Fidelis", author unknown, written during the thirteenth century; and Rubenstein's "Melody in F".

The following students, with Laura Grazer, pianist, and June Flaig, harpist, will sing the selections: Mary Bowlby, Ruth Ann Doll, June Flaig, Grace Ealing, Doretha Gildea, Gene Lou Harges, Ellen Harry, Janet Holtmeyer, Katherine Kuntz, Keith Lakey, Betty Medsker, Ellen Motz, John Olcott, Howard Schneider, Violet Steinbauer, Ivan Truman, John Virts, Carol Whittier, Bob Young and Bob Zimmerman.

Mary Jane Whittier will sing a solo in Latin entitled "Gounod's 'Ave Maria'", accompanied by Ruth Dauner at the piano.

The Trial of the Latin Language is the Latin playlet also to be presented by the Latin students at this meeting. The play centers around the character of Latin Language whom Modern Society wishes to imprison. Characters who come to the rescue of the Latin Language are English Language, Religion, Music, and Science. The following students will present the play: Paul Keil, judge; Ellen Harry, Latin Language; Wilbur McNulty, prosecuting attorney; Dick Bailhe, defending attorney; Mary Bowlby, English Language; Bob Young, Science; Janis Tremper, Music; Ann Haller, Religion; Patricia Underhill, Modern Society; and Bob Zimmer, officer.

Prof. Bruno Meinecke, associate professor of Latin at the University of Michigan, will lecture at the Thursday afternoon sectional meeting of Latin teachers at the Trinity English Lutheran church on "Music Among the Greeks and Romans". The lecture will be accompanied by original arrangements of ancient Greek themes demonstration with the violin and piano. Professor Meinecke will also talk informally at the luncheon preceding the afternoon lecture. The appointments of the luncheon will carry out the musical theme.

WHY HOME RULE IS SO IMPORTANT IN GOVERNMENT

Local government is the foundation of good national government. When you destroy home rule, you weaken the entire structure. Our great nation is the product of the local community and not the local community the product of the nation.

SO LONG AS WE MAINTAIN STRONG LOCAL GOVERNMENT WE WILL NEVER HAVE A SUCCESSFUL REVOLUTION NOR WILL IT BE POSSIBLE FOR ANY MAN TO MAKE HIMSELF A DICTATOR.

Counties and Townships are the exemplification of home rule where the governed see, meet and know those who do the governing. Dishonesty cannot exist nearly as long in the small unit as in the larger unit because the taxpayer can look the spender of his money in the eye. If the official does not handle his office properly, he will be effectively dealt with at the next election.

False propaganda and agitation for larger units leaves the casual impression that they are more economical and efficient, but concentration into large units promotes dishonesty and waste. In fact, the more remote a unit of government is from those governed and ruled, the more autocratic control you will find.

THE FARTHER WE GET AWAY FROM THE PRINCIPLE OF HOME RULE, THE GREATER THE ADMISION OF INABILITY TO GOVERN THEMSELVES.

Centralized government is a graft breeder. Experience shows centralization gives power to the small politician in a manner that local officials would never attempt to use. It destroys responsibility of citizenship.

Local units eventually pay for anything and everything in government including the bills for local use to the highest state and national units. They should at least have something to say about it.

Under centralization, if you want to complain about any subject of government and its administration, you must call on many different persons who are expert buck-passers. UNDER HOME RULE, YOU CAN EASILY FIND THE KEY MAN IN YOUR OWN NEIGHBORHOOD.

Juniors Re-choose Miss Hazel Miller, Mr. Lloyd Whelan

Dates Are Given For Activities; Banquet Set For November 29, From May 2

Sophomores Select
May 9 For Party

Miss Lucy Osborne, Mr. A. Verne Flint Are Named Soph Year Class Advisers

Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan, and Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. A. Verne Flint have been selected advisers of the junior and sophomore classes, respectively. Miss Miller and Mr. Whelan have served as sponsors of the junior classes for the past fifteen years. Miss Osborne served as sophomore adviser last year.

Class officers made the selections, proposing them to Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, for O. K. Selections are a part of the officers' activities. The sophomore officers made their choices on Monday afternoon and juniors on Tuesday afternoon.

Advisers Are Active
Miss Miller teaches general history, U. S. history, and civics. On Tuesday nights she is found at the So-Si-Y meetings, of which she is adviser. Physical geography is taught by Mr. Whelan, who is also adviser of Math-Science.

Advisers of the sophomore class are also active in extra-curricular work. Miss Osborne specializes in English, and Mr. Flint in mathematics. Inter-Club Congress, Lettermen's, and Service Clubs occupy the time Mr. Flint isn't teaching.

Ralph Shimer, president; Roger McVay, vice-president; Marilyn Loomis, secretary-treasurer; Mary Ellen Barrett, Joan Cox, and Sam Johnson, social council, comprise the junior officers.

Betty McKay heads the sophomore class. Victor Kaufman and Marian Faux are the sophomore vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Members of the social council are Marcella Schwartz, Richard Shriner, and Dorothy McPherson.

Events Scheduled
Two activities of the junior class are the Junior Banquet on November 29 and the Junior Prom to be held on May 2. The only event of the sophomore class will be its Sophomore Party on May 9.

The advisers of the senior class were announced last week. They are Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell. Senior class officers are James McClure, president; June Flaig, vice-president; Rebecca Abbott, secretary-treasurer; and Marjorie Dyer, Marjorie Sheldon, and Dick Theye, members of the social council.

Meterite Skate Is Tomorrow Night

"Roller Rumpus" To Be Theme Of Affair At Bell's Rink; To Present Attendance Prizes

"Roller Rumpus", the Meterite skate to be given tomorrow night, will be held at Bell's Rink. The skate will start at 8 o'clock and last until 11 o'clock. "Roller Rumpus" is open to the public. A box of Mrs. Steven's candy and a fifty-cent ticket for a meal at the South Side Grill will be the attendance prizes.

Tickets may be obtained from Colleen McCarty, Marian Faux, Grace Johnson, or any other Meterite member. The price of a ticket is 30 cents. The price of a round-trip ticket on the bus is 10 cents.

The bus will leave South Side Friday night at 7:30 o'clock from the front entrance. At this time, tickets may also be purchased in front of the school. Nancy Cherry, general arrangements chairman, announced. Miss Susan Peck and Miss Martha Pittenger will be cheerleaders.

The committees in charge of the skate are as follows: Attendance prizes, Mary Current and Rose Marie Vogel; ticket committee, Marian Faux and Colleen McCarty; general arrangements, Nancy Cherry, Barbara Leas, and Nancy Fishering; and refreshments, Connie Harrison, Jacqueline Bock, Patty Rhodes, Mary Current, and Rose Marie Vogel.

Posters advertising the skate have been posted in the halls.

Senior Scout Themes
Are Dancing, Knitting

Dancing and knitting were chosen prizes for the semester's meetings of the Senior Scout. Dancing and knitting will alternate during the semester, the scouts planned at their last meeting.

Dancing will be taught to the girls by Gloria Kramer, representative of the Dance Club, at the next meeting. Wash cloths will be knit at the meeting following that on November 20, for the Red Cross. The Red Cross will furnish the string for the cloths, but knitting needles are to be furnished by the girls. Betty Dice will have charge of all programs throughout the semester.

Alaskan Paper Displayed

The Daily Alaska Empire, a newspaper from Juneau, Alaska, was posted in the Times office last week. It was given to Miss Rowena Harvey, publications adviser, by Miss Eleanor Smeltz, resigned history teacher at South Side, who has recently returned from Alaska.

Mrs. Lillian Scott Finds Humor,
Trouble In Archer Study Hall

"Past! Look at that blond in G-11. Hot dog!" "Pass this note over, will you?" These quotations are but a few of the many that the little man who wasn't there could hear if he came into our Room S. In an interview with Mrs. Lillian Scott, Room S supervisor, she said that even including all the talking "all the talking" is a rather unfair statement because there is really very little talking in "S" it was the quietest spot in the building.

Almost every day something either funny or out of the ordinary happens. The other day right in the midst of a quiet study period—a dog walked in, sniffed around the desks and calmly proceeded to walk up one of the aisles. Meanwhile the whole group was laughing so hard they could hardly keep from rolling in the aisles themselves. This is only one of the daily incidents.

It Was Frightful
Last week, with everybody quietly studying, someone let out an awful scream. Immediately, Mrs. Scott and the class as a whole ran to the aid of the person who had screamed. There right in the middle of the floor in front of the room, was a huge centipede (to all dopes, centipede means one-thousand legged worm). After calming all the excitement, the bug was finally exterminated.

Social Science
Lists Winners
Of Bank Day

Phyllis Westerman, Bob Wylie, Fred Schwiwer Are Given Campaign Prizes

Phyllis Westerman of Home Room 60 was announced as the first bank day winner in the Social Science Magazine Campaign. For her efforts she was awarded a ticket to the North Side-South Side football game and double credits for the subscriptions she had sold.

Bob Wylie, of Home Room 56, was announced as the second bank day winner for October 28. On October 28 Fred Schwiwer of Home Room 102 was announced as the third winner and for his efforts he received a $5 bill. On October 22 Home Room 60 was awarded candy bars for having the largest number of subscriptions, Home Room 144 on October 23 received candy bars and on October 28 Home Room 102 was awarded candy bars for their efforts.

Prizes Given
Yesterday $5 was given to the student having the largest subscription total. Tomorrow a prize will be given to the student having the most subscriptions. Students in the campaign who have the most subscriptions are Westerman and Helen Shotemeyer.

Fred Schwiwer on October 28, the day he won the prize, turned in a total of $26 for magazine subscriptions. His grand total for money turned in for magazine subscriptions is $41. If the visual education department has to pay the postage on the films the teachers ordered, the first $26 that Fred Schwiwer turned in would allow it to show approximately 320,000 feet of film. That $26, if spent for a one-year subscription to the Indiana University's Motion Picture Division would allow 60 reels of films to the teachers. Teachers pay only postage and students are allowed to see movies free of charge. It should not be very hard for each student in South Side to bring in at least $1 worth of subscriptions if they make any effort at all, department heads stated. In the end, it is not teachers who receive the benefits of this magazine campaign, but the students of South Side.

Money Will Buy Films
This money will also be used to make moving pictures of activities in South Side. Ben Harris and Dick Theye have taken pictures of the Central Catholic-South Side football game and these are being shown in the home rooms by Dick Theye. If any home room teacher desires to see these films he is asked to come to the visual education office to make an appointment. The goal of the production committee is to purchase a camera which can be adjusted to take slow motion pictures of football games and other activities in South Side.

The campaign will end tomorrow, but magazine subscriptions can still be turned in Monday morning. A prize may be awarded to the student having the highest subscription total next Monday, officials said.

Scholars Leave,
Enter South Side

Six Students Came Into School,
Withdrawals Are Ten In Second Month; Names Announced

Ten students have withdrawn from South Side in comparison to six who have entered during the second month of school. Those who have withdrawn are Helen Weitzman, married; Homer Clendenen, working; Albert Keel, ill; Harry Feaser, entered Central High School; Robert Baals, needed at home; Sam Buchanan, working; Bob Cragg, looking for work; Ralph Krohne, joined the army; Grace Smith, moved to Patterville, Michigan; and Lois Hook, who returned to her former school.

Students who have entered South Side late are Clarence Dager, post-graduate; Eleanor Alvather, ill; Richard Getty, entered from Central High School; Paula Hartman, moved from New Haven, Indiana, to Fort Wayne; James Richards, withdrawn from Central High School; and Winston Witmer, moved to Fort Wayne from Leo, Indiana.

Mrs. Scott, as do all teachers who have charge of admitting children who have been ill, invariably receives weird excuses from children who seek admittance to school. Mrs. Scott told about one excuse she received the other day. Someone was ill the afternoon of the Central-Southbridge game. You will have to admit that that excuse did rather smell of hering. There's always the person who feels sick and says he needs a little fresh air. The only bad thing about this is that he goes out for air and doesn't come back.

Freshmen Were Green
One of the biggest troubles Mrs. Scott has had so far this year is with the freshmen. They are always getting the wrong books and have to go to their lockers, which always causes trouble. We believe that Mrs. Scott deserves a great deal of credit for her work in the study hall. She probably handles more students than any other teacher. We think we should be grateful to her for having a quiet place for us to study.

Seniors Will Take Orders On Friday

Three seniors will be working at a table in the front hall Friday during the fifth period and immediately after school to take senior picture orders and subscriptions for the Totem, 1941.

All students who wish to get their names in gold upon the cover of their Totem must have paid at least 25 cents by tomorrow!

Subscribe at the table in the front hall tomorrow!

Faculty Group
Divides Force
In Small Units

First Meeting Of Teaching
Staff Is Held Monday;
Group Chairmen Named

Division of the teaching force into smaller units has been made by the Professional Faculty Committee. This division will make thorough discussion much more practical than was possible under the system of having all meet together, it is believed.

The following is a list of the groups as a result of the division. Mr. C. A. Rex, chairman of one group, and the following will meet in Room 178: Miss Mary Crowe, Mr. Russell Purst, Miss George Anna Hodgson, Mr. Louis Hull, Miss Blanche Hutto, Mr. Benjamin Null, Miss Gertrude Oppelt, Miss Beulah Rinehart, Miss Gretchen Smith, and Mr. Estal Smuts.

Miss Elizabeth Kelley and her group, which consists of the following

Will Be Election

Party Leaders Are Listed For Contest To Be Held On Merits
Of Respective Candidates

Republicans and Democrats both present their arguments at political rally to be held Monday at the Wranglers meeting. Helen Ninde and Ed Meyer are chairmen of the Democratic and Republican committees, respectively.

A debate between the two parties will be given. The question to be solved, that Willie who is elected president. Speaking for the affirmative are Pat Sanford and Bob Robinson, while those on the negative side are Mary Ellen Barrett and Bud Robinson. After the debate, there will be a fifteen-minute period when an audience will be permitted to ask questions and hold a discussion.

After the debate, fifteen minutes will be given to each party. Safford, McMyler and Dick Fishering will give speeches and a demonstration for the Republican party. Ninde and her committee will also present a program for the Democrats.

Committees for the political rally are: Democrats, Helen Ninde, chairman; Joyce Craig, Warren Cook, Richard Shriner, Shirley Watts, Caroline McNabb, and Carolyn Lichtenberg; Republicans, Ed Meyer, chairman; Joyce Cleaver, Pat Sanford, Jeanne Seidel, and Kent Lentz.

Dancing Classes See
Exercises On Screen

Two color films, showing techniques and beauty of the modern dance, were shown to the dancing classes of Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean on the handball court last Monday and Tuesday.

An exercise demonstration by Harriette Ann Gray, an instructor in the Perry-Mansfield School of Modern Dance at Steamboat Springs, Colorado, was the topic of the film shown on Monday.

Classes and instructors at Steamboat Springs demonstrated the second film which was a series of exercises and modern dances. The instructors are Charles Weideman and Doris Humphrey.

Operators of the visual education department showed these films, containing scenes of the locality in which they were taken, to the various classes.

South Side Teachers
Aid NITA Convention

Teachers from South Side who were chairmen of committees for certain sections of the Northern Indiana Teachers' Association at its annual convention last week-end, are Mr. Joseph Plasket, literary secretary; Miss Mary McCloskey, literary secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke, oral English-speaker.

Other members of committees are Miss Blanche Hutto, Miss Gertrude Oppelt, and Mr. A. Verne Flint. Mr. J. W. Wainwright was director of a brass quartet for music in the literary section Friday.

Home Rooms Divided

Home Room 114 has been divided into four different classes. Mr. Benjamin Null will have Home Room 112; Mr. Lester Hostetler, Room 50; Mr. Wayne Gift, Room 174; and Mr. C. H. Murch, Home Room 176.

Vocational Director
Has Office Changed

The office of Mr. A. Verne Flint, vocational director, was changed during the teachers' convention recess to the room on the left side of the general office. This change was made so that Mr. Flint's office would be nearer the records, which are kept in the general office.

Only One Day
1941 Yearbook

With 850 Subscriptions Received, Goal Of 1,100 Expected By Friday Night

"The Totem subscription campaign closes tomorrow! Today and tomorrow are the last possible days that you can subscribe and have your name in gold placed upon your yearbook," announced John Bonsib, editor.

The subscription drive has to date been considerably more successful than in previous years with 850 sales, and it is expected that the goal of 1,100 can be reached by tomorrow night.

Picture Taking Slow
It was also announced by the staff that senior picture sales are lagging behind.

All seniors are urged to take care of this immediately so that each picture may be given the necessary retouching without rushing, thus the quality of the pictures will be much better. "Pictures are being taken every night and Saturday at the Clipper Studio at 828 1/2 Calhoun Street from 3:40 until 6 o'clock", Bonsib said.

Ends November 21

"The campaign will continue until the Wednesday before Thanksgiving (the Roosevelt Thanksgiving) which is November 20. This leaves only two weeks and four days left to pay for your picture, get an appointment, have the picture taken, return the proofs, and then have these retouched. So you should take that second step in the right direction by ordering your senior picture today.

Senior picture agents are:

Agent	Room
Eva Jean Wylie	86
Maurine Leas	67
Elaine Hirschy	70
Jean Weil and Janet Holtmeyer	79

The Senior Poll was taken yesterday in the senior home rooms by the Totem, and its results will be kept until the Totem is published next June.

Camenean Theme
Will Be Hobbies

Marjorie Roberts Is Chairman;
Members To Give Discussions
To Junior Mothers Wednesday

Hobbies will be the theme of the next meeting of Camenean Club to be held Tuesday, November 12. Marjorie Roberts is chairman. Several members of the club will discuss their hobbies at the Junior Mothers' Tea next Wednesday. Those assisting the chairman with plans for the next meeting are Lois Holzworth, Dorothy Perry, and Lois Bonebrake.

A committee was appointed to determine a definite procedure for initiation of new members and installation of officers. Chairman of this committee is Betty Pepler. Those assisting her are Joan Thomas, Betty Medsker, and Helen Dicke.

At the meeting of Camenean Club Tuesday, Margaret Brower gave a short report on the Fort Wayne Art School. Kathryn Guild mentioned the art which is located in South Side. All school members gave a short biography of some of the well-known painters and showed some of their famous paintings: Irene Meyer, Jeanette Zahn, Wilma Lageman, Reba Coppock, Marjorie Roberts, and Elaine Hirschy.

Reports were given on the following painters: Mr. Emil Carlsen, originating color schemes; Thomas Moran, nature; Charles Woodbury, the sea; Winslow Homer, water color sketches; Homer Martin, quiet landscape; and George Inness, landscape.

Some of the other painters who were mentioned are Mr. F. E. Church, Mr. Frederick Waugh, Mr. A. H. Wyant, Mr. Paul Dougherty, and Mr. Alexander Harrison.

Eva Jean Wylie gave a summarization of the talks given, and impressed the importance of the paintings presented.

South Siders Are Fortunate
In That Civics Is Required

Today, more than ever, the average American citizen has a high sense of patriotism. And to be a truly patriotic American one must be aware of the functioning of the government, for it is only through a unified, well educated nation that we can endure as a democracy. Although we of South Side are not as yet voters, we will some day be the taxpayers and voters of the nation.

We have a great advantage over the high school students in almost all the other forty-seven states in that Indiana is one of the few states which requires that a course in civics be taken by all high school seniors. At first one does not realize how important this course is but when one stops to consider that some day we will be the ones who will be leading the good old United States through thick and thin, the importance becomes obvious.

The civics teachers of South Side, Miss Van Gorder, Mr. Wilson, and Miss Miller, are all of one opinion, that good citizenship leads to good government. They also share the opinion that civics should be made a required subject in all the states in the union because, to quote Miss Van Gorder, "Many United States citizens do not know the first thing about politics and government and consequently they don't vote or they allow themselves to be influenced by the persons right around them and many times dishonest politicians are elected to office."

Very interesting indeed are the discussions that are going on in our civics classes right now. With the election just about to begin, the discussion has been on the machinery of politics and consequently the election, though partisan discussion is avoided.

The Times Extends Thanks To Those Who Sustain This Paper

As you walk down the hall Thursday morning, do you realize that seven out of ten persons you meet are carrying The Times with them? By diligent work on the part of the agents, and by splendid cooperation on the part of the student body, Times circulation has soared to new highs this year. Maybe South Side is beginning to realize the worth of its paper, or maybe the school has merely been very generous this semester; because, for some reason, the paper has scrapped old circulation records.

There has been no threat of suspension of the paper as there was last year, when, because of lack of a thousand subscriptions, the staff seriously considered halting the presses until we had a sufficient number of subscriptions to warrant further publication. There has been no neck-and-neck race between South Side and North Side for the circulation cup. This year the Times jumped ahead at the start of the campaign and maintained a commanding lead until the finish.

The success of this year's campaign is due directly to the enthusiastic support of the student body. Those seven out of ten whom you meet carrying The Times have realized the gain our school paper brings to both themselves and the school. Spurred on by student interest in subscriptions and in actual work done on The Times, the paper should go far, perhaps farther than it has ever gone towards perfecting its nearly perfect record. Thanks to you, students, for your ardent support. Your continued support will surely be of value when The Times, your own paper, sets new highs and establishes new records in the season of 1940-1941!

Due to our wholehearted appreciation of this support, our pledge ourselves to put out an even better paper than ever before. We'll try, in this way, to express the sentiments which cannot be expressed properly in words.

Here's An Analysis Of Larger Attendance At Football Games

When there's a good turnout at a home football game, it shows that we are waking up to the possibilities of the Giftmen; but when we have a good representation at our game with North Side at North Side, it signifies that we Archers are really getting enthusiastic about our grid squad. Attendance for games in our own stadium has been steadily increasing since the start of the season; however, a climax has been reached when we turn out lock, stock, and barrel and go to another school's stadium across town to see South Side play this ardent rival at his own field.

It has been said that the athletic department's purse fluctuates according to the quality of its teams. This could well be the case this season, because the Kelly Klags have been chalking up an enviable account of their football contests. Nevertheless, we believe that part, probably most of the credit for increased crowds this year has been due to a rising interest in football here and to an ever-growing attachment to Mr. Gift. It may be that the number of spectators who have no connection with the school varies directly to the skill and reputation of the team, but we Archers have enough loyalty to hang by the team, even should they receive setbacks before this season is over.

"Every block needs an alley", quoth the barber, carefully parting his customer's hair.

Yes, we had our air raiders this fall, too. But we called them mosquitoes.

It's a good thing Roosevelt's campaign doesn't depend on Times subscribers. (Willkie—499; Roosevelt—12).

Simile: As depressing as a mid-semester exam.

And did you cast your vote for your one-and-only in yesterday's senior poll?

And of course you've already had your Totem picture taken.

Last night—"I did my homework": Today—"I'm back at my old tricks": Tomorrow—"I'll again receive a U on my card."

We meant "tomorrow" in a broad sense!

We'll be seeing you at next Saturday's game with Elwood.

It's not too early to be thinking about basketball tickets.

Here's One Fellow Who Can Tell You About Those Honkey-Tonk Trains Or Slow Freights

By Lou Hallenstein

As a follow-up of our recent poll to uncover unusual hobbies, we now present without a doubt the "unusualist!" The earnest-faced senior in the above picture is none other than Roy Heavner, 12B; and the strange "wallpaper" in the background is made up of—railroad timetables!

Yes, sir, this enterprising upper-classman makes a hobby out of collecting hundreds of these railway guides. He has just about every color and every size timetable ever issued by the transportation companies. Unique is the fact that most of his timetables are duplicates, permitting him to mount half of them upon the wall of his den for a decoration.

Defines Time Tables

As a definition of a timetable, he gave the following: "A timetable is a booklet issued by a railroad giving data as to the arrival and departure schedule of all its trains. It also contains some information on railroad rates, services, and extra features." To the question, "Do you link this hobby with any other?" he replied, "Yes, I also make a collection of all clippings which refer to trains and I keep a scrapbook of famous trains. I have also in my possession many expensive railroad books such as Lucius Beebe's 'High Liners' and 'Train Tracks and Travels'."

We were impressed by Roy's ability to put them to practical use. Being also a camera fan, he travels about the country to take train pictures.

"When I am in Philadelphia," stated the rail-fan, "I can always refer to my timetables and arrive at the station in time for the picture." My interest thoroughly aroused, we viewed appreciatively his movies of the B&O fleet and Reading trains.

"Someday I hope to be on the 'main line' instead of the sideline," Roy said in regard to the specific purpose of all his ventures into the sidelines of railroading. "By learning all there is to know about trains now and furthering my education later, I hope to obtain a good position in some phase of transportation." My final question dealt with the general merits of the railroads and their future. Roy gave as a chief reason for his interest, "Railroads do more than any other industry in binding our country together and promoting good will. I believe the future of railroads lies in the hands of interested youth." And I believe that the future of the railroads lies in the hands of fellows like Roy Heavner, who are willing to learn about the industry from timetables until further opportunity presents itself.

Your Conversation

THIS WEEK

One of the surest things about life is that the greatest experiences and romances will appear on a dark day when you have caught your last pair of stockings on the furniture and the back of your hair has come uncurled. There is only one way out! A radiant smile will do wonders, but it's no conversation that will do the trick. Have you ever practiced conversing with an imaginary group of "teens?" It may sound silly to you, but you can not expect to burst forth suddenly as a witty maestro of conversation if you have never practiced. A good way to get experienced in talking is to call on a sick friend or try to be agreeable to someone you don't like.

Now the next question is what to talk about. The answer certainly is "Them!" People like to talk about themselves. Soon you will discover that your self-consciousness has disappeared while you were finding out what your victim's suffering is caused by. What his hobby is, his favorite movie star, and radio program, and his taste in the weather. You don't have to be intellectual to be a good talker. Secretly, girls, your escort will enjoy your company more if he feels he has a slight edge on you, "intellectually speaking."

You may be the supreme talker of the ages, but if you punctuate your conversation with loud, excited giggles no one is going to enjoy talking to you. Too many "honeys", "darlings", or "dearies" will irritate girls as well as boys. And another way to drive your friends in different directions is to use the same slang expression at frequent intervals.

How's your line? First of all, does your line suit your type? If you have been the star on the basketball, football, and softball teams, it's no use thinking you'll get by without talking about sports! You'll have to tell all the blondes how you made that touchdown, the brunettes will want to know how you ever made that home-run when the bases were filled, and just everyone will want to know just how you sunk that basket from way out in the middle of the floor just as the gun went off. Now how will you ever tell them? Will you blush between touchdowns? Or will you smile and tell them the story so "witty-like" that they will think they kicked the football themselves? If you choose the latter you will need experience! And girls, if you want to make a hit with the captain of the team, tell him that he certainly has a marvelous brain.

In general, a successful line has the same ingredients as a success in anything or any human relationship. If your escort sends you orchids for the evening, don't forget to tell him how thrilled you are. He's gone to a lot of trouble and expense to please you, and you should express your pleasure. If you just pin on the corsage as if you got orchids every day in the week, the next time he won't bother.

Juniors Who Should Be Up For President In Few Years

November, 1940, marks the 38th presidential election in the United States. Perhaps in about twenty-nine years, in November, one of the juniors of South Side will be running to be president of the United States. There are some excellent examples of such a man in almost every junior home room. Take for example, Art Howard. Art has skipped many days of hard work to go fishing. It certainly proves that Art has the real makings of a president. And, too, Art believes in relief work, he thinks all homework should be light enough, so as to have enough to go around.

Then the picture of Dave Rea comes to our minds. A Republican who believes the new deal to be a failure. Dave wants a new deal to raise his grades. Whether Democrat or Republican, these boys are some real examples of the great American president. Other kinds of people in our class would also be successes. Do you all remember Florence Nightingale? There are many up-and-coming Florences in the junior classes. Take Marge McNabb for instance. If that popular graduate of South Side, Tom Gallmeyer, should have to go to war, the world would be assisted by another great Florence Nightingale, Miss Mc-

Nabb. Of course, there must be great surgeons in the world to keep people going, and Barrie Tremper has proven himself to be capable of tearing things apart. We refer to his Latin. Doctors, lawyers, merchants, and chiefs. Who will fulfill these positions when we are all the adults of the generation? We have a grand idea that Don Stroebel will make a good fire chief; for whenever there is a fire drill in school, Don is the first to be out of the class. Initiative and ambition are part of what it takes, and Don has both.

Newspapers print the news of the day and need printers to do so. Some of the greatest printers among the juniors are Alene Looser, Eileen Eidner, and Kenneth Lampton. These people have all practiced printing for some time. One look upon the note books of any of these "linotypists" will convince anyone! The world will always need aviators to fly in war. Perhaps no one in school who knows this any better than Mrs. Scott. Mrs. Scott knows such kids as Franklin Thompson and Bill Roth will be great aviators. She has seen them throw planes for many days now and has awarded to them a "civil training course."

We Be People

This week's column is dedicated to the solid senders of South Side who go for song and synecopation in a great big way. These include jiving jitterbugs and Everette Trulock. If you find you are lacking in new dance routines, just buzz for Everette and he will gladly show you his latest fifty numbers.

Roger Busch immediately declared, "That's for Me" when being introduced to Betty Birely. Now the song, "Our Love Affair," fits their situation nicely.

Joan Pope finds herself a bit confused these days! Two heroes head her list of eligibles, and she can't decide which one of these two is the most heroic. I say, "Ask Your Heart," Joan.

"Oh Johnny" Mast was seen recently making love with a guitar to Margie Peterson. The song he serenaded was, "I Love You Truly," and So Margie blushing replied, "And So Do I." Betty Kite's appropriate theme song is, "We Three." Besides Betty, there remains Bob Barnett and Paul Magnuson! Someone must not have heard the expression three's a crowd, in this trio!

We thought Kenny Disler and Marge Van Curan had parted along the way for good, but 'tisn't so! Why? Because they got tired of singing "Lover Come Back to Me."

Dick "Baldy" Nahrwald has at last fallen for the charms of a lady fair. It's a shame he couldn't have chosen a South Side belle, but then when it's someone like Janos Murry from North Side, we'll forgive him!

It is quite evident that Melvin Schwartz continues to bowl over the women even though his term at South Side has expired. Virginia Sites is always "Lost in a Dream" of him. Sally O'Rourke, the all-American girl, never misses a football game in which our team plays! She claims she's fascinated by all the players. What, no special one?

Grads Gurgles

The Top:

The day of a lordly, industrious, and sometimes lazy senior is so strenuous that only superhuman endurance can keep him going. We will show you just what happens in the everyday life of a typical South Side senior: Somewhere in the vicinity of 7 o'clock this particular senior boy wakes up. He gives one look at the time and decides he can sleep another five minutes. At twenty minutes after seven he is awakened and hurriedly dresses, eats his breakfast, and he explains to his parents that his clock isn't working right. After a vigorous, refreshing walk to school, our hero is quite ready to go to sleep again and does so through the home room period and part of the first period.

After fifteen minutes of the first period have disappeared, this boy is fully awakened when called upon to make a speech and then remembers that public speaking is his first period class. Concluding a remarkable piece of oratory, the period is over and our typical senior moves on to his second period class in which he excels, the study period. Here he spends an enjoyable hour throwing paper wads, passing notes, receiving lectures by Mrs. Scott. Next our upperclassman moves on to his third period class, civics.

He likes his civics teacher and so does pretty well in a discussion of everything which is right and wrong with the present government. At last the lunch period has come and since our senior has two periods off for lunch, he goes home. After the finish of a very delicious lunch, our ardent student lies down and continues the nap which was interrupted in the first period. At one o'clock one of his friends stops around for him and both ride in luxury to school.

Chemistry is the sixth period subject and, after mixing some sulphur and something else together, the whole class has to move out of the laboratory and fumigate the place. The seventh and last period is assigned to English. Following several cat-naps our senior friend is all refreshed and, as the bell sounds at the end of the period, our hero dashes madly out of school to the football field. After several hours of hard playing our senior retires to the seclusion of his home.

The end of a perfect day. Whose day? Why, Karl Eberly's of course!

A 1940 Lecture In A 1960 Father's Style

By

The following constitutes a letter which I wrote to my son last Friday, October 20, 1945:

"Dear Junior: I was amazed at your poor record on a recent grade card your mother sent me. I want you to know that just about fifteen or sixteen years ago I was in the same school as you are now, only without your advantages. Instead of flying a plane to school every morning, I had to drive two whole miles in a Chevrolet Coupe. Back in those days we had to get up and eat what was called 'breakfast' instead of consuming the wholesome spectro-radio waves which I buy for you now.

"And listen here, you are given every advantage the modern school has to offer. We didn't get to study war tactics, gasology, riflemetry, blitzkreimistry and bombiology. We had to be content with such primitive subjects as English, algebra, civics, French, and botany. Our teachers and classmates couldn't afford to wear the expensive clothes and spend money like you do. We were allowed to absorb only five movies over the week end and even had to rent our caps and gowns.

"And conduct—The way you modern children act, I sometimes hope that at least someone will have mercy on your souls. You know, life isn't always going to be a bowl of synthetic fruits. When you get out in the hard, cold world you're going to have the Martians and the Saturnalites to contend with as well as our own people. Just last night, as I watched your graduation exercises through my television outfit, I hoped you would catch my thought wave and put it to use.

"Getting back to my original topic, son, let me tell you of MY accomplishments in high school. In those days I didn't fool with my time! My grades were never lower than a C and it stood for Commendable. Once in a while I did make an F (Fine) and a Pass (Positively Grand.)

Jean Weil Deplores Boy's Clothing Fads

By Jean Weil

"Eek", shrieks the helpless lass who wishes she were color blind when she gazes at some of the flashy apparel attached to our masculine gender! After looking into the subject further, I can easily see that she has reason for her exclamations!

The brilliantly colored sock some of the fellows sport around here ought to be put in solitary confinement. For instance, the striped and plaid ones. This year, the sock can't help but be exposed; the new length for pants' cuffs is just above the ankles. It looks as if loud sock are winning over all. Now I know it's a man's world!

Another masculine pet apparel is the bow tie. It may seem tricky to the eyes of those who wear it, but from a feminine standpoint, a bow tie closely resembles an airplane propeller. The colors used with bow ties aren't exactly subdued either. I've seen such color schemes as purple and yellow, green and red, and green and purple.

Some day I am going to donate a box of aspirin to every fellow who lacks the energy to tuck in his shirt tail. And while I'm on the subject, loud shirts are another shock to the feminine constitution. Some of those checks and plaids are enough to bowl over Goliath. However, I will put in a good word for sport shirts. This type of shirt is definitely approved by the ladies' society. In the future we

What To Wear

Last week your fashion reporter (that's me?) gave you the inside poll on what girls are wearing around school and why. This week I'm going to attempt to tell you whether these current fads are becoming or if they make you just one of the mob.

Saddle Shoes: Although these shoes are worn by every female and her sister in high school and college, they're still tops in comfort and style. However, before purchasing another pair, give a serious thought or two to the smart oxfords all the leading stores are showing this season. You'll find them an agreeable change!

Sloppy Joes: These also hold a high rating in fashion circles, but, remember to keep them from becoming too sloppy, as some of us are inclined to do. They're not smart unless they're sloppy in a neat manner and fit in the right places.

Corduroy: Don't get too much of this in your school wardrobe as it has a tendency to wear out quickly. If you are looking for a good looking occasional sport outfit, corduroy's just the thing.

Pearls: I heartily approve of pearls as a fitting ornament to set off sweaters and blouses in the smoothest way possible. They look much neater than some of this costume jewelry quite the rage at present.

Kerchiefs: Although we all agree that these are wonderful to tie on in the emergency which arises when our hair doesn't look its best, the resulting effect is sometimes worse than the disarranged hair.

Half-socks: When undecided as to purchasing a pair of half-socks or anklets, decide in favor of the anklets unless your legs can stand the general observation. In cold weather these undoubtedly offer warm protection against the wintry winds and are then quite appropriate.

This Week's Chapter Depicts Lou And Karl At Los Angeles

By Karl Eberly
In a recent Times, Karl described the beginning of his and Lou Hallenstein's trip to California. This week he tells of their drastic experiences in Los Angeles.
Passing through the gate, we were relieved to find the "Daylight", its orange and black sides glistening in the sun (pardon me if I sound like a pulp-paper writer, but I was inspired that day. Maybe it was just Louie being sick) waiting for us. It had been delayed for twenty minutes, but the strange situation was that none of the 103 tour members was in our coach. While pulling from the station, we saw everyone glance at us with curiosity, and for several uncomfortable minutes we were puzzled and worried, until Louie discovered that his stockings and underwear were dangling from his pocket and his faithful can of tooth powder had spilled on the seat. After cramming the wearing apparel into his pocket, the kid and myself spent several enjoyable hours relaxing in the comfortable reclining chairs of the "Daylight". By this time Louie had almost recuperated from his illness.

Halfway to Los Angeles a breathless tour conductor burst in and exclaimed that they had thought we had missed the train and had sent a telegram to San Francisco. The rest of the tour had occupied the two cars in the rear of us. Entering Los Angeles, we saw several aircraft plants, among them the Lockheed plant, which turns out bombing planes for England. We saw several of these on the Lockheed ramp ready to be flown to Canada. At least fifteen small sport planes were in the air all the time over Los Angeles. We were shown our rooms in the beautiful Biltmore Hotel, which is the last word in elegance and completeness, as it is a small city in itself. This evening we went to the Biltmore Bowl, where we had an enjoyable dinner and watched an entertaining floor show. Staggered to bed at about 1 o'clock. Yipped!!

Sunday, July 22
We were very tired, so we threw Louie's four-alarm clock out the window (which by the way wasn't open, so we shelled out a couple of bucks for a new pane of glass) and slept until noon. After a sustaining meal in the Biltmore coffee shop, we went on a conducted tour of the town with the other members of the tour. Hollywood didn't impress me very much, maybe it's because we didn't see many movie stars. While on a tour of the Columbia Broadcasting Studios, someone pointed to the back of a white shirt in one of the studios and said it was the shirt of the famous Herbert Marshall. Louie and I went over to see it. Lou and myself heard a recording of our voices on a record; we sounded like a couple of dopes—who knows? That evening we went to the famous Brown Derby for dinner. The service at the Derby is so good that they have a waiter ready to wipe the spots off most before one has time to make them.

Monday, July 22
Awoke at 11 o'clock a.m. Lou was in quite a playful mood so he hid in one of the numerous recesses along the hallway. When I passed, he jumped out at me. The only trouble is that it wasn't me and Louie nearly scared a maid to death. Louie hid her face behind some water from the pail she was carrying. Louie's face lit up in a vivid red glow, and he hastily retreated, making numerous apologies. Lou had a letter from some influential friends in Indiana, who were supposed to get us into the MGM studios. Lou and I went to Culver City where the MGM studios are located, but they seem to have never heard of Lou's friends and kicked us out. But, of course, Louie insisted that we go back and demand to be let in. We were kicked out two more times before we learned our lesson. Louie's very good friends. Ugh!!

After getting home from a fruitless journey to the studio, we entered our room and found a beautiful basket of fruit sent to us by Mr. Baron Long, the manager and owner of the Biltmore Hotel, whom my parents met in his frequent trips to Fort Wayne to visit his mother. Upon giving the word after several long seconds of eyeing the magnificent basket of California oranges, figs, dates, nuts, grapefruit, bananas, apples and other tempting fruit, we dove in and began to grab for what we could get. I tried to ration the fruit out, but Lou thought that was unfair, so he clubbed me on the head with a ripe grapefruit. I brushed the stinging grapefruit juice out of my eyes and clubbed him back with a banana. It was a direct hit, but he claimed a foul; so we let it go at that and ate up the luscious fruit.

After an hour in which we blitzkrieged the vittles, I picked an orange seed from my ear and started to clean the place up. The wastepaper basket was on the other side of the room and neither one of us was a very good shot. The room looked as if a typhoon had entered without knocking and had come back for an encore. The fruit seemed to have whetted our appetites a bit, so we decided to go to Earl Carroll's for dinner. They say it has good food, and there are sixty beautiful chorus girls as an appetizer. We ate our dinner in a beautiful theater-restaurant built on terraces and neon lighted. We were on the third terrace. We had just finished dining when the entertainment started.

Senior A Appears In Civic Concert

Alice Jean Light Is Soloist In Junior Symphony Orchestra At Season's First Musicale

Alice Jean Light, a senior A, was soloist with the Fort Wayne Junior Civic Symphony orchestra at its first public appearance in a concert Monday night at the Civic theatre. She played the first movement of the "Concerto No. 5 in A Major", which is regarded as one of Mozart's finest works and one of the best in violin literature. The orchestra played the accompaniment.

Four other numbers were on the program. These included the second movement of Beethoven's "Symphony No. 1 in C Major". This was presented following the opening overture from Flutov's opera "Stradella". The orchestra concluded the program with five lighter numbers and the famous "War March of the Priests" by Felix Mendelssohn.

The orchestra was organized last spring by Mr. Gaston Bailhe. Its members were selected from the talented pupils of the public grade and high schools.

The concert was sponsored by the Lions Club of Fort Wayne co-operating with the Fort Wayne public schools. Arrangements were made by members of a committee representing the club and the schools.

English Girl Writes She Hardly Knows War's In Progress

"Here at Kettering we hardly know there is a war going on," wrote Betty Dorene Inns, a native of Kettering, Northants, England, seventy miles from London, to Evelyn Erickson, a senior A.

Violet Steinbauer, a friend of Evelyn, wrote to a church in England for names of three girls with whom to communicate. Out of these three names Evelyn received one name, Evelyn and Betty have been corresponding for about six years.

Evelyn was very excited when she received her first letter from Betty. In some of the letters she has received such articles as coins, jewelry, and a picture of her English friend. Evelyn recommends corresponding with a girl from a different country as an interesting hobby for anyone.

Story By Wyla Baldwin, 9B, Printed In Youths' Magazine

"My Flying Diary", a story written by Wyla Baldwin, was published in the "Children's Activities" magazine. Wyla wrote this story two years ago while taking a trip by air. She entered it in a contest sponsored by the magazine, and a few weeks later she received a check for $5. Shortly afterward, the story was printed.

Wyla is only a freshman, entering from Harrison Hill. For four years she has followed this hobby of writing diaries. This is the only story she has had published, but she has written many more.

The story as printed in the "Children's Activities" magazine follows: October 31, '38: We are sitting in the airport at Newark, New Jersey, waiting to get into a Douglas DC3, one of the Eastern Airline's great Silver Fleet, bound for Miami, Florida.

My mother and father, brother Truxton, grandmother Rich, and our English bulldog, Lucky, are going along. This is my first trip in a transport, although I have flown with my father over fifty times in private planes. I know it is going to be great fun. I can see the captain, co-pilot, steward, and mechanics hurrying around getting things ready.

We are now in the line! Grandmother and mother have the two left rear seats, Trux and daddy are just ahead of them, and I am in the left rear seat. The steward said this is a good place to see things to write about.

There are twenty-one seats in the plane, and every one is filled. It looks clean and new and has plenty of room. In front of the passenger section is a place for magazines for those who want to read. Above each seat is a compartment. In the one above my seat I have placed my box with paper and pencils. There is a blanket there to throw over me if I get cold at high altitudes.

The steward just brought newspapers to all those who wanted to read. He also passed around peppermint gum. I won't have time to read, so I didn't take a paper; but I took some gum.

The motors are humming. Daddy, Trux, and I say the sound of the motors is like music—it makes you feel excited if you like flying as much as we do. The light in front says to buckle our belts. We must be ready to go.

It is now 10 o'clock. We have just taken off and are now over Newark. We see the shadow of our plane skimming over the smokestacks, bridges, winding concrete roads, and streams. Elizabeth, New Jersey, is to the right of us. How pretty the country looks!

And now we are over New Brunswick, seven minutes after taking off! Our plane has just passed Princeton University, thirteen minutes after leaving the airport. We see Trenton, the capital of New Jersey, and the Delaware River. To the right of us is Bristol, Pennsylvania.

Now we are over Philadelphia, twenty minutes from Newark. We are too high to see Independence Hall, but we know it is there! We have just passed Wilmington, Delaware, and now our plane is whizzing over Elkton, Maryland. On our left is Chesapeake Bay and Havre de Grace, where the great horse races take place.

We are now forty-five minutes from Newark. We are still over Maryland. Our plane is to the left of Baltimore. We have just gone over Chesapeake Bay.

Our first stop is Washington, D. C., where we will land in a very few minutes. We are now circling over the airport.

I see the Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, the Capitol, and the whole city. Now we have landed. I see an American Airlines Douglas and a Pennsylvania Central Airline's Boeing.

Upon leaving the airport, we are circling over Arlington Cemetery. On our right is Mount Vernon, George Washington's home. We are now seventy-five miles from Richmond, Virginia. To the right of us is a beautiful plane. I cannot see whether it has two or three motors, but it surely is a Boeing or a trimotor Stinson. Below us is the Rappahannock River. It is quite chilly up so high. Grandmother and mother have their blankets over their laps.

We have just finished lunch. The steward brought each of us a white cardboard tray with cut-out compartments to hold the different cups and plates. This is what I had for lunch: Tomato soup, salted crackers, breast of chicken, potato chips, nut bread, corn muffins, celery, fruit salad, pumpkin pie, hot chocolate, and candied mints. It looked fine, and it tasted better. The steward served us with no bother at all.

How beautiful everything looks now! We are over North Carolina, near Raleigh. I wonder what Sir Walter Raleigh would say if he could see us from here! We just passed a big fleecy cloud. The clouds are getting thicker and thicker as we fly along. You can see the ground only once in a while through the peepholes in the clouds. They look to me like big, white quilted bed puffs. Grandmother must think so, too, for she is having a nap.

We landed at Charlestown, South Carolina. Daddy took Lucky out of the baggage space, and he was glad to see us! He is a great traveler. I saw a Delta Airlines' Lockheed Electra and an Eastern Airlines' Douglas at the airport there. Then we got back into our Douglas and took off at 2:45 p. m. We are now on our way to Savannah, Georgia, where we will land in forty minutes.

And now I'm going to rest my hand for a while and enjoy the scenery! At Savannah we took a walk around the airport and through the administration building. We have again taken off and are flying along the coast of Georgia. We are flying at about 2,000 feet and can see the country very well. It isn't as beautiful as the country we have been enjoying all day. There are many swampy, marshy places with muddy little inlets and creeks winding among the tangled growth of bushes and trees.

Once upon a time, way back in pirate days, I have been told, "Bluebeard" and other famous old sea robbers used to hide in these places. They certainly picked a good place to hide their treasures, but I don't see how they could ever find the places again when they wanted to collect their booty.

We have just crossed the Florida line, and soon we will be in Jacksonville. We are circling the field and are landing. At last we are in Florida!

Speaks To So-Si-Y

Miss Mary Harrah

"World Fellowship" will be the subject of Miss Mary Harrah's talk to So-Si-Y next Tuesday. Miss Harrah, resigned Latin instructor of Central High School, has long been interested in this organization.

We are on our way again flying at 2,000 feet, headed for Orlando. The country looks fresh and neat with its squares of orange and grapefruit orchards. I guess there will be plenty of fruit up north this winter if all these trees bear fruit. There are orchards for miles around.

Now we are coming into the Orlando Airport. This airport looks quite up to date from here! We got out and walked around the Orlando Airport with Lucky. My father met and talked with a Mr. Nilsen, who was very nice. Trux and I saw a Lockheed Twelve, from National Airlines. We went into it with father and looked it over. As it was 5:30, we had to hurry back to our Douglas, and away we started for Miami.

It is getting dusk, and that is too bad because I won't be able to see much now. Father just pointed out Lake Okeechobee. My, it is bigger than I thought! I have just been studying about the state of Florida in geography; so I have heard about that lake and all about its drainage canals, too.

Enjoy Night Flying
The lights are beginning to come on in the cities and towns. Even though you can't see much, night flying is certainly pretty with all the sparkling, dancing lights below you. Over to the left is a brilliant light stretching along the horizon. It is Miami. We are here! It is beautiful, all afire with a million lights!

We have landed, collected Lucky and our baggage, and have started from the airport. Mr. Arthur Gulliver (headmaster of the Gulliver School where my brother and I will go this winter) met us and is taking us in his station wagon to Coconut Grove where we will make our home for the winter.

This was my first trip in a transport plane, and I enjoyed every bit of it! It was the best ride I have ever had. It's the easiest way to travel. My grandmother, who is seventy-nine, got out of the plane after that nine-hour trip and said she wasn't a bit tired. People who won't ride on planes don't know what they miss. I think it is the best, fastest, easiest, and most interesting way to travel. And one can learn so much about our country while flying over it!

Halloween Season Approaches To Joy Of All South Siders

Witches and black cats are in the air, pumpkins and corn stalks are in the fields, ghosts, goblins and trick-or-treaters are at the door, cider and doughnuts are on the table, for Halloween is near. All these things come and go as October 31 rolls around each year.

South Side will be gaily decorated for the various parties which are being planned in many school clubs. Halloween is a time of parties, costumes, masks, and fun; but along with these good times always come pranks which may be fun for the doers, but which are definitely not fun for the victim.

It seems that South Side students pick Halloween as a time for doing things like soaping windows, pulling light switches, sticking pins in car horns and doorbells, which they would not think of doing at other times. Halloween originated as a celebration of the holy eve of "All Hallows" or All Saint's Day, but, as we see, it has lost its original meaning.

Here are some of the opinions of South Side students on Halloween and Halloweening.

Marilyn Gregg says: I like the fun and parties of Halloween, but I do not like Halloweening.

Keith Lakey: It's devastating. Roland Snyder: You can have a lot of fun if you can keep ahead of the cops.

Phid Strasburg: It's kid stuff. Jean Stewart: Halloween parties are all right, but I don't like Halloweening.

Pat Underhill: I think it's all right.

Indian Summer Recalls Happy Past, Brings Own Delight

"Summer, you old Indian Summer." Doesn't that remind you of those summer romances? They're wonderful with all their golf games, moonlight dances, and canoe rides. Then Indian summer comes along and all that we have left is the tear that comes after June-time laughter.

We dreamed so many dreams during those beautiful summer months that didn't come true; Indian summer finds us dreaming again, but this time of the past. Our hearts are broken by the words that somebody has spoken, and now that somebody is saying them to someone else.

But Indian summer is also a time to revel in the warm sunlight and cool breezes, especially while walking in the colorful woods. The football games are a major item, too, if one can watch the hero crash through that line for a touchdown. This is the only time of the year that one can be gay and happy at moonlight hayrides and Weiner bakes. The fall dances are always the most colorful and enjoyable, too.

Indian summer has another aspect, though. There are dark gloomy days that are wonderful for staying in bed and reading. Then the chairs before the fireplace serve as a haven for the gang on cold, rainy nights.

All in all, Indian summer is the "ghost of a romance in June", as one of our more popular song writers puts it, "fading away, and dying too soon."

When we say farewell to Indian summer, many a wonderful and gorgeous good time is left behind to be thought of as memories only.

Redskins Down Archers, Take City Grid Title

Score Touchdown In Closing Minutes To Cinch The Championship Game 19-6

North Side's powerful Redskins, led by speed merchant Bob Cowan, downed a courageous Archer eleven, 19 to 6, last Friday night at North Side to win the City Championship. Playing on a field soaked with heavy rains, the North Redskins found their powerful speed duo, Young and Cowan, unable to gain through the Kelly stone wall; and so the final outcome was decided by aerial breaks. The Archers held the Red and White machine in check in the first and third quarters; however, the Nulmen tallied twice in the second quarter and matched the fourth quarter period score of the Green gridmen.

Throughout the first quarter of play, Ralph Shimer and Bob Cowan exchanged kicks in an interesting punting duel. South Side's captain, Jim Straley, had won the toss and elected to receive. On the kickoff, Straley fumbled and recovered to return the opening boot to the Archer 25-yard line. After Chuck Close and Bob Englehart made futile attempts at piercing the big Green forward wall, Chick Shimer kicked the longest punt of the evening. Dropping back to the Archer 23-yard line, Chick punted the ball to the Redskins 25 from where the pigskin rolled to the Northerner's 12-yard stripe. After this initial kick, the two halves kicked the period three more punts before the period ended. South Side had possession of the ball on their own 45 when the teams lined up for the start of the second quarter.

After three running plays failed to gain a first down, Shimer was again called upon to kick; however, a North Side lineman was offside on the play. The Archers accepted the five yard line and first down. With the ball resting just inside Archer territory, Chuck Close attempted a dive over right guard, but the husky Green fullback was thrown for a loss. On the next play, the Redskins were given their first real break. Chick Shimer, receiving the pigskin from center, rifled a long pass down the sidelines; ends Siebold and Worman could not touch the ball; however, Bob Cowan snatched the high aerial and galloped 71 yards for the first score. Cowan place-kicked the extra point.

After South Side rest the kick-off, the two teams again exchanged blows via the toes of Shimer and Cowan. With about four minutes of the half remaining, the North Siders drove deep into Archer territory. Cowan and Young made sizeable thrusts to place the Archer 2-yard line. In this second score, a long pass to the Archer 45 yards down in which to tally; however, the Archer line held stubbornly to quell this threat.

Big Kay Short attempted a sneak through center, and Cowan and Young took their respective kicks at the Green end. The Redskins lost the ball on downs, and the Archers kicked out to their own 29.

Gains Three Yards Bill Ranly, subbing for Bob Young, picked up three yards over right guard. On the next play Cowan gained one yard on a reverse play. After these two tries, the Indians again "cashed in" on an aerial. Bill Ranly tossed a long pass to Bob Cowan, who charred four yards to the second Redskin score. The pass gained a total of 30 yards. Cowan's attempted place-kick was wide.

Again in the third period the two teams duelled with kicks. At the end of the quarter the Archers had never gained the ball on the North Side 35-yard marker. A short pass from Shimer to Englehart placed the pigskin in this position. With a first down resulting from the pass, the Kelly Klads started the fourth quarter instilled with the fire to tally on the North Siders, and soon the Archers scoring share was rewarded.

After Gene McClain and Bob Englehart failed to complete passes, the latter finally hit McClain with a pass good for a first down. Bob Babbitt picked up a first down on three center thrusts. The ball rested on the Redskins 5-yard line. Chuck Close failed to gain on two line thrusts.

Jim Worman gained three yards to the Red 2 on an end around play. On the fourth down big Chuck Close ploughed two yards for the long-sought score. Jim Straley's kick for the extra point was blocked.

The Archers kicked off with nine minutes of playing time remaining. North Side returned the kick to the 35, and soon the Redskins had crossed midfield. Bob Cowan fumbled on crossing the 50-yard line, and the Green rosters sensed a possible tie victory as the Archers recovered the loose pigskin.

Three plays failed to net a first down, and the Archers kicked. Cowan, receiving Shimer's kick, was hit on his own 18-yard line. In nine plays the Redskins drove 82 yards to the third tally. Cowan's kick was wide of the uprights. Only 20 seconds remained after this score.

Green Gridders Outscored Although the Green gridders were outscored, they were by no means outfought or outclassed. The Redskins cashed in on their breaks, while the Archers had no end of trouble in moving on the muddy gridiron.

Coach Nulfs charges are now the Fort Wayne prep football champs, repeating their performances of 1937 and 1938.

Goal Dust

by Bob Young

Chick Shimer

for the scrappy Archers. Nice work, Ralph!

CLEATED CLIPPINGS—Many Summit City fans have wondered why Central was drubbed by Huntington. The story was blocking. Viking linemen would not only dig in and drive on the line, but these same players would aid in downfield blocking. Dick Tackett, Central's big center, was blocked out of nearly every play. South Side's fourth period tally last Friday night represented the first score that the Archers had notched against the Redskins for some three long years. Bob Cowan added 19 more points to his city scoring lead. In five games Bob has scored 11 touchdowns and kicked five extra points for a total of 72 markers. Here are my predictions for the week end—Central Catholic 13, Hammond Catholic 6; North Side 40, Decatur 0; Central 20, Hammond Clark 6; South Side 20, Elwood 0.

STAR OF THE WEEK—This week the congratulations go to Chick Shimer. South Side's junior left halfback played a great game Friday night, and his kicking helped to keep the Green in the Redskin fray. In five tilts Chick has averaged nearly 42 yards per punt. Francis Reagan, great kicker of Pennsylvania University, has an average of 46 yards in his first four games, which indicates that the big Archer halfback can kick with the nation's best. Bob Cowan caught the other night, but the offensive star is not always the boy who really carries the load. Chick Shimer was really in there—picking

Junior 1 Team Is Hockey Champion

Sophomore 1's, Senior 2's Tie For Second Place; Soph 2's 4's, 3's Are Next Highest

Junior 1, captained by Betty Hargan, won the annual hockey tournament in GAA. Members of her team are Etheldreda Behling, Elaine Boeger, Betty Clem, Clara Long, Mary Menze, Lenora Moyer, Sylvia Sholtz, Dot Snively, Pat Smith, Rosemary Spore, Carolyn Stalter, Ann Stephens, Janet Whetsel, Kathryn Zaegel, Wilma Kellogg, Vera Moser, and Betty MacLeod.

Out of five games, they won four and were defeated once. Duck Spore's Sophomore 1 team has the honor of being the only team to defeat them. The score was 1 to 0, with Jo Ann Schwartz making the only score.

The Sophomore 1's and Senior 2's tied for second place with two wins, two ties and one loss. The members of the Sophomore team are: Ducky Spore, Fuzzy Amstutz, Joan Dodge, Phyllis Graue, Mary Mock, Donna Peel, Midge Pressler, Nelda Runge, Barb Renz, Kate Sanders, Jo Ann Schwartz, Virginia Simmons, Betty Valentine, Betty Walden, Miriam Abbott and Harriet Swager.

Members of the Senior team are Bernadine Bender, Margaret Brower, Reba Coppock, Helen Ellenwood, Mildred Hanke, Peggy Harrod, Lois Holzworth, Elizabeth Kelson, Irene Meyer, Betty Peppier, Jo Ann Sanders, Evelyn Walker, Rosanna Weston, Marilyn Wolf, Eva Jean Wylie, Pauline Schoenherr, Faye Gumpfer, and Frances Nash, captain.

The Sophomore 2's had two wins and one tie for third place. Senior 1's had two wins to give them fourth place.

Vikings Conquer Central Bengals

Tigers Defeat New Castle, Columbia City, Lose To Huntington In Four Busy Days

Central's Tigers, playing three games in four days last week, again found the sting of defeat in the form of a great Huntington team. The Bengals defeated Columbia City on Tuesday evening; however, the big Viking team proved a bit too stubborn on the following night. Two evenings after the Huntington battle the downtown gridmen whipped a mediocre New Castle squad.

In rolling over the Tigers of Columbia City by the score of 33 to 24, Coach Murray Mendenhall's second stringers looked good on offense and weak on pass defense. Since the Central regulars were called on to face the tough Huntington team on the following night, the Blue seconds were called upon to carry the load of victory. The Bengals scored at random, and the result of the game was never in doubt; however, the Columbia City gridgers trailed by only one point, 13 to 12, at the midway point of the second period. Although the visiting Tigers made a desperate last-half stand, the locals scored three more touchdowns and settled the issue.

After resting the evening of the Columbia City fray, the Mendenhall-men were mentally and physically prepared for the tough Huntington Vikings; but the powerful Crowmen proved to be too potent for the Fort Wayne gridgers. Before a record crowd of 5,200 happy fans, the host Vikings romped over the locals 20 to 7.

The victory was clinched in the first half of play, as Rex Grossman and Bill Overmire cut through the Central defense for scores. Central's lone tally came late in the fourth quarter. Huntington won from the highly rated Tigers on good blocking, which was perfected on the two first-half tallies.

Dick Tackett, Central's stonewall center, was blocked from almost every play; thus, the Bengals lost their key defense man and their finest tackler.

The Vikings have lost only one game this year, and the win over Central definitely establishes the Huntington team as the state's finest small town team.

While North Side and South Side were settling city issues at North Side last Friday, the Tigers were rushing a weak New Castle team, 31 to 7. The Tigers scored in every period, while the visitors tallied their lone marker in the final minutes of the game.

Three Archers Write Youth Page Articles

Articles written by John Olcott, 10A, Robert Buschman, 12B, and Alice Volmerding, 12A, appeared on Youth's Passing Show page in the News-Sentinel last Saturday.

The characteristics of a typical little brother are told by John, while Robert expresses himself on the topic of craze is back again and has made its annual fall debut.

Everyone from six to sixty has fallen under the influence of this autumn sport. Wherever you turn, a Yo-Yo is either staring you in the face or hitting you in the ribs. People of all ages, sizes, and shapes, have fallen into the swing of the Yo-Yo.

In the fall when a young girl's fancy turns to thoughts of men, she doesn't ask, does he have a car? Is he a good dancer? Is he good looking? The big question is, "How good is he at working a Yo-Yo?"

The craze has taken South Side by storm. Between periods, before and after school, there are groups of Yo-Yo enthusiasts matching their skills with those of their friends. Even the girls have become Yo-Yo conscious.

If you are low and run down, and need something to pep you up, why not hurry down to the nearest store and purchase a Yo-Yo? Then you can Yo-Yo your troubles away.

And remember: "With independent Yo-Yo buyers; with men who know them best, it's Yo-Yo for your pleasure, two to one."

REMEMBER to read the Advertisements. They offer interesting news.

Archers Will Battle Elwood Here Saturday Afternoon

Invaders Have Untried Outfit To Meet Green

Have Had Little Luck In Rushing Plays; Giftmen Expected To Take Tilt

After dropping a tough decision to the North Side Redskins, the Archers will seek the victory trail on Saturday against Elwood's Panthers. The game is scheduled for 2 o'clock at the South Side stadium. Both teams boast good seasonal records; however, the Green gridders have fared far better than their down-state rivals.

In his fourth year at Elwood High School, Coach Hunk Francis has an inexperienced and untried team; while on the other hand, Wayne Gift has produced a squad of championship caliber in his first year at South Side.

Elwood's footballers have shown little real punch or drive this year in most of the games. Against Cathedral of Indianapolis the Elwood gridmen made their best stand, losing 12 to 0 in the final period. Advance indications have it that the southern cleaters will employ an aerial attack against the Archers. So far this season the Panthers have had little luck in regular rushing plays. Coach Francis is planning to bring two complete squads to Fort Wayne on Saturday.

Although the Archers are nursing sore muscles and body bruises, the Green squad should be at full strength for the visitors from the south. Coach Gift had several of his charges injured in the North Side clash; however, the injured are expected to be ready for Elwood. Bob Birkenbul is nursing a broken nose, and Chick Shimer is favoring a bad wrist; Chuck Closer has recovered from his leg injury and Joe Loos has shaken off his sore back. Birkenbul will be in there wearing his big nose guard, while Chick Shimer's wrist should be completely healed by Saturday. The Kelly Klads are in good mental and physical shape, and come Elwood, the Gifted Archers should be ready to go as a well-balanced unit.

South Side's usual starting eleven will again carry the burden on Saturday. Bill Siebold and Jim Worman will hold down the end posts. Both of these lads have had valuable experience in the first five games, so that Elwood and Central should have trouble with these fine defensive wings. The Archer's tackles, Russ Dixon and Ralph Vetter, are big and rugged to drive through. Joe Loos, who is also expected to see much action at tackle, played an important role in the courageous second quarter stand against the North Siders. Guards Underwood and Birkenbul have been the big defensive guns this year. Byron Gingham, who may start at center, plays heads-up ball at all times; Vic Moeller, Byron's replacement, has played good ball this year. South Side's backfield axes, Straley, Shimer, Englehart, and Close, will be seeking to roll over Elwood's cleated stars. Coach Gift probably will not stick to the starting eleven, as the South Side reserves will be given more experience before the Central meeting.

This is the first grid meeting between South Side and Elwood. Last year the Panther cage squad became the toast of the state in upsetting the undefeated South Side basketball team.

IHSAA Will Allow Fewer Cage Tilts

Eighteen Basketball Games Is Maximum Permitted In New Ruling, Effective 1941-1942

Indiana high school basketball squads will be limited to eighteen-game schedules. The Indiana High School Athletic Association announced that the new ruling would become effective with the season of 1941-1942. Members of the athletic group also adopted new rules concerning football competition and practice.

Basketball practices and competition have been altered. The practice must start on the first day of school, and the spring drills must end with the last day of the spring semester. At the present time the schools are permitted to play twenty cage games; however, the board has reduced this number to eighteen. The council members did not take action on the proposal that no cage games may be played before November 1. Arthur Trester, commissioner of Indiana prep athletics, also announced that no football team may engage in more than ten contests. The inter-school grid games are limited to the period between September 1 and November 30.

South Side's athletic schedules will be little altered by the new rules. As both football and basketball rules do not go into effect this year, the Archers need not worry about cutting their twenty-game cage card. Next year the South Siders will retain their seven-game football schedule; however, the Archer basketball foes will, by necessity of the new rules, number two less.

Net Team Begins Practice Sessions

Three Veteran Players Remain From Last Year; Numerous Pupils Turn Out For Sport

In preparation for the approaching basketball season, Coach Burl Fridle has issued a call for players. Practice started two weeks ago with the boys shooting, to sharpen their aim.

With prospects seeming rather gloomy to some, Coach Fridle will have few veterans to work with, since seven of the first ten of last year have been lost by graduation. Archer fans will remember that at the beginning of last season prospects for a good season seemed poor, but the team came through the season to the finals of the state basketball tournament.

The three veterans who have reported so far are Bryce Augsburger, Charles Feistkorn, and Bob Hines. These players received valuable experience last season and should prove to be the backbone of the squad. Several boys who showed up strongly on the reserve squad last season and who will probably earn a varsity berth are: Tom Brower, Eugene Reichart, Bob Holzworth, Bill Knoll, Dallas Zuber, Harry Hines, Doyle Shirk, Frederick Bill, and Jim Strawbridge. Altogether, this makes a fairly tall and talented squad to carry our hopes. Also several strong additions are expected from the football team.

Eugene Haines, freshman, has shown up especially well in practice so far, and other boys who have thus far signed up for basketball are: Cliff Ostermeyer, Bub Lampton, John Bornschein, Harold Welsmon, Kenneth Iba, Bill Stults, Ray Bower, Charles Kensil, Wormin Reynolds, Cliff Clouser, Richard Hershey, Lloyd Doehrmann, Harold Beeching, Herman Davis, Pat Vail, Jim Kochs, Bill McNulty, Don Stroebel, Jack McMillan, Phil Lichtenberg, Luke Majorski, Ray Vonderau, Norbert Rehn, Paul Zartman, Richard Schimhorn, Edwin Steele, James Kloffenstein, Ralph Werling, Harold Voight, Albert Leakey, Bill Nierman, and James Davis.

Henry Schaf and Forest Myers have captured the intramural golfing titles, Mr. Louis Briner, intramural director, has announced. While Schaf took 85 strokes in annexing the heavyweight laurels, Freshman Myers required only 82 blows to win the lightweight crown.

These two winning scores were the lowest which have been recorded in several years of intramural play. For winning the titles, both of the winners will be assured of a chance to try out for the varsity golf team. Among the twenty entrants, who played their official game over at the Foster Park course, were several other good shooters. John Knoeks and Jim Knoeks each took 91 shots; Dan Rhodes required 93; Don Weisler played the round in 116 strokes; Frankie Carlo played around in 98 blows. Other scores were Jim Sternberger, 112; Frank Lohman, 108; Bob Shanon, 104; Bob Hansel, 124; Dick Hirsch, 107, and Tom Deal, 113.

Teams One, Four Tie GAA Tourney

Phyllis Jackson's, Martha Dirmeyer's Teams Share Championship Speedball Laurels

Phyllis Jackson's Team 1 tied with Martha Dirmeyer's Team 4 for the freshman GAA speedball championship by each having three wins and one tie. The last games of the tourney were held at the gym last Monday. Delores Pope's Team 2 had three wins.

In last Monday's final games Delores Pope's Team 2 defeated Patty Hacker's Team 3 by the score of 12 to 3. On Pope's team Patty Schnurr made three touchdowns. Margie Plye also scored three points by making one touchdown kick one free kick. The best player on Hacker's team was Silaine Smith, who made one touchdown.

Next, Martha Dirmeyer's Team 4 defeated Phyllis Jackson's Team 1 by the score of 7 to 6. Janet Motz and Maxine Posse were the best players on Team 4. On Jackson's team Jean Clark and Phyllis Jackson made the touchdowns.

Umpires for these games were Joan Schwartz, Kate Sanders, Pat Harnish, and Gloria Hardendorf. Scorekeepers were Dorothy Snively and Ilo Hirschman.

Aren't You Eager To Know Our Student Manager Better?

"Hey, Lee, where's the tape?" is a statement often heard in the dressing rooms of our varsity athletes. Lee Harter, head student manager, and his two assistants, Bill Grunewald and Paul Kutch, are kept very busy satisfying the whims and taking care of the injuries of our athletes.

The principal duties of these student managers are to line the field for games; see that the stadium is locked each night; turn out the lights and lock the doors and windows of the dressing rooms; guard the lockers and be responsible for the valuables of the players during their absence; give first aid, rubdowns, and heat treatments to those injured during the course of practice; aid the coach during practice sessions, act as water-boys during a game and, after having finished these chores, to help check in the equipment.

Besides Lee, Bill, and Paul, there are two other student managers, John Ensley and Tom Hall, who are in charge of points, attendance, and equipment. At every basketball or football game one may see John checking attendance and recording points. Two points for three minutes are given for participation in a football game, and one point for every two minutes is given to the participant in a basketball game.

Tom, equipment manager, is one of the busiest of the five student managers; because not only does he have to check in and out several hundred dollars' worth of equipment, but he is also responsible for it. All the boys out for both varsity and football receive clean equipment every Tuesday and Friday nights, and the equipment used for games is washed once a week.

The activities of the student managers play a very important part in the fine accomplishments of our teams. They are also necessary for the running order of the athletic department as a whole. If it weren't for the student managers, a great expense would be added to the already large bill of the athletic department, and there probably wouldn't be the self-satisfaction and cooperation now existing among our athletes.

Irish And Central Face Hammondites

Catholic And Clark Teams To Be Met Saturday Afternoon Here And Tomorrow Night There

Central's Tigers and the Irish of Central Catholic have tough assignments this week. The "iron men" of Central will engage a strong Hammond Clark squad at Hammond Friday night, while the Irish are scheduled to meet Hammond Catholic at the North Side athletic field on Sunday afternoon.

After dropping a tough game to the Portland Cementers, the Central Catholic squad will seek to end the season with a win over Catholic High of Hammond. The Hammond eleven has had a fair season, having lost three games and won a like number. Coach Levicki is not drilling too hard for the season finale, as the locals have already developed a good passing defense to cope with the passing game of the Hammond gridders. The Irish coach will use Dehner, Burns, Krouse, and Huttinger in the backfield on Sunday.

Central's Tigers, gradually recovering from a suicide week of football, are preparing for a tough Clark of Hammond team. Murray Mendenhall is trying to build a strong blocking forward wall, for the Bengals are expected to need more than a spread offensive to penetrate their opponent's vaunted defense. Red Sitko will again be the "pivot" man in the tiger backfield, and Leon, Rice, and Shaw are figured to fill the other slots.

Although neither of the Summit City powers have tasted northern football this season, the Irish and Bengals are expected to have more than enough to whip their rivals.

KEEP YOUR CONGRESSMAN ON THE JOB

A MAN has to learn to be a Representative just as he must learn to be a blacksmith, a carpenter, a farmer, an engineer, a lawyer, or a doctor.

It is an unwise performance for any district to change Representatives at short intervals. A new Congressman must begin at the foot of the class.

The best rule is for a district to select a man with at least fair capacity, industrious, honest, energetic, sober, and courageous, and keep him there so long as he discharges his duties faithfully and well.

Tennis Entrants Awarded Points

GAA Participants Total About Fifty-five; Four Girls Are Announced Highest Scorers

About fifty-five active GAA members participated in the tennis tournament this fall and therefore have been awarded points for their participation.

The points awarded to the following seniors are as follows: Jeanne Smith, the winner, received 100 points. Those seniors who earned 75 points are Bernadine Bender, Frances Nash, and Betty Thiele. Charlotte DuWan received 50 points. Marguerite Calkins, Mary Alice Dunten, Frances Gross, Irene Meyer, Bernadine Pressler, Pauline Schoenher, and Eva Jean Wylie each received 25 points.

The points awarded to the juniors are as follows: Betty Hargan, the winner, 100 points. Rose Stemen received 75 points. Marcelline Batdorf, Vera Moser, Lenora Moyer, Mary Menze, Sylvia Sholly, and Rosemary Spore each received 25 points.

The sophomores had the largest representation, 23 girls, receiving points. Marian Faux, the winner, received 100 points. Joanne Spore and Colleen McCarty each received 75 points. Both Helen Marschand and Norma Russell received 50 points. Those receiving 25 points are Phyllis Amstutz, Helen Anderson, Maxine Beck, Dolly Disler, Joan Dodge, Gloria Gumpfer, Rosemary Harris, Patricia Harnish, Gloria Hardendorf, Julia Kaser, Betty Kite, Pat Jackson, Wilma Kellogg, Delores Majorcki, Ann Pontius, Eileen Reinking, Shirley Rogers, Dorothy Rison, Harriet Swager, Virginia Simmons, and Maxine Voltz.

The points awarded to the freshmen are as follows: Gloria Cadorette, the winner, received 100 points. Betty Kyvik received 75 points. Martha Dirmeyer and Doris Pape each received 50 points. Those receiving 25 points are Patty Hocker, Catherine Horn, Phyllis Jackson, and Martha Smith.

North Side Squad To Play Decatur

Undefeated Redskins Will Meet Yellow Jackets' Team Friday Night On Northerners' Field

North Side's rampaging Redskins, having safely captured the city title chase, are scheduled to meet a mediocre Decatur team on Friday night on the Northerners' field.

The North Side squad is undefeated, while the Yellow Jackets have dropped three contests. Although the Decatur team has not looked impressive this year, the Nulfmen are drilling for the Jackets in anticipation of a good scrap.

Coaches Bob and George Nulf are planning to start the following lineup: Harrison and Ervin at ends, Popp and Rosseter at the tackle posts, Barley and Lombard in the guard slots, and Roebuck at center; Kay Short will start in the blocking back spot, while Bob Cowan and Bob Young are the halfbacks, and Mike Bojinnoff is to start at fullback.

WHY HOME RULE IS SO IMPORTANT IN GOVERNMENT

Local government is the foundation of good national government. When you destroy home rule, you weaken the entire structure. Our great nation is the product of the local community and not the local community the product of the nation.

SO LONG AS WE MAINTAIN STRONG LOCAL GOVERNMENT WE WILL NEVER HAVE A SUCCESSFUL REVOLUTION NOR WILL IT BE POSSIBLE FOR ANY MAN TO MAKE HIMSELF A DICTATOR.

Counties and Townships are the exemplification of home rule where the governed see, meet and know those who do the governing. Dishonesty cannot exist nearly as long in the small unit as in the larger unit because the taxpayer can look the spender of his money in the eye. If the official does not handle his office properly, he will be effectively dealt with at the next election.

False propaganda and agitation for larger units leaves the casual impression that they are more economical and efficient, but concentration into large units promotes dishonesty and waste. In fact, the more remote a unit of government is from those governed and ruled, the more automatic control you will find.

THE FARTHER WE GET AWAY FROM THE PRINCIPLE OF HOME RULE, THE GREATER THE ADMISION OF INABILITY TO GOVERN THEMSELVES.

Centralized government is a graft breeder. Experience shows centralization gives power to the small politician in a manner that local officials would never attempt to use. It destroys responsibility of citizenship.

Local units eventually pay for anything and everything in government including the bills for local use to the highest state and national units. They should at least have something to say about it.

Under centralization, if you want to complain about any subject of government and its administration, you must call on many different persons who are expert buck-passers. UNDER HOME RULE, YOU CAN EASILY FIND THE KEY MAN IN YOUR OWN NEIGHBORHOOD.

Home Rooms List Mothers For Semester

First Events Of This Year
To Be Teas For Each Class
On November 4, 5, 6, and 7

Home room mothers have been selected or have volunteered to perform the duties of that office. Some of their duties are to notify the other parents in their home rooms about concerts and meetings, to sell tickets for school events, and to notify the parents of Back to School Night. The first events of the year will be the teas for each class on November 4, 5, 6, and 7.

Home room mothers are:

Knee-length Socks Arouse Comments Of Archer Students

The bright colored knee-length stockings that have been exhibited in the corridors are causing many remarks to be made concerning this new fad. Some of these remarks are favorable and some are not. Here are some of the remarks about this new fad.

Jenouise Babcock: I definitely do not like them. They look pretty silly to me.

Joan Smith: Ditto.

Larry Phipps: Just to be different, I will say that I think they are cute and just ducky.

Constance Hirschi: I will have to admit that they are different and are very practical.

Bernadine Pressler: I like them on other people but not on myself.

Miss Alice Dean, gymnastic teacher: I think the new knee-length stockings add color to a school girl's outfit and make a charming sports outfit.

Jeanie Weil: I don't approve of the stockings because not enough people have pretty legs to wear them.

Ralph Shimer: No, I don't like them.

Peggy Harrod: I think they are just ducky, and I am going to have my mother make a pair for me.

Gloria Werkman: I think they are cute, and I'm going to get a pair to wear when Peggy wears hers.

Gertrude Merkel: I like these knee-length stockings when a girl wears them with a short plaid skirt, but not otherwise.

Safford McMyler: If Peggy Harrod and Gloria Werkman wear these stockings, I'm going to wear them too, over my trousers.

Dick Green: I don't like these stockings because they are not stylish enough.

Bonnie Yaeger: I don't like them at all.

Jim Brooks: I think they are putrid.

Lois Likens, a wearer of the knee-length: I think they are just as cute as they can be, and I think that everyone would like them if they wore them. I know I do.

Terrible, especially if the girl has a dozen different colors on.

Irene Franke: I think they are very stylish and cute.

Eight Grads Receive Lincoln Life Positions

Eight ex-Archers have received positions at the Lincoln Life during the past year. Irene Briggs, Irene Schultz, Maxine Hudson, Pearl Walen, Betty Pressler, graduates of '40, and Loraine Iba, Janice Dyer, and Andrew Bremer, '39, are included in the new employees.

Five of the eight employees were outstanding scholars while at South Side. Loraine Iba was a member of the National Honor Society. Betty Pressler was a four-year honor roll scholar. Irene Briggs, Janice Dyer, and Andrew Bremer were on the four-year honor roll and the National Honor Society.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

In Miss Peck's English 2, period 7 class, the students are reading "The Virginian." Glen Dager and Gene Auer have A averages on the quizzes taken on this book.

In Mr. Park's period 4, commercial geography class, the films "The Dutch East Indies" and "Dairying" were shown.

Miss Hemmer's English 7 classes have started the study of "Silas Marner."

Phyllis Westerman, a student of Home Room 60, sold more magazines than anyone else in South Side Wednesday, October 23. Her reward was a free ticket to the football game between South Side and North Side. The members of her home room shared in her glory by receiving candy bars.

Miss Hutto's art classes were shown movies in which designs of paintings by Lynd Wardand, a wood block carver, were shown. Trees in water color were also shown.

Jack Broyles has the highest literature grades in Miss Peck's English 1, period 1 class.

Irid Folk wrote a perfect paper in a recent test given by Mr. Post to his bookkeeping class.

The following students in Miss Covatt's Typing 3 class have received awards for typing above 40 words per minute with 91 per cent accuracy: Ellen Calhoun, 44 words per minute; Marjorie Gerding, 43, with 93 per cent accuracy; Lois Ringenberg, 51, with 91 per cent accuracy; Constance Deel, 45, with 90 per cent accuracy; Bernadine Pressler, 52, with 98 per cent accuracy; Wilma Lagemann, 51, with 91 per cent accuracy; Donna Neff, 52, with 98 per cent accuracy; and Elaine Helms, 46, with 93 per cent accuracy.

Marjorie Ann Meyer, Dorothy McPherson, and Jeanne Seidel, English 3 students in Miss Kiefer, made perfect papers in a test on Detecting Errors in Coherence.

Natalie Hoppe gave a talk to her Home Room 66 on a military camp in Texas where her father had been in training. She also showed pictures of the camp.

The students of Miss Peck's English 3 classes are writing continued stories. Two installments have been completed on one story.

In Mr. Schnepel's Health 1, period 1 class, reports pertaining to thinking and feeling were given by Truman Neuschwander, Thomas Goodwin, Ralph Jackmeyer, John Zerminski, Evelyn Shunk, and Byron Singer. In the third period reports were given by Charles Gromlich, Everett Arnett, Lee Smith, Elmer Gumbert, and Robert Gerbers.

Mr. Bex's senior Home Room 44 are giving reports on the various colleges and universities that the students are most likely to attend after graduation from high school.

Mr. Schnepel's German 3 students wrote letters in German pertaining to some experience they had last summer.

Miss Smith's and Miss Dean's dancing classes saw two movie reels on modern dancing.

Safety, vocational, and social committees were recently chosen by Home Room 52. Serving on the safety committee are Marcella Schwartz, Virginia Sapp, Kathleen Sanders, and Jo Ann Schwartz. Barbara Sudder, Betty Schweikart, and Harriet Shinnick will plan the vocational program. Social activities for the room will be arranged by Jack Shirk, Dick Schmeding, Jean Sherrick, and Joan Shultz.

Mr. Walker's marketing classes are studying Government Consumer Protecting Agencies.

Ann Welborn was elected chairman of Home Room 60, and Evelyn Warren was elected secretary. LaVon Whitner has charge of the next two safety programs.

Mr. Gould, Please Grow Our Lemons In Warm Weather!

Do you like lemonade? Well, if you do, then you had better put your name in at Mr. Elma Gould's Room 76, because he has the good fortune to have a lemon tree with a maturing crop growing in his botany room. This tree is exactly like those grown in California and Florida, except it is only about three or four feet high. It has three lemons on it at the present time.

These three lemons will be ripe in February or March, so you students had better put your name in right away. Mr. Gould has had this lemon tree for about five years and it was presented to him by one of his former students. Each year the lemons grown were made into lemonade for Mr. Gould and Mr. Murphy. If any of you students are interested in seeing this tree, go into Mr. Gould's home room and he will be glad to show this tree. It is one of his most prized possessions.

Election of officers was held in Miss VanGorder's home room. Ed Bauer was elected president; Joe Bekius, secretary-treasurer; Dick Brintzenhofe, program chairman; Bernadine Bender, general representative.

Miss Hemmer's English classes are having their first written book report on November 8.

Norman Fortress, a Shorthand 1, period 1 student of Mr. Murch, made the highest grade on a check up last week. Ethelene Behling, a period 6 student, made the highest grade in her class.

Those who made grades between 95 and 100 in Miss VanGorder's occupation classes are Charlotte Baker, Betty Clem, Jean Fisher, Jean Schleiger, and Gladys Gebhardt.

In Mr. Collyer's General History 1 class on a test covering the civilization of the Tigris and Euphrates Valley, George Walschmidt, Marcia Adler, and Robert Reynolds made a grade of A.

Mr. Yoder's health classes are studying the Red Cross First Aid course.

All girls' gym classes have started playing basketball.

Mr. Francis Fay's senior Home Room 36 had election of officers last week. The results are as follows: President, Joe Loos; vice president, Bernadine Pressler; secretary-treasurer, Betty Pepper; and Mrs. C. B. Robinson is home room mother.

In Mr. Collyer's General History 2 class, on a map test covering the period of Napoleon and the Congress of Vienna, Bill McNulty made a perfect score and Lois Craig received second highest grade.

Miss Rinehart talked to her Home Room 66 on the biggest rock in the world which is located near Atlanta, Georgia. She told of the sculptures on it, and showed pictures and chips from the mountain.

Dorothy Meyer, second semester English student in Mr. Cook's sixth period class, ranked highest on a test on infinitives. Charlotte Baker, Jean Fisher, and Martha Smith also placed high on the test.

Archer Batonists In Twirling Class

Nine Students Have Enrolled;
Mary Ann Duemling Directs
Under Music Head's Tutelage

Although Mary Ann Duemling sometimes has permission to direct baton twirlers, Mr. Jack Wainwright, head of the music department, has complete charge of the baton twirling class which meets every day during the second period.

The members of this class are Phyllis Puff, Ovar Gillybrath, Arlene Goudy, Betty Hagan, Hilda Keel, Mary Jane Kissner, Dorothy Kissner, Dorothy Krohne, and Mary Ellen Nusbaum. Every student who is interested may join the class, but he must furnish his own baton.

Margaret Heffelfinger, Pat Sunheimer, Dick Shirk, Walter Gismann, and Jack Mitch have been assigned minor tasks by Mr. Wainwright, in the music department.

Dot Kline, Senior, "Goes Hollywood", Collects Photos

Dorothy Kline, a senior in our fair portals, has been "going Hollywood" on us for about three years. By saying "going Hollywood", we refer to the fact that she has successfully and happily been collecting pictures of her favorite movie stars as a hobby. "Dot" has been collecting these pictures for three years, or maybe even more. She has such a collection that she has to have aid from her younger sister, Evelyn, who is a Freshman A.

Dorothy, when asked how she managed to select this unique hobby, declared, "I just like movie stars and wanted to see how many pictures of my favorite movie stars I could get."

Dorothy at the present time has in her collection twenty scrapbooks chock full of her favorites. Her method of keeping her pictures separated is very simple. In each section of her scrapbooks she keeps a certain section reserved for the one particular star. Then when her scrapbook is full she then starts a new one. Dot collects her pictures from movie magazines, pamphlets which are sometimes given at the theatres, and also newspapers. She claims she has no trouble in getting pictures as there are always a lot of them around someplace.

A list of some of the favorites whom she collects pictures of include Jeffrey Lynn, John Payne, Ginger Rogers, John Garfield, Anne Shirley, Jane Withers, and Mickey Rooney.

Botany Teacher Sees Geology During Geographic Expedition

"California, Here We Come" was one of the favorite tunes of Mr. Elna S. Gould, botany teacher in our dear old portals. It seems that Mr. Gould, when summer vacation had come, decided he wanted to go to California; so packing Mrs. Gould and all the luggage into the car, and finally himself, away they went for dear old California. Tracing their trip from Fort Wayne to California, we now give you a step-by-step description of the trip.

One of the first places the Goulds visited was the Black Hills where they saw the sculptured faces of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, and Teddy Roosevelt. Stop No. 2 was Yellowstone National Park where they beheld the magnificent fire ball. This fire is built about 3,000 feet above the top of the hill until it drops on something below. This is one of the most beautiful scenes that Mr. Gould had ever witnessed.

Grand Tetons, which are considered as beautiful as the Alps, was the next stop and then Salt Lake City. Here they saw the Tabernacle, and listened to the musicale that was being presented on the organ. This organ is said to be one of the most beautiful in the world. Hastening through Reno because they did not want to get into trouble, the Gould caravan then came to the Yosemite Park. Here Mr. Gould had the coincidence to meet a former student of his, Dorothy Glusenkamp. She was spending one of her graduating presents. The Golden Gate Exposition offered thrill after thrill to the Gould family, thrills that were never before experienced.

Blonde Hair Over A Tan; Presenting Miss Jeanne Smith

Blond hair and a swell tan are two attributes given to Jeanne Smith, senior, who was born at Avilla, Indiana, on August 5, 1923. Her favorite sport is tennis, and this is no wonder, since she is such a whiz at it and won several tournaments last summer. She participates in GAA, 1500 Club, and is the Times' news editor and the girls' sports editor for The Totem.

If anyone wants to get on the good side of Jeanne, take her out and treat her to a nice big juicy hamburger, but be sure not to order beans.

According to her estimation, "Northwest Passage" is the best movie, while Spencer Tracy and Priscilla Lane are the foremost stars. "Forsyte Saga" is her favorite book, and reading is her hobby. She does on listening to Kay Kyser's Kollege of Musical Knowledge.

Jeanne's favorite teachers are Miss Gretchen Smith, Miss Alice Dean, and Miss Rowena Harvey. She intends to attend college for at least one year and then try to make good at newspaper work.

Miss Smith quotes, "I like to hike, go to parties, skate, and have a good time. I love to watch football and basketball games, especially when either South Side or Central is playing. I also like to attend track meets."

People who are quiet and just dignified enough that they are not silly, and boys who do not think that they are superior to girls, appeal to Jeanne.

Lakes And Sight-Seeing Trips Popular With Gallivanting Archers

Richard Gallmeyer constructed a new darkroom to further his hobby of photography.

Lee Looser thinks he had an interesting vacation, as he went to camp for two weeks, visited in Chicago for a week and in August went with his family to Lake Wawasee.

A trip to Michigan and vacationing at their cottage at Lake Wawasee took up Barbara Lopshire's time.

Lois Lenz visited her grandmother, went to the lake quite often, visited her aunt in New Haven, and wasn't reluctant about helping her father and mother at home.

Luke Majorki, baseball fan, saw the Cubs and Tigers play in Chicago and Detroit when he wasn't playing baseball in Fort Wayne. He also went to Defiance, Bluffton, and Woodburn.

Doris Lontz saw quite a bit of the country on her trip through Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, West Virginia, and Canada.

Lakes Are Popular

Among those who made frequent trips to the lake, engaged in sports in Fort Wayne, read books, helped around home, or enjoyed bicycle hikes are Lois Voght, John Mast, Phil Lichtenberg, Bette Fremion, Mary Ann Gaskins, Margaret Freese, Raymond Vonderau, Harold Voight, Mary Ann Weber, Jimmy Wiegman, Evelyn Wunen, and Mary Louise McNabb.

Mary Mallen was gone for six weeks to Delaware, Pennsylvania, and Atlantic City. She went by train and returned by automobile.

Among those who took trips are Patricia McMahan, to Lancaster, O., and Adams Lake; Bill McKenna, Canada, Ohio, and Michigan; George Waldrop, Jr., to New York City, Atlantic City, and Washington, D. C.; Thomas Yates, to Big Turkey Lake, Stroh, Lake Michigan, and Monroeville; and Sirlene Smith to Tennessee and Kentucky to visit relatives.

Jack Sterling worked at Big Island Camp washing dishes and cooking for the Boy Scouts. He enjoyed the sports at the camp.

Bill Vanderford went to many rifle matches as he plans to go to the National rifle matches this year. He also went on two bicycle hikes.

Verne Mitchell got up at 6 o'clock every morning for ten days to go fishing while on a trip in Wisconsin. He relates that at that hour the lake was shrouded with fog.

Builds Up Muscle

Jack Mitch built up muscle on the farm by gardening, carrying water to the threshers, driving horses when making hay, and helping with the chores.

Trips to the lakes, helping at home, and visiting relatives took up the vacation time of Theodora Jean Stephans, Donald Voorhees, Floyd Sprague, Willis Welty, Hugh Underwood, Richard Meyer, Victor Moellering, Harold Miller, Gloria Miller, Paul McNeal, Bill Wissler, Richard Wittwer, Jean Schlager, Velma Willy, Miriam Abbott, and Marcia Adler.

Visits to relatives were enjoyed by Eugene Stratton, in Michigan; Doris Siples, and Faye Alexander, in the country.

Short trips were taken by Doris Wullman to Berne, Decatur, Webster Lake, South Bend, and Chicago.

Five weeks in a small town in Iowa gave Kenneth Spiker opportunity for sports.

Marilyn Toole visited relatives in Jersey City, New Jersey, and also went to New York City.

Paul Swain went on a trip to the east.

Two weeks in the south and staying at the lake used up Gale Schlup's time.

Richard Gene Scherehorn angled for finny ones in Northern Michigan and stayed part of the time on a farm.

Donald Stone saw the Peony Festival at Van Wert. Sports were his chief summer interest.

Marjorie Ahlersmeyer took time off from caring for the house to visit Detroit.

Successful Graduate Believes South Side Preparation Good

A girl some of us knew and liked or whose many contributions to South Side we have heard of is none other than that outstanding graduate of '37, Leona Menze.

She was prominent in extra-curricular activities; she served as secretary of Travel Club; secretary of Math-Science; president of GAA; vice-president, So-Si-Y; 1500 Club. Her participation in journalism included senior editor of The Totem, as well as reporter, circulation manager, business manager, and general manager of The Times.

Leona Menze

Among her favorite teachers she lists Mr. Earl H. Murch, Mr. Earl Sterner, Mr. Verne Flint, Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, Miss Pauline VanGorder, and Miss Rowena Harvey.

Reveals Pet Peeve

When asked what her pet peeve in school was, Leona replied, "I only have one pet peeve and that is the girls who took digs at their girl friends in the dirt column."

"I think the most exciting thing that happened to me at South Side was when I ran all the way from Mr. Snider's office to the press room to stop the presses, because a story that had been ordered cut was running through the presses at that moment. Also, the most exciting hour in my life was spent on Tag Day sitting in the Times Room waiting and hoping, waiting and hoping. Just two minutes before the final bell was to ring, a group walked in and decorated my palpitating chest."

Leona was a student in the commercial course and listed shorthand, typing, accounting, English literature, English composition, and public speaking as subjects which helped her to obtain and hold the position of a secretary to the general superintendent of the General Electric Company. Her work is the standard type of all secretaries; it includes receiving incoming mail, recording all correspondence referred to other offices, dictation, typing, filing, or any other special assignments that arise from day to day.

Studies Aid Training

She stated she owed all her training for this work to her studies at South Side.

It is interesting to note that after three years as a secretary, Leona has now entered Indiana University's School of Business Administration to study business journalism as a freshman. She received a scholarship to the university. She is working in the office there of Frank R. Elliott, director of admissions.

She does not feel that a person needs a college education to apply for and hold a good job, if they have a firm foundation of a high school education.

Model Railroading On Big Scale Keeps Earl Sweeney Busy

"Model railroad building is my main hobby, and I like it a lot," said Earl Sweeney, 11B, in a recent interview concerning his interesting and quite original hobby.

When Earl was six years old, Santa Claus left a train under the Sweeney Christmas tree, and Earl has been grateful ever since, because it started him on his pastime.

"I wasn't much interested at first, that is, until I received my second train," continued Earl. Then he started getting a magazine called the Model Builder. He got his idea from that magazine.

Now his railroad model covers half of the basement, and is built on a wooden table. In the past three years Earl has added two more shiny trains to his collection, and a lot of his money goes to pay for tracks. In addition to his four trains, Earl has built a town of wood and cardboard, and a surrounding country with mountains and numerous trees. The town consists of houses, a passenger depot, and a freight yard. The mountains are made of painted plaster over wire, and the trees of the needles of pine trees painted and stuck on a piece of wood.

Earl finds the basement a pleasant retreat when his homework is finished and there are no radio programs to listen to. He loves to spend his spare time there, painting, building, and adding to his collection in various other ways. His one ambition at present is to have the entire attic in which to enlarge upon his hobby. My, such ambition!

Railroading isn't Earl's only hobby, either. He also collects stamps; in fact, he has two whole albums.

Well, doesn't Earl Sweeney sound like a busy man? He certainly must be because he's also a member of Library Club. More power to you, Earl!

Archer Graduate, Now Business Woman, Tips Us Upon How To Achieve Success In One's Vocation

Jane Vesey Smith, outstanding graduate of '32 and now customers' relation director at Wolf & Dessauer, has expressed her opinions concerning certain matters of the business world and has explained her interesting position during a recent interview.

At present Jane is employed in the capacity of director of public relations or promoter of good will, at Wolf & Dessauer. This position, commonly called customer relations, is a creative job, wherein ideas of approach are tried, tested, and, if successful, put into use.

Directs New System

Jane is directing a new system by which to encourage newcomers in the city to shop at Wolf & Dessauer. She arranges with the Welcome Wagons to issue invitations to several women new in the city to be luncheon guests on certain days at the store. After the luncheon, the group is taken on a tour of the store, where they become acquainted with the different departments and their location, so that the next time they shop in the store they feel more at home. Through these luncheons, Jane has made many friends besides getting customers for the store.

She does not think women will ever be on an equal basis with men in business.

Active in School Life

While at South Side, Jane was a member of such prominent clubs as Wranglers, Social Science, of which she was a charter member, 1500 Club, Meterites, and Student Players, and was general manager of The South Side Times. She said that these activities definitely helped her to learn a little about getting along with people, which is a great help in her work today.

Jane Vesey Smith

When asked who her favorite teachers were at South Side, she replied, "Mr. R. Nelson Sider is, and always will be, tops with me. Other teachers whom I never will forget are Miss Rowena Harvey, Miss Marjorie Suter, Mr. Wilburn Wilson, Miss Gertrude Oppelt, Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, Miss Ellen Burns, who is no longer here, and Mr. Herbert Voorhees, who is no longer living. I liked many other teachers but, because I spent more time with those mentioned, I naturally knew them better."

Merchandising Is Suggested

A few weeks ago Jane was out here at South Side to ask Mr. Snider what he thought Wolf & Dessauer could do to be of help to South Side. Mr. Snider suggested that the store start classes in merchandising so the students could receive some actual experience in selling; this course would be conducted in classes. At present Jane is busy trying to promote this idea for the good of high school students.

She also mentioned that her work on The Times and The Totem helped a great deal to give her self-confidence which is an asset in her work today.

Her last bit of advice to those seeking a job is that they be happy and enthusiastic in their particular line of work, make the most they can out of their job, and have fun doing it.

A THIRD TERM?

YES!

EARL BROWDER

Communist Candidate for President of the U. S.

"The tradition against a third term in the presidency must be set aside."

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Declined a third term and thereby set the precedent of a two term limit for President.

THOMAS JEFFERSON

"Should a President consent to be a candidate for a third election, I trust he would be rejected on this demonstration of ambitious views."

ANDREW JACKSON

"It would seem advisable to limit the service of the Chief Magistrate to a single term of either four or six years."

WOODROW WILSON

"It is intolerable that any President should be permitted to determine who should succeed him—himself or another."

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM OF 1896

"We declare it to be the unwritten law of this Republic, established by custom and usage of one hundred years, and sanctioned by the greatest and wisest of those who founded and have maintained our government, that no man should be eligible for a third term of the Presidential office."

Portals Stand Open For Return Of Archer Parents Monday For Back-To-School Night Program

Main Entrance, South Side High School

Back to School Night for the parents will be held next Monday night, starting at 7:30 o'clock. This annual activity of South Side is for the benefit of parents that they may become acquainted with teachers and the methods by which high school students are educated. From 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. the parents may visit any classroom they wish.

After a tour of classrooms, the parents are invited to attend a program which will be held in the gymnasium. A musical pageant will be presented by the music department and the National Guard, entitled "A Day in the Life of a Soldier."

"Atlantus" Opens Program The program will open with a selection from "Atlantus." The sleeping soldiers are awakened by the bugle calls, after which "How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning" will be played. The soldiers in preparing for battle will go through their customary drill, which will be followed by "Just Before the Battle, Mother." The firing of machine guns and rifles with blank cartridges will depict the battle, during which the "Destruction of Atlantus" will be played.

At the close of the battle a wounded soldier is left on the field and another soldier remains to comfort him, while the selection "My Buddy" is presented. After which the band will play "Rose of No Man's Land," a march, and "Tenting Tonight." At the close of the program the entire group will sing "God Bless America" and "Star Spangled Banner."

Eight Ideas For Safety Rules Are Derived From Recent Poll

In order to judge exactly what the year's program in safety is going to be, safety questionnaires were filled out in the home rooms recently. The types of accidents in the home, camp, playground, streets, highways, and school were listed. The students marked the ones that had happened to them. Judging from the greatest number marked, these accidents will be discussed in the following year's safety program. From the marks, the freshmen and sophomores will have the accidents that deal with safety at school, from school, on the playground, and at home. The seniors and juniors will have the accidents discussing dealing with the rights of the motorist, the pedestrian, and the driver; keeping the automobile in good condition; traffic laws and regu-

Family Physician Is The Ideal Examiner, Says Faculty Group

Committee On Health Is Advocating The Physical Examination Of All Students Through Cooperation Of The Parents And Outside School For Best Results

Annual Health Examinations At South Side—Family Physician Ideal

"During the past few years considerable attention has been given to the examination of children previous to their enrollment in school. The summer round-up program, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, has centered a nation-wide interest on this problem and has achieved marked progress in making parents conscious of the need for children to be free of remediable defects on entrance to school. As an ideal, we should look forward to the time when children—pre-school, school children, and children out of school—will have periodic health examinations."

Quote Special Committee

This quotation from the report of a special committee of the National Education Association sets up the ideal for examinations in general, declares South Side's faculty committee on health. The ideal plan in high schools is to have the pupil examined by the family physician. The physician enters his findings and recommendations for the school on a health record card which is returned to the school," the committee's statement continues.

"The health examination is used as a basis for the whole school health program. It discovers conditions, such as defective hearing and eyesight, unfavorable to normal growth and development. It is used for adlations; accident circumstances; safety on the highways; sound driving practices; swimming, and safety at home.

Types of accidents in the home, and the total of all four classes, freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior, are gas leaks, 20; electricity, 40; burns and scalds, 197; falls, 222; fires, 53; firearms, 25; medicine cabinet, 16.

Other participants of contests, held in Room 190 are: Evangeline Wimer, Shirley Tripp, and Kelsey, and Marilyn Deneche, all of whom tied for second place, and Helen Welbaum and June DeWood; period 3, Phyllis Buckmaster, third place winner, and Gladys Gebhardt, Phyllis Ann Westerman, Bob Gilder, and Ruth Kelson; period 4, Margaret Hoffman, third place winner, and Phyllis Jackson, Joan Valentine, Margaret Stolp, Don Aldrich, Mary Anne Duemling, and Phyllis Bumke, and period 6, Rosemary Bird, third place winner, and Margaret Huepenbaker, Warren Lotz, David Link, and Edith Kuntz.

Other contestants who gave their speeches in the Greeley Room last Tuesday are: Period 1, Charles Hoke, second place winner, and Barbara Steinbacher and Betty Soderlin, tied for third place, and Harry Kast, and Velma Wier; period 2, John Welborne, third place winner, and Wanda Baney, Carolyn Plummer, Philip Sanborn, Mary Mallers, John Mast, and George Hahn.

Period 3, Robert Hansel and Kathryn Scholer tied for third place, and Phyllis Puff, Evelyn Warden, and Dale Koonie; period 4, Mary Condrey, Maxine Passe, Sally O'Rourke, Delores Magazine Drive Ends With Profit

Subscriptions Total $576.85 At Finish Of First Week; Stars Are J. Brooks, F. Schweir

Magazine subscriptions totaling $576.85 were the fruits of the one-week campaign sponsored by the Social Science Club. However, after the publishing company has taken its share and the prize expenses have been taken care of, it is estimated that the club's share will be $150.

Star salesman for the campaign are Jim Brooks and Fred Schweir with $50 subscriptions to their credit. For their efforts, Jim Brooks has already received an athletic season ticket, and Fred, two first prizes totaling $7.00.

Machine Case and Bob Wylie also sold several subscriptions. The winning team was captained by Ruth Dauner.

Art Instructor Speaks To Wo-Ho-Ma Group

Miss Erma Dochterman, art instructor, spoke on "How to Plan Color Schemes" at Wo-Ho-Ma's meeting last Thursday in the Greeley Room. Virginia Applewhite was in charge of the meeting. Marjorie Gerding displayed a silver tea service set to the girls. This gift was given to the Home Economics Department last spring by the club. It is the usual custom of Wo-Ho-Ma to give a gift to the Home Economics Department every year. Pauline Kaiser was in charge of the game, Hot Corn. Taffy apples were served as refreshments.

The committee in charge of the next meeting is Donna Peel, chairman, Doris Ontario, Phyllis Crumrine, and Helen Dicke.

Girls' Rifle Club Plans Skate For December

Girls' Rifle Club has made plans for a skating party to be held in December. At the club's last meeting those who made the highest scores in the National Junior Rifle Association contest are Marcelle Kimmell, with the highest score of 95; Betty Thiele, 94; Marjorie Shannon, 91; LaVerne Michelfelder, 80; and Irene Myers, 78.

Social-Sci Plans Programs For Armistice Day

Rev. F. H. Rupnow, Pastor Of St. John's Reformed Church, Is Guest Speaker

An Armistice Day program has been arranged by the Social Science Club, under the direction of W. C. Wilson, adviser of that club. The Rev. F. H. Rupnow, pastor of the St. John's Reformed Church, will be the speaker.

The flag will be raised and the students will pledge allegiance to the flag. Several selections will be played by the band and sung by the pupils. These include "Stars and Stripes Forever," "I Am an American," and "God Bless America." A minute of silence will be observed at 11 o'clock. The program will probably be from 10:20 to 11:20 a.m.

Betty Koehler is chairman of the committee in charge. Mr. Lester Hostettler and Mr. Jack Wainwright are in charge of the music. The songs for distribution were typed by Eileen Hormann and Bettu Stein.

Journalism Article Features Ex-Kelly

Bruce Bradbury Is Presented In October-November Issue Of Quill And Scroll Magazine

Bruce Bradbury, graduate of '40, and former general manager of The Times, who was awarded a scholarship of $500 for two years' tuition at Northwestern University by the International Honorary Society of High School Journalists, was featured in an illustrated article in the October-November issue of The Quill and Scroll Magazine. This is the third subscription offered by the organization.

From cub reporter to general manager of The Times was his story. After graduation, he secured a part-time and later full-time position on the News-Sentinel. Bruce was chosen for this scholarship from a select group of finalists who were chosen from a score of America's outstanding young student journalists.

"I intend to make journalism my life work and the president's scholarship makes possible the first step toward the realization of that goal," said Bruce Bradbury in the Quill and Scroll Magazine.

Hi-Y Club Plans Best Girls' Feast

January 10 To Be Date Of Banquet; Warren Cook, Appointed To Head Committee In Charge

Plans for the Best Girls' Banquet, to be held January 10, were discussed at the Hi-Y meeting Thursday night at the YMCA. A committee, headed by Warren Cook, was appointed by the chairman to take charge of the banquet. Assisting Warren are Jim Gering, Bill Goodwin, Dick Brower, and Roger McVay.

Mr. Clyde Peirce, faculty adviser, announced the arrival of the pennants, consisting of a banner and cane, and asked the pennant committee to formulate plans for their sale at football and basketball games. Plans were discussed about the publicity checking at games and after-game dances, and it was decided to have posters made.

Tom Brower, president, then announced a meeting of the officers to discuss plans for a dance. Member-ship cards were signed, dues were paid, and Hi-Y pins were ordered by members before they were adjourned to participate in Halloweening.

Pep Session Tomorrow

A pep session will be held tomorrow immediately after home room period for the South Side-Central football game Saturday.

Foreign Relations Subject Of Forum

"Foreign Relations" will be the topic of discussion for the coming P.T.A. Forum, Wednesday evening in the Greeley Room at 7:30 o'clock. Motion pictures and the discussion of Pan-Americanism will comprise the program.

The history and tradition of the third term issue were discussed by Mr. Wilburn Wilson at the last meeting, October 30, when Mr. J. I. Mills acted as discussion leader.

Three Islands Are Discussed By Stamp Club

Bahamas, Antigua, St. Lucia Are Topics Spoken On By Members Of Organization

Bahamas, Antigua, and St. Lucia were the three countries discussed at the regular program meeting of the Stamp Club yesterday in the Greeley Room.

In keeping with their theme, "Stamps of Countries of Newly Leased Military Bases," the islands were discussed as to their value as air and naval bases in the Atlantic. The following students gave talks: Ray Fish, Bahamas; John Hitzeman, Antigua; and Albert Smith, St. Lucia. To illustrate their talks these students used photographs of these islands. Following the program the club was led in several games by Jack Braun and Albert Kranz. Refreshments were then served.

Plans were also discussed for the Stamp Club's annual skate at Bell's Rink on November 15. Tickets can be purchased in Room 64 or from any Stamp Club member.

A total of 112 lots were sold at the Stamp Club auction, October 23. Central and other schools were guests at this auction. Don Parkinson and Max Staubaugh acted as auctioneers.

Richard Lockhart was chairman of the program meeting yesterday, and had the following members assisting him: Betty Thiele, Irene Meyer, Albert Smith, Albert Kranz, Ray Fish, Jack Braun, John Hitzeman, and Raymond Kost.

Wrangler Theme Is Political Rally

Enthusiasm For Both Parties Is Shown In Debate, Discussion On Presidential Candidates

Presidential candidates were discussed at the political rally held at Wranglers meeting Monday night. Enthusiasm for both parties was shown. Chlene McAttee, program chairman, took charge of the meeting.

Starting the program was a debate given by Bob Robinson and Pat Sanford for the affirmative side and Mary Ellen Barrett and Bud Lampson for the negative. The question was, "Resolved, That Wendell Willkie be elected president." After the debate, seven minutes were given for a discussion in which everyone could participate who wished.

Helen Ninde, Democratic program chairman, then presented her part of the program. Caroline Lichtenberg gave her interpretation of a Republican campaign speech. Bob Young gave a five-minute pep talk for both parties. A Democratic tie, composed of Helen Ninde, Ellen Edinger, and Caroline Lichtenberg, sang campaign songs.

The Republican chairman, Ed Meyer, then presented Kent Lentz, who gave a speech. The Republican tie, Safford McMyler, Bob Moses, and Albert Werwiese, played several campaign songs.

The committee for this meeting were—Democratic: Helen Ninde, chairman, Joyce Craig, Warren Cook, Richard Shriner, Shirley Watts, Caroline McNabb, and Caroline Lichtenberg, and Republicans: Ed Meyer, chairman, Joyce Cleaver, Pat Sanford, Jeanne Seidel, and Kent Lentz.

Picture Campaign Is On In Full Swing

Faye Gumper, Senior Editor Of Yearbook, Announces Agents Have Taken 200 Photo Orders

Senior students are already planning to whom to give their senior pictures this Christmas, for as has been announced, the senior picture drive for the 1941 Totem is underway. The picture agents are snapping faster at the Clippinger Studio, 828 1/2 Calhoun Street, because of the pre-Christmas rush and also on account of the increasing numbers of Southern students who are deciding the time has come to march for the doorway of the Clippinger Studio.

Two hundred orders taken so far at the time of this writing, 200 orders for the pictures had been turned in at The Totem office, according to Faye Gumper, senior editor of the 1941 book. Faye states, "Students at last turning in their dollars for their senior pictures. Now that orders are commencing to come, it would be wise for each senior to make sure that he or she buys his or her photo immediately to avoid rushing the retouching work which requires so much time and care. See your Totem picture agents are:

Eva Jean Wylie, 56; Maurine Leas, 64; Elaine Hirschy, 70; Jean Weil and Janet Holtmeyer, 79; Faye Gumper, 80; Lois Likins, 82; June Flaig, 91; Francis Nash, 94; Bob Robinson and Emelyn Kemmel, 36; Dick Theye, 44; Gloria Workman, 98; Pat Seibel, 102; Peg Harrod, 144; Wilma Lageman, 172.

Attention is called to the Clippinger ad on page 3 of this week's Times, by the Totem staff.

Subscription Campaign End The subscription campaign was concluded by the Totem staff last Friday. The drive was ended with 970 subscriptions, which is 130 short of the goal of 1,100. The staff was not downhearted at this because it is felt these 130 subscriptions can be picked up during the year. There seems to be an idea that one cannot buy a Totem any longer. John Bonis stated that that is incorrect and that one can subscribe at any time, but it is too late to get your name on the cover of your yearbook.

Club Congress Makes Plans For Donations

Members Work On Thanksgiving Project; Name Delivery, Bulletin Groups

"All home room teachers are to know as soon as possible what size of family their students can furnish with a Thanksgiving basket," has been requested by Miss Emma Kiefer, adviser of Inter-Club Congress. The baskets should be complete and ready for delivery by the close of home room period Wednesday, November 20, she said. A list of people to whom baskets are to be given is to be prepared by Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, with the cooperation of the Community Chest to prevent duplication.

Home Room Furnishes Basket Each home room may furnish its own basket or join with another home room in preparing one.

Members of the Congress will help with collecting the Thanksgiving baskets from home rooms, addressing them, and delivering them at the homes. With the cooperation of everyone, all deliveries will be able to be made during daylight hours, it is believed.

Several committees have been appointed to carry out this project. The home room committee consists of Safford McMyler, Rudolph Wuttke, Jean Karmis, Maxine Sterling, and LaVerne Michelfelder.

Members of the delivery committee are Keith Lakey, John Virts, and Rosemary Ziegler.

The bulletin committee members are Janet Holtmeyer, Eva Jean Wylie, and Louisa Haugk.

Congress Meets Monday

The next meeting of Inter-Club Congress will be held Monday, November 18, at which final instructions for the delivery of the baskets will be given. Plans for Christmas decorating of the club rooms will also be discussed.

If any students who are not members of Inter-Club Congress and have cars which they can drive to help deliver the baskets, they are asked to see Mr. Rex in Room 44.

South Siders Prefer Popular Hit Tunes In Community Sing

"America the Beautiful," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and many other old-time favorites were sung at the community sing held last Thursday. According to a poll taken among the students they prefer popular tunes in place of the old favorites. Here are the opinions your roving reporter picked up around the halls of South Side.

Rosa Lee Hall: It was swell, except I wish we would sing some new songs instead of those old jobs.

Margaret Heine: All that I could see was wonderful.

Bill McNulty: It was okay.

Dick Bailhe: I thought it was nice, except it would be better if they had the orchestra instead of the band.

Bob Wylie: Not enough volume. We need more male voices in the chorus.

Bud Warner: What community sing?

Saff. McMyler: I was surprised that Mr. Wainwright did not comment on the conduct of the students.

May Scheele: More popular songs.

Bob Druhot: Newer stuff. It was swell.

Ralph Sebold: It was good except for the conduct of some students due to too few assemblies.

"Killer" Miller: Fine!

Mary Whittier: I thought it was grand.

June Flaig: A lot of fun; we need more.

Hilda Schubert: Everybody had a grand time, but more should sing.

Connie Hirschy: Fine assembly.

Frances Gross: Stupendous!

Joan Cartwright: Good idea; need more.

Bob Brooks: If we had a few more, it would stimulate patriotism in the students.

Colds Cause One-Half Total Daily Absences

"About 30 or 40 students are absent each day due to colds," stated Mrs. Lillian Scott, attendance recorder. This number constitutes about half of the daily absences. Elizabeth Mundt has not attended school recently, having had an appendicitis operation.

South Side has an average of 98.2 percent daily attendance. The fact that students of South Side has been very courteous in bringing in their excuses on time is appreciated by Mrs. Scott.

Philo Slates Skyhigh Skip Friday Night

Dance Will Be From 8:30 To 11:30; Bill Miller's Orchestra Is Chosen To Play

Tickets Are Sold By Club Members

Eighteen Chaperons Listed; Charge Twenty-Five-Cent Per Person; Prizes Given

Patriotism pervades the United States, Fort Wayne, South Side, and Skyhigh Skip, Philo's annual dance, which will be held tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock in Room 170. It will be the eighteenth annual dance held by Philo, preceding the South Side-Central football game.

Stags Are Invited

Tickets may be obtained from all Philo girls, Miss Elizabeth Demaree, club sponsor, in Room 68, or at the dance. Girls and boys stag or in couples are invited to attend. Bill Miller's orchestra will play from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock. Admission price is twenty-five cents per person or fifty cents per couple.

Verne Flint, Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Pauline VanGorder, Miss Olive Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hostettler, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hall, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bowby, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gumper, and Miss Elizabeth Demaree.

Committees for the dance are as follows: Check girls, Lou Gumper (chairman), Ruth Dauner, Dorothy Guilead, Mae Scheele, Martha Cash, Alene Looser, Rosa Lee Hall, Jane Klinefelter; orchestra, Maurine Leas (chairman), Betty Harrison; tickets, Emelyn Kemmel (chairman), Marjorie Dyer, Maxine Roebel, Helen Savage; prizes, Katherine a dante (chairman), Jean Weil, Bettu Stein; floor show, Rozella Foutz; and decorations, Mary Bowby (chairman), Marjorie Dyer, Mary Burt, Katherine Beckman, Mary Dunbar, Mary Carlo; programs, Marjorie McMahon (chairman), Margaret Meyer, Jean McCarty.

To Have Discussion

Gene Stratton Porter's home will be the second of a series of discussions of Literary Houses at the Philo meeting next Monday. After Mary Bowby discusses Porter's home, Gloria Kramer will present a dance.

Dues must be paid by mid-semester or they will be doubled, stated Tompkins Hall, treasurer. After school today dues will be accepted in Room 68.

Latin Instructor Heads New Club

Mr. Francis Fay, Group Of Boys Form Camera Organization; Meetings To Be Wednesdays

Interest in photography resulted in the organization of the Camera Club by Mr. Francis Fay, Latin instructor, and a group of boys. Regular meetings are to be held on alternate Wednesdays.

The club plans a very busy schedule. The members are gathering equipment to furnish a darkroom. Pictures will be developed at the meetings. Snapshots are to be exhibited in Room 36 on Back to School Night next Monday.

Monthly assignments will be given, such as still life, landscape, and children. Pictures then are entered in the monthly contest which determines a winner. Ben Allen, first member, John Myers, John Logue, Bob Zimmer, Jack Green, Jim Bumke, and Kolman Gross comprise the club. Mr. Fay announced. John Logue is working on the constitution.

Each Archer belonging to the club is especially interested in photography. Mr. Fay has exhibited several very good pictures taken by John Myers and Ben Allen Harris, who also experimented in color photography.

Stamp Collection To Be Displayed

Philatelic Truck Will Contain Specimens Of Stamps From 1847; To Be Shown Nov. 8-9

South Side students interested in stamps will have an opportunity to see the display located on the plaza in front of the Fort Wayne Post Office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on tomorrow and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

In order to stimulate stamp collecting and through that, interest in our history, the Post Office Department has on tour a philatelic truck containing specimens of all issues of postage stamps from 1847 to date, together with miscellaneous material having relation to the designing and printing of postage stamps. The latter includes a miniature stamp press of the rotary type such as is used in printing the major part of the yearly issues.

Attendees at this display car will distribute, for the price of 10 cents, a descriptive booklet containing illustrations of the various issues of commemorative stamps and those of the current regular series. This booklet contains valuable historical information and is of especial interest to both students and stamp collectors. It will also be kept on sale at the stamp windows for a limited time after the departure of the philatelic truck.

This Week We Hit Upon The Irony Of The Armistice Day

A peace celebration in times of war—what a strange situation! Next Monday, flags will fly, bands will play, golden-tongued orators will expound the benefits of peace and the horrors of war—and all because it was twenty-two years ago that “on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month,” the guns ceased firing. “Armistice Day commemorates the curtains descent on the “war to end war”; “the war to make the world safe for democracy”. As the echo of the last big gun died away in Flanders, there was hardly a man but made a solemn promise never to let such a horrible catastrophe again befall this earth.

As Shakespeare so aptly puts it in the words of Puck, “What fools these mortals be”. Man's memory must indeed be short to forget the bloody awfulness of the first Great War. There are many men today who still abide by their solemn promises never to believe in another war. But there is also a great number who have already hidden away the memories of 1918, and are now urging the youth of the nation to go forth again and fight “to gain living room”, “to civilize the world to the merits of dictatorship”, and “to free the oppressed minorities”. Perhaps the cause of this war is that we did not do a thorough job of making the world safe for democracy in 1918. On the other hand, we may have been too complete in the task. Maybe the present-day totalitarianism is the result of a seeking for retributions for wrongs committed at Versailles.

Perhaps even the men were deceived into thinking that they signed a peace pact. It may have been only a truce. Possibly the world needed a rest of twenty-two years before going on to completely exterminate absolutism. Perhaps some of those joyous soldiers realized they would have to come some other day to finish what could not possibly have been done at one time. When November 11 again rolls by, it would be well for high school students to wonder why we celebrate a day of peace amid a world of war. These and many other thoughts are not at all beyond the scope of modern youth. For who is it that will eventually be at the reins? The answer is known to all.

We Say, “Yes, Our New Safety Record Can Be Permanent.”

For nine hundred seventy-nine days Fort Wayne has gone without a traffic death of a school student. This space of time is approximately two years and eight months. Since the spring of 1938, we students have been watchful and careful enough to observe all traffic regulations of which a violation might result in death.

On the other hand, there have been six traffic deaths among adults this year. From these figures but one conclusion can be drawn. Our present generation must be maturing to a more cautious generation than that of its predecessor. The safety education we are receiving today is exhibiting itself in our spotless safety account; that of the adults shows plainly the lack of safety teachings in earlier schools.

But this does not necessarily mean that teaching of safety suffices as a prevention in traffic accidents. Evidently the public has learned in past months to preserve the enviable it now has. Why can't we make this record a permanent one? If the practical use of the education offered us is continued we can continue deathless years indefinitely, and also make our country a safer place in which to live. Only a very little effort is needed to look both ways or to cross only at corners. Broken rules mean broken bones.

Seniors! If you want to see yourself in print, get your Totem pictures snapped. Remember, you've just got till Thanksgiving!

Soon the football season will be a thing of the past and basketball will be taking its place. Boost our team to victory by buying your ticket as soon as possible.

News item: High school students in an Ohio town formed a league for combating Halloween vandalism. Hmm—how long will that last?

Tact: The quality enabling one to know just when to agree and when to disagree in a conversation over one's head.

By the way, when did you say you were going to subscribe for the Totem? My, how time flies!

The difference between a rabid fan, a loyal supporter and an interested spectator is how much of a fool the person makes himself when a score is made.

Prom? For Upperclassmen

Today, we seniors sense a revolution. The underclassmen who write for this column are thinking of having proms and dances just like juniors and seniors. We of the senior class don't want this to happen. You may say that is being selfish, but, after all, we were once undergraduates ourselves. We want to carry on the traditions laid down long before we came to South Side. The freshmen and sophomores ask why they can't have a dance or some social affair like ours. There is no reason why they cannot if they want to, but it would be doubtful if they could swing such a dance. It takes a well-oiled organization to function properly, and this cannot be done when a new class gets together. That is why freshmen classes do not elect officers, the students don't know one another. The sophomore class is the first to elect officers and then it starts only to function as an organization. This particular class starts to plan big affairs and to put over the sophomore party. In the junior year everyone really starts to know everyone else and they sponsor several social events such as the Junior banquet and the Junior Prom. In the senior year a banquet, dance, and many other social affairs are scheduled. Another item the underclassmen overlooks is the fact that he is less adjusted to our method of study. It is next to impossible for an upperclassman to attend many social affairs and get much studying done at the same time. The

Writer Finds Many Interesting Facts In This Mentor's Life

Mr. Louis Hull was born in Warrick County, Indiana in the year of (that would be telling!) His first years of education were spent in a township school. After graduation from high school, Mr. Hull attended Central Normal College. Here he received his permit to teach. He taught all subjects in the county school for several years. After this venture he journeyed back home and taught in the high school there. Mr. Hull's next two years were spent in the Danville, Indiana schools.

Mr. Hull soon decided to further his knowledge at Indiana University. His next position was in Kendallville where he taught mathematics and the sciences. During the latter part of the World War, Mr. Hull taught in the Radio School of Indiana University. Radio was, and still is, one of his greatest attractions. Mr. Hull soon came to Fort Wayne to teach at Central High School. In 1922 Mr. Hull was chosen to be the physics teacher of South Side.

Mr. Hull is very much interested in outdoor life. It seems he and the President have something in common—fishing. This sport is Mr. Hull's favorite hobby.

He has travelled into Canada and other parts of our country to find good fishing ground. Mr. Hull says, “I do like to travel and sometime I hope to visit parts of Europe.”

Mr. Hull takes a great deal of pride, (which he deserves) in our physics laboratory. He has made it one of the most well-equipped labs in the state.

When asked about his favorite student types, Mr. Hull replied, “I'm quite neutral about favorite student types. I like all kinds and sizes.”

Mr. Hull is seen by many of us on the opening day of school. He is in charge of our book store. He stated that once, annually, he sticks his head out the door and is shoved in the face by a book.

I know that all of you will want to acquaint yourself with the interesting and likeable teacher of Room 96, Mr. Louis Hull.

Presenting ---

Clever and charming are only two of the descriptive adjectives used in conversations to describe this dark-eyed, dark-haired girl of the senior class.

Humor? It's up to and above par. Her laugh can't be duplicated, nor can her corny puns. She takes her work seriously but gets a lot of fun and enjoyment in everything she does.

Ambitious is the word for her. She has written her future in the stars. “I plan to take up personnel work at Miami University next year,” quotes she.

Romance isn't a word to be omitted when Mac's concerned. To add up her romantic attainments would practically be doing the impossible. Let's see, just a few, now! There was Dick Green in grade school, Bonsh, Neff, Turner, Siples, Schmoe, Buesching and Miller in South Side.

Leisure time is spent in reading and dancing.

E-ducation began in Harrison Hill and continued at South Side.

N-icknames consist of “Mac”, “Clocine”, and “Charm”.

E-xceptional public speaking ability marks another point for our side.

M-ac merits the high average she has gained during her four years at South Side.

C-ubs that benefit by her membership include Wranglers, Times, Totem, 1500, SPC, French, Service, and Philo.

A-ttractiveness and intelligence, all in one person, are scarce, but Mac is gifted by both.

T-eachers are human beings to Mac, and she enjoys working, “For them and with them.”

Enough said! Charlene has so many merits that to name them all wouldn't outspell her own name.

E-nding with a familiar quotation, Charlene McAtee, “The People's Choice.”

The Trail Along Calhoun

entertaining should be done by the upperclassmen, but of course the other students are always welcome at our dances. After all, we seniors are fair when it comes to comradeship, regardless of class.

Juniors Say, “No!”

Should the freshmen and sophomores have proms? True, the juniors and seniors have proms, but don't you think that that should be a privilege for the upperclassmen only? After all, proms are a pretty big affair, and by having too many proms we can easily wear off their individuality. Freshmen have never been able to have any special event, therefore why should they be allowed to throw a prom? Let us consider the sophomores. Every year the sophomores have a party. This party is all they need for recreation. By letting the sophomores have a prom, we wear out the idea. When one stops to think of it, no one really wants or even enjoys three big dances in a year. Then too, other than senior specialties they don't appreciate any outstanding event for all the students of the school. Everyone is undoubtedly honored to be able to attend the Senior Dance. If we let the other classes have proms, the time-honored Junior Prom and Senior Dance tradition would be ruined.

Sophomores Agree

Should sophomores and freshmen have proms? Why not, if the juniors and seniors do. We feel kind of strange going to the other school dances, because there aren't very many kids of our age there. We do have the Sophomore Party, but we could easily turn it into a dance. The games and refreshments we have are no fun, compared to a real honest-to-goodness dance. Another reason we press our claim is that the older students resent the “squirts” (as they call them) cluttering up their dance floors.

Sophomores are usually timid, though not as timid as the freshmen, and are usually reluctant to show the upperclassmen how poor their dancing is. These same people wouldn't and couldn't be so embarrassed at a dance of their own. Probably the most important reason we demand a prom is that our parents won't let us go to an unchaperoned dance, or one that lasts after twelve o'clock.

At a school dance we would have chaperons and the dance would be sure to end before twelve. The sophomores are old enough to put on something more than just a party, and we are capable of putting on just as fine a dance as the older classes.

Let's keep trying and hoping that someday we may put on a real dance.

Freshmen Want Prom

Well, why not? Ever since “way back when”, the younger generation has been wondering why they can't have a prom—a real big one with all the trimmings. We know the sophisticated upperclassmen don't seem to think that freshies are quite enough advanced to have a date. But take it from a freshman, they are! There are several reasons. The first is that freshmen are entitled to good times in the right way, just the same as upperclassmen.

Most mothers of freshmen girls would prefer to have their daughters attend their own chaperoned high school dance rather than attend places where an older or rougher crowd hangs out.

The second reason is evidenced in the fact that many freshmen boys would like to ask a certain girl to go places with him, but there are no occasions like a formal dance at our alma mater for them. Of course, there are movies, skating parties and the like, but these do not compare with a freshman dance. In this way every one could get acquainted and would not feel lost in the halls with the upperclassmen. Then there are the drawbacks. Namely, some boys can't dance very well. Younger girls feel they don't have the right clothes and popularity. Most freshmen boys don't have the money. So if there would be a freshman prom, the price would be formal, so as to familiarize the underclassmen with this type. We believe just as much fun can be had at formal parties as those which are informal. Such a dance as the sophomore Calico Capers of last year would be fun for our class, too. How about it, freshmen? Do you want a prom or not? Or do you want a freshman party? Let's have fun at something well worth going to!

Sharpen Those Wits And Pencils For An Ecstatic Exam

This week, I decided to turn the tables on pedagogues and originate my own quiz for you. Don't let the word quiz frighten you away from this column however, because these questions are surprisingly simple. First match your wits in this matching test. Just link one name in the first column with the appropriate one in the second.

Hint: One and one makes two. Know what I mean?

- |    |                                |
|----|--------------------------------|
| A. | 1. Barbara Cross               |
|    | 2. Maxine Sterling             |
|    | 3. Rosa Lee Hall               |
|    | 4. Rose Stemen                 |
|    | 5. Marjorie Jones (North Side) |
|    | 6. Marcelene Batdorf           |
|    | 7. Phyllis Amstutz             |
|    | 8. Ann Stephens                |
|    | 9. Mary Cleland                |
|    | 10. Maryon Dosch               |
|    | 11. Mary Carlo                 |
|    | 12. Kathryn Scholer            |
| b. | Bob Young                      |
| c. | Bill Seibold                   |
| d. | Bob Worman                     |
| e. | Russel Wilken                  |
| f. | Don Lampton                    |
| g. | Junior Friffin                 |
| h. | Don Yant                       |
| i. | Jim Gerig                      |
| j. | Joe Loos                       |
| k. | Fred Collins                   |
| l. | “Buck” Harrison                |
|    | 1. Walter Turner               |

And now kiddies, see if you can make a perfect score on the following. Just put true or false before these statements.

- Eugene Reichart, the handsome, is planning a rush on Joan Reichard.
- Bob Hockemeyer claims he has Janis to gain and nothing to lose.
- Ken Iba admits he would rather go to dances with Barbara Scudder than any one else.
- The Sebold twins no longer boast bachelorhood.
- Bud Gardner is having double difficulty in choosing between Mary Ann Duenmeling and “Weezie” McNabb.
- Mickey Rooney is using every method to win the affections of Hedy la Harrison away from glamour boy Bonsh.
- Pat Schnurr can't keep her eyes from gazing in Bill Forbing's direction.
- Dorothy Rutz and Jim Ostermeyer have at last come to a happy agreement.
- Don Parkinson seems to be in Le-favor of Dee.
- Elaine Helms has given her heart to Julian from Central.
- Betty Thiele does not deny the fact that Dick Steury is a frequent visitor at her house.

Foot note: For the benefit of those keeping score, the above sentences should all be marked, “true.”

Martha Hull hums, “Wanting You” every time Kent Lentz passes her in the hall.

Speaking of football, Chuck Close deserves a bit of recognition. First for his outstanding work with the squad and second for his outstanding choice among women, Marian Faux. I hope, in conclusion, that you merry makers of music will keep the notes flying. Mainly in the direction of a certain music box labeled “Dirt”.

Last, a few interrogations! P. S.—There's no catch to these questions!

- Does Phyllis Clark have any ideas about Don Knorr? Is it love at first thought?
- Will Mike Beall ever realize that Janus Murray is the year's prize?
- Is “Casanova” Druhot seriously considering Pat Towns?
- Has Dick Gilpin really captured Alida, “fair one” Eidner?
- What will be Jane's decision concerning Keith Spiker?
- Do you feel run down and tired? If so, it's time to quit wracking your brain over this mental hazard and take a rest. If some of these questions leave you stumped and stunned, then tune in again next week.

The World's Best Poetry

This day should be commemorated; 'Cause it seems that I've degenerated In making verse and rhymes For the good old South Side Times.

There's quite a hurry, And no little worry, In putting a column like this together, And refraining from whistling “Stormy Weather.”

A typewriter is a wonderful thing, It makes me want to laugh and sing. When I think of the happiness it can bring, Now writer's cramp has lost its sting.

These knee length stockings are quite the rage; But it seems that a smart girl would act her age. We stopped wearing leggings when we were ten, To keep our legs warm was the main use then; But now these smart lassies, 'stead of sheathing their “pins”

Inadequately cover their legs to the shins. And during the winter if the fad doesn't grow stale What will protect their poor legs from the gale?

An Open Letter To The Girls

I'm just an average high school boy, To me a pretty girl's a joy. But why, oh why, do you have to taint Your beauty with that awful paint? A girl's mouth is pretty, but I think it's queer, When you paint it on with a crooked smear.

Now if you think your beauty you enhance, Why, think of the fellows and give us a chance. If you have to color yourselves up so terrible, Why don't you put on some stuff that's indekible? 'Cause after a dance, a fellow's coat's thick, With horrible daubs of rouge and lipstick.

And another thing that's drastically wrong, Is when girls wear their fingernails three inches long! By this time you dames are all looking ominous, That's why I'm signing this letter, “Anonymous.”

—But we're signing it “Ernie”

Dumbell Pome

With words and thoughts, my mind doesn't mingle, Therefore, this terrible, terrible jingle. Oh, I should worry—what's that you say? Oh yes, of course, I get more pay.

—Ima Nutt

Make The Most Of Being An American

Few of us ever stop to consider how lucky we are to be living in the United States. Recent world events have made a great many of us realize that we do live in a wonderful country. Citizenship in the United States is a priceless possession which some never think of; there are hundreds in Europe who would sacrifice anything to be an American citizen.

The warring nations of Europe have rationed a family's food, clothing and other necessities of life. Some have barely enough to keep them alive. We have a sufficient supply of things.

We can listen to any program we wish to over the radio. No one tells us what we may or may not hear. In the newspapers we read all the plain facts. We are not forced to read propaganda which conceals the true happenings of the day.

Here in America there are many opportunities for young men and women. Each and every American is offered the same advantage of schooling. True, some people can afford to go to college while others cannot. But where there is a will, there is a way.

We can all be good citizens by showing kindness, fairness, loyalty and tolerance to friends and teachers. All these traits we should also show toward our city, state, and country. The future leaders of the United States are now being taught somewhere in this country.

Many people think it quite amusing to boo and hiss the presidential nominees while at the theatre. Nothing shows poorer breeding or sportsmanship than exhibiting feeling in such a way. We who are blessed by living in the “Land of the Brave and the Home of the Free” should make the most of our opportunities. We are fortunate—living in America!

This Year's Favorite Coat Is Reversible

Handy Andy Wraps Shown In Different Styles; Also Wear Matching Pork Pie

Every cloud has a silver lining and so does every reversible. There are two sides to every story—the bright and the gloomy. There are two sides to every reversible, a bright cloth for the sunny days and a gabardine for the gloomy or rainy days.

But let us go more into detail about these wonderful gifts to humanity—the reversibles. The fairer were the first to introduce this double talk coat, but today the beau brummels of America have adopted them also.

These handy andy coats come in many different styles. The style most prominent in eastern schools is the camel hair cloth with beige colored gabardine lining. These models also sport patch pockets to carry your compact, lipstick, keys, and other what-nots in, and have stitching around the hem.

Right colored corduroy models in red, green, blue, beige, or brown are the most popular in Fort Wayne. Girls, buy a corduroy reversible to match your boy friend's and wear them for games, sport dances, and dates.

Beside matching your boy friend's reversible, you can buy corduroy pork-pie hats to match the coat both of you are sporting.

There's a wee bit of Scotch in all of us, so why not try a scotch plaid reversible. Besides the scotch plaid, there are several other bright combinations, such as the popular light blue and red plaid with the light blue lining for rainy days. Many of these coats have detachable hoods, which can be buttoned on for rainy or snowy weather to keep your locks dry. It can be just laid back on your shoulder in nice weather. Since the world is zipper conscious, the new reversibles save you the energy of buttoning your coat. One zip and you are snugly zipped into a reversible to brave any kind of weather.

Beautiful, Luxurious Glamorous Describe This Season's Furs

Beautiful, luxurious, glamorous... To this list of adjectives, which describe furs, another is added, one that stands out this year above all else—durable and yet beautiful! The coats this year for sports, dress, and evening wear all come under this heading.

For sport... Mink-dyed Muskrat is very, very good. Lovely to look at, luxurious to feel, and very warm and comfortable to wear. Also very good this season is Mouton Lamb. Looks a lot like Sheared Beaver... the difference is that it is less than a third as expensive.

Dressier coats for dates, dances, and parties—Kafa Caracul and the new Wolverine, a shaggy fur that comes from the wolf family... made so colors make beautiful designs in the coat. A little more perishable fur, Kidskin, is also smart for dressy wear.

This year, for evening wear, chubbies seem to be the favorite. Cross and red Fox, Lynx, and Lynx-dyed Wolf is what they are made of. Beautiful but also very warm and durable. Incidentally, these chubbies can also be worn over sport and dressy dresses.

Style favorites are the yoke front and back, small collar, square shoulders, (not as padded as last year), and full bell sleeves.

Hair Styles For School Girls Are Convenient, Simple, Clever

By Elinor Muntzinger

It seems to me that in all my life I have noticed some five or six puny columns dedicated to teenster hair styling. Evidently, fashion editors forget that high school girls have to comb their hair, even as models and movie stars do. We have always relied on our own ideas, and we did a pretty good job of it. Here are a few common-sense ideas we, high-schoolers have developed:

Regardless of sourpuss remarks on the part of our magazine friends who say that teensters' top-knots resemble those of Australian bushmen (and this is true to a certain extent), it looks rather ridiculous for high school girls to roam the halls with every hair in its proper curl, and dozens of beautiful ringlets wherever you look. Your hair should be neat but fluffy, so that you can run a comb through it any time you please without ruining the effect. If you're lucky enough to have one of those much-desired oval face contours, you can wear your hair in almost any style. A simple bob may be very becoming. Perhaps you can wear a glamour-girl hair-do, the type where your hair topples (or should I say "dips"? ) down into your face wherever it happens to land. You can probably wear a center or a side part, whichever you prefer.

Maybe you grit your teeth when you look into the mirror and see something that slightly resembles the full moon. Part solution to your problem lies in the styling of your hair. Why not try a little build-up on top? A swirl from the sides up can give amazing results, too.

The new fad of bangs is super, but don't wear them unless your face is properly suited to them. Anybody with a "butter-ball face" or a particularly low forehead just emphasizes these traits with bangs. On the other hand, if you have a suitably-chiseled face, this style will prove very flattering. Bangs are simply adorable on a piquant, flirtatious face. You might top a "cute" hair-do like this with a flippant little bow.

Your locks should be washed about once a week if you've an average type of scalp. Your hair may be dry: in such a case it can be neglected a few days longer. If your scalp is especially oily, it will want a shampoo about every four or five days. If you spend too much time waiting patiently (or otherwise) for your hair to dry, here's a tip that might help the situation a bit: Moisten your hair with cologne; this hurries the drying and smells mighty nice, too.

In view of the fact that Thanksgiving formals are just around the corner, I'll say a little about evening hair styles. A mild version of the popular pompadour is just the thing. But even here, you should never go to extremes. Simplicity seems to be the keynote of teenster hair styles, and it's definitely your very best bet.

Pork-Pies, Topping Cord Or Gabardine, Lead Male Fashion

Hats and ties, the staples for all men's clothes. This year, as was true last year, pork-pies are the thing in hats. Being mainly made of poplin, gabardine, cord, or some similar material, the hats are perfect to top off a cord or gabardine finger-tip coat. For a more formal occasion a wide-brimmed, fairly high-crowned felt is just right for the snappy tweed overcoat or topcoat.

Now to the ties. Probably one of the oddest of fashion quirks is the bow tie, the "pet peeve" of most women and the disgust of most men. It seems that, though the bow tie is favored by the boys, the girls do not favor this method of wringing a poor fella's neck.

For that new tweed suit, we would suggest a wool tie of some either matching or contrasting color. For formal wear, if you have a tuxedo, better known as a "soup and fish", any color under the sun seems to be popular. Several men's clothing stores are featuring dress ties of green, red, and even blue with matching handkerchiefs and buttoners (artificial flowers for the button hole).

Another necessity is sox. Here we have the chief thing being bright sox. The brighter the better, but be careful that the colors don't clash too severely. For semi-formal wear, sox of a more subdued nature are best. Some with the rough finish, so to speak.

Shirts must be chosen with consideration of color of the rest of your attire. The shirts with collar styles are popular. There are those of the medium wing, short wing, and extra long wing. Candy stripe shirts are popular and can be worn on most any occasion.

Sloppy Joes Rate High In Sweaters

Majority Of Kelly Klad's Fairer Sex Owns Popular Garments; Materials Are Wool, Chenille

Have you ever stood in the halls and watched the sweaters worn by the girls? You see many different styles. Probably the most popular sweater with the girls is the "Sloppy Joe". There are few girls in South Side who do not own one. There are also many different kinds of "sloppys". There are the regular, long-sleeved, button-front kind; the long-sleeved, slip-overs; and the short-sleeved, loose-knit types.

Since sweaters play such an important part in the wardrobe of a high school girl, there are many other popular types of sweaters: Long and short sleeve sweaters, loose and fitted sweaters. One novelty type of sweater is the one embroidered in yarn or chenille.

Sweaters are also popular for evening wear. With a long, swishing skirt, wear a hip length chenille sweater with rib-knit elastic at the waist and flowers embroidered in gilt, or a wool chenille sweater with band after band of gold sequins stripping the bodice; and you will catch the eye of the opposite sex.

South Side, Central Will Clash Here Saturday Afternoon

Last Grid Tilt Will Determine City Runner-Up

Archers To Meet Oldest Grid Rivals At 2 O'clock; To Be State's Feature Game

Coach Wayne Gift's scrappy Green Archers will entertain their oldest grid rivals, the Tigers of Central, in the state's feature clash of the week. The game is scheduled for 2 o'clock in the South Side stadium.

Although the hard driving Archers and their cousins from Central have suffered defeat from North Side's powerhouse, the game will provide all the color and excitement of a city championship battle. The winner of the Saturday tussle will assume the runner-up role in the city title chase.

Although the Tigers have suffered two defeats, they are definitely a big threat to the Archers. In every game this year, the speedy Tigers have displayed a devastating attack on the ground and in the air; only the big Redskins and the Huntington Vikings have upset the Central victory train. Against such foes as New Castle and Central Catholic, the Mendenhallmen have displayed power plus. Throughout the year the Bengals have used their famous spread for cashing in on scoring breaks.

Sitko Is Speedy Player

Red Sitko, Central's mighty speed merchant, has been used effectively from this spread; the flashy Bengal halfback passes, runs, and kicks with great ability from the spread offensive. John Leon and "Spider" Shaw are also expected to share a majority of the burden of the Central attack. While Leon is a plunger of high caliber, Fred Shaw has been heralded as one of Central's finest blockers and pass catchers.

The big forward wall of Central, which is featured by the all-around good blocking and tackling of Dick Tackett, should cause the Green grid-ders a goodly amount of trouble.

While Central's spread is working, the Archers will strike back with the same good football that has carried the Gifted Archers to five well-earned victories. Chick Shimer is expected to carry the greatest burden, for the Green will depend on his fine kicking and passing to keep the visitors in trouble throughout the game.

Expect Good Game

Bob Englehart, South Side's off-tackle specialist, and big Chuck Close are counted upon to give the Archers sizable yardage gains. Jim Straley, the capable quarterback of the Archers, will finish his North Side generalship on Saturday. The South Side line, which has tackled and blocked well all season, is expected to give the fleet Tiger aces an afternoon of real work.

In the seventeen-year feud between South Side and Central, the downtown gridders have captured ten tilts and the locals have won seven games. Last year the Archers were trounced 28 to 0; however, a capacity crowd of three thousand is expected to see the Archers gain back their lost prestige.

Kokomo Kats Play Redskins Friday

Tomorrow Night, Nulfmen Will Meet Their Challengers Rated Third In State This Season

North Side Redskins will play the Kokomo Kats at the northern gridiron tomorrow in a night game which will start at 8 o'clock. The Red and White have only to conquer Riley of South Bend and Kokomo for a perfect season's record and achievement of state-wide honors.

Rating second place in the state, the Redskins are one of the state's best teams while Kokomo is rated about fifteenth place. The Nulfmen have very decidedly proven their merit by having conquered such teams as Whiting, famous for its smashing power-drives, Cathedral of Indianapolis, and other good teams. The reputation of being one of the toughest teams in the state is due chiefly to the brilliant playing of Kay Short, one of the state's best blocking backs; Mike Bojinoff, a spectacular plunging fullback; Bob Young, halfback; and Bob Cowan, halfback, either of whom may be relied upon to give a punting exhibition well worth seeing.

With such an all-around powerful team and a good reserve power the Redskins will probably not encounter much difficulty in conquering the Kokomo Kats in the coming action.

Girls' Sportsettes

Congratulations, Marian Faux, for showing swell tennis ability in defeating Jeanne Smith 4-6, 8-6, 6-3, for the girls' singles title.

The girls are now choosing teams for basketball in the gym classes.

The first basketball games in GAA were played last week on Friday after school.

Congratulations to the freshman captains. We hope your teams cooperate and have a successful basketball season.

Intramural Sportlights

With the tagball schedule almost completed, many boys have turned out to be very capable ball players. Harry Hines, one of our promising stars in varsity, as well as intramural sports, is one of the mainstays in the Nine Old Pals lineup. His passing and running has kept the team going. Harry has been very active in intramural sports, and I am sure you will see and hear much more about him in the future.

Ed Welch of the Blitzkriegers proved to be a great hurler, as he has been pegging the pigskin up and down the South field for several weeks. When ever there is a good passer there must be good receivers; Dick Forbing and Jack McNeal seem to fill these requirements!

The Blitzkriegers were undefeated until the finals of the first round, where they met the N. O. P. and were dropped for the first time in the tournament. In spite of their defeat by the Nine Old Pals, they are now in the finals of the second round. The winner of the Packers vs. Blitzkriegers game will play the N. O. P. for the championship of the heavyweight division.

Players for Jean Clark are Marilyn Damer, Anna Lee Bearinger, Anna Marie Roth, Eileen Gebhard, Joyce Dent, Patty Van Arsdol, Doris Birt, Margie Jo Robyans, Barbara Christ, and Alice Dolin.

All County Court To Go Into Action

Leo Champions To Play Elmhurst; New Haven Will Meet Decatur Catholic Tonight

Several outstanding games are scheduled for the county basketball squads this week. While most of the teams started their seasons last week, the entire Allen County League will swing into action on Friday night. The New Haven and Leo squads, favored to vie for the county title, are scheduled to meet tough opponents; while the remainder of the township schools will be meeting each other or playing mediocre out-of-county teams. The card for tomorrow night is listed below:

Leg at Elmhurst.
Decatur Catholic at New Haven. Huntstown at Arcola.
Harian at Coesse.
Lafayette Central at Rockcreek. Monroeville at Hoagland.

Mr. Briner urges all boys who wish to participate in intramural basketball to get their teams together and make sure they all have their health cards in.

Goes To Washington, D. C.

George Vorndran

The many friends of George Vorndran, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Vorndran, 2409 Lafayette St., Fort Wayne, will be pleased to learn that he has passed a civil service examination and has left for Washington, D. C., to take a position in the Treasury Department.

Mr. Vorndran graduated from South Side High School. He continued his education after graduation from high school at International College, in Fort Wayne, and graduated from the General Business Department.

Elwood Routed By South Side Gridmen, 33-7

Archer First Stringers Tally Four Touchdowns In First Quarter; Substitutes Play

South Side's Archers downed a poor Elwood eleven 33 to 7 here last Saturday. The southern gridders proved no match for the more experienced Giftmen; however, the Panthers did show enough spark to tally a marker late in the fourth period of play.

In the first quarter the Gifted Archers scored four touchdowns, and later in the third period the locals added another score.

Shimer Scores First

In the first quarter the Green grid-ders scored on a 4-yard plunge by Chick Shimer. The fleet Shimer had previously set up this tally by charging 25 yards through the entire Elwood squad. After Straley's conversion, the Archers kicked off and soon recovered the pigskin via an intercepted pass.

Chick Shimer, having a sprinting field day, plucked the wild toss from the air on the 40- and returned the pigskin to the Elwood 10-yard line. On the next play Chuck Close scored on a cut around right end. Jim Straley again added the conversion to increase the Green lead.

After Elwood had received the kickoff and punted from danger, the Archers scored their third score on a 70-yard march. The rushing advance was climaxed by a 22-yard end-around run by End Jim Worman. Chick Shimer's attempted kick hit the crossbar and bounced back into the field.

Block Elwood Punt

Soon after the Panthers received the fourth kick-off of the period, the Gifted Archers blocked an Elwood punt and recovered the loose ball on the visitor's 15-yard stripe. Bob Englehart cut off tackle for five yards and then Chick Shimer scored again on a 10-yard end run. The extra point was scored on a pass thrown from Englehart to Worman.

Throughout the second and third quarters, the two teams battled hard to near pay dirt. South Side's third and fourth squads saw much action in the later quarters, with the second stringers being given the most actual experience. Late in the third quarter the Archers again marked six points. Gene McClain, substitute for Chick Shimer, ran 45 yards off tackle for a brilliant touchdown run.

Elwood's only score came on a long pass. With the South Siders third and fourth string eleven in the game, the Panthers managed their pass play on a 30-yard aerial from Burton to Moore. Halfback Burton scored the extra point on a run around the right end.

South Side's first string, resting for the tough Central Tigers, saw enough action to definitely cause the Bengals plenty of worry before the all-important meeting on Saturday.

Redskins Outplay Decatur Jackets

Nulfmen Triumph By Big Score Of 43 To 0; Cowan, Young, Ranly, Worley, Each Tally

The devastating scoring avalanche of North Side High rolled over Decatur here last Friday night by the topheavy score of 43 to 0. Never were the visiting Jackets in scoring position, for the big Redskin wall was charging and blocking in perfect style.

North Side tallied in every period, scoring twice in the first, once in the second, and twice more in each of the final periods.

Early in the game after Johnson of Decatur punted back from his 48- to the Red 40-, the Nulfmen began to roll. In several good line bucks and off-tackle thrusts, the big locals had the ball on Decatur's 38-yard line. Bob Cowan circled right end from this line for the first score. He converted the extra point.

North Side's second first quarter score came via a 30-yard sprint by halfback Bob Young. In the second period the Red and White scored again, with Cowan intercepting a pass and breaking 45 yards to a score. The half-time count favored North, 19 to 0.

Bob Cowan opened the festivities in the second half by breaking 55 yards around end for the fourth Red tally. Soon after this run, Bob Young tossed a 30-yard pass to Cowan, who scored standing up. These two markers concluded the scoring action of the third period; however, Ranly and Worley added two more Redskin touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

North Side's reserves saw two quarters of action, thus giving the replacements valuable experience before the Red powerhouse tackles Kokomo's Kats and the perennially tough Riley of South Bend squad.

1940 Footgear Hits New High In Smartness

Girls' Shoes Are In Three Classes: Dress, Sports, Evening; Suede Is Tops

Shoes this year are even better looking and more stylish than last year. There are three types needed for girls of high school age; these are sport, dress, and evening shoes.

For sport, saddle shoes are probably the best liked and are worn by practically everyone. However, why not look around and see the other types of sport shoes before purchasing another pair? The low wedges are really smart and good looking as well as comfortable. This year's oxford really is tops in comfort as well as appearance. Most popular at school now, besides the saddle shoes, are the brown and white or brown and beige oxfords styled like the golf shoes with the mocassin toe. The plain brown oxfords in either alligator or suede or a combination of both are very smart looking and have always been favored by most girls.

For dress, the spectator pump is probably the most popular with the Kelly coeds and very smart looking, too, especially a combination of alligator and suede. Wedge sandals and pumps are great favorites with the South Side girls and justly so. High wedges have lost their club-foot appearance and are beautifully curved and scooped under the arch so that they look like slim French heels from the back.

Suede is the leather this year for your good shoes. Alligator runs second to suede. Calf is the standby for walking ruggedness. Kid is making its bid for the lightweight crown; and pigskin, snake, and lizard are trotting right behind.

Evening shoes this year have not changed much in style but in appearance they definitely outdo last year. Silver, gold, and white are the best colors always. Kid and satin make their bid for the best-looking materials. A combination of white satin and gold kid are really a knockout and justly so, because they are stunning combined. High wedges are good looking for an evening sandal and are very stylish at the present time.

Poll Of South Siders Shows Weaker Sex Lacking Any Humor

The weaker sex of South Side must not be able to recognize humor when they see it, or at least they couldn't when you truly inquired of the several females strolling around these halls what they did that was humorous during the four days' vacation, or better known as the Teachers' Convention. Some of these beautiful damsels just stood and stared at me, while others attempted to answer. Following are some of these replies:

Jean Forman: Rooted for South Side at the South Side-North Side game.

Marjorie Riethmiller: I got sick on the night of the party, if you call that humorous.

"Marney" Dyer: I went out hunting and got chased over a barbed wire fence, but it didn't seem very funny at the time.

Jean Connell: The only thing I can think of is that I saw "Hired Wife."

Elinor Muntzinger: Oh! I had a lot of delightful "mink" games and dances and stuff and junk.

Jenouise Babcock: Somebody put an egg in my pocket, and someone else smashed it.

Catherine Somers: I went to a Halloween party, but it wasn't exactly humorous.

Violetta Favory: I got a fraternity pin from a certain guy at Northwest.

Jean Junk: I did too, only from a different guy.

Gloria Orr: My fraternity pin came from Carnegie Tech.

Ruthann Stiegler: I went out "twink or twetting." (At your age? tch! tch!)

Be Your Smartest In Bright, Colored Plaids

Plaids are all the rage this year for college girls, working girls, and last, but not least, high school girls. For this year's football games and other sporty occasions be your smartest in a bright-colored, finger-tip, plaid swagger coat.

Set your heart on a Glenurquhart plaid suit with a long man tailored jacket and a slightly flared skirt.

Under the jacket try a short-sleeved cardigan, with cable stitching and pearl buttons down the front, in red, ice blue, pink, or white.

A good thing to put on your "must-have" list is a plaid wool shirtwaist dress for semi-dress affairs or in the classroom.

If you don't own a plaid article and don't care to elaborate on your wardrobe at the present time, try an inexpensive bright plaid ribbon in your hair. It will brighten up an old outfit and you will find the effects pleasing.

Rhumba To Be Shown To Dancers Tonight

Gloria Kramer and Audrey Longworth will present a new dance number, "Rhumba," at the meeting today of the Dance Club in Room 170, immediately after school. The dancers, under the direction of Miss Alice Dean and Miss Gretchen Smith, will continue practicing "Modern Back Chorus." This selection has been arranged by and directed by Barbara Hadley and Irene Franke.

Torch Club Members To Check For Dances

Having charge of the coat check room will be the work of the Torch Club for every after-game dance, it was decided at its meeting last week. Boys who volunteered are Ray Fish, Russ Siples, Dick Virtis, Bob Gildes, Bob Wade, and Frank Neff.

It was also decided to get Junior Hi-Y pins. These pins are triangular shaped and very similar to the Hi-Y pins.

Patient: Well, Doc, you sure did keep your promise when you said you'd have me walking in a month.

Doctor: Well, well, that's fine.

Patient: Yes, I had to sell my car when I got your bill.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

A week's diary will be kept by Miss Perkins' French 4, period 1, students, which might have been written by the boy in the story which they are reading.

Barrie Tremper, an English 6, period 1, student of Miss Pocock, reported on the biography of William Beebe.

Mary Whittner and Arvilla Rediger made 95 or above in a test given by Mr. Sterner to students in his Latin 2 class over the work of unit 5.

In Mr. Gould's first period advanced botany class Joan Thomas made 100 on a test on cells. Pat Ehle and Bernice O'Brien also had high grades. In his sixth period advanced botany class Betty Baker, Colleen Glenier, Dorothy Perry, Phyllis Rolf, and lone Jean Tracht, made the highest grades on the same test.

Miss Bean's home room 79 have elected officers for the semester. The officers are as follows: Everette Trulock, chairman; Safford McMyler, vice-chairman; Ivan Truman, secretary.

Miss Edith Crowe's first, sixth, and seventh period classes have had the first week of First Aid. Her second, third and fourth period classes had a test this week completing unit 3.

Miss Smith has chosen four girls from each of her dancing classes to direct their respective class. The girls are Charlotte Baker, Jean Fisher, Irene Geiger, and Joan Holtman for period 2; Eleanor Christ, Phyllis Reinkenberger, Mae Ann Stark, and Jeanette Zahn for period 3; and Mary Cleland, Mariane Hageman, Janis Tremper, and Pat Underhill for period 7.

Joyce Beverforden, #10B, is a new student in Miss Pocock's English 3 class. Joyce came from Jefferson Center High near Columbia City.

In Mrs. Welty's Latin 4 class, Richard Baile and Wilbur McNulty gave reports on Roman Baths and Amusements.

Reports on phases of Greek and Hellenistic civilization were given in Mr. Peirc's general history 1, period 7 class, by Dean McKean, Dorothy McPherson, Robert Quinn, and Betty Schenckler.

Pupils of Miss Perkins' French 3, period 2 class, have memorized a poem about spring, which was written in the fifteenth century by Charles of Orleans.

Audrey Colden and Mary Spiegel made the highest grades on a test given by Mr. Gould to his botany 1, period 3 class.

Pupils in Miss Kiefer's senior English classes who are making reports on supplementary "Canteberry Tales" are Hilda Schubert, Stuart Welborne, Everette Trulock, Clarence Truman, Charlene McAtee, and Alice Sweet.

Miss Mellen's home nursing classes have been practicing how to change the bed linen for a patient. The girls worked in groups of twos. One girl took the part of the nurse and the other girl took the part of the patient. Evelyn Thomas and Jo Ann Gable completed their bed changing in the shortest time, 13 and 15 minutes, respectively.

In Mr. Makey's English 6 classes Loren Hearn made the highest grade in a literature test.

Home room officers elected in Room 58 are Carl Schurenborg, chairman; Robert Sheldon, secretary; Robert Smith, chairman of program committee.

In Miss Perkins' French 3, period 2 class, the students listened to French records. One was of Daudet's short stories which they had previously studied.

Mr. Schnepel's health classes have started to study the digestion of food.

Barbara Brower, Elaine Helms, Loraine Berning, Mary Brandy, Betty Kite, Helen Long, Annabelle Redding, and Kathleen Sanders are making blouses as their second project in Miss Rehors's sewing class.

Mr. Bex's industrial arts 4 classes are getting ready to assemble different projects. Some of them are as follows: Tables, writing desks, magazine racks, coffee tables, occasional tables.

French 1 students in Miss Perkins' period 3 and 6 classes learned the days of the week in French by learning a poem in which they were written.

Miss Pocock's English 6, period 1 class, finishing a group of essays, have started reading the Reader's Digest.

Thomas Goodwin, a student of Mr. Plasket's industrial arts, period 7 class, is the most advanced pupil.

In Mr. Gould's seventh period botany 1 class, Eileen Franke, Hilda Leininger, and Janet Whetzel made 100 on a test. Theda Tyndall, Hele students of Janet Holtmeyer, Gloria Kramer, Dick Lockhart, Marilyn Loomis Lenora Mayer, Patricia Smith, Catharine Somers, and Robert Steck followed closely.

Miss Dean's dancing classes are studying modern rhythmic patterns.

The following students of Miss Rehors who are making skirts as their second project are Betty Hancock and Betty Thiele.

Those who made the highest grades in a test given by Miss Demaree to her English 7 classes over "Canterbury Tales" are Lester Opplander, Robert Allen, and Richard Brintzenhofe.

Ralph Wehrly and Dick Everett, the most advanced students of Mr. Plasket's industrial arts 1, period 6 class, are assembling coffee tables.

Bill Bond, an English 6, period 4 student of Miss Pocock, made an A+ on the questions on "All Gold Canyon."

The following students in Mr. Gould's fourth period botany 1 class, who made 100 on a test are Mary Balhe and Ellen Harry. Dorothy Jagers made 99. Patricia Burns, Elaine Goette, Virginia Gray, Margaret Kienzie, and Clabelle Squires also made high grades.

Doris Miller, a shorthand 1, period 1 student of Mr. Murch, and Harriet Will, a shorthand 1, period 6 student, made the highest grades in a check up in their respective classes.

Many of the girls of Miss Rehors's sewing classes are using red corduroy for their skirts.

Reports were given in Miss Demaree's English 7 classes by Bob Allen who reported on "The Great Passion's Play," Lester Opplander, "The Nun's Priest's Tale," Helen Ninde, "The Tale of the Clerk," and Roy Hermer, "The Squires Tale."

Students in Miss Perkins' French 1 classes, periods 3 and 6, have learned a song which contained the French alphabet.

Betty Bohn, an English 6, period 1 student of Miss Pocock, recently reported on the life of Pearl Buck.

Bernita Eggars, Elinor Muntzinger, and Romayne Rediger made 100 on a test in Mr. Gould's second period botany class. Georgia Johnson, Lisen Kaiser, Marcella Swartz, and Cathaleen Stanton followed closely.

Students of Mr. Park's commercial geography classes saw the following films: "Chicago Stock Yards," "Mongolians of Central China," and "Production of Rubber."

Joan Strahlen read a paper to Mrs. Welty's home room 34 on the origin of Halloween.

Mr. Makey's English 8 classes are starting work on their long themes.

Staff Change Made

Bill Bone, 10A, has recently been appointed intramural sports editor of The Times. He is taking the place of Don Parkinson, 12B, who is now working at Wolf & Dessauer's in the afternoons.

Autumn Formal Styles Change In Color, Lines

Turquoise, Rayon, Jersey, Black Velvetene, White, Tulle Lead Material, Hues

Contrary to styles of a few years ago, the new evening dresses cover you up. No matter how gay the party, you will have sleeves, a high back, a jacket, or all three. This is not just modesty; this is fashion.

For a Thanksgiving formal that will attract the stag line, try layers and layers of white rayon tulle for the skirt, iridescent and silver spangles on a snug fitting bodice. To set your shining crown of glory off, arrange a few flowers in your hair.

A jumper dress (a worldly angel) is tops for a glamorous evening. Of black velvetene, princess lines with bretelles winging away at the shoulders. Add a cotton eyelet-embroidered blouse, with a black velvet ribbon run through the eyelets and tied in a dainty bow at the neck and cuffs of the big puffed sleeves. That boy you are worried about will be yours for keeps after you wear a dress like this one.

Turquoise, the evening blue of the season, is striking in a clinging, sophisticated rayon jersey. Wear contrasting scarlet slippers, lipstick, and nail polish.

Have a new and exciting formal. Buy a gold embroidered jacket in a contrasting color or in the same color as your old formal and presto! You have a new and exciting formal. Add a gold sequin beanie and you will look like a queen.

For an entirely different and darling formal, wear a white taffeta striped in copper with a shirred bodice and a sweetheart neckline. White ribbons try a white ribbon with copper sequin stars. These are a few of the styles that you will see at the Thanksgiving dances.

Fashion In Glasses Is Something New, But Very Important

Glasses, glasses, glasses! Egad, every day the same old thing! Or is it? The fad craze has even gone so far as to offer the used-to-be-scooped-at shell-rimmed glasses as tops in glasses fashions. Not only are various sizes and colors offered, but also different shapes suited for one's eyes and desires can be purchased.

During the day we noticed fifty-eight pairs of shell-rimmed glasses being paraded down the halls (including ours). This is an achievement of about a year, as these glasses were not The Thing until a year or so ago.

Here are a few personal comments about this odd fashion from students who were asked, "What is your opinion of shell-rimmed glasses?"

John Myers: I think they are okay.

Clara Long: They are okay if you like them.

Paul Johnson: I like them better than the other kinds.

Ellen Harry: I think that they are kinda' flattering.

Pete Holzworth: It depends on the type of girl. I think they look all right on blonds but not on brunettes.

"Watches" Presented At Junior Math Club

At the Junior Math meeting Tuesday, Ruth Porter read a very interesting article on "Watches." Jean Stewart had charge of the games; and Mary Jane Wallace, refreshments. Delores Nicodemus, Harry Kast, and Marilyn Smith have been appointed to serve on the committee for the next meeting.

Archers To Regard Armistice In Several Minutes Of Silence

A bugle playing "Taps"; a large group of people with hats off and bowed heads standing before the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The last note of the bugle floats away in the breeze and a band starts playing "The Star Spangled Banner." A man steps from the

Evening Wraps Are Of Vital Importance In Formal Apparel

Are you going to go to the Thanksgiving dances in an old sport coat thrown over your new formal? If you are, you are going to be very much out of place. The only attire to wear with a formal is an honest-to-goodness evening wrap.

One of the most popular types that are still in style is the gorgeous velvet floor-length evening wrap which is lined with satin and boasts a cute little hood attached to it. If you are having a gown made that is light blue, the color of your wrap should be a gorgeous blue velvet. The velvet in these wraps make them look ultra-rich and so attractive. Such a coat is a real asset to your wardrobe.

The short and long white evening wrap is also just the thing. These jackets or wraps are made out of white satin, taffeta, flannel, and many other kinds of materials. The satin and taffeta jackets are many times quilted to give a certain design in the goods.

The flannel coats are close fitting and are decorated in all colors of sequins. The gold sequins on the white make a very attractive combination. To wear this jacket with a white evening dress would be just the thing to give you that glamorous look.

Bunny! Bunny! That is the call that is used a lot now, too. Of course you all know of the white bunny-fur jackets and capes. These capes are inexpensive, and guarantee the wearer a soft, feminine look. If you wear a white bunny-fur jacket, top it off with a pair of cute bunny-fur mittens. A stunning enchantress, they'll say as you pass, and you will be sure to please the "him." One good thing about a white bunny-fur jacket is that you can wear it with any color formal and accessories.

The above are three or four very good suggestions about what to wear when you go to a formal dance during the holidays. Take my advice and follow the crowd. By following the crowd, we mean wear something that is not too out of place and be sure it is in style. Wraps are the latest styles to be shown and you can't go wrong if you wear at least one of them.

crowd and places a wreath on the tomb. That scene will be duplicated next Monday in every city and village in the United States that sent its sons to war, many of whom didn't return.

Today when the whole of Europe is at bloody grips with each other, Armistice Day is more important to us than ever before. Although we at South Side do not have a band playing or a bugle blowing taps, we do observe several minutes of silence with bowed heads. Most of us are serious-minded enough to realize the importance of Armistice Day, but there are those in our student-body who do not realize the importance and value of November 11.

Twenty years ago the American Legion set aside November 11 as a national holiday in which we would celebrate the ending of the first World War, and honor those young men who gave their lives for their country. On the 11th hour of that day, every person stops whatever he is doing and observes several minutes of silence to commemorate the ending of the great World War.

Most of your fathers were in that war and maybe in the near future you will be going to join the army or navy either through voluntary enlistment or by selective service. Then certainly you will learn the gravity of the situation in the world today and the importance of Armistice Day.

So when the 11th hour of the 11th month comes around be sure to observe that occasion as it should be observed.

And thank God you live in a country that is not ravaged by war.

Tickets Distributed For Football Contest

Tickets for the Indiana-Michigan State football game Saturday were purchased last Tuesday by the students and teachers. These tickets were sold for 44 cents each. Teachers received them for the same price, in the ratio of one teacher to five students.

Funny isn't it—that people have the best times at the parties you didn't attend—or, is it?

Daughter: But, Daddy, why do you object to my becoming engaged? Is it because of my youth?

Daddy: Yes, he's hopeless.

Freshman Semi-Finalists

Freshman semi-finalists and their coaches are: Mary Whittern, Becky Abbott; Lee Looser, Alene Looser; Marjorie Riethmiller, Betty Ann Bohn; Peggy Lou Needham, Maxine Case; Mary Jane Wallace, Carol Whittern; Ade-Corts, Bud Lampton; Mary Ann Dunbar, Alene Looser; Bob Sheldon, Barry Tremper; Margaret Kuntz, Bob Robinson; Patricia Klebe, Suzanne Roebel.

Mary Louise McNabb, Marjorie McNabb; Jeanie Cyr, Margaret Cyr; Barbara Leas, Jane Rinard; Jack Rollins, Alene Looser; Dorothy Meyer, Don Meyer; Virginia Coil, Kathryn Guild; Lavon Whitmer, Clifford Hess; Jean Morse, Joan Cartwright; Tom Yates, Martha Jane Krauskopf; Shirley Garrett, Kathryn Elipper; Austin Gardner, Mike Beall; Mary Alice Kerns, Jo Frosh; Marilyn Domer, Emaline Renzel.

Teachers who judged the contests, and Mrs. Dorothy Benner Ricks, speech director, was in charge.

Education Week Is Being Observed

Theme Is "Schooling For The Common Defense," Idea Results From First World War

Education reigns in a more publicized way than usual during American Education Week, which is being observed this year starting last Sunday and ending next Saturday. During this period, people are being made acquainted with the needs, aims, and achievements of the schools.

Education Week grew out of the World War. Twenty-five per cent of the men examined were illiterate; 20 per cent were physically unfit; many were foreign born and had little understanding of American life. Also, during the War the schools lost many teachers, especially men. A program for interesting the people in education was needed, so in 1921, the American Legion consulted with leading educators and as a result, the first American Education Week was held.

This year, the main theme is "Education for the Common Defense." However each day of the week has a separate idea pertaining to common defense. Beginning with Sunday, and continuing through the week, these topics are "Enriching Spiritual Life," "Strengthening Civic Loyalties," "Pursuing Public Education," "Developing Human Resources," "Safeguarding Natural Resources," "Perpetuating Individual Liberties," and "Building Economic Security."

Being Able To Live In Democracy, Not In War-Torn Europe, Is Best Privilege Youth Can Share, Says Merle J. Abbott

All Should Remember Example Of Ceaseless Toil, Devotion Set By Nation's Forefathers

By Merle J. Abbott, Superintendent Of Schools

—Courtesy of The News-Sentinel
Mr. Merle J. Abbott

You are privileged, as young people, now in the process of growth toward a fine worthy citizenship. You live in a country that has believed in and practiced Democracy throughout the entire span of its existence. It has proved to be the best manner of living and the best type of government that has ever come from the thoughts of men.

We would have you learn the historic steps by which this blessing has come down to you. There is no other way by which you will cultivate the deep patriotic interest in America and increase the deep loyalties you should feel throughout your whole lives. It is a story of deep-seated convictions that are Christian in character and of such a sound nature that our forefathers offered their lives rather than fail to have them sustained. It is the story of a long and heroic struggle that sometimes claimed the flower of youth, and most of the country's resources that the freedoms guaranteed by our Constitution might endure.

These are still your rights among others and will always be yours if you study intensively the history of our nation to find the examples of men and women that poured out their lives for a free America. They never grew soft in their rugged natures, compromising in their principles, nor self in their devotion. We cannot place too much emphasis on these freedoms and what they will mean to you in living your lives.

States More Rights

They are by record of fact among others free speech, free press, free assembly, freedom of worship and of the ballot. They are in your lives and spell happiness and democratic living and will withstand the fearful tolls that come from mere existence under totalitarian rule.

They are the principles that when sustained will insure life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness to each one.

Two Will Speak To Math-Sci Club

Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Richard Fishing Will Give Talks; Games, Food Are On Program

Miss Adelaide Fiedler and Richard Fishing will be the speakers at the next Math-Science Club meeting to be held tomorrow in the Greeley Room at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Fiedler, who is head of the mathematics department here at South Side, will speak on "The Relation Which Mathematics Has To Progressive Civilization." Richard Fishing, senior at the University of Chicago, will speak on "Origin of Arabic Numerical System." Refreshments and games will follow the discussion part of the meeting.

The last club event was the Halloween party at which Safford McMyer presided as master of ceremonies. Elaine Hirsch, Eva Jean Wylie, and James Brooks assisted in planning this party. Gloria Staley headed the committee to obtain and serve the refreshments. Prizes were awarded to Evelyn Erickson, Roger McVay, Bob Wylie, and Jean Stewart, for their unusual costumes.

In January, the most unusual program that Math-Science Club has ever presented for its members will be given by Mr. H. W. Miller. The famous "House of Magic" from the General Electric Company will be the outstanding feature. This exhibition will be practically the same as the one presented at both of the World's Fairs last year.

Teacher Attends Conference

Miss Gertrude Oppelt, of the foreign language department, attended the Ohio Classical Conference held Saturday, October 26, at Marion, Ohio. Round-table discussion on "Visual Education in Latin" was conducted at the conference, and a lecture and discussion were featured on "Medieval Latin in the High School."

These Thirteen Reach Speech Contest Finals

Above are pictured the freshmen and sophomores who reached the finals of their two classes in the annual contest which was held last week. They are, left to right, seated: William Bone and Jack Stark, winners. Standing, back row: Richard Baillie, Tom Yates, Robert Zimmer, Bob Sheldon, and Dick Shriner.

Kelly Klatter Is Theme Of Annual Stamp Club Skate

Supervises Stamp Skate

Miss Pauline VanGorder

Affair Is Tomorrow Night; Bus Will Leave At 7:30 For Bell's Roller Rink

Maxine Case Is General Chairman

Keith Lakey Is Ticket Committee Head; Rosemary Spore Heads Chaperones

Kelly Klatter will be the theme of Stamp Club's annual skate, which will be held tomorrow night at Bell's Skating Rink. Tickets priced at 30 cents may be purchased from any club member.

A special bus to transport students to and from the rink will leave South Side's main Calhoun Street entrance at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. Miss Martha Pittenger, dean; Miss Blanche Hutto and her mother, Mrs. Nellie Hutto; Miss Pauline VanGorder, Miss Lucy Osborne, and Mr. Earl Sterner will chaperone.

Clatter Thought Suitable The theme for the event, "The Kelly Klatter", simply pertains to the South Side students who raise quite a clatter as they skate around the floor at Bell's Rink. Until yesterday the theme of the skate was shrouded in mystery. They were revealed by posters during the morning.

General chairman for the skate is Maxine Case, club president. Four committees have been appointed to help in making arrangements. The ticket committee is headed by Keith Lakey with Bob Wylie, Richard Lockart and Philip Schwartz helping him out on sales. Rosemary Spore is chairman of the chaperone committee and she has Irene Meyer and Betty Thiele assisting her.

Chairman of the prize committee is Etheldrea Behling. Her assistants are Barbara Long and Nancy Geake. Ralph Herb is chairman of the publicity committee with Etheldrea Behling, Maxine Case, Betty Clem, Ray Fish, Keith Lakey, Barbara Long, Kenneth Wollman, Jim Steiner, Max Stobaugh, and Albert Smith making the posters.

Tickets Available In 64 Keith Lakey is supervising the distribution of tickets to the members of Stamp Club. Members are asked to turn in their receipts in Room 64 by tomorrow night. If any student desires a ticket or tickets and is unable to locate a member of Stamp Club he is asked to come to Room 64 where he may purchase his ticket.

Officers for the club who have been assisting with the plans for the skate are Maxine Case, president; Etheldrea Behling, vice-president; Philip Schwartz, treasurer; Ralph Herb, public relations; Jack Rogers, sergeant-at-arms; and Keith Lakey, Inter-Club Congress representative. November 29 has been announced as a stamp exchange. Max Stobaugh is to be the speaker at the meeting. As yet he has not announced the subject of his talk. Members who want to exchange stamps are urged to bring them. Jack Rogers is chairman, assisted by Dick Stamets.

Philalethians Plan December Potluck

Affair Will Precede Three-Act Play Given By Thespians Under Wilma Lagemann, Leader

A potluck for the December meeting of Philo was announced by Rebecca Abbott, president. The potluck will precede a presentation of a three-act play by the Thespians under the leadership of Wilma Lagemann. Chairman for the potluck is Faye Gumpfer. Her committee consists of Frances Nash, Suzanne Roebel, Helen Savage, Ruth Danner, and Mary Bowlby. Play tryout will be held on next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. All Philo girls are invited to take part. Those who are interested in participating are to sign up with Wilma Lagemann.

South Side is outstanding in many fields, but at Philo's last meeting another was revealed, that of relationship to great people. Mary Bowlby, a great niece of Gene Stratton Porter, told incidents in her life and the history of Mrs. Porter's homes. Among the interesting occurrences related was the one in which Mary told of the meeting of Mrs. Porter and her husband through Mary's grandfather. Another outstanding feature of the meeting was a tap dance by Gloria Kramer.

Athletic Manager Describes Plaques

Mr. Ora Davis, athletic manager, spoke about the plaques which are being made to show South Side's athletic history at the meeting of Meterite Club held last Tuesday in the Greeley Room. Wanda Bazy gave a recitation entitled "Willie's Love Letters." Plans for the initiation of new members at the next meeting were discussed.

Social Science Club To Meet Wednesday

"Pan-American Relations" will be the topic of Social Science Club meeting to be held next Wednesday, instead of tomorrow, at 7 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Gloria Staley and Roger McVay will discuss the topic and the rest of the meeting will be open for discussion.

Times Room Agents Party To Be Tonight

Subscription Solicitors Who Have Sixty-five Per Cent Totals May Attend Affair

Because a total of 1,270 subscriptions, more than have ever been secured in any previous circulation campaign conducted at South Side, has been solicited by the Times circulation staff this year, a party will be held tonight for all agents who had rooms with 65 per cent or more, it was announced by Bob Robinson, circulation manager.

The previous record for total number of Times subscriptions in a single campaign was 1,264, which has now been broken by six subscriptions, with several more expected to be turned in. Two new 100 per cent rooms have been added during the 50-cent campaign held the past two weeks. These rooms are 12 and 188, the agents being Mary Condrey and Hilda Leininger.

These agents and about forty other persons will be present at the party. The menu for the party consists of doughnuts, coffee, and baked ham sandwiches. Short speeches will be made by Miss Rowena Harvey, Marge Sheldon, and Bob Robinson.

Those who will be present at the party include Tom Yates, Becky Abbott, Barbara Brower, Lois Hoff, Hilda Leininger, and Peggy Harrod, circulation assistants, and the following agents: Rose-Etha Brazy, Joe Jean Wylie, Kay Kuntz, Lois Likins, Gloria Werkmann, Hilda Schubert, Kolman Gross, Marilyn Soudes, Paul Johnson, Lois Bloemker, Mary Condrey, Joe Leininger, Margaret Kuntz, Barbara Leas, Alene Looser, Frank Neff, Harriet Shinnick, Bob Shinnick, Lois Jean Mer, Mary Burt, Alice Hall, Phyllis Bloemker, Gloria Gumpfer, Grace Johnson, Ken Iba, Marge Bechtol, Gladys Gebhardt, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Julia Ann Wilson, Stanley Laverne, Michael Feld, Joan Smith, Dan Hodell, and Martha Huls. Virginia Gray, Joan Dodge, Joan Carman, Emaline Remmel, Sam Bacon, and Mary Louise McNabb. If any names have been omitted, persons whose names are left out are asked to see Bob Robinson.

Hi-Y Plans Swim, Potluck At YMCA

Bill Goodwin, Dick Nahrwald, Howard Blood To Head Affair Tonight; Plan Pencil Sale

Plans for a potluck, a swim, and the engagement of a speaker for tonight's meeting were discussed at the last meeting of Hi-Y November 7, at the YMCA. Bill Goodwin was appointed chairman of the committee in charge which consists of Howard Blood and Dick Nahrwald to take charge of this affair. Members were asked to sign up in Room 82 for the things they will bring for potluck tonight.

Hi-Y decided to sell the pennants, consisting of a cane and banner, in the halls during the fifth period and during school last Friday before the Central game. Mr. Drake, central secretary of young boys' activities at YMCA, gave a speech on Hi-Y activities in Massachusetts and difference in manners and geography of the Middle West and East. Warren Cook and Edward Wade were chosen as representatives to go to a district meeting of Hi-Y Clubs at Evansville.

The Hi-Y pencil committee announced its plans for sale of the pencils with South Side's basketball schedule on them. Membership cards were passed out to the members before adjourning.

Victor Kaufman, Dick Dosch Write Articles

Articles by two South Side students appeared on Youth's Passing Show page in The News-Sentinel recently.

Victor Kaufman, 10B student, wrote an article on a mishap resulting from a dare which he had taken. Richard Dosch, 12B, wrote a poem, "Wants", that appeared on Youth's Passing Show page last Saturday.

Education for the Common Defense

Seems As If Loafers Are Not Wanted

It has long been an economic truth that bad money drives out good money. And store keepers around the school have learned that unprofitable customers drive out good customers. To be more specific, they know that loafers hurt their business.

Loafers hurt business in several ways. For one thing, they take up booth space that is often needed for "cash" customers. In the second place, even if there is room for all, their noise and rowdiness are objectionable. As a result, adult customers stay away from such places either because they think they cannot find places or to avoid a headache from the noise.

We are in full support of the efforts of these concerns to discourage the practice of loafers congregating in their places of business. We know that they must make expenses and a profit to keep going. And loafers kill business. These places have always been grand supporters of the school through giving attendance prizes to club dances and skates, through advertising in the Times, through loans, through a multitude of kindnesses when their co-operation is sought.

Some of these loafers vow to get revenge through "boycotting." That draws a big horse laugh. They don't spend anything anyway. But now, they say, they will spend nothing! Well, nothing from nothing leaves nothing. So the storekeepers will lose nothing.

Fortunately the number of loafers is small, as most students order their lunch or refreshments and leave in about fifteen minutes' time. That is a fair period of time, as the change of customers in that length of time will take care of overhead expenses.

Perhaps The Times sympathizes with these men so much because the Times Room has its loafing problem the fifth period. Again, the non-workers drive out or put a halt to the workers. Hence, The Times wishes to join our neighborhood merchants in declaring, "No loafers wanted."

By Now We All Realize With Our Elders America Is First

Last Tuesday was election day, the day when every nerve in every American was tense, the day when the hopes of some were realized and the hopes of others frustrated, the day when the President of the United States was re-elected.

To us, the students of South Side, the results of this election are perhaps not so significant at the present, but they will undoubtedly play an important part in our future life. Many of us expressed definite opinions before the election. All of us were interested; a few of us were radical. Those who may have been very partial to the losing candidate a few weeks ago are probably indignant now. This is only natural.

But why be radical now? Why make unreasonable or unfair comments about the victorious party? Why insist on arguing every point of the campaign all over again? The election has been settled. We must face the results; we must cooperate with our leaders. We will stand by Americanism so long as it is democracy. Don't be a Republican, don't be a Democrat. Be an American!

Simile: As scared as he was the first time he got up to speak in the Freshman-Sophomore Speech Contest.

A pun is the lowest form of wit. "Says you!" exclaims the victim of a practical joker.

CLUB-UBS...

Too much work? Want some recreation? We can prescribe just the thing for you—active membership in a South Side club. Oh! So there are so many clubs, and you don't have the slightest idea what half of them are about! We have a solution for that problem, too. In a series of articles beginning this week, we are going to acquaint you with the organizations of South Side, not by offering statistics as the Totem write-ups do, but also giving an outline of their general activities.

This week we're presenting the Archery Club. If you are perplexed when people ask you your hobby and have to admit you haven't any, here's a wonderful solution. If you are one of the girls who long for perfect carriage and poise (and this is good for the figure, too), begin shooting a bow and arrow in this club. Here's what you'll do after you've joined: You'll shoot for a score (at an outdoor range, at first) from distances of thirty, forty, or fifty yards. In a tournament thirty shots will be made from each distance.

You will be given six arrows to put to flight, and you'll shoot at a four-foot target whose bull's eye is nine inches. When the weather begins to freeze your toes and numb your ears, you'll go to the winter archery room, Room 41. Here you'll shoot from a distance of twenty yards at a two foot target whose bull's eye is four inches.

You'll probably buy or make your own equipment. You'll pay twenty-five cents dues every semester. Every Friday night will find you flinging arrows.

This is a completely recreational and hobby club. It's good exercise, good fun, good pastime, good for your pocketbook, and good for your figure. What more do you want?

"There's Money In Them Thar Attics"

Do you sit around sighing—"Oh, how I wish I had enough dough to take Susie to that coming Thanksgiving dance!" Or maybe you give this answer to a Totem agent, "Oh, I'd be only too glad to subscribe to the Totem, but I just haven't the ready cash." If you have such confronting problems, we're sure we have the solution for you right here!

Why not try exploring the attic? Of course, if you're a romanticist you'll probably stop your exploring when you discover the old love letters of your parents or grandparents; but, on the other hand, if you are a realist, you'll only take a little peek at them, and continue your adventure immediately. If your grandfather or great-grandfather had a weakness for scrapbooks, you may be in luck, for they may prove to be a treasure trove. Any old pictures of great fires or the like can be sold to swell the weekly allowance.

Old play bills and theater programs will lighten the heart of a collector and weigh down the pocketbook of the lucky finder.

Suppose your great grandparents had a liking for swing music, like you do. If so, you will probably find songsters, the song collections covered in colored paper, and, if they are dated from 1852 to about 1871, they may furnish you with pocket money for several weeks.

Without a doubt some of your ancestors had an interest in the early "Wild West." Mementos of the early West often represent pay dirt that assays high. For example, in 1834, the Central Pacific Railroad issued large printed sheets or posters to warn passengers against three-card monte men (cardsharks).

If you find one of these examples in your attic in fairly good condition, you'll be richer for it!

Search beneath that roof. Maybe you'll find the money for that new tux or that certain dance or the Totem!

Count The Present Instead Of The Past

Are you the kind that never drags past events into present-day conversations??? Are you content to let bygone days be bygone??? Or do you just suffer from a lapse of memory? I hope you are not a victim of "lapses," because I dug out a few memories for your recognition. Do you remember way back when... Sam Bacon and Roy Heavner did some fancy feudin' over Betsy Dale? Arthur Wedler still had his beautiful blond curls? (His recent hair-do is style number 46609, courtesy Sing Sing.) Dick Fishering was number one on Margie McNabb's Hit Parade? Lou was going steady? Bob York thought only of glamorous McAtes? Dick Gallmeyer was a Democrat? (Could this ever have been?) And Tyrone Power was single? (Darn Anna-bella!)

But alas, we shall have to stop reminiscing some time and recognize the present state of affairs.

Bob Sheldon, the great orator, has double trouble already. He admits Weezie McNabb is very charming but so is Martha Hull. Hint: Hermits lead very happy lives, Bob.

Jane Chenoweth is listed as another Bill Forbinger fan! That boy must have plenty glamour to rate so many fair females. Bingo! Pat Haruff has scored again. She was awarded the prize of none other than Bob Zimmer.

Warren Cook refuses to disclose the name of that beautiful blonde belle of his from North Side. "Why should I," Warren asks, "that would only be inviting unwelcome competition?" Hey that isn't fair!

Bill Fishering is another foggy freshman who can't choose between the two women in his life, namely, Jean Shannon and Margaret Kuntz. That's just a case of a thorn between two roses. Blackie Dager does not ignore all the women, even if his thoughts wander to the gal at Stephens College. Dorothy Burke certainly shows no sign of being ignored by him.

Although it is sometimes regarded too lightly by many of our citizens, the accepted flag raising procedure plays an important part in our lives. In the above photo are several students assisting Mr. Vonderau with this important ceremony, described elsewhere in today's Times. Normally, Mr. Vonderau conducts the task without the aid of the student body. About his daily responsibility he stated, "I find the job of raising the flag one of the most enjoyable and interesting tasks I perform." He then went on to expand this statement by telling the technical requirements.

"We use about four flags a year," he said. "These must be kept clean and must be folded properly after use. It is interesting to note that, after the flag is too soiled for use, I must burn it instead of merely throwing it away."

Mr. Vonderau also told of how the flag is raised after sunrise and before sundown. He said that South Side's flag flies on the five school days only. "The banner is never unfurled during a storm or other disturbance."

The following are the opinions of the students who witnessed the flag raising routine: Marilyn Loomis: I was impressed chiefly by the sincerity of Mr. Vonderau, and could not help feeling a bit awe-stricken.

Betty Elberson: I can't express much about this one incident, but I do think that the proper loyalty and respect due to the flag of our country helps the morale of the citizens.

Bob Holzworth: I think that it is appropriate that we give a little more thought to the flag this week. National Education Week should help us to consider the more important things in life. I also want to say that I, for one, appreciate the way that Mr. Vonderau takes care of the flag each day.

Tom Brower: I agree with the rest of the students and I think that more ceremonies such as our last assembly help us all to love our country more.

Do you know the rules which govern treatment toward the flag of the United States? Have you any idea as to when and where the flag should be saluted? If you haven't, then you had better take the advice of the four patriots mentioned above. A bit of editorial comment, and we produce the following: Educate yourself with the rules of patriotism and Americanism. Be a better American than you have ever been before. Perhaps by doing so you will have a share in keeping our nation free and strong.

Room Service

If you should apply in your subject elections for participation in a class of history, government or economics, you might find yourself going to Room 108. This is the headquarters of Mr. Wilburn Wilson, whom we all know for his congeniality and wit. But there are some things you don't know about this master pedagogue, and we're going to let you in on them right now.

Hobbies: During hobby time, Mr. Wilson, social scientist, changes into Mr. Wilson, agriculturist. He farms on "a small patch of ground" (as he termed it). When he's not doing this during leisure hours, he reads. Doing this is his favorite hobby. And here's something novel and interesting. He is an accomplished carpenter, having built several small buildings.

Activities: Mr. Wilson modestly explained, "I am such a bad teacher because of my activities!" Of course, this is unnecessary, but Mr. Wilson is known to us as a really swell teacher! We do agree that much of his time is taken by his interest in organizations. The magazine campaign, which the Social Science Clubs sponsors to get funds for the visual education department, is one of his big worries. He also accepts the responsibility of being executive director of the Indiana Student Forum and teaches an adult forum class. In spite of all the time and energy these activities absorb, Mr. Wilson heartily enjoys them. The Social Science Club especially fascinates him, because he recognizes the need for this sort of work in the school. Then, too, he enjoys working with the members of the club, who are high-grade, conscientious students. This club was organized by Mr. Wilson, and he has a parental pride in it.

On The Subject Of Teaching: Mr. Wilson has taught at South Side for fourteen years. He likes to teach Social Science because he believes it to be the foundation of all other subjects. He appreciates the privilege to mould public opinion, and contribute to the task of making citizens of our students.

Let's Talk Turkey

C. MacAtce

Cranberry red is the luscious color they are featuring in all the Thanksgiving festivities. This color stands out like the proverbial shining light on the dance floor. Creamy, white mashed potatoes remind me of the gorgeous, soft beige dresses made up in the indispensable fabric, jersey. And you will look just as delectable as these frocks as the potatoes look to you on Thanksgiving day when you sit down to eat. Olives were the real inspiration for the ever-popular color, olive green. Just as the olives have red pimento fillings, so should you try a red topper with your olive green skirt or suit. Pumpkin pie with whipped cream spread lavishly over the top looks just like the brown and white saddle shoes or the newer classic, the golf shoes.

Golden brown of the broiled turkey with the gravy sliding off the top, makes a lovely picture as it rests imposingly on the dinner table. You are the best liked, although other colors are available. New designs and old stand-bys such as the brown and white saddle shoes and boxcars will make up the wearing apparel for the feet. Several new versions of saddle shoes have come on the market in black and white, two-tone brown and other variations. A new color shoe which is red-orange is also very popular because this color may be worn with almost any shade or combination of clothing.

But boys are never as particular as girls about clothes. If they find themselves without the necessary pieces of clothing, they can always substitute something and pass it off as the "McCoy." They pride themselves in counting other things besides clothes as real measures of merits. The boys' trend for the next few months is to be toward the gaudy, as stated before. At any rate, no matter what the fashions or the trends, the boys will get along.

changed the men of today, for I never saw so many different materials cut into so many different designs in so many brilliant shades.

It seems the object of the modern youth is to see how many vivid and colorful clothes he can wear at the same time. Many a lad has set the brightest sunset to shame. The fashion this year is to wear striped pants and a large plaid sport coat, and no matter what the flashiest dresser can conceive he always has a hat to match his other clothes. Corduroy hats may be purchased in red, purple, green, brown, tan, black, and even orange.

In the halls of South Side I have also seen many a dazzling sight in the form of plaid lumber jackets which will be the style this year as well as last. Corduroy combination suits are also in vogue. Brown and tan combinations of shirt and pants are the best liked, although other colors are available. New designs and old stand-bys such as the brown and white saddle shoes and boxcars will make up the wearing apparel for the feet.

Louis Hallenstein:—I am going to Arizona where I will take a course in "How to Become a Gigolo." I will be very lonesome; so I am trying to make Karl Eberly and Lorraine come with me.

Mary Alice Dunten:—I am going to Wisconsin University, but I don't know what course I will take.

Carl Ortstadt:—I plan to make Purdue my alma mater. I'll take a course in engineering.

"Chuck" Feistkorn:—I will either go to Purdue or Michigan. Some day I intend to become an engineer.

Seniority Stuff

One of the main problems of seniors is where they are going to college and what they are going to take up. Many have not yet decided about their future education. To take those who are yet undecided, and there are a great many, the excellent service of Mr. Flint is available. One may find out about all the schools and the courses which they offer. On the other hand, many South Side students have already decided on the school and the course they will take, and some have already put in their applications. Below are some of the answers to the question: "What college and what course do you plan to take upon graduating from South Side?" Many who were asked had as yet not selected a future course of education; those listed are just the ones who have made up their minds.

Jerry Doswell:—If my grades permit, I will go to Purdue University and take a course in some type of engineering.

Martha Jean Smith:—I believe I will go to Denison. There are several girls there I know.

Richard Gallmeyer:—Valparaiso is the school for me. I intend to become an engineer; so I will take a course in business and then a course in engineering. Besides, Carney Feigel (North Side) is going there.

Louis Hallenstein:—I am going to Arizona where I will take a course in "How to Become a Gigolo." I will be very lonesome; so I am trying to make Karl Eberly and Lorraine come with me.

Mary Alice Dunten:—I am going to Wisconsin University, but I don't know what course I will take.

Carl Ortstadt:—I plan to make Purdue my alma mater. I'll take a course in engineering.

"Chuck" Feistkorn:—I will either go to Purdue or Michigan. Some day I intend to become an engineer.

"Ernie's" Encores...

I like an exam,
I think they're fun,
I never cram,
And I don't flunk one,
I'm the teacher.

Why Study?

The more you study, the more you know,
The more you know, the more you forget,
The more you forget, the less you know,
The less you know, the less you forget,
The less you forget, the more you know,
SO WHY STUDY?—Bored Walk.

Home Work

I pick up my paper and pencil and book,
And try to find a quiet nook,
In which to study my Math and Physics,
Or maybe a dash of English or Civics.
I'm properly settled and about to begin,
When my pencil gets broken, my troubles begin.
One-half hour later the pencil is sharpened,
But it's time for the "Hermit," the room must be darkened.
The radio program is over, and then
I attempt to do my homework again.
My mind isn't on it, much to my sorrow,
Oh well, I'll do it before class tomorrow.

Follow The Leader

Well, Roosevelt's elected, and Willkie was rejected,
Now that all is said and done, we agree the best man won,
Despite their differences and views,
We are thankful we can choose,
The man the majority thinks universally best,
To lead this country in its Democratic quest...

My Day

Bang—goes the alarm at seven,
Wham—it's late, no food till after 'leven.
Rush—to school to meet the class,
Work—like everything just to pass.

—Eleanor

Reciprocation

The boys gave a hayride.
Everything swell—nothing snide.
Then later on—a weenie bake,
Without a fire, land's sake.

We girls got busy to reciprocate,
Getting for each our favorite mate.
So we decided to have a ball
And let the boys pay—Some gall.

—The Gals

Cheese

Cheese, cheese, down with the stuff,
It makes me sneeze, it makes me puff,
It certainly isn't a perfumed food;
It reminds me of a sluggish mood.

Let's please put ourselves at ease,
And not stand for this awful cheese,
Let's put it on a sea-going ship
And get rid of it—but quick!

Your Future Is In The Stars! Hitch Your Wagon To This One

My celestial phenomena are practically minus. Nevertheless, Ernie Vogel has hitched his wagon to the stars; so we'll have to go up there to see him this time. We certainly go to a lot of trouble to interview a South Sider.

The constellations must be divided into states, as they are in that far away place called the United States, for we find that Ernie was born near the North Star in a cloud called New York. His youth was very unexciting and uneventful, just floating around in the air. But when he started to grow, he developed a "celestial body." And it's a good thing, too, he is built like Jupiter. Otherwise, he might not have been able to carry out his hobby in such a manner as he does now. He has captured the state YMCA record in the 60-yard swim and is co-holder of the state 400-yard relay record.

While roving around, Ernie found a new planet which looked pretty livable, and he settled down. Here he attended Fairfield High in Connecticut. But his desire to speed and go around corners on two wheels took hold of him; and he passed New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio and landed in Indiana—as a junior in South Side High School.

His first year in this new solar system was partially spent hurdling and high jumping on the track team. He was high-point man on the 1940 track team and holds three school track records in the high jump and high and low hurdles. He jumped higher than the stars right away and started dating vivacious Doris Dickmeyer. Venus may be the goddess of beauty up there but, according to Mr. Vogel, Pat Mungovan of Indiana University is the most heavenly thing on earth.

Students' Opinions Concerning Value Of Programs Vary

"To do or not to do" is the question confronting many home room teachers and their pupils. Many of the home rooms have a room program every morning. For instance: Monday, educational; Tuesday, safety; Wednesday, social; and so on through the school months. Because some pupils have home work to finish, the habit of home room programs is being questioned. The following pupils have committed themselves to a statement:

Lola Rodriguez: No, I don't think it is a practical thing to do because the period is short, and everyone wants to study anyway.

Mary Jo Sites: I think they should be continued because one can get better acquainted with the other members of the home room. It gives you something to look forward to.

Dorothy Cooper: The programs are a good idea because they give the pupils a chance to express their ideas.

Nadine Weir: I don't like them because I always have to study.

Margot Todd: I usually need the home room period for studying. Anyway the programs I've heard were not very interesting.

Betty Johnston: I think that period should be used for studying.

Maxine Hoffman: All I have time to do is study.

Don Stroebe: Our home room doesn't have enough variety.

Bill McKenna: Some of the programs are too dry. There should be more variety.

Joan Pope: But definitely there should be programs. It makes a swell diversion from studying.

Tiny Altman: We don't have a lot of programs, but we have a swell home room teacher.

Betty Schweikart: Ditto.

Betty MacKay: It depends on the program.

Dick Gettys: They are all right. I would rather have programs than do nothing.

Mary Nell Spiegel: All the programs should be interesting, and there should be a large variety.

Bryce Haag: Programs are O. K. I like them when there is a variety.

Holly Reppert: It would be all right if there was a variety. Otherwise, no.

Dick Green: I think they are fun besides being educational. Our teacher is tops.

Pat Underhill: I think home room programs are essential but that students should be given time to study, too.

Mark Hoover: The home room period should give students time to study.

Warren Cook: Well, I guess they are all right.

Canadian Students Raise Money, Knit, And Save Tin Foil

"Five hundred thousand evacuees need clothing for winter—high school students expected to give utmost help," so states a Canadian high school paper from Toronto. While "Education for the Common Defense" is only a theme for high school students in the United States, it is a reality for Canadian students.

As is to be expected when a nation is at war, each citizen, regardless of age, is called upon to contribute his services toward insuring England's victory. Mr. C. H. J. Snider, one of the publishers of the Toronto Evening Telegram, says, "Just as democracy is peculiarly the heritage of youth, so it is worth youth's sacrifices to preserve it." Thus a burden falls on the high school students, that of working for the common defense.

Red Cross activities play a more important part in the life of the Canadian youth than the mere collecting of pennies. It consists of knitting personal property bags for soldiers in hospitals, afghans, "helmets" for men on duty in cold weather, stockings, mittens, sweaters, and scarfs. Surgical supplies, tin foil, tin cans, metal milk bottle lids, and cast-off clothing are also being collected.

In one school, $60 was raised from the sale of old coat hangers and fruit baskets at 1 cent apiece. Other ways of securing funds to be found in the schools are holding theatre nights, charity games, and auctions.

Another feature of Canadian high schools which assures us that war work is really a part of each student's life is the sale of War Savings Stamps. Each student was required to buy or sell four War Stamps, $1200 was the object of this drive. A nursing course must be taken by the girls.

High school papers from Canada are filled with editorials, features, and pleas concerning war.

"Education for the Common Defense" is very vital to the youth of today. Who knows but what we in South Side may be packing surgical bandages tomorrow instead of painting in the art room or reading in the library.

Twin Sons Of Ward O. Gilbert Are Following In Footsteps Of Father Along Athletic Trail

Ward, Jr., and Walter Gilbert talk with their father, Mr. Ward O. Gilbert, chemistry teacher.

On August 23, 1925, Mr. Ward O. Gilbert, chemistry teacher here at South Side, was the proudest teacher at our school, or for that matter in the country, for he was the father of not one but two baby boys. After days of consultation the parents decided to name their sons Walter and Ward, Jr.

Ward and Walter started their schooling at Harrison Hill, where their athletic ability was soon discovered. While at Harrison Hill, Ward played varsity basketball and football, and Walter was student manager of the basketball team and also participated in football. These boys entered the portals of South Side in September of '30 and immediately went out for football. This year Ward and Walter saw some action and are expected to be prominent players on the gridiron in the coming years.

As for their private lives, Ward will take fried chicken for his favorite dish, while Walter desires a juicy steak and mashed potatoes. Concerning our new football coach, Wayne Gift, Ward and Walter heartily agree that he is a fine, smart coach. About our hopes for next year, Ward says that possibilities for a fine team are probable. When asked who they thought was the outstanding player this year, Ward and Walter both agreed on Tommy Harmon, hard driving back from Michigan.

As for the feminine side of it, Ward is that way about Mary Condrey, and Walter goes for Harriet Shinnick and both boys hope to carry on their future schooling at Indiana University.

Miss Dorothy Magley finds Clark Gable ruggedness keen

Room 140 on the shortest hall in South Side houses one of the most outstanding personalities of South Side, Miss Dorothy Magley. Born and reared in Columbia City, Indiana, she was graduated from the Columbia City High School. During her junior year she served as assistant editor for the yearbook which she edited in her senior year. Miss Magley was a regular bookworm; she enjoyed reading so much. It was a common occurrence for her to have to run all the way to school because she became so interested in a book she forgot the time.

The fall following her graduation from high school she entered Oxford University where she studied for one year. The next three years she studied at Indiana University for her A.B. degree. Miss Nell Covatt, typing instructor at South Side, attended Indiana University with Miss Magley.

Attended Columbia U. She received her M.A. degree at Columbia University. Miss Magley remembers the day before she was to take the final examination for her M.A. degree very well. As usual she took her books and sat out under the trees to study. R. Nelson Snider, the principal of South Side High School, helped her review by asking questions pertaining to the examination.

Miss Magley first taught at Daytona Beach High School, Daytona.

Prosh, Sophomore Present Comments On Speech Contest

November 5, 1940 was a great day for a large majority of the freshmen and sophomores, for that was the day that the Freshman-Sophomore Speech contest was held. A poll was taken among the two grades on: What are your comments and ideas on the Freshman-Sophomore Speech contest? Here are a few replies:

Barbara Leas: I think it's swell.

Mary Condrey: It will help me to improve my speaking ability.

Patsy Haruff: It's an awfully lot of fun and you meet a lot of new people.

Alda Eidner: I think it's one of the best experiences a person in high school has of overcoming his self-consciousness.

Victor Kaufman: It's an excellent idea to get people, like myself, wishing that they would rather be dead than to get up and say something.

Jim Sterner: I think for people who are interested in taking speech in the future that it's a good idea.

Pat Underhill: I think it's very valuable experience and it will help contestants in the future.

Martha Wake: It's a lot of work, but good experience.

Bob Hansel: A very good opportunity to improve one's speech ability and makes one eligible for Wranglers.

Jean Seidel: It's good experience when my knees wobble and my throat gets dry. I'm trying to overcome it by entering the Freshman-Sophomore Speech Contest.

"I think 'Rebecca' was by far the best movie I have ever seen. Myrna Loy is my favorite actress. I have no favorite actor but I do like the sophistication of William Powell, and the ruggedness of Clark Gable despite his large ears," Miss Magley stated, as to her choice in the cinema.

Likes "Information Please"

"Information Please" "Beat the Band" are programs not to miss on Miss Magley's list.

When asked about sports she replied, "I like outdoor sports, such as football, better than indoor sports; but I understand basketball and attend many of the games."

Like many other teachers, her pet peeve is chewing gum in class.

Miss Magley and Miss Susan K. Peck were co-advisers for the Goodwill Club several years ago.

The Marionette Club had Miss Magley as their adviser up till this year. She is now in charge of the English Club, also serves with Mr. Paul Sidel as an adviser of the senior class.

Students—I give you Miss Dorothy Magley, everybody's friend.

Bewildered Parents Found At South Side Ahuntin' Up Classes

"Oh, dear, where did Henry say his home room was located? I don't see how these students find their way around this building, it is so large!" So spoke many an agitated mother and father when they visited South Side Monday night to find out just how well (or poorly) Henry is progressing in school. Every year our high school has "Open House" at which time the parents of Archer students are invited to view the work done by their offsprings.

The first thing parents do when they arrive at the school is to go to their child's home room where they listen to a talk by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, over the public address system. The parents then follow the routine which their children pursue and each teacher outlines what is done in class. If they care to, they may talk individually with the teacher and learn exactly where their progeny stands in their class work. After the seven fifteen-minute periods are over, the parents go to hear lectures, discuss further with the teacher why Henry isn't getting along so well, and some wander about the building taking in all the rooms and sights.

Parents have a very good idea because there are several booths which sell taffy apples, pop, and ice cream. This is a little service given to the guests which the students are denied. There is a great deal of sociability, and everyone seems to get better acquainted. It seems like a very good idea because it must make our parents a little more tolerant of what we, the students, have to do every day and also more understanding of the many problems confronting the teachers in properly guiding the education of these young students. Personally, my mother treated me with a great deal more respect after she came home, in a daze, last Monday evening. She said she didn't find the home room until the entire period was over.

Did Your Brother Ever Interest You In Start Of Hobby?

Big brother was the one who interested Ellen Mae Wehr, 10B, in the people associated with the higher forms of music. Ellen, collector extraordinaire, started her scrapbook of pictures of opera and concert stars and programs from concerts about three years ago.

Her brother took her to almost every concert of the season. In order to continue and further her education in the classics, Ellen has retained a membership in the Community Concert Association for the past couple of years. Some of the concerts that Ellen Mae attended which were sponsored by the Association were given by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra; Richard Crooks, opera and radio star; Bronsky and Babin, duo pianists; and Lily Pons, famous opera star.

Ellen is somewhat of a musician herself in that she has been studying music for the piano for about two years. The musical talent seems to prevail throughout the family; her brother plays the violin.

Famous musical movie stars, such as Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy, Lawrence Tibbet, and Allan Jones, are also to be found in Ellen's scrapbook.

Alice Light Plans To Follow Violin And Piano For Career

Although she has studied violin only four years, Alice Jean Light, 12A, was violin soloist with the Fort Wayne Junior Civic Symphony Orchestra when it made its first public appearance in a concert Monday, October 28, at the Civic Theater. Alice Jean played the first movement of Mozart's Concerto No. 5 in A Major.

Since Alice Jean showed definite musical talent when she was very young, she started taking piano lessons when she was only four years old. Thus she built up a good foundation which has helped her to advance so quickly in her violin playing.

"I don't remember why I wanted to take up violin instead of continuing my piano lessons, but I know that I always begged for a violin. When I did get a violin I became a student of Gaston Bailhe; and I feel that it is largely due to his helpful guidance and advice that I have advanced so far," Alice Jean said.

Alice has played in three organized string trios and is violinist in the present South Side Trio, which has played for churches, teas, schools, the CCC Camps, and the radio. She is in the South Side Orchestra, the Fort Wayne Civic Symphony Orchestra, and the Fort Wayne Junior Civic Symphony Orchestra. She also was in the Harrison Hill School Orchestra, which was the first orchestra that she ever played in.

Keeps Music Scrapbook
"Since I was five years old, I have kept a music scrapbook in which I have pictures and articles about my recitals and concerts," continued Alice Jean. In this scrapbook she has a picture of the dress she wore in her first piano recital, given when she was five years old. At the age of eight she gave a joint recital with another piano student at the Little Art Theater. In this recital Alice played thirteen pieces from memory, including a sonata. She has been in about fifteen piano recitals.

When Alice Jean temporarily stopped taking piano to study violin, she was studying Bach, inventions and Beethoven contra-dances. Her three piano teachers were Ruth Castle, Edith Foster, and Monica Marshall.

Wins Violin Contest
Last April Alice won the first division of the violin contest at Indiana University. At present she is working on Mendelssohn's Concerto in E

Minor, which is the largest works for violin playing.

Alice Jean's violin is an old Italian violin, purchased in Pittsburgh from Francois, a Frenchman, who is the most outstanding violin maker and repairer in the United States. She received a personal letter from Francois, inviting her to visit him at his shop; but before she got a chance, he died.

After graduating from South Side, Alice plans to attend some good music college, perhaps Oberlin in Ohio, or Eastman College in Portchester, New York. In college she plans to major in violin and minor in piano. She says that she would like to get into some position, perhaps one connected with the radio, where she could play but not teach, or to be a concert artist.

Her hobby is to sit by the hour and listen to symphony music on her many records.

Alice Jean also sings in the Trinity English Lutheran Church High School Choir. When she was eight years old, she was in an organized four-part harmony girls' quartet, which gave public appearances at churches, for clubs, at piano recitals, on the radio, and in the Chamber Music Concerts. She has a lyric soprano voice.

Times Sports Staff Chooses All-City Football Squad

Every School Places Men On Big Team

Archers Tie Central Tigers With Four Men Each; Redskins Two, Irish One

The sports staff of The South Side Times has chosen the Summit City All-Stars named on this page. In local circles this year the football play has been of high caliber; thus, a wealth of all-star material is available from which to choose The Times' All-City team.

There were at least twenty line-men capable of holding down positions on this eleven, but naturally only seven representatives of the four city schools could be chosen. All of the city prep squads boasted a host of triple threat backs; but, as of the line-men, only the four most representative could be chosen. Now to the All-Stars.

Wingmen Aggressive

Ends, Bill Siebold and Fred Shaw are two of the most aggressive wing-men in the state. South Side's All-Star end is in his first year of varsity competition, and Bill has really given Wayne Gift a sturdy flank. Fred is playing his third season under Murray Mendenhall, and has been a cog in Central's recent wins. Both boys can tackle and snatch passes with equal ability.

In commending these two performers for their great work, remember also Jim Worman of South Side and Corny Erwin of North Side.

Tackles—As the two tackle selectors, Russ Dixon of South Side, and Bob Walker of Catholic, are truly representative of outstanding prep ball players. Russell has not stood out as a Cowan or Sitko; yet he has been plugging away in a true Archer spirit. Walker of Catholic Central deserves a great amount of credit for holding up the Central Catholic defense. Most plays are run off tackle, thus giving the defensive tacklers plenty of work.

Russ and Bob have taken their work and asked for more. Sorry such fine boys as Ralph Vetter, Byron Popp, and Horace Talley had to be left from such a team.

Barley, Derrickson Guards

Guards—Wow! Here is a real duet, Pat Barley of North Side and Chuck Derrickson of Central. Underwood and Birkenbuel of South Side were close seconds to these dependable foes; however Barley and Derrickson could not be omitted from any All-Star consideration. Pat won his spurs against South Side and Kokomo, while Derrickson led his best against the rugged Shortridge team. The center choice was difficult, for all four city elevens have fine centers; but, on drive and spirit, big Dick Tackett must be given the edge. Tackett, who ranks as one of the state's finest defensive men, has been plugging for Central for three seasons. Byron Gingham of South Side deserves honorable mention for his fine work for our school.

In nominating local stars for back-field positions, The Times' sports department was forced to go deep into individual records and potentialities. Red Sitko was the choice for quarterback post, as the Central red-head has shown he can pass, kick, tackle, and run with Indiana's best. Although Red was used regularly at halfback, the All-Star squad could well use the speedy Centralite at quarter.

For the position of left halfback, Chick Shimer should definitely be given this slot, for, combined with Cowan, a more perfect duo could not be formed. Shimer can kick and pass with the best, and any All-Star team would be incomplete without the versatile Archer halfback.

As for filling in as right halfback, no finer scrapper or truer sportsman than Bob Englehart has represented a Fort Wayne school. Last year Baldy was tough, but this year he could not be checked. When South Side needed a clutch pass or a timely off-tackle cut, the slender Englehart filled the bill. Bob Englehart can't be denied a position on this eleven, for he is undoubtedly the finest defensive back in the city.

As the fullback for The Times' All-Stars, Bob Cowan has been chosen. Last season the speedy North Sider was regarded as a coming star—this year he came. A clean, hard driving ball player, Cowan best typifies the spirit of this Summit City All-Star aggregation.

Many persons are probably asking why Jim Straley, Chuck Close, Bob Young, Kay Short, or John Leon were not given a place on the team. Every local player was given consideration; however, the selections were made on the basis of offensive drive and scoring ability.

New Haven Faces Decatur Quintet

Hoagland To Meet Lafayette Central In Another Feature Game In County Basketball

Several good games are on the card for the Allen County basketball teams this week-end. The two feature contests will match New Haven against Decatur and Hoagland at Lafayette Central.

The Bulldogs of New Haven, having won two games from Allen County foes, are expected to have a tough evening at Decatur, while the Pirates of Lafayette Central and Hoagland's Wildcats are both conceded a good chance of victory in their important clash. The schedule:

Friday Night
Hoagland at Lafayette Central.
Elmhurst at Jefferson Center.
Huntstown at Leo.
New Haven at Decatur.
Harlan at Woodburn.

There's Probably More To It Than Meets The Eye

The saga of frustrated youth concerns a tragedy of the gridiron. I had the honor of playing with a group of boys and the following lines throw light onto what few thoughts I was able to produce on the matter.

Did you ever think when a boy went by, Sporting a great big blue-black eye, That somewhere, somehow, a wrong had been done?
Or an accident come from sport or fun,
That the wearer might be suffering woe,
From someone's hairy fist's cruel blow?

Well I Did!!
'Twas during a football game one day,
When an eager end, poised to enter the fray,
Rushed so fast at the snap of the ball
That he stumbled and tripped into a fall.

And two heads met in a way so forceful
That the player now might be remorseful;
Indeed, 'Twas I!

And after the swelling was partially down,
And grimaces relaxed to a steady frown
Came questions and jibes so harsh to hear,
'Bout right handed girls and doors I fear.

Still later on, while at the big dance,
The sorrowful object of many a glance,
Why won't they give a guy a chance.
Alas, 'tis I!

GAA Medical Cards Due Next Meetings

All girls who do not hand in their medical examination cards to Miss Gretchen Smith or Miss Alice Dean, sponsors of GAA, will not be able to participate in GAA or receive any points for the games they have already participated in this year. This was announced as according to the organization's rules.

These cards must be handed in by the next meeting of GAA, the freshman on next Monday, and the upperclassmen on next Friday, in order that Dr. W. W. Duemling, school physician, may examine all the girls.

Central Takes Archer Count By 24-7 Score

South Side Has Early Lead But Blue Turns On Powerhouse In Final Quarter

Central's fighting Tigers managed to defeat a tough South Side eleven, last Saturday afternoon in North Side stadium before an enthusiastic crowd of football fans. The traditional South Side-Central gridiron tilt wound up South Side's football schedule for 1940, and the results showed that this season has been the most successful that the Green Archers have seen in a long time.

Under the capable coaching of Wayne Gift, South Side pulled down five victories out of seven scheduled games. North Side's Redskins and Central's Tigers are the only two teams that stood up against the scrappy South Side eleven.

Last Saturday, both teams showed plenty of fight, but the Central club proved to be faster than the Archers.

Leon Scores First

Central won the toss and South Side kicked down to Central's 22-yard stripe. On the third down Sitko picked up 25 yards on an end run for a first down. On the second down, Johnny Leon drove forward 36 yards over right tackle for the first score of the game. Central failed to convert the extra point, and the game stood 6 to 0.

Talley of Central kicked to South Side's 20, and Englehart, receiving the ball, ran to the 50-yard line before he was downed. On the next two plays Central was offside and was penalized 5 yards, respectively. As a result, the Archers received a first down, but in a series of three attempts, South Side managed to gain only 2 yards. On the fourth down, Shimer was forced to kick out. After a beautiful 50-yard punt by the Kelly halfback, the ball was downed by Central on their own 15.

On the second down, Sitko fumbled the ball on the 18-yard line and South Side recovered. Shimer drove 16 yards over right tackle, and after a plunge of 2 yards, Close scored a touchdown. Straley completed the placement, and South Side forged ahead 6 to 6.

Second Quarter See-Saws

At this point Central called time out. After the time with less than three and one-half minutes of playing time left in the first period, Shimer kicked off to Central. Leon received the kick and lateral to Sitko, who drove to his own 20-yard stripe. After a series of six attempts, Central kicked out from their own 38-yard line. In the second period South Side had control of the ball on Central's 44-yard line. After three more attempts, the Green Archers were forced to kick out from Central's 36-yard stripe. After a series of four first downs, Central lost the ball on the Kelly's 28-yard line. Shimer drove forward 9 yards, but was compelled to kick out. Central had control of the ball on their 42-yard line when the gun went off ending the second quarter.

In the fourth quarter the Tigers hit pay dirt twice more, once on a pass from Sitko to Rice and again on a 60-yard run by Sitko. Sitko ripped off runs of 22 and 15 yards to start Central's driving attack in the last period. Early in this quarter the Tigers were penalized 15 yards, but a pass by Sitko to Rice scored another touchdown for the Blue and White.

Sitko had tried all afternoon to break away for a long touchdown run, but the Archers always managed to nab him just as he appeared to be on the loose. He finally made it, however, on Central's last touchdown, running 60 yards to score. His placement for the fourth time was wide.

Kelly Kounters

South Side's gridmen, for the first time this season, were kept from marking up a first down in the second half of play. The statistics indicate, as does the scoring, that the Giftmen failed to launch any impressive rushing attack in the last half of play.

Summary of the Archer-Tiger game:

	S.S.	C.
First downs—first half	5	6
First downs—second half	0	8
Yards gained rushing—first half	55	145
Yards gained rushing—second half	18	201
Passes attempted	5	10
Passes completed	0	2
Yards gained, passes	0	18
Passes intercepted by	1	2
Punts	5	3
Average yards—punts	43	43
Punt returns—total yards	19	24
Fumbles	1	5
Own fumbles recovered	1	3
Opponents fumbles recovered	2	0
Penalties against	2	5
Yards lost—penalties	10	35

In the first column below is a statistical review of the Archer season play; the totals of the seven foes are in the second column.

	S.S.	Opp.
First downs—first half	33	19
First downs—second half	29	37
Total yards gained, rushing	1018	885
Passes attempted	58	55
Passes completed	12	16
Yards gained, passes	220	205
Passes intercepted by	10	8
Punts	39	34
Average yards—punts	42	36
Punt returns—total	244	245
Fumbles	14	19
Own fumbles recovered	12	11
Opponents fumbles recovered	8	2
Penalties against	25	14
Yards lost—penalties	170	95

In the third frame Central made their second touchdown and again shot into the lead. Just as it was a break that cost Central the lead in the first quarter, it was a stroke of good fortune that enabled the Tigers to overtake their rivals in the latter part of the third. Big Dick Tackett, Central center, recovered a blocked Central punt behind the line of scrimmage and ran 20 yards to the South 48. Sitko then raced around his right end for 35 yards to the South 7, with Leon going over from the 5-yard line on the fourth down. For three plays the Archers made a brilliant goal line stand and gave up only two yards, but on the fourth down Leon plunged through left guard and fell over the goal line for the score. His attempt to slash through for the extra point was stopped, and Central was out in front again, 12 to 7.

Downfall In Fourth

In the fourth quarter the Tigers hit pay dirt twice more, once on a pass from Sitko to Rice and again on a 60-yard run by Sitko. Sitko ripped off runs of 22 and 15 yards to start Central's driving attack in the last period. Early in this quarter the Tigers were penalized 15 yards, but a pass by Sitko to Rice scored another touchdown for the Blue and White.

Sitko had tried all afternoon to break away for a long touchdown run, but the Archers always managed to nab him just as he appeared to be on the loose. He finally made it, however, on Central's last touchdown, running 60 yards to score. His placement for the fourth time was wide.

Leo Snaps Back To Beat Trojans

New Haven, Hoagland, Huntstown, Harlan Also On Victory Trail; Close Games Frequent

Six well-played games featured the second week of Allen County prep basketball competition. Strong fives from New Haven and Leo held the spotlight in downing highly regarded teams from Catholic High of Decatur and Elmhurst.

Other victories were recorded by Hoagland, Huntstown, Harlan, and Rock Creek.

The New Haven squad, favored to annex the county championship, earned a hard decision from Decatur Catholic, 39-to-36. Leo's Lions, roaring back after a last-minute loss at the hands of the above-mentioned New Haven cagers, eked out a 28-to-24 win over a tough Elmhurst Trojan aggregation. Both New Haven and Leo held one-point half-time leads, giving an indication of the calibre of competition which is being presented in Allen County cage circles.

Dan Perry's Hoagland Wildcats enjoyed the victory path in whipping a weak Monroeville team by the top-heavy count of 51-to-23. After being stilled two weeks ago by the big Butler Windmills, the happy Wildcats of Huntstown regained their lost prestige in swamping Arcola, 38-to-16. While Hoagland and Huntstown enjoyed easy victories, the Harlan Hawks were forced to the limit in subduing Coesse, 31-to-27.

Rock Creek's cagers took the measure of Lafayette Central, 31-to-27.

Chances High For Following Past Successes

Archer Basketball Schedule Will Open With Game At Kendallville On Nov. 29

Basketball hysteria is on the way! The Archer basketballers are once more hard at work to show Indiana fans how the game is played in Fort Wayne. The fans are already discussing the chances of again hitting the cage bull's-eye.

Three years ago, in 1938, a courageous band of Kelly Klads brought the state title to this community. In 1939 and 1940 strong Archer teams faded along the tournament trail; so that this year the Friddlemen are aiming their arrow of ambition toward the record of 1938. Many candidates have been working out during the past month, however. Coach Friddle has not yet searched out the ten or twelve Archers who will form the Green and White varsity.

Hines In Third Year

Among the veterans returning is the ever-dependable Bob Hines. In 1937 and 1938 John Hines held an important role in the Green and White action, while Bob has been carrying on for the past two campaigns. Bob is not only a good center offensively, but he is ranked and regarded as a top notch defensive pivot man.

Other members of the team which invaded Butler Field House last fall, will be depended upon for first-line action, will be Gus Feistkorn, Chick Shimer, and Bryce Augsburg. Chuck Close is also expected to fit into the season plans. Two new speed stars, Yom Brower and Dallas Zuber, are giving the veterans a real scrap for varsity berth.

Bill Knoll and Doyle Shirk, both seniors, will probably see much action this year. This duo acted as alternates for last year's great team; and, judging from their play of last season, they are to be counted upon for a great amount of work.

Schedule Is Stiff

The Green and White schedule for this year is one of the toughest in the history of our school. On November 29 the Friddlemen open their long grind at Kendallville, while the campaign is carried on to December 22, when the New Albany five invades the Southern court.

During the four-month grind, the Kelly snipers will meet five of the toughest Southern aggregations in playing Crawfordsville, Connersville, Huntington, Kokomo, and the above-mentioned New Albany squad.

Coach Burl Friddle has been drilling his team to prepare for such perennially tough cage teams as those from Muncie, Burris, Kokomo, Gary Proebel, and Huntington. During the past basketball seasons, the Kelly netters have taken the measure of each of the tough club's mentioned above; and this year the underdog Archers are seeking to maintain their envious records.

The games which will be the most hotly contested of the year should be the city series. While the two locals play Catholic Central only once, they will have two opportunities to meet the tough snipers of North Side and Central.

The complete schedule follows:

November 29—Kendallville, there.
December 6—Bluffton, there.
December 7—Crawfordsville, here.
December 13—Auburn, there.
December 20—Burris, Muncie, there.
December 21—Horace Mann, here.
December 28—Catholic Central, here.
January 3—North Side, there.
January 4—Huntingburg, here.
January 10—Hartford City, there.
January 15—Central, here.
January 18—Connersville, there.
January 24—Huntington, there.
January 25—Elwood, here.
January 31—North Side, here.
February 1—Kokomo, there.
February 8—Central, there.
February 14—Proebel, here.
February 21—Jeffersonville, here.
February 22—New Albany, here.

GAA Net Tourney Shows Surprises

Senior 2's Defeat Junior 1's In Exciting Battle; Other Upsets In Games Are Displayed

One of the biggest upsets in the games played so far in upperclass basketball tournament occurred when the Senior 2 team defeated the Junior 1's 11 to 8 in an exciting battle last Friday evening. It was nip and tuck until the very last minute of play.

Irene Meyer contributed five of the eleven points for the seniors, while the four baskets that the juniors connected were evenly divided. In the other game at 3:30 o'clock the Junior 2's ran up a score of 13-to-2 against the Junior 3's.

Another of the surprises in the games was the defeat of the Junior 4's by the seniors. The seniors scored 20 points; the juniors, nothing. By a 17-to-8 score the Sophomore 3's were victorious over the Sophomore 2's.

In the last two games the Sophomore 4's lost to the Sophomore 5's by a 12-to-2 score. In the closest played game of the evening the Sophomore 1's defeated the Sophomore 6's, 9-to-8.

Referees were Geneva Martin, Jo Ann Spore, Kathleen Sanders, Frances Nash, and Marguerite Calkins.

Bowling To Be Added To List Of GAA Sports

An amendment to the constitution has been proposed to add bowling to the list of GAA sports. This was decided at the general meeting, which was held Wednesday, November 6.

One point is to be given for each game played. The players have to be with other members to receive points, the same as in hiking and skating. A maximum of fifty points may be earned per semester.

Frances Nash presided as general chairman of the meeting.

Former Archer Coach, Bill Moss, Receives Outstanding Mention In College Newspaper

"Coach! to the boys in athletics. 'Bill' to his friends and Mrs. Moss and 'Dad' to his three children, Mr. William Moss comes to Shurtleff College from South Side High School of Fort Wayne with a remarkable coaching record, and also with a very colorful career as a student and athlete." This appeared recently in the Shurtleff Pioneer, the college paper.

"His athletic achievements began at the Jasonville, Indiana, High School, where for four years he won letters in football, basketball, wrestling, track, and baseball. His football playing was short of being sensational, being chosen to the all-state team for three years, two at tackle and one at fullback. He also played on the all-Wabash eleven for four years. In his senior year he won the class-state wrestling title in the light-heavyweight class.

Adds Athletic Records

"Upon entering the University of Indiana, Moss continued to add to his athletic records. He was a regular on the varsity eleven for four years, playing both tackle and fullback. He received honorable mention at the Western Conference on the Big Ten 1929 Mythical team. Moss was captain of the wrestling team which for two years was undefeated. During this time he was Big Ten champion in the quarter-mile and the hammer throw, and for three years he was the university's boxing champion.

"As a student, Big Bill, as he was called by his teammates, was just as active. He was president of the Jackson Club, a campus Democratic organization, took an active part in the Dramatic Club, and was a member of the Skull and Crescent Sophomore Honorary Fraternity. He received the J. Gimbel Scholarship for his athletic feats and also he was awarded the Phi Delta Kappa National Honorary Fraternity Award for outstanding achievements in the field of education.

"The greatest thrill that Moss ever received came when playing fullback for Indiana against the University of Kentucky. I. U. was behind. Moss on straight line plays carried the ball every time from his own 10-yard line to score and win the game.

Takes Up Wrestling

"Upon graduation, Coach took up professional wrestling and boxing rather seriously for a short time. His professional career was highlighted when he knocked out Harry Dillon, the Canadian light heavyweight champion, in eight rounds.

"Big Bill's first coaching job was at Elkhart, Indiana, where he also served as athletic director. He remained there four years during which time for two years, his football teams won the championship of the Eastern Division of the Northern Conference. His gridders played for the state title twice, losing the first time by one point and the second time by one touchdown.

"From Elkhart, Moss moved to Muncie, Illinois, where for two years he produced winning football teams.

"Coach Moss then took over as the head football coach at South Side High of Fort Wayne, Indiana, where he remained for two years. Although a strictly basketball school, Moss again developed a winning outfit.

"From Fort Wayne he came to Shurtleff, where he is still continuing to develop winning football as can be seen by his first three Pioneer victories."

We can see from this story taken out of the Shurtleff Pioneer that we once had a former champion athlete in our school.

Intramural Sportlights

Intramural basketball is about ready to get underway. Mr. Briner has published the rules, which are as follows:

1. No more than seven players can play on a team.
2. Teams can be entered either in the noon league or in the night league.
3. All teams should be in by tomorrow.
4. Any boy who plays on more than one team will be ineligible for the remainder of the season; and the teams he played with will be put out of the tournament.
5. It is a double elimination; in other words you continue to play until you have lost two games.
6. There will be three divisions, under 110, 110-130, 130 and over. All weights must be taken in your street clothes.
7. Any boy who plays in a division that is less than its true weight will be disqualified, and that team will be dropped.
8. All games will last twenty minutes.
9. All captains are responsible in seeing that their players are of correct weight and on time for the games.
10. The noon-champions will play the night champions.
11. Colored jerseys will be furnished but must be returned after each game.
12. The officials are working free of charge. If anyone doesn't like the way they officiate, just quit; because if you say too much you will be forced to do so.
13. Anyone can play except those under Mr. Friddle in the afternoon.
14. The intramural department insists on clean sportsmanship.

A bowling meeting was held last Friday night in the gym office. All boys who participate in the tourney will receive 10 points, and 5-2-1 points will be given to the first, second, and third place winners respectively. There will be two divisions, 130 over and under.

All boys who earned 125 points received their intramural letters last night.

The Nine Old Pals, tagball team, won the heavyweight title in this column predicted at the beginning of the season. The Super Sloppy Prunes won out in the middleweight division, and the Dogpatchers in the light-weight division.

All boys who wish to play handball should sign up in the gym office.

Every boy in South Side should take part in some sport. It will be a means of improving your physical makeup; and, for those boys who have ambitions of playing in varsity sports, it will give you the opportunity of presenting your ability to the coaches.

Show Football Terms, Plays In Pep Session

Larger and more intelligent attendance at the football games was the main objective of the pep session last Friday. Mr. George Collyer and the football team demonstrated many of the complex terms used in a football game, thus making it impossible for any of the student body to explain their absence at games by saying that they did not understand football.

Demonstrations of the lateral pass, spinner play, forward pass, balanced line, touchback, safety, and several other plays and formations were given by the following team members of the football squad: Ralph Shimer, Ralph Vetter, Bob Englehart, Jim Straley, Chuck Close, Chuck Underwood, Jim Worman, Bob Birkenball, Byron Gingher, Bill Siebold, and Russell Dixon.

Anderson, Shellys Take It On Chin

Ranking Fives Defeated By Greenfield And Masonic Home; Bedford Defeats Mitchell Badly

Two of Indiana's highly-touted basketball fives, from Anderson and Shelbyville, bowed out of the undefeated class in the second week of play in the state. While a scrappy group of Greenfield Tigers were upsetting the Chaddmen of Anderson 30-to-28, the Shellys were soundly trounced by Masonic Home, 34-to-22. Other potential contenders who had tough battles were Martinsville, Franklin, Muncie Burris, and Huntington. The "people's choice" cagers of last year's Butler final, Mitchell's Marchers, were dumped by Bedford's Stonecutters, 29-to-18. Other important scores follow:

Ten Kelly Fems Join W&D All-Girls' Band

Ten of our South Side girls were chosen to be in the Wolf & Dessauer All-Girls' Band. In the band are Judy Kaser, cornet player; Phyllis Amstutz, clarinet player; and Esther Kernier, trumpet player. Gloria Gumper is the drum major; while Sallie Clayborne, Shirley Rogers, Eileen Reinking, Ruth Gumper, Phyllis Puff, and Evelyn Arnold are the twirlers.

Maroon dresses with full skirts will be the band uniform, while the majorette and twirlers will have white slipper satin uniforms, white boots, and hats.

John L. Verweire is the chief leader of the band, which meets every Wednesday night.

The first time that this band will march will be on November 22, when Santa Claus comes to town.

Girls' Sportsettes

Congratulations go to Barbara Burt, Marilyn Brackman, Jean Clark, Pat McMahon, Mary Dayton, and Maxine Asmus for being elected captains of the Freshman GAA Basketball teams.

Hooray! Two senior girls have gone hiking this semester. But what's the matter with the rest?

What little freshman lassie fell off the stepping stones, shoes and all, into the St. Mary's River? This happened on a hike to Waynesdale during Teachers' Convention. Could this little lassie be Nancy Griffiths?

These seniors! The other day, Geneva Martin had to go to her seventh period class without books, because she forgot her locker combination. Shame!

Quite a few new nicknames have been given to some of the GAA'ers. Such names as "Ginger" for Nelda Runge, "Polly" for Faye Alexander, "Jerry" for Mary Mock, "Jinks" for Bonnie Heller, and "Gabby" for Joan Dodge. Such names! Teh! Teh!

Have you kids noticed the way "Fuzz" Amstutz has been wearing her hair lately? Pertie cute, isn't it, "Fuzzie"?

Clippity clop, clippity clop! Here comes that "Polly" Alexander down the hall, disturbing everyone with those new heel plates on her shoes. What noise!

Season Ducats For Basketball On Sale Soon

Opening Offer Set For November 17; Students' Cost 2, Adult Admits Are $3

Tickets for this year's basketball season will go on sale Wednesday, November 17, at 12:30 o'clock. Out of the twenty-two games played, ten will be played at the South Side gymnasium and the rest will be played out of town.

Students will be charged $2 for a full season ticket containing ten games, or $1 for half a season's ticket, which will be good for five games. Adults will be charged $3 for a full season ticket and $1.50 for half a season ticket. Adults may have their tickets reserved at no extra charge.

Buyers Favored For Tourneys

Mr. Ora Davis, head of the athletic department, advises both the students and the adults, who intend purchasing season tickets for the basketball games, to do so early, not only for the benefit of the athletic department but for the advantage of the purchaser. Those who hold season tickets will have reserved seats at every game and will be the first among numerous other applicants to receive tickets for the tournaments starting about two weeks after the last game, which will be held February 22.

The teams that the Archers will play at the South Side gym are Crawfordsville on December 7, Horace Mann on December 21, Central Catholic on December 28, Huntington on January 4, Central on January 15, Elwood on January 25, North Side on January 31, Proebel on February 14, Jeffersonville on February 21, and New Albany on February 22.

Out-of-Town Foes

The eleven teams that South Side will play out of town are Kendallville on November 29, Bluffton on December 16, Burris on December 20, North Side on January 3, Hartford City on January 10, Connersville on January 13, Huntington on January 24, Kokomo on February 1, Central on February 3, and Jeffersonville on February 24.

Last year great enthusiasm was shown for basketball through the sale of season tickets and popular support which was probably due to the honor of having a top-ranking team. If these observations run true to form, Mr. Davis believes that this year basketball will be more popular than ever and that the total sale of season tickets will be as great if not greater than ever before in the history of South Side High School.

Leroy "Cookie" Cook Plays Center On Pioneer Eleven

"That 170-pound package of dynamite who really plays a world of football at the center position, is one of Fort Wayne, Indiana's contributions to the 1940 Pioneer eleven," was the beginning of a story about Leroy Cook in the Shurtleff Pioneer paper of Shurtleff College, Alton, Illinois.

"Along with Byron MacCammon, 'Cookie' comes to us with a remarkable record, having been awarded for three straight years the Kenworthy Sportsmanship Trophy for the best all-around athlete of South Side High School.

"In his first year out for varsity competition, LeRoy won a regular berth on the grid team as an end. During his last two years he played both end and center, and because of his outstanding defensive and offensive play along with his generalship on the field, Cook was hailed as one of the greatest gridders in the history of the school.

"Although the shortest man on the basketball squad, the sandy-haired spark plug's clever ball-handling and great team play gained him a place on the varsity squad. The Green and White cagers rose to great heights by winning the 1938 Indiana state basketball tournament.

"For three years LeRoy proved to be the backbone of the track squad by his remarkable performances in the 440, and 880, and the mile runs. The highlight of his track career came last year when he ran the fastest mile in the state of Indiana, his time being 4 minutes and 29 seconds. "During the summer LeRoy worked at the Indiana Service Corporation, where he was the catcher on the plant softball team which won the Class A city tournament. He enjoys swimming and his sideline diversion is watching major league baseball games. Cook's favorite hobby is eating—especially fried chicken and butterscotch pie.

"Possessing a quiet, unassuming disposition with a very pleasing personality, 'Cookie' has won the admiration and high esteem of the students and faculty of Shurtleff. Although a little shy and quiet, he is the sort of chap who is a man's man, a boy who typifies the true Pioneer spirit."

Professor, Pupil Give Answer To "What Good Is Education?"

"What good is education?" asked a young and embittered American youth of an old professor. "The French and English were educated and look at them now. France is overrun. Her teachings to her youth must be changed. Everything the young Frenchmen were taught and believed in is now to be forgotten and Herr Hitler's learned. Everything France stood for is destroyed. England is well educated, but what good will all her history, her glories past, her knowledge, do her now?"

The old professor let the youth ramble along his path of hate for a while then said, "Listen, lad, America's first line of defense is education. There has never been an age that has had the rapid advance in knowledge that the youth of today are experiencing. Also in no other age has the rapid advance in knowledge and in mechanical inventions been so quickly rendered obsolete. Whole new fields are being added to human knowledge.

"Not merely individual facts, but the perspective of our studies is to keep abreast of a world constantly changing in aspect, interest, and viewpoint so that we may have a clear idea of the value of subjects that have led to accurate knowledge of branches with which we have not been previously acquainted. Today we Americans have a storehouse of condensed information.

French Will Come Back
"You were right when you said France was overpowered. Her ideas and ideals wiped out, but France's teaching has enabled Frenchmen to come back and adjust themselves to a situation which had to be reckoned with. The teachings of France will some day at the appropriate moment rise in the spirit of French youth and aid them in re-establishing their ideas and ideals.

"You are right when you say England is a well educated nation. The teachings of England to her subjects is the reason the people are making the heroic stand, that will go down in history, against her aggressor. The morale of the English people will whip Hitler. Knowledge and education is what that morale is built on. The British were taught to love their country and they educated their youths in all professions. Now in time of need they have men to carry on the war, reconstruct what is destroyed, and to change the constructive things into a line of defense.

"All American youth should aim at a natural bull's-eye in life. They should consider a subject a challenge and wrestle with it for their own satisfaction. We have mechanical minded students, students that are fit for every walk in life. It is necessary then for America to have school in order to educate these youths for their chosen professions. In this way we will have men to carry on in the walks of life.

"A student with an education and an aim in life will never take the wrong road of crime. Education today is to develop character and scholastic ability with a fundamental aim. The world is at sea on a raft in a hurricane. The every day behavior of life doesn't fit in this new situation. One thing we must agree on is American education, so we can all speak out. In educating our youth we will be able to preserve our American democracy which stands for life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness."

Library Adds Many Books To Collection

Miss Emma Shoup Announces List Of New Texts Purchased By The School

Library Is Honored Room During Book Week

Above is pictured South Side's library, one of the most efficient and well-equipped high school libraries. It is open to students every period in the day except the fifth period and before and after school.

Canadian High News Describes Projects Of Canadian Youth

The Canadian High News, a copy of which has been received by The Times, shows that high schools in Toronto and Ontario have projects and activities very similar to our own. The paper is published by a group of high school students and has a circulation of 35,000 copies in all Toronto high schools. It features interviews, news stories, a cartoon, picture reviews, girls' and boys' sports, and student opinions.

Hi-Y activities are expanding in Toronto, for twelve clubs have been organized. The Canadian Hi-Y, which is very similar to the organization in the United States, was started in 1912. Each club is located within a high school and represents a scheme of cooperation between the school and the YMCA.

Another very similar project in the high schools is that of promoting tuberculosis tests. These are different from ours in that they are x-ray examinations given by the department of health with the assistance of professional radiologists.

Both a girls' and boys' sports section are included in the paper. Football, track, and hockey are the chief boys' sports.

Library Tabulates Popular Book List

Poll Shows Fiction, Adventure To Be Better Liked Than Essays, Plays, Or Biographies

"To find out which books are liked best by each class, library records have been analyzed," announced Miss Emma Shoup, librarian. The books that were taken out more often than others were considered the best liked books; likewise, the books that were read and taken out very few times were considered less popular.

The most popular books taken out by the freshmen are "Smoky", "My Life As An Indian", "Buffalo Child", and "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come". Miss Shoup also announced that biographies are not popular with this class.

Popular books with the sophomore class are "The Prisoner of Zenda", "Hound of Baskervilles", and "Aztec Treasure House". Essays, plays, and biographies are not as popular as fiction.

The seniors prefer "Citadel", "Lorna Doone", "The Bent Twig", "Bab-bit", and "Arrowsmith". The adventure story of "Camps and Trails In China" is also liked by the senior class.

Girl Scouts To Make Knitted Wash Cloths

Wash cloths for the Red Cross will be knitted by the Senior Girl Scouts next Wednesday in Room 138. String for the cloths will be furnished by the Red Cross. Senior Girl Scouts planning to make these cloths must bring their own knitting needles. Sizes 2 or 3 is preferable. For those that do not know how to knit, instructors will be present to teach them.

A potluck dinner is to be held at Joan Cartwright's home, December 4, at 6 o'clock. At this dinner, Betty Dice, Doris Ontario, and Garneta Beatty will have charge of the program. A short business meeting will be held also.

City Library Has Seven Divisions

Some Of Useful Departments Are Reference, Cataloging, Administration, Circulation

Founded in 1894, the Public Library of Fort Wayne has served many people. It has seven useful departments. The circulation department is probably the most used. This department consists of entertaining books, divided into two sections; the adults' and children's. The reference department is for finding information needed for studies, speeches, etc. The cataloging department is for the cataloging of books.

County information is found in the county department. Business and technicalities are handled in the business and technical department. Books that have not been filed and are not yet in public use are soon to be issued from the administration department.

The Shawnee, Little Turtle, Pontiac, Maumee, and Tecumseh are not Indian tribes; they are branches of the main library. Bookmobiles and the hospitals are also considered branches. There are 60,999 people, children and adults, that hold library cards. In 1939 there were 1,387,565 books taken out of the library by card holders. Out of the cost $160,000 per year, $3,900 is raised by fines and rentals, and the rest is raised by taxes.

Some of the more popular books of the high school booklists are "The Yearling", "Treasure Island", "Tom Sawyer", "Huckleberry Finn", "Bob, Son of Battle", Halliburton books, "Hoosier Schoolboy", "Hoosier Schoolmaster", "Peter and Wendie", and "Ten Thousand Leagues Under the Sea", and also books by Will James.

Local Legion Post Favors Education For Citizenship

In connection with the fact that the American Legion is backing American Education Week this year, Mr. A. R. Vegalbes, chairman of the American Legion, Fort Wayne Post 47, stated the following as an explanation of his idea as to the importance of American education and the Legion's willingness to help support the idea:

"Education develops better citizens. With this thought in mind, the American Legion is interested in lending the help of its organization to Education Week. The American Legion has for a number of years given medals for outstanding school work, and while the activity has not been carried on to any great extent in the city of Fort Wayne, units in other cities have cooperated with these school boards in awarding medals.

"Another branch of the Arts of Education has been the oratorical contests conducted throughout the nation. Last year South Side High School was represented by Thomas Galmeyer who won the county, district, zone, and state contests. The oratorical contest will be conducted again this year.

"The American Legion believes that a good program of education will produce better citizens, and that better citizens will lead our nation to the highest degree of security, happiness, and success. As J. Edgar Hoover, of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has said, 'much of the juvenile delinquency is due to lack of education', and as the delinquent continues until some major crime has been committed, it is best to start the proper education early. Thus, banishing all thoughts that criminal and petty conduct is the easiest way.

"The American Legion believes that in a strong program of adherence to the principles of Americanism, education will go a long way in preserving and maintaining a strong Americanism."

"Books Make, Are Good Friends" Idea For Current Week

"Uncle Tom's Cabin", "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm", "Anne of Green Gables", "Tom Sawyer", and "Huckleberry Finn", remember those wonderful books? Do you recall what good friends those books really were? Because good books such as those mentioned above are truly good friends, the sponsors of Book Week have used the theme "Good Books—Good Friends" for this year's observance which started last Sunday and will continue through next Saturday.

In choosing this idea, the sponsors not only meant that good books are good friends, but also, that they make good friends, and readers learn through good books to be good friends.

Book Week is a nation-wide cooperative program shared by educators, librarians, Scout leaders, parents, booksellers, and publishers. It was started in 1919, when Mr. Mathews, Chief Scout Librarian of the Boy Scouts of America, undertook to make reading a part of the Scout program. In order to champion more and better reading for boys, he traveled extensively, gathering information as to what boys read and where they receive their reading matter. When the American Booksellers' Association met for its convention, Mathews gave a stirring speech and thus plans were made for the first Book Week. Book Week is always held sometime during November, the busiest period for the sale of books.

Here in South Side, Miss Shoup announced that since friendlier relations between the United States and South American countries are being promoted to the utmost, the school will emphasize South American books. A set of flags from each South American country has been placed in the front hall.

Indiana Tech Has 44 More Students

Nearly All States Are Represented; Twenty-Nine Foreign Students Are Enrolled Now

The enrollment at the Indiana Technical College for the fall term totalled 423 as compared with 389 a year ago, an increase of 44 students. Indiana is represented by 75, 34 being from Fort Wayne. Ohio has 89, New York, 27; Pennsylvania, 26; New Jersey, 18; Michigan, 17; Illinois, 16; and Kentucky, 16. Nearly all of the states are represented, and there are students from foreign countries as follows: Canada, 9; Hawaii, 4; Mexico, 1; Puerto Rico, 5; Cuba, 5; Colombia, 2; Peru, 2; and the Philippines, 1.

The enrollment by departments is as follows: Aeronautical, 130; mechanical, 110; radio, 55; electrical, 55; and civil, 25. The Aeronautical department wrestled first place from the mechanical during the past year.

President Keene is coordinator of the CAA Pilot Training Program which now includes the secondary, or restricted, phase, as well as the primary phase. Under the secondary training program the ground school course includes 145 hours of instruction in the laboratories and classrooms of the college under Tech instructors, the curriculum being as follows: Aerodynamics, flight, and basic flight. Regulations, engines, instruments, meteorology, navigation, parachutes, and aircraft radio. Ten students are enrolled for this course and thirty for the preliminary. Pilot training is given at the Municipal airport under the supervision of the Civil Aviation Service and the Inter-City Flying Service.

A continued heavy demand persists for well-qualified technical men and engineers and the college has had more positions referred to it the past nine months than there were graduates available.

Leading firms recently employing Tech men are: Baldwin Locomotive Works, Piper Aircraft Corporation, Solar Refining Company, Canadian Pacific Railway, New York Shipbuilding Company, Indiana Service Corporation, International Business Machines Corporation, Bend Sinning Press Company, Delco Radio Corporation, Allison Engineering Company, Glenn W. Martin Company, Consolidated Aircraft Corporation, The Babcock-Wilcox Company, Westinghouse, General Electric, Ingersoll Milling Machine Company, Leavitt Station, Incorporated, and Vega Aircraft.

Latest Poll Shows Kellies Are Thinking About Armistice Day

On the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, the prayer that millions of people had been repeating each night was answered. The world that had been wrecked and torn by four years of the most terrible war ever known was again at peace. Every nation, big and small, every man, woman, and child resolved never again to have a war.

Back in America hearts beat normally, tears were few, mothers and sons were united, sweethearts were back on their park benches, the factories were humming, a merry tune because they were making constructive, not destructive articles. In 1918 United States declared an annual Armistice Day, which for 22 years has been observed to commemorate those brave lads who lost their lives and to remind us of the horrors of war.

This year South Side celebrated Armistice Day with the threat of war again lurking dangerously near the boundaries of our beloved nation and realize more than ever the significance of Armistice Day. Realizing this, several Archers expressed the following opinions about the Armistice program.

Jim Holzworth: It was good.

Warren Hoagland: I thought having a program was essential, because of the threat of war coming so close.

Leslie Baumgartner: It wasn't bad.

Ernie Vogel: We ought to have more Armistice Days.

Barbara Brower: You can't ask me; I'm on the Times staff.

Naomi Koopman: The present war makes us think seriously of Armistice Day.

Paul Johnson: It makes us really think.

Ellen Harry: The Armistice program was very successful.

Rose Lee Hall: It was really O. K.

Betty Hargan: I think the Armistice Day made us thankful we live in the United States.

Dick Theye Shoots Rifle Score Of 100

Matches with the Boys' Rifle Club of Far Rockaway High School in New York have been started by our Boys' Rifle Club. Six boys have already tried their skill. Joe Bekius shot 99 and 85, John Meyers 85, Art Puff 93, Richard Brintzenhof 92, Joe Vanderford 95, and George Waldschmidt 85. The other members will shoot for the match this week and the beginning of next.

Dick Theye shot a perfect score in the match held Monday night. Other scores were made by Edmund Bauer 95, Joe Bekius 99, Jack Hornberger 89, Norman Karbach 93, John Meyer 86, Art Puff 95, Clifford Springer, John Cleland 96, and Richard Brintzenhof 98.

Richard Brintzenhof, senior, made the first five for the first time.

Former Latin Teacher Is USA Guest Speaker

Miss Mary Harrah, resigned Latin teacher of Central High School, was the guest speaker at USA's meeting, held last Thursday in the Greeley Room. She spoke on "World Fellowship," and explained what it means and it is carried out.

Alice Fisher was chairman of the committee in charge. Others who served as committee members are Marilyn Deller, Ida Mae Hege, and Bonnie Homer. Refreshments were served.

Wo-Ho-Ma To Feature Thanksgiving Program

Making a dressing table out of two oranges crates will be the feature of Wo-Ho-Ma's meeting today in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. Helen Dicke will give a story on Thanksgiving, and a community sing has been planned. The committee in charge of this meeting is Donna Paul, chairman; Helen Dicke, Phyllis Crumrine, and Doris Ontario.

"Education Week Is Valuable," Declares Mrs. A. K. Remmel

PTA President Is Of Opinion That Efforts Are Being Made To Further Our Defenses

As a special favor to The Times, Mrs. A. K. Remmel, P-T-A president, gave the following opinion in regard to the statement, "What I Think of National Education Week." Mrs. Remmel, as president of the Parent-Teacher Association, is well-versed in educational matters pertaining especially to the parents' viewpoint. She says, "American Education Week has become an institution and rightly so. All over the nation, parents and teachers come together for a better understanding of aims and purposes, in the wholesome, joyful happy development of the whole child."

"Efforts are being made to give our children a well-rounded program for common defense. This defense program teaches the value of our most precious gift from our forefathers, our spiritual heritage; the value of a people's government, conceived by heroic men determined to be free; of our natural resources, a hopeful future for expansion and service; cooperation in helping each person develop and make the most of his talents and capabilities and recognizing the eternal dignity of human personality."

"Education Week is valuable because it gives parents and teachers a set time to get together, where common problems may be discussed. Getting to know each other is one of the most effective means of building a sympathetic and tolerant attitude between parent, teacher, and child which is so important to the school life of our children."

Courses Of Interest To All Are Offered By I. U. Extension

For high school graduates, the Indiana University Extension in Fort Wayne offers a complete and varied program for people of many interests. A complete year's work prerequisite to Liberal Arts, Medicine, Dentistry, Social Service, Nurses' Training, Purdue Engineering, and Teacher Training is offered to these graduates.

Graduate courses and courses designed especially for business and professional people who wish to further their professional as well as cultural interests may also be taken. In addition to these courses many subjects are offered for students of sophomore, junior, and senior standing, since sixty hours can be completed in extension classes.

Not only does the extension program attract residents of Fort Wayne, but many graduates of out-of-town schools take advantage of this opportunity of completing one and often two years of work. Besides the regular students who are working toward academic degrees, the student body consists of stenographers, bookkeepers, industrial employees, and representatives from seventy-five other vocations. Another feature of interest, especially to Fort Wayne students, is the extension classes. Now it is possible for freshmen students to take practically a full college load of fifteen hours during the day.

With the advent of the day classes, the Fort Wayne division has expanded

South Side Grads Prepare For Secretarial Vocations

What happens to recent high school graduates when they leave school and go out into the world? Some of them get jobs and others, looking towards the future, feel they will have better opportunities for preferred employment if they become outstanding in some particular field.

Many South Side girl grads feel that secretarial work offers them their greatest opportunities and towards that end are preparing for future careers at the Skadron College for Secretaries. Among recent South Side graduates attending day classes at the Skadron College are Jane Bradley, June Hayes, Vivien Kimmell, and Doris Stamez and attending evening classes are Virginia Goeglein, Helen Gysinger, Jack Ridings, and Virginia Selby.

The Skadron College for Secretaries offers ambitious girls and boys the opportunity to prepare for a real career in secretarial, civil service, or reporting work. Five of its graduates have recently received civil service appointments starting at $120 a month, one is now a court reporter and many others hold important positions in the city.

Can You Define Axil, Pistil? See Mr Elna Gould, Botanist

Inflorescence, dehiscent, pollination, and other botanical terms which puzzle the majority of us are as clear as ABC to Mr. Elna Gould, the grand personality in Room 76.

Mr. Gould was born and reared on a farm near Battle Creek, Michigan. He has had to progress on his own since the death of his mother when he was seven years old. He worked with his father on their farm while attending Battle Creek and Kalamazoo High Schools. In the country grade school he attended, he was known to be the best fighter of the school. His favorite subjects in school were Latin, mathematics, and science. When asked about his studies, he laughingly replied, "Well, I wasn't very good in English, but I did know my Latin. In fact, I didn't understand English until I took Latin."

Worked His Way

By mowing lawns, cutting hedges, and other odd jobs, he worked his way through Olivet College to receive a bachelor of arts degree. He also studied botany and biology at the University of Chicago, University of Illinois, and Indiana University. He has twenty-five boxes of biology at Indiana Extension. While at Indiana, he studied at the Winona Biological Station for two summers.

Mr. Gould's first teaching position was at Galva, Illinois, where he taught physics, botany, chemistry, physical geography, besides algebra and geometry. From Galva he went to Joliet, Illinois, and then to Central High School in Fort Wayne, Indiana. After several years at Central he came to South Side where he is inhabiting Room 76, and teaching the students "what makes a flower tick."

Roses Are Favorites

Gardening is his main hobby; he is particularly proud of his President Hoover red Radiance and Talisman roses which he specializes in raising. Growing of wild flowers is also included in his hobby; in fact he keeps

Business College Graduates 15,000

Score Of Archer Alumni Is Included In Group According To The Survey Taken This Fall

Over 15,000 students have graduated from International College, of Fort Wayne, since it opened its doors over fifty years ago. This group includes scores of South Side alumni and thousands of graduates of over four hundred high schools.

According to a survey of the student body this fall, there are students in attendance from 207 high schools and 38 colleges.

These, however, are only the members of "the family" who are "at home." The biggest part of the family has left home and gone to work.

About 5,000 have gone to work since 1929. These have set up new homes all over the world. Some have gone to Calcutta, Shanghai, or Christobal in the Canal Zone. Others are in New York, Miami, Denver, and Los Angeles.

This great family is one of the best known of its kind. It is one of the largest and oldest in the Midwest. It has for over twenty years been honored with membership in the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools. Many of its sons and daughters have made great names for themselves as congressmen, bankers, leaders in business, authors, and teachers.

Yes, 15,000 brothers and sisters make a great family.

Back-to-School Night Affords Jolly Time For Pupils' Parents

"School days, school days, dear old golden rule days, reading and writing and 'rithmetic, taught to the tune of the hickory stick." The first lines of this old favorite tune bring back memories to the parents of South Side students. Back-to-School Night also brings back many happy memories besides giving the parents an opportunity to meet the teachers.

Here are a few of the parents' opinions about your reporter collected from the throngs of happy mothers and fathers who filled the halls Monday night.

Mrs. Kuntz: I think it's grand; I've met all of my old friends here at Back-to-School Night.

Mrs. Busch: I think it's just wonderful.

Mrs. C. B. Robinson: I think it gives the parents a splendid opportunity to meet the teachers; but something something ought to be done about the weather.

Mr. W. J. Harry: It furnishes us with a pleasant evening and it is most enjoyable to meet the teachers.

Mrs. W. J. Harry: I would rather attend open house at South Side than any party I can think of.

Mrs. Hoff: It is fine; I always enjoy it.

Mrs. Hadley: I think it's one of the finest things the school has to offer in getting the parents and teachers together.

Mrs. Thomas Hall: I think it's just fine.

Mr. Heslip: I feel the same way about it.

Armistice Talk Given By Pastor At Program

The Rev. F. H. Rupnow was the main speaker for the Armistice Day assembly held last Monday at 11:30 o'clock. He spoke on "Education for the Peace." The program opened with the band playing "Stars and Stripes Forever," while the Boy Scouts raised the flag and gave the salute. Following this the band played an arrangement of medleys entitled "Over There." Next the entire student body and the chorus sang "I Am an American," a favorite popular patriotic song. 150 Kiel then introduced the Rev. Mr. Rupnow who gave his speech. "God Bless America" was sung by the chorus and the student body. Next taps were played during the one-minute silence, which is the annual way of observing Armistice Day in South Side.

This assembly was held for the entire student body and was received with great respect. Mr. W. C. Wilson, government teacher, was in charge of the program and was aided by Mr. Jack Wainwright.

Elmer Kahl Discusses Native German People

Elmer Kahl, 10A, gave an interesting talk about German people and their characteristics at the fourth meeting of the German Club yesterday in room 144.

The members sang German folk songs and popular songs of the German people. Mr. Paul Schnepel, the sponsor, gave the club members printed sheets of the songs.

Robert Bushman called the meeting to order, and LaVerne Greiner read the secretary's report.

After War On Pullman Is Stopped By Porter, Louie And Karl Proceed Home Peacefully

By Karl Eberly

On our way to San Diego we passed many groves of what Louie thought were sun-tanned apples but were really oranges. We also saw many oil wells; in fact we saw them out in the Pacific Ocean. I was rather disappointed that I didn't get to see Spencer Tracy and Clark Gable drilling for oil, but I guess they were out to lunch.

We arrived in San Diego at about 12 o'clock; immediately ate our lunch; and then went to our room. The elevator boy at first wouldn't let us in, because he thought we looked like a couple of "Heaven knows what." I suppose we did look a little shabby and run down, but we finally convinced him that we were on the great B.C. tour and so he took us up to our room.

In the afternoon we took a tour of the city where we saw the Ryan aircraft plant, which makes training planes for the army and some for South American countries; and the Consolidated Aircraft plant that turns out patrol-bombers for the navy. We also saw the new army Consolidated B-24 long range 40,000 pound bomber, which is similar to the Boeing "Flying Fortress" that are now standard equipment for the army air force. We saw from a distance the large air base which mothers from 300 to 600 planes the year around.

We also went on the government reservation where all the big long-range disappearing type guns are located. We didn't see any of them, but we did see several batteries of anti-aircraft guns and Marine, Army, and Navy barracks. We were not supposed to carry any cameras on the reservation, but Louie forgot to hide his, so he was questioned by a guard; but he finally got out of it by telling the soldier what a rotten photographer he was, and that no one could figure out what he had taken anyway. The soldier seemed to believe him and let him go.

In the evening we ate dinner at the Del Coronado, where Wally Simpson used to stay. It is a beautiful old hotel with a magnificent lighted swimming pool and a small golf course. Later in the evening we went to the Coronado Island Theater where we saw "Four Sons" and wished it was "Four Daughters" instead.

Wednesday, July 24

Louie snored so loud that it made me jump a foot out of bed every time I heard him. I finally got up, and without turning on the lights, I got a wet wash rag, got back in bed; and threw the wet rag on the snorer. With a scream he woke up and exclaimed that someone had tried to murder him; and he insisted on calling out the police force and the Marines. He finally quieted down, and I eventually had peace and quiet except for Louie's knees knocking together.

In the morning we visited one of Hallenstein's friends who took us on a trip into Tiawana, Mexico. We crossed a strip of land which is bordered on both sides by the Pacific Ocean; on the way over we saw an aircraft carrier in the distance. We passed the Mexican custom officials okay and went into Tiawana. This particular town consists of small shops which cater to U. S. tourists. Small boys selling American cigarettes in Mexican packages, shirts, and ten gallon hats were all over the place.

After several hours of shopping and looking, we started back to the United States. At the border U. S. customs officials made us get out of the car while they searched the trunk. Mexico is not even when they don't have elections; it was, 104 degrees in the shade that morning. In the afternoon we left San Diego and went up to Los Angeles where we had dinner in the Union Station. We left on the "Challenger" at exactly 8:10 p. m. I had purchased the lower of a section for myself, so that I wouldn't have to fall out of bed every time I got up. We retired at about 11 p. m.

Thursday, July 25

This morning we crossed Death Valley; it was 106 degrees in the shade, and our Pullman, which was supposed to be air-conditioned, was 85 degrees. Nothing eventful happened throughout the day. We retired at about 9 o'clock. Every time Louie gets down from the upper (which is often), he manages to stick his foot through the curtain and smash into my pan. Some fun!

Friday, July 26

Another fairly uneventful day. We read, mostly. (Louie read funny books; he said he was studying for Latin next year; and I read literature that was of a higher standard, ahem!) At Omaha, Neb., two dark, vivacious young girls got on the train, and I think the kid fell for them. During the entire evening he wanted to go back to the club car in the hopes that he would see his dream girls. At 11 p. m. we finally got to bed, and I laid siege to Louie by tickling his feet every time he tried to get down from his upper. I was paying him back for the times he had kicked me in the

Finally the porter came to investigate the rumor that someone was being cruelly murdered in his car (Louie has a very horrible yelp), and he put an end to my private war. Aw, shucks! At about one in the morning I awoke with a start just in time to see a white dangling hand coming for my face. In desperation I grabbed at it, and a yelp from the upper berth informed me of its owner. Lou was trying to get even for the attack he had suffered earlier that night. I hope the people in our car will get some sleep.

Saturday, July 27

We are to arrive at the final leg of our journey at noon. Through Louie's wishful thinking he imagined that the two raven-haired girls were following us around. I sort of wish he was right, but I fear not. (I wonder if they can cook?) We arrived in Chicago on time, and without further adieu we got on a homeward bound train. I had to lend the kid his carfare home, he was busted flatter than a pancake. Upon arriving in good old Fort Wayne, we were met by our mothers and Roy (Ducey) Heaver, (that train friend I told you about in the first installment. I think he is at the train station most of the time), Bob (Dee) Worman, and Bob Robinson. It certainly was good to see everyone again. We had a swell time; and if you are planning to take a trip next summer, I shall recommend California. It is a beautiful trip. But be careful who you travel with; be sure your companion or companions are sane. It isn't as much fun that way but it is much safer. I found that out.

Totem Marks 273 Snapshot Subscriptions

Senior Picture Campaign To End On Wednesday; List
Cost Of Photos To Be $1

"Exactly 273 senior pictures have been sold to date," stated Faye Gump, senior editor of The Totem, last Tuesday night. She also said that the senior picture campaign will end on next Wednesday. On this day, the last picture will be sold, but pictures will be taken for about another week.

Seniors are urged to buy their pictures immediately. Because the schedule of the photographer is already extremely full, it will be hard to work appointments in for the remaining students who have not ordered their pictures.

Joel Salon, business manager added that the number of senior pictures registered by next Wednesday will have a direct effect upon the size and quality of the 1941 Totem. As a result, he asks the seniors to order their pictures today.

Senior picture agents are:
Eva Jean Wylie, 56; Maurine Leas, 64; Elaine Hirsch, 70; Jean Weil and Janet Holmeyer, 79; Faye Gump, 80; Lois Liskin, 82; June Flaig, 91; Francis Nash, 94; Bob Robinson and Emalyn Remmel, 36; Dick Theye, 44; Gloria Werkman, 98; Pat Seibel, 102; Peg Harrod, 144; Wilma Lagemann, 172.

Any senior working on the Totem will be glad to turn in your dollar on a picture.

Mary Whittern Wins Fourth In Contest At Emboyd Theatre

South Side's golden songstress, Mary Whittern, who has thrilled and entertained so many Archers, placed fourth in an Emboyd Theatre contest which was held to find Fort Wayne's Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney. She is now no longer South Side's prima donna, but Fort Wayne's.

Mary, when asked about her success in the contest answered, "I was thrilled and felt prickly inside, when I was told that I was among the final group to appear at the Emboyd Theatre."

Mary's ambition is to become an opera or concert singer. Although she has talent in playing many instruments, glamour and excitement of the opera have always lured her toward one of the highest ambitions of a singer. Mary, as a child, loved singing and now she is studying under Mr. David Baxter and hopes to continue upward on the ladder of success.

"I would never have entered the contest if it hadn't been for my mother," said Mary. "Since I sing only classical music, I felt it useless to enter the Emboyd contest. If it hadn't been for mother's insistence, I would have missed climbing my first rung of my ladder," said Mary. It was Mary's only big appearance and although she was shaking after the first few bars of music she lost her fear in her song.

"After the first dreaded moments of singing suspense were over, I can truthfully say that I will always remember it as one of the greatest and most sensational moments in my life," laughed Mary. Who knows? Perhaps Mary will be the leading lady in opera at the Metropolitan Opera House some day.

Senior Has Saved All Times' Copies Since Fall Of 1937

Louisa Haugk, senior B, has saved all copies of The South Side Times since her freshman year in 1937.

"I've got every issue except the very first one. If anyone has this first issue of 1937, I would appreciate having it, if it is of no value to them," stated Louisa. She also stated that these Times have helped out in a lot of debates concerning dates.

She has been active in the Times staff since her sophomore year. At present time she is a mailing manager, news reporter, bill collector, and typist. Louisa has already earned her silver pin and needs about 300 points to get her gold pin. She also worked on The Tiny Times.

Series Of Lectures Will Close Tonight

The last of a series of lectures on journalism by Mrs. Virian Gates Logan, will be held at 3:30 o'clock today in Room 114. Those items which have not been discussed in the style book, will be taken up. All reporters are urged to attend this meeting.

Ex-Archer Appointed To Staff

Robert Parrish, '36, a graduate of South Side High School, of Fort Wayne, has been named a member of the staff of the Indiana Law Journal, which is published by students of the School of Law at Indiana University.

Archer Classes Show Increasing Activity

Louise Webster gave a report in Home Room 60 on safety precautions to be taken in the home economics rooms. The safety program for this room was in charge of Lavon Witmer.

Lloyd Hanna and Charles Gramlick, students of Miss Peck's English 4, period 4 class, have completed their outside reading for this semester.

Jeanie Cyr, Joan Cartwright, George Hahn, and Jean Fisher scored above 90 on a test given by Miss Perkins to her French 2, period 4 class.

Lois Chaney, a student of Miss Peck's English 3, period 7 class, has completed her outside reading.

Sally Hobbs scored 100 in a test given by Miss Perkins to her French 1, period 6 class.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Dorothy Meyer, Robert Bilger, and Jean Fisher made the highest scores on an infinitive test given by Mr. Cook to his English 2, period 6 class.

Last Wednesday Juanita Drews entertained Miss Hemmer's home room by singing several selections.

Boys in Mr. Smuts' class turning in A— or better work so far this semester are: Period 1, Robert York; period 2, Richard Dorsch, Norbert Rehm, and Don Rietdorf; and period 7, Richard Moreo, Loren Sprunger, and Paul Wuttke.

Miss Miller's Government 1, period 1, classes have made maps showing the twelve electoral districts in Indiana.

Jim Hurst and Esther Schueler rated highest on the final test covering "Silas Marner." They are English 7 students in Mr. Cook's seventh period class.

In Mr. Furst's Clerical Practice 1 classes a spelling test over 500 frequently missed words was given. Those who made 100 in the second period are Esther Schueler and Marjorie Voltz. Louise Buesking, Wilma Lagemann, and Ada Frange made a grade of 95.

An exhibit of cakes, cookies, salads, and breads was displayed by the food classes at open house for the parents. The food was given as attendance prizes to the parents.

In Miss Hemmer's English 5 classes, the students are spending some time studying the autobiography of Janet Scudder. Pat Racht has brought in some pictures showing some of Miss Scudder's work.

The following students in Miss Perkins' French 1, period 3 class, made grades above 90 on a test: Lois Bloemker, Dorothy Heslip, Rosemary Plummer, and Carolyn Smoke.

Projects being made in Mr. Smuts' general metal classes are hammers, plumb bobs, clamps, screwdrivers, tin cups, funnels, electric lamps, smoking stands, ash trays, and electric buzzers.

Bob Miller sold the most magazine subscriptions in Home Room 38.

Miss Osborne's seventh period English 1 class is making a pictorial map showing the journey of Odysseus.

Reports in Mr. Peirce's General History 1 period 7, class were given by Darwin Fry who reported on Pompey; Arthur Harlan, Conspiracy of Cataline; Russell May, Crassus; Robert Quinn, Sulla; Dick Scott, Marius; Walter Thomas, Brutus; Ann Pontius, Cleopatra; Barbara Cansol, Antony; Lawrence Bacon, Gracchi.

John Craig, Neva Kirk, and Richard Wyss, English students of Miss Pocock, made either A or A— on a written lesson over Jack London's "Love of Life."

Miss Smith's girls' dancing classes are starting ballet this week.

Miss Mellen's home nursing classes have been learning how to buy springs, mattresses, and bed linens, including blankets. The girls investigated the prices in magazines and newspapers. Then in groups of twos the girls went down town and got the current prices. They used this material for open house. In addition they also provided products of home nursing techniques.

Doris Miller, a Shorthand 1, period 1 student, of Mr. Murch, and Harriet Will, a Shorthand 1, period 6 student, made the highest grades in a check up in their respective classes.

Jack Grosvenor and Fritz Kahl made the highest grades on a test given by Miss Pocock over "Merchant of Venice."

The students of Mr. Plasket's period 1, Industrial Arts 1 class, who are doing service work in their class are Richard Scott and Jack Parker, bench foremen; William Rohyans and Chester Himmelein, mill foreman and assistant, respectively; Jack Franklin, tool foreman; Jack Capp, clamp and finishing foreman; Bill Becker, roll; and Franklin Carlo is locker guard.

The basketball tournament in the girls' gym classes has started. Student leaders are serving as officials.

Celeste Freistroffer, an English 6 student of Miss Pocock, recently came to South Side from Palm Beach, Florida.

Delores Kiel of Home Room 30 had charge of the safety program last Friday.

Betty Stump reported on the effects of marijuana and Dick Brandt reported on the effects of tobacco, alcohol, and drugs in Mr. Schneepel's Health 1, period 1 class. Herman Davis and Orinda Braun, period 3 students, reported on the above-mentioned subjects respectively.

Members of new committees appointed in Home Room 58 are Robert Smith, Jean Shannon, and Bill Smith, program committee; Patty Schnurr, Julia Spindler, Dick Sellers, and Dick Snyder, the committee to direct the filling of the Thanksgiving basket.

Miss Osborne's English class wrote reports on "The Short Story," "The Novelle," and "The Epic" to show to their parents, who came to Open House, the work done so far in this semester.

Betty Stump, a United States History 1, period 6 student, of Mr. Peirce, reported on several colonial period poems.

Mr. Furst gave an achievement test to his Bookkeeping 1 classes. Those making 100 in period 1 were Eleanor Christ, Myla Landis, and Jo Ann Spore; 95 or over were Miriam Abbott, Dorothy Lisius, Delores Majorik, Daniel Rhodes, and Beverly Sprunger. In period 2, Elsie Korte and Marjorie Ann Meyer made 100. Evelyn Arnold, Ernest Dent, Kathryn Halfmann, Richard Hamilton, Opal Springer, and Donald Yent made 95 or over. Loraine Berning, Virginia Callison, Dick Forbing, and Marcella Schwartz made a grade from 95 to 98 in period 6. Grades from 95 to 98 in period 6 were made by Lettie Julian, Bonnie Junk, Colleen McCarty, Kendrick Roth, Max Stobaugh, Harriet Swager, Everette Trulock, and Ellen Wehr.

Pupil Drivers Are To Apply For Auto Tags

Students, After Registering
In Office, Will Receive
Plate To Display On Cars

All students who have driving permits from the city and state traffic departments should apply for a school permit, whether a student drives to school all of the time or occasionally, this is advised. Permits may be obtained at the principal's office.

In addition to the permits, the students will receive an official tag from the school office which should be displayed on his car for the purpose of identification and evidence for the school authorities, whose duty it is to inspect the car and driver for the school permit.

Phyllis Puff, Dancer, Places Second In Emboyd's Contest

Phyllis Puff, 9B, executes a front aerial flip

In the portals of South Side, a great amount of talent is obscure and unnoticed. Until someone from the throng of South Siders arises from obscurity to fame with his first majestic taste of success before a large and critical audience, South Siders are seemingly dormant.

Phyllis Puff, 9B, has awakened South Side with her success at the Emboyd Theatre, which held a contest in order to find Fort Wayne's Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland. Phyllis placed second with her acrobatic dancing.

"The Emboyd contest was well designed and under the best direction," Phyllis said. "The contestants were all exceptionally skillful in their line of art. With such stiff competition, I was nervous as the time for my entrance on the stage grew closer. Upon learning that I had won second place, I was both thrilled and honored; but the experience which I had gained and the honor of appearing in the contest would have been award enough," said Phyllis.

Phyllis, who, just a freshman, has already become known for her baton twirling skill. For this feat she won a sterling silver dresser set. Phyllis has proven herself a real trooper by her already successful career. Though she has appeared in many programs, each one of her appearances has her stomach doing dits and leaves her as thrilled and excited as if it had been her very first performance.

She enjoys her audience and has never feared them. "It is a very crucial moment if one does not establish a friendly contact with the audience," stated Phyllis seriously. Now fourteen, she launched her career as a dancer at the age of seven. Recently Phyllis has been studying at the Chicago University of Dancing under Bruce R. Bruce.

Phyllis has many ambitions to accomplish. She hopes to become a

English Teacher Plans Assembly

Miss Lucy Osborne Heads Program For American Education Week; The Common Defense

"Education For Common Defense" is to be the theme of the American Education Program planned by Miss Lucy Osborne, English instructor, scheduled to be presented immediately after home room period tomorrow. The idea expressed by the program is: "When our men in the army prepare to defend our nation against war if it should come, we who are in high school are educating ourselves for the common defense."

"This program for tomorrow shows how, through education we are enriching our lives in:

"1. Enriching Spiritual Lives
"2. Strengthening our Civic Loyalties
"3. Safeguarding our Natural Resources and Human Resources
"4. Developing a Strong Spirit of Patriotism."

"Speakers and speeches in the program are as follows: Bob Young, Prologue; James McClure, Enriching Spiritual Life; Sam Bacon, Our Government; Charlene McAtee, Our People; Delores Daniels, Natural Resources; Helen Ninde, Patriotism. Music will be furnished by the Glee Club and Band.

"History Of Numbers" Will Be Club Subject

Delores Nicodemus will give a report on "History of Numbers," at the Junior Math meeting Tuesday which will be held in room 146 at 3:30 o'clock. Marilyn Smith, who is in charge of refreshments, will give a few puzzle problems. Games will be led by Harry Kast.

Officer: You've been doing 60 miles an hour. Don't you care anything about the law?
Sweet Young Thing: Why, officer, how can I tell? I've just met you.

Wo-Ho-Ma Girls Plan Vanity Table

Thanksgiving Stories, Community Singing Comprise Program; Totem Writers Chosen

Wo-Ho-Ma's meeting last Thursday featured the making of a dressing table out of two orange crates. Helen Dicke read two stories on Thanksgiving, one on the origin of Thanksgiving, titled "Grandma's Thanksgiving," and the other, on the spirit of Thanksgiving, entitled "Farmer John's Thanksgiving."

Community singing was held. The songs sung were "America, the Beautiful," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Auld Lang Syne," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair," and "God Bless America." Alice Fisher was the pianist. Katherine Bultemeier, Helen Dicke, and Lisa Kaiser were chosen as a committee to write The Totem story for Wo-Ho-Ma.

Committee in charge of next meeting is Clara Long, chairman, Pearl Baldwin, Lisa Kaiser, and Betty Brubaker. Clark bars were served as refreshments.

Judy Kaser Adores GAA, Photography, Plus Fried Chicken

Twinkling eyes, ready smile, and sunny disposition are Julia Kaser's keys to popularity in GAA. "Greet me with a friendly smile and you have a friend forever," is her motto. Maybe everyone should try her medicine. She excels in any sport she participates in from tennis to badminton.

When questioned as to her favorite winter and summer sports she put at the top of her list, football, basketball, and baseball. Fried chicken and ice cream are tops with her in food, while she rates Jack Benny and Bob Hope first in radio comedians. She thinks "Northwest Passage" was the best movie of all the movies ever made. Spencer Tracy, as in "Greatest," is also her movie hero; and to make a perfect couple she matches him with Barbara Stanwyck. Off screen, though, give Judy Joe Barbieri and nothing will trouble her again.

This summer she was one of the most valuable members of the Bob Inn softball team. When she isn't busy with school work, you'll find her either playing her cornet or snapping pictures of her many friends. Green and White are, in true school patriotism, Mr. R. Nelson Snider. The school physician, Dr. W. W. Duemling, can give examinations when immediate symptoms are present. "The family doctor knows more about your health and past illness; therefore he can make a more thorough analysis of the examination, another reason given by Mr. Snider for having examinations by family physicians.

Attempts are being made to promote the necessity of health examinations among the pupils of South Side. Complete examinations cannot be made here because of the lack of proper laboratory equipment and other facilities, it was announced by Mr. R. Nelson Snider. The school physician, Dr. W. W. ## Max Stobaugh Is Philatelic Collector

Illustrated Talk Is Feature Of Stamp Club Meeting; Sale, Exchange Completes Program

Max Stobaugh, 12B, presented an illustrated talk to members of Stamp Club yesterday in the Greeley Room. In his talk he explained what philatelic stamps meant, how to detect watermarks, how to read a stamp catalog, what is meant by coil stamps, and rotary press stamps. He also demonstrated what he was talking about, Max made the same name as a stamp, which showed the various characteristics of the stamps he explained.

Following Max's illustrated talk, the members of the club engaged in a stamp exchange. Many varieties of stamps were either sold or exchanged for other stamps that was of interest to traders. The new Definitive Issue of stamps was discussed as to color, number of stamp, value of each, and where to purchase first day covers.

Jack Rogers was chairman of the stamp exchange with Dick Stamets assisting.

Social Science Postpones Date Of Next Meeting

Social Science Club's meeting has been postponed from November 20 to a later date. Ruth Dauner, secretary, announced that the membership of the club has reached forty; therefore the membership is closed.

"Pan-American Relations" will be presented at the next meeting by Gloria Slater and Roger McVay. A final report of the magazine campaign will also be given.

Health Examination Urged To Be Made By Family Physician

Attempts are being made to promote the necessity of health examinations among the pupils of South Side. Complete examinations cannot be made here because of the lack of proper laboratory equipment and other facilities, it was announced by Mr. R. Nelson Snider. The school physician, Dr. W. W. ## November 21 Or 28 Brings Varied Ideas To Archer Students

Thanksgiving to many people means a day at grandma's with lots of good things to eat and also a day in which they can relax and thoroughly enjoy themselves. This is mainly what the older generation think, but the younger set is inclined to have other plans for this holiday.

Recently when some students at South Side were asked, "What does Thanksgiving mean to you?" their answers differed greatly. Some of these answers were as follows:

Martha Thomas: Plenty of sleep. Dick Green: It makes me think of a big turkey and dressing, and then going to bed to sleep it off! Larry Phipps: Indigestion. Kay Koonitz: Dinner at grandma's. Betty Stamp: Nothing. Safford McMyler: I always think of chickens. (Get it?)

Jo Frosh: I'm a Republican and it doesn't mean a thing to me on the twenty-first.

Dale Amstutz: Just another holiday.

Jim Brooks: Eats.

Deloris Reiter: Things I wouldn't want to put in print.

Peg Harrod: Heaven. (Could it be because of Dave's coming home?)

Marilyn Hull: Absolutely nothing at all.

Ernie Vogel: My girl, Pat, comes home from college.

Janet Michel: Lots of stuff to eat, drink and merry.

Ben Harris: Turkey.

Joan Smith: I immediately think of all the good times I'm going to have at the dances.

Bud Lindeman: I think of a relief from studies.

Camenean Leader Is Reba Coppock

Nancy Hess, Lisa Kaiser, Kathryn Eipper Are Assistants; Game Procedure To Be Given

Correct procedure in leading games at the meetings will be featured at the Camenean Club meeting next Tuesday. Reba Coppock was appointed chairman of the committee in charge by Miriam Roebel and will be assisted by Nancy Hess, Kathryn Eipper, and Lisa Kaiser.

Committee members appointed to determine a definite amount of money to spend for refreshments at the meetings consists of Phyllis Muller, chairman, Marjorie Sullivan, Jeanette Zahn, and Marilyn Miller.

A committee chosen to select a project as a contribution to the school is comprised of Arlene Rucke, chairman, Eva Jean Wylie, Carolyn Rodriguez, and Marian Seemeyer.

Vote On Totem At the last meeting of the Camenean Club, it was voted that the club have a full page in the Totem, and Wilma Lageman was selected to write the story.

As the theme of this meeting was "hobbies," Reba Coppock showed her hobby of magic and also the hobby of collecting various perfumes and their various shaped bottles. She explained how her hobbies were started and from where she received her bottles of perfume. Miss Mary Crowe, one of the advisers of the club, displayed her hobby of collecting tea cups and saucers from different countries and also a sugar and creamer from France. She explained the significance of tea cups.

Display Hobbies Miss Crowe's present hobby is comparatively new. Her former hobby was that of collecting chairs. Dorothy Perry acquainted the members with her hobby by playing "Carmina March" on her accordion. In conversation, Marilyn Dennis gave a reading since her hobby is dramatic arts.

At the Junior Tea held Wednesday, November 6, Camenean Club was among others represented. Betty Pepler explained the activities of the club. Elaine she received her bottles from George Innes, a painter. Marilyn Dennis described her hobby by giving a reading, "A Miracle," written by Marshall Stedman. Kathryn Eipper described her hobby of collecting perfume bottles.

Visual Department Debates Purchase

Education Group Contemplates Obtaining 1940 Designs Of Sound Machine Movie Camera

Visual Education Department is contemplating the purchase of their Victor Sound Machine on a new 1940 model of the same make and also purchasing a new 16-millimeter movie camera in the near future.

The new camera, if purchased, will be used to take pictures of the basketball games and other activities of interest to the school. These then would be shown to the students of the school or kept as permanent records of the activities of South Side.

Approximately 1,200 students viewed films during the last two weeks. During this same time the machine was run a total of about thirty hours. A list of teachers who had films shown as visual education aids for their classes are as follows: "Know Your Money," which was made by the United States Treasury Department, was shown to classes of Mr. Wilburn Wilson, Mr. Clyde Peirce, Mr. Maurice Murphy, Mr. George Collyer, Miss Hazel Miller, Miss Pauline VanGorder, and Miss Mary Crowe.

Films secured from Indiana University and used for instruction purposes were for Mr. Albert Heine, "Termites," "Greatest Plants," "Aphids," "Planting and Care of Trees," "Life History of the Mosquito," "Butterflies," "Beach and Sea Animals," "Beetles," Mr. Lloyd Whelan, "Pig Iron," "Molecular Theory of Matter," and "Earth's Rocky Crust," Mr. Wilburn Wilson, "Bolivia," at the PTA Forum Wednesday night; Mr. Delevan Parks, "Siberia, Hawaiian Islands and Philippine Islands."

Totem Sales Are Leading Other Years' Yearbook Now Has 1,025 Subscribers; Bob Brooks Is Ahead With 61 Orders

The Totem workers are ahead of all previous years in sales of the 1941 annual with 1,025 subscriptions. Bob Brooks, Maurine Leas, Mildred Hanke, Elaine Hirschy, and Jo Frosh are leading the individual agents by bringing in 61, 54, 40, 40, and 38 subscriptions respectively.

"Bob and Maurine and the person capturing third place on the list will be awarded free Totems for their very excellent work," stated John Bonisib, editor, on Monday. "If it were not for the unusual efforts of these five people, it is doubtful that the high total of 1,025 could have been attained by the staff. To them go the thanks of Miss Harvey, myself, and the major staff," he went on to say.

But the whole subscription staff can be given a pat on the back for their efforts since school started. To each of them also goes the thanks of the rest of the staff.

It was announced that pictures will be taken all day on Friday of this week so that one can obtain an appointment card for that day at any time.

To the time of this writing, about 330 senior portraits have been purchased, leaving 100 to be obtained.

Joel Salon, business manager, has announced that the Totem has contacted all of the club advisers about space in the 1941 yearbook and he urged that this matter be taken care of at the earliest opportunity. If the club so desires it may be possible to arrange to take the club picture before Christmas. If so, the club is asked to contact Joel Salon.

Secret Service Man Speaks To Archers On Counterfeiting

Mr. A. C. Townslee, a representative from the Treasury Department of the United States Secret Service, was at South Side last Friday afternoon to demonstrate the making of counterfeit money and tell the ways in which the counterfeiters are caught. After the film was shown, Mr. Townslee answered questions asked by the students. The film was shown three times, once during the sixth period and twice during the seventh period.

"The purpose of this film," said Mr. Townslee, "is to educate the public to know money and to be able to detect through education, not persecution." The film is being shown in all public high schools in towns of 10,000 or over. Mr. Townslee represents the ninth district, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, and is stationed at Chicago. There are fifteen districts in the United States.

"There are more cases of counterfeiting found in the east and larger cities, although there is a little counterfeiting in Chicago," said Mr. Townslee. "The maximum sentence for counterfeiting is fifteen years in prison and a $5,000 fine. Mr. Townslee said that in years prior to 1936, there was over $1,000,000 worth of counterfeit money printed annually, while last year only about $200,000 worth of counterfeit money was printed. "The number of counterfeit cases have been reduced materially in the last two years," said Mr. Townslee.

Mr. Townslee has been agent investigator for the Treasury Department of the United States Secret Service for the past four years. Previous to this time, he was a bodyguard for Hoover and Roosevelt during their presidency. Mr. Townslee said that while he has been stationed in this district there has never been a counterfeiting case in Fort Wayne.

For information on counterfeiting and how to identify counterfeit money, may write to the Treasury Department of the United States Secret Service.

Change Hi-Y Date To December 14

Time For Best Girls' Banquet Given At Meeting Thursday; Club Hears Aviation Speech

A change in the date of the Hi-Y Best Girls' Banquet to December 14 was announced at the Hi-Y meeting last Thursday night at the YMCA.

Warren Cook gave a committee report on the Hi-Y Best Girls' Banquet, in which he stated that it was to be held at the YMCA with admission being $1.25 a couple.

The members enjoyed a potluck supper and then were entertained with a speech by Mr. Robert Schott, assistant circulation manager of the News-Sentinel, who talked on aviation. Included under this topic were comments by Mr. Schott on civilian training, flying, sports, bomb-sights, transport flying, army flying and the new army base which Fort Wayne is to have. Members asked him questions concerning aviation after his speech.

Bill Goodwin and Dick Nahrwald were appointed to a committee to take charge of initiation of new members at the meeting of December 5. Hi-Y pins were passed out and it was decided to have no meeting this Thursday.

Bookmarks Given By School Library

Markers Display Poster, Poem By Emilie Poulson, List Of Rules For Care Of Volumes

Bookmarks, displaying the Book Week poster and a list of rules pertaining to the care of books, are being given to all students who take out books from the school library this week. A poem by Emilie Poulson is placed under the picture.

Rules for care of books follow:

1. Use it with clean hands.
2. Open it carefully.
3. Turn the pages from corners.
4. Don't wet fingers.
5. Use this bookmark and not a thick pencil or turned down page corner.
6. Never leave an open book face down.
7. Keep it fresh and clean without marks or fingerprints.
8. Carry a few books at a time, so that you won't drop one and break its back.
9. Wrap books when you carry them in the rain.
10. Keep books on shelves and not leave them on the floor.

Among the songs that were sung during the community sing were "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair," "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party," "Love's Old Sweet Song," and "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground." The subject of the club picture in The Totem was discussed and the members decided to take a full page this year as in the years before.

Mr. R. L. Davis from the General Electric will be the special speaker at the next meeting. He will speak on "Plastics," which today is an important commodity.

English Club To "Get Acquainted"

Miss Martha Pittenger Speaks On America's Old Glory At Last Meeting Of New Group

"Get Acquainted" will be the assignment for all the members of the new English Club, sponsored by Miss Dorothy Magley and Miss Susan Peck, for the students of their fourth period English classes at their party to-night in the Greeley Room.

The officers for the club are Herbert Schmoee, president; Dolly Disler, vice-president; and Jack McNeal, secretary. Cider and doughnuts will be served.

Three meetings of this club have been held to date. Mr. Lester Hostettler, director of the school chorus, spoke on "Music" at the first meeting. At the second meeting, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, spoke on "Youth of America," and at the last meeting, Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, spoke on the "Flag."

Principal Is President Of Scottish Rite Class

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, was recently elected president of the Scottish Rite class, receiving degrees during the semi-annual reunion of the Fort Wayne Scottish Rite Consistory at the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Mr. Snider is a member of the class to be known as the Edward M. Wilson Memorial class. He is the only officer from Fort Wayne, the others being from other Indiana towns.

Tact: When a fellow is able to explain to a girl why his name appears in the dirt column linked with someone else.

Excuse: Something flimsy and transparent, composed by a student, offered in place of his geometry assignment.

Don't spend the rest of the semester lamenting over your mid-term grades; start working and improve them!

Don't eat too much tomorrow. Remember you want to be alive to enjoy the Christmas dinner.

Do your Christmas shopping early. Who knows? Christmas may be moved up a week or two.

Wonder what the monkeys think of us, playing with a disk of wood on a string.

Before you condemn that teacher for assigning work over the holiday, how well did you do on your grade card yesterday?

A thoughtful and ambitious student is one who has all his reports in now, before the Christmas rush.

And how do you know if your Totem picture will be good or bad if you haven't had it taken yet?

Peace For A Time To Appreciate The True Thanksgiving

The tradition and legend of Thanksgiving Day is as old, even a century and a half older than our nation. The United States of America was undreamed of, unheard of, back in the early seventeenth century when Pilgrims first set aside a festival of thanks to the God for giving them life, food, and shelter on strange shores. Today Thanksgiving has become so customary that it is taken for granted. We Americans no longer wonder if the harvest will be great enough to tide us through the winter. We do not live in constant worry as to the depth of the friendship of the Indian. Yet we, with all the comforts of modern life, and all the modern conveniences and easiness that are ours, are not nearly so ardent in our thanks as were the Pilgrim fathers.

Do we not have far greater reason to be thankful than the pioneers? For one thing, we are a nation at peace in a world of war. We do not fear returning to homes blasted by bombs in our absence. We do not pray for the lives of fathers and brothers fighting in front lines. There is no danger of invasion and consequent dictatorship and loss of liberty. In spite of our grave national problems, we can give thanks for living in the best nation in the world. Even in the midst of mid-semester exams, should we not be proud and thankful for our public school system? We are by far the best educated people in the world, and still we complain.

Thousands of high school students the nation over will indulge in Thanksgiving feasts tomorrow that would make a Pilgrim boy's eyes pop out. We will lounge in hours of leisure, and enjoy books, magazines, or some constructive hobby, while we are kept warm and comfortable by the thermostats and heating plants. Thoughtlessly, who have the most to be thankful for will be the least thankful. South Siders, think tomorrow on the generosity of the Creator who has made us the best served people the world over.

Little Handles And Fenders Will Grow Big Bikes To Be

No, you needn't cry, if your bike is in the stalls; there's little danger that it will be stolen. But are you sure all your accessories are bolted on tightly? There have been several cases of lights, horns, and generators being stolen since school began this fall. Our bike stall guards do their job as efficiently as can be expected. However, while you're attending a club meeting or when you're at basketball practice, there's no one to oversee your bikes.

Perhaps you are in the habit of locking your bike. Fine! Then at least you'll have a way home. But even then you have no means of locking on equipment, except to screw and fasten it on just as tightly as you possibly can. Undoubtedly the thought of some one stealing your little gadgets never occurred to you. Those fellows with "sticky fingers," finding that they can't get away with "hooking" the whole bike, will take it in parts, and be thankful at that. Little pieces of equipment are not very expensive if bought singly, but the cost mounts up if you have to buy them time and again. We know specifically of one case where a fellow has had three lights stolen in succession.

A word to the wise, you know, is a good thing once in a while. It's to your own saving of money and trouble if you heed our words.

Club-Ubs Wranglers

No. 2

This column is being devoted to better acquaint the students with the extra-curricular program which is a vital part of our school life.

"To further the interest in public speaking in South Side by giving further opportunities for speaking experience" is the aim of Wranglers' Club. The speech department specializes in declamation. Winners of the club's declamation contest enters the city and state contests. Extemporaneous speaking, debate, radio broadcasting, and original oratory are some of the various contests one may enter. Some of this year's program for using speech practically are the patriotic programs, the political rally, and a Thanksgiving celebration.

Social events as well as educational programs are planned. The fall wienie bake, the annual dance, the initiation, and the banquet in the spring are regular features. Although their dance has the aspects of a social event, it really is their one and only (literally) means of support. Their banquet honors all the speakers in Wranglers' and especially those who are winners of school and interscholastic contests by giving medals and letters. At this time a trophy is given to the winners of the original oratory contest.

Admittance to the club is restricted to boys and girls who have entered contests or a public speaking class. "Restricted" seems the wrong word to use for there are two hundred twenty-five interested members. Every second Monday in the Greeley room is the scheduled meeting place and time. This term's officers are as follows: Jim McClure, prexy; Charlotte McAtee, vice-prexy; Mary Ellen Barrett, secretary; and Bob Brooks, financier.

"for you-Young Moderns"

Vacation was fun, but now you are really bucking down to work. Now is the time to have a fresh start at being the kind of girl or boy you want to be. Perhaps you are aiming high—at the honor roll or the basketball team. No matter if you have a million new ideas and they are important, there is one that is just a little ahead of all the others, and that is POPULARITY. You boys, no matter how much you kid yourselves, know deep down in your hearts that you want the girls to like you. Girls, you want the boys to admire you, don't you? Maybe that is going to be harder for you than the dean's list and the basketball team put together.

First of all, how do you impress other people? Do you act tongue-tied with everyone but your best friends? If you don't say something once in a while how do you expect people to know what is in that pretty head of yours? Bashful? That is no excuse. It just means that you're concentrating on yourself in place of the other fellow.

Maybe your personality is just the opposite of being tongue-tied. Perhaps you're the type that just can't help giving people your frank opinion of everything and everybody. Don't be catty. Maybe you were just being honest when you were called upon for your opinion of Louise's new yellow dress, and said, "It makes her look awfully fat." And while any one with half an eye could have seen that it was the truth, you were the one to come out and say so. That, my dears, is the easiest way to a reputation of being catty. You might just as well have said, "That new dress of Louise's isn't exactly slenderizing but it certainly is a gorgeous color for her." If you really must be frank, try thinking up something good as well as bad.

Winter Wear

We've talked at great length about formals for the Thanksgiving dances, but we have neglected to tell you about the outstanding formal wraps for these gala occasions. The long full cape has made a spectacular comeback in mid-lady's favor. One of the most striking ones we've seen so far is the full-length snowy white teddy-bear fleece, lined in crimson flannel and caught with a great bull-frog. It has definite military air and will make you a standout in any crowd.

Shoes off, and to bed. After a hard day at school and with your feet definitely needing a bit of relaxation, what's better than to slip into a pair of ease-making sluffs? They are good-looking and exceptionally smart.

Man on hand! At least when you wear the new terse, boyish gloves you'll have a definitely mannish air about you that will fairly shout of the latest style.

Can you spare a dime? One of the latest gadgets that the downtown stores are featuring are the clever temper-saving key-ring and nickel, dime, and quarter dispenser. This is especially nice for purse uncluttering. Nice too for those days when you don't want to carry your big purse with you; just something to keep your change in.

Seniors Have Their Say—

What do some of the more outstanding seniors do during the day? Harken and we will peek in on several of them as they sit in various classes: Ah! what do we have here? Eva Jean Wylie's gaze is following Jim Gerig as he goes to the platform to give a speech in public speaking. Is Eva Jean's interest personal, or is it that Jim is such a wonderful speaker? There is food for thought. A sabotage plot has been discovered in a certain English classroom where some senior students are tapping out messages to one another in Morse Code. Is it just a coincidence that they are having a test? Hardly! But don't worry, that particular teacher is an expert in code. So beware, you English studes. Have you noticed John Boyce's fingernails lately? He is letting them grow so that he will have enough room to write out the text of his next civics test. (Hope the civics teacher doesn't clip his nails.)

Enterprising seniors should open a postal system in the study hall. They could arrange to carry notes to students for, say, two notes for five cents, and then the people who are trying to study would not have to be bothered by having to pass a note to E-11. There is the golden opportunity, boys and girls.

When the election campaign was at its height, many civics classes had political debates. Foremost among these orators, in Miss Van Gorder's classes, were Sam Bacon and Dick They in the second period class, and Howard Tyndall and Karl Eberly in the third period. These seniors had some fun fighting back and forth and, on election day, took a straw vote. The Republicans won by a large plurality, yet the Democrats won the national election. They just can't figure it out; there must have been crooked voting. Oh well!

I guess that's all for this week. Be sure to read this highly educational column next week for you can never tell what we might spring on you. And, remember, this column is for seniors only, but if any of the other classes want to read about the upperclassmen, I'm not the one to stop them.

STAR DUST

★ Brown eyes, red hair, and a few freckles goes by the moniker of "Peanuts". This description fits one of South Side's high-flying seniors and also one of the school's more outstanding personalities.

★ Brains and beauty, too. This miss is taking a business course and she intends to become a buyer for a not-too-near department store. To help this ambition along, she studied art under Miss Dochterman for two years. During her stay at South Side she has belonged to Girl Scouts, Times, Totem, GAA, and was a GAA Student Leader.

★ A home body? Well, definitely so! She has made many of those smart looking clothes we've been admiring. Quite recently she extended an invitation to her friends to drop in and sample her pineapple muffins, and we've heard they are quite the thing.

★ Her love of traveling started a rock collection. She has traveled over most of the eastern and southern parts of the United States, and has rocks and ores from each place she has visited. Bette Davis and Charles Boyer are her favorite movie stars; her weakness is of course, peanuts. Her name—Elaine Ferguson.

Latest Poll Indicates South Siders Desire Skits In Assemblies

With so much current interest in the conduct of students' assemblies, it seems timely to run a poll showing that most South Siders prefer skits at school assemblies. Some of the students' comments follow:

Dorothy Cooper: I'm very much in favor of skits. They add a certain touch to the assemblies.

Bob Young: They are swell if the fellows in them are funny enough.

Mike Beall: I'm for bigger and better skits.

Marilyn Wolf: They're swell. It makes the assemblies more fun.

Bob Brooks: Makes the assemblies more interesting, especially if they are funny.

Elaine Ferguson: I think they're fun. I'm all for them.

Larry Phipps: I think they're a swell idea. More Little Eva skits.

Joel Salen: I...ditto.

Lois Likins: I'm for 'em.

Alice Light: Absolutely! Betty Stump: Enlightening, really they are.

Safford McMyler: I think they ought to have a sales skit by Fred Collins.

Kay Kuntz: I think we should have them.

Bob Moses: I'm in favor of them. We have so few of them here.

Here we have a few of the comments of the students of South Side, and they are in favor of skits, so here's hoping.

ADD STORY ON ASSEMBLIES ..... Elaine Helms: I have enjoyed the assemblies except for the lack of popular music.

Howard Blood: If we had a bit more jive, I would appreciate them more.

Marilyn Dosch: They're all right as they are.

Dick Theye: I like the patriotic and the popular songs we have.

Fred Collins: Our assemblies need popular music to pep them up.

Edward Wade: I agree with Fred.

Bob York: Why not have a famous band leader to play the newer songs?

Betty McKay: I don't know what to say about them except that I do enjoy them.

James Sapp: I get a thrill from the patriotic ones.

What Thanksgiving Means

Loading Thanksgiving Baskets For Delivery

Staff Photo

You see in the above picture several of South Side's students climbing into a car to deliver to some fifty needy families perhaps the one and only joy which they will receive on Thanksgiving Day. Each of these needy families will receive a basket of food to serve as their Thanksgiving dinner. Perhaps no one can express the joy of the unfortunate families as they see a car pull up in front of their home and a helpful and generous student get out of the car to bring the basket of food to their front door. This to them is like a candle burning in the window to show them the way to safety, for they know as long as there are people like the teachers, advisers, and students of South Side, they will always have something to make the occasion a happy one.

Not New Idea

This idea of giving baskets of food to the needy in the vicinity of South Side who have children attending the high school is not a new one. Almost since the school has started the faculty and student body have cooperated and generously given baskets to those who are less fortunate than they. Each year a teacher is appointed to head the committee which makes the arrangements for the good deed. This year, as was the case last year, Mr. C. A. Bex, one of the sponsors of the Inter-City Congress, has charge of the details. He secures a list of all the needy families from Miss Pittenger and also the number of persons in the family and their ages. Then the homeroom teachers select a family, or several homes rooms go together on one basket, and then that home room is responsible for the family they choose.

Baskets Equally Proportioned

The day before Thanksgiving all the baskets are gathered together and are equally proportioned as to the number in the family. Sometimes one family has too much and another hasn't enough. Some of the goods are then taken from one basket and transferred to the other. In this manner all the families are given the proper amount. Mr. Bex stated, "There were some fifty families provided for and made happy last year by the students of South Side. This work is very worthwhile and I wish to compliment the students on the very fine way in which they gave so eagerly and generously to those who are less fortunate than themselves. No one really knows how much these families appreciate the service and how happy they are when they sit down to a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner and really have something to be thankful for."

Thanks For Contributions

We of the Times staff extend to you, who so generously contributed to your home room basket this year, our most whole-hearted thanks for your part in helping to make so many people happy.

In the picture, Les Baumgartner, Ken Iba, Bob Childers and Bob Racht are about ready to start out with a load.

Thanks For Everything!

If with a girl you chance to flirt, It's bound to get in this column of dirt. And if the girl flirts back at you, She'll probably get in this column, too.

Silly, but nevertheless it's a beginning for this week's roundup of nutty news! You've all heard of Venus, the armless wonder girl, haven't you? Well, if anyone sees her floating around this vicinity, don't phone heaven for an explanation! It seems that Jack Myers has fallen in love with this paragon of all women. He even shot Jupiter so that he could bring his lady love down to earth! All right, so Jack did read "Gods and Heroes." Bob Racht thinks Venus is a fine girl too, but he concludes that Mary Jane Jacot of North Side is a much better prospect.

Don't look now, girls, but Tom Brower seems hopelessly lost to Marilyn Loomis. This will be a jolt to all you gals who hoped to some day win his favor. But wait—don't pull the trigger yet—at least not as long as Pete Holzworth is footloose!

Tom Yates denies that he was ever interested in anything but mathematics, but I know better! Remember Jo Schaffer who left our fair city last spring? Then whom do you write all those letters to, Tom?

Ellen Metz had to hit upon a final decision between a North Sider, a Centralite, and Russel Butcher from South Side. By the process of elimination, Ellen found herself happily left with Russel.

Although Jim Worman's name has been linked with la belle Rogers, he has been casting frequent glances at Mary Cleland lately. The famous North Side hero, Bob Cowan, prefers the company of our little South Side heroine, Mary Ann Florence, to all others.

How thrilled we are when we're juniors at last! A lot of questions run through the mind of a sophomore and we'll gladly tell you about our very own:

First of all, the clubs come to our mind. Of course, we don't want to be in anything we were in last year. It has to be something that sounds grown up. Meterites, we were in that last year; GAA's too strenuous!

Times, that's too much work. Airplane Club meets at night, so it won't do. There's Philo, of course, and it sounds plenty grown up (for the girls). And what about Hi-Y for the boys? Now everyone is fixed up with a club. But are we admitted? That's another question.

After a tedious year as freshman and sophomores we begin to think about the social side of life at last. By now we can go to school dances and not feel out of place. But whom shall we take? Seniors are too old; sophomores are all too young; freshmen, definitely out. Guess we'll have to rely on our classmates. There's another problem settled.

The other side of our social life is the "after-school hang-out." Drug store number one doesn't have lemons, and no one goes to the place number two anymore. We'll have to end up at the third spot, which we don't like anyway.

The one thought which stands out in our minds is that of graduating. We look ever so wistfully at the graduating seniors, and wonder if we—but that's too much to hope for. Our class does wish, however, that someday (not too far away) it might come out in those "night-gowns and caps" with that "tattle-tale gray" tint. "Have courage, juniors," say we, "and you'll get there if you work real hard. The seniors were also juniors once upon a time, or were they!"

OUTSIDE Our WALLS

Throughout the country different high schools are participating in many activities. In Portland, Oregon, at Franklin High School, one of the many outstanding things done so far this year was the Community Chest drive. The school collected $77.67. The school also gave an opera to raise money.

At Fargo, North Dakota, a Hard Times dance was held. The theme was "Sadie Hawkins Day," one popularized by the Lil' Abner comic strip.

An annual nutrition week began October 28 at Castlemont High School in Oakland, California. It's plan was to raise money for under-privileged children. A dance was also held to help the money angle.

In Missoula, Montana, to raise money for the junior prom, the junior class sponsored "The Howards of Virginia." In addition, a barn dance besides the movie will be held to raise the necessary money.

At Spokane, Washington, a new field house was put into use. The cost was estimated to be around $16,000.

In Paterson, New Jersey, a half-day holiday was proclaimed for Lou Costello, nationally known comedian. Lou attended Patterson High School.

Warren Harding High School, Bridgeport, Conn., has many girls who are learning to become drum majorettes. There were thirty-six who enlisted. Evidently, the baton-twirling fad has swept the country, because in our own portals the fever has enticed many girls to try their skill.

Archers Like Sweet Or Swing These Days

Although the majority of high school students have been branded as notorious jitterbugs, we have statistics to prove that these students prefer slow, dreamy songs to boogie woogie. Such ballads as "I'll Never Smile Again" and "We Three" are among the favorites of South Side's popular music lovers.

The following people prove that their choice lies in soft and sweet songs because they answered thusly to the question, "What's your favorite popular tune?" as follows:

Everette Trulock: "I Could Make You Care."

Katherine Dinkel: "Crosstown". Mike Beall: "I'll Never Smile Again".

Alice Light: "We Three". Joe Loos: "Sweet Sue" with emphasis on the latter!

Bill Miller: "Celery Sticks at Midnight".

Larry Phipps: "Song of India", as played by the Rhythm Rascals.

Betty Harrison: "I'll Never Smile Again".

Arthur Wedler: "Compton Turnpike".

Kay Kuntz: "I'll Never Smile Again".

Fred Collins: "We Three".

Ernie Vogel: "Beat Me Patty Eight to a Bar".

Pat Seibel: "Campton Turnpike". Charles Wehmeyer: "Where Was I?" (Could it be at that blonde's house?)

Robert Wells: I like them all.

Jim Straley: "I Am An American".

Bob Racht: "Where Was I".

Jean Snider: "Old Kentucky Home".

Robert Worman: "Only Forever".

Rosalie Hall: "Only Forever".

Ed Kettler: "A Million Dreams Ago".

Al Schaaf: "After The Ball Is Over".

Bud Lampton: "Cecelia".

Mary Bowlby: "Stardust".

Tom Brower: "Tuxedo Junction".

Roy Heavner: "Compton Turnpike".

Green Pastures

Here are some of the things boys and girls like and don't like about the opposite sex in the opinion of some of our freshmen: Most girls like boys who—Are not last minute daters. Don't discuss other dates they've had. Let you talk sometimes and most times. Do not try too hard to make a good impression. Are neat in personal matters. Are good dancers. Are not sissies. Are not sarcastic. Aren't afraid to look at you. Confess frankly when they are broke. Are not always serious or always kidding.

Most boys like girls who—Are wide-awake, peppy and active. Don't use too much make-up. Can hold up their end of conversation. Don't expect a boy to spend a fortune on them. Don't call boys up all the time. Aren't glory-hunters—playing

Boys' Tagball Championship Teams Named

NOP's, Super Prunes, Dog-patchers Win In Heavy, Middle, Light Weights

Boys' Intramural Tagball Championships of the heavyweight, middleweight, and lightweight divisions have finally been decided. In the heavyweight division the champions are the NOP's; in the middleweight division the champions are the Super Prunes; and in the lightweight division, the champions are the Dogpatchers.

In the second and last round, the main contenders for the final game with the NOP's were the Packers and the Blitzkriegers. The first victim of the Packers' power were the Bulldogs, who were decisively outplayed with a score of 14 to 0. The second round found the Packers still powerful as they managed to beat the Nine Hares with a score of 7 to 6, and this victory put them against the Blitzkriegers to decide which team should play the NOP in the heavyweight championship of 1940.

Blitzkriegers Play RAF

In the first frame the Blitzkriegers played the RAF managing to beat them with the score sheet reading 8 to 7, and the next action for the Blitzkriegers was against the Packers, who very decidedly came out on top. The fast game between the Packers and the NOP ended with the NOP winning with a score of 15 to 3.

The championship game in the middleweight division, between the Super Prunes and the Easy Aces, who were the main contenders for the crown, was very close. The first victory for the Super Prunes was gained from the Easy Aces with a score of 9 to 6, the second victory was conceded to the Super Prunes by the Outlaws with the score reading 6 to 0.

The next game was one of the two games that would decide the championship between the Easy Aces and the Super Prunes. The first victory for the Easy Aces was gained from the Outlaws with a score of 7 to 6, and from that game the Easy Aces swiftly moved up to play the last two games deciding the championship. The first game was overwhelmingly in favor of the Easy Aces with the score board reading 25 to 0. The final game was very close and exciting, and the Super Prunes were conceded the championship with a score of 11 to 7.

Dogpatchers Beat Mixed Nuts

Because of the fact that only two teams were entered in the lightweight division, the action, which was between the Mixed Nuts and the Dogpatchers, was very quickly decided. There were two games played, both of which were given to the Dogpatchers. The score of the first game was 38 to 0, and the score of the second game was 13 to 0.

Tagball is one of the most popular of the intramural activities and there was a large and enthusiastic turnout for this sport; Mr. Louis Briner, head of the boys' intramural activities, was well pleased and he sincerely hopes to see an even larger number of tagball teams participate next year.

Bob Miller Has High Bowling Average, 146

Bob Miller, with an average of 146, has the highest score that has been registered so far, in the intramural practice bowling games. His scores are 170, 166, 156, 110, and 132. Last year Bob was champion of the lightweight division with an average of 157.

Other scores that have been entered in the office of the intramural sponsor, Mr. Louis Briner, are Gene Zumburum—112, 152, 172, 109, 110 and 183; Tom Deal—141, 121, 99 and 72; and Dick Morton—104 and 106.

Airplane Model Test To Be Held Tonight

An airplane contest will be held tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock in the gymnasium. The model planes will be of the same pattern, ROG, which stands for "rise of ground." The last record held in the gymnasium was 1:15 seconds. These contests are held every year in order to give the younger members of the Airplane Club a chance to participate in the contest.

Receives Bronze Pin

Sally Hobbs, 11B, received her bronze Time's pin last Friday after obtaining the required 1500 points. She has served as a news reporter, copy reader, copy editor, and is now a proofreader on The Times.

Intramural Sportlights

The first returns in the practice games which are preliminary to the bowling tournament, have been turned in. Bob Miller, last year's lightweight champion, looked very good on his first three games, bowling 170, 166, and 156; but his next two games fell far below par. However, Bob has an average of 147 for the five games. Bill Brandt, who came in fourth in the lightweight division last year, has an average of 133 for three games, compared with the 104 which was sufficient to give him fourth place last year.

Calvin Rose, the runner-up in the middleweight division in the last bowling tourney, stands a strong chance of gaining first in the heavyweight division this year. Calvin has bowled two games of 130. All of these games are practice and each boy will play twelve of these before the actual tourney begins.

All basketball and handball entries must be in by tonight. Both sports may be played either during the fifth period or after school.

It is necessary to have only one health card on file in the intramural office. This card can be secured from Mr. Briner. Take the card home and secure the signature of your parents. The school physician will give you a free examination; and if you pass, you may compete in all sports for the entire season.

If for some reason a team is unable to play on the day scheduled, the captain should see Mr. Briner and make arrangements for another date that will be satisfactory to both teams.

One thing that the intramural department will not tolerate is a person who signs up for a sport and then never shows up for participation. This should never be done, and if done more than once, may result in dismissal from all intramural activities. After all, you enter sports for the fun and physical good you get out of it; if you do not show up to play on the appointed day, you are not only cheating the other fellow, but also yourself.

C. C.'s Net Season To Open Saturday

Irish Will Depend On Veterans, Bob Heiny, Dick Krouse; Possible Starting Line-up Listed

The Irish of Central Catholic, having won two successive national cage titles, will definitely be in the national and state limelight this year. Last season the downtown netmen were led by big Ed Stanczyk and Eddie Klutz, while this year the Leickmen will depend upon veterans Bob Heiny and Dick Krouse to carry the scoring burden. Although the Irish do not have the height or weight advantage held by their championship predecessors, they are expected to display the same type of offensive as in the past. While the Catholics will engage many of the country's strong Catholic fives, they are pointing most earnestly for their three important city series clashes.

Coach John Leicki has not as yet formed any definite plans as to his starting line-up; however, five boys have looked outstanding in early practice drills. Dick Krouse and Jerry Dehner have looked especially good in the guard posts. Both of these lads saw action on the 1940 Catholic Champions, and the duo is regarded as a package of potential dynamite. Bob Walker, big Irish center, worked as understudy to Ed Stanczyk during the winning weeks of the last two campaigns; and he is depended upon to provide the great pivot work necessary to build a winning ball club.

Bob Heiny, veteran of two years of regular season and tournament competition, is counted upon to steady the Irish defense; however, as he demonstrated by his hot streak in the national finals, the big C. C. guard will also be capable of adding many valuable fielders.

Nullmen's Hopes Are To Win State

North Side's Basketball Team Will Have Six Tough Veterans; Schedule Listed Below

Just as it was Fort Wayne in '40 for South Side, North Siders have high and well-founded hopes that their veteran cagemen may this year reach the far-off state championship trail. It has been six years since North Side played in the fieldhouse, that appearance being an unsuccessful one due to a semi-final round loss to an underdog Martinsville five. Head Coach Bob Nulf and his assistant, George Nulf, have been awaiting this campaign with the feeling that this is North Side's turn at showing Indiana how Fort Wayne plays basketball.

Bob Cowan, one of Indiana's greatest prep footballers, will carry the burden of the Redskins' scoring punch; while Bob Young is expected to give the North Siders a staunch brand of defensive play. Also returning for action will be Byron Popp, Kay Short, Pat Barley, Wayne Hinga, and several other tough reserves. Among the good teams carded on the line-up, Wayne Hinga, unknown before tournament time last spring, has come along in great shape. The lanky footballer is one of the tallest Reds, yet he is speedy and capable of forming an important cog in the Redskins defensive. Byron Popp, another veteran of two seasons of play, will undoubtedly fill a forward post in the Indian scheme for 1940-41.

The North Siders are scheduled to open their attractive grind next week-end against a highly regarded five from the Indiana Masonic Home. Among the good teams carded on the Redskins season book are the state championship Hammond Tech Tigers and the Central High basketballers of Decatur, Illinois. Other important clashes will involve the big Reds with South Bend Washington, Hammond High School, Napanee, and Mishawaka. The Nullmen will test the Central Catholic Irish on January 10, while they are to meet the Archers and Tigers on two occasions during their 1940-41 activities.

Schedule Is Listed

Throughout the past seasons the 'hardwood' destinies have dealt brothers Bob and George Nulf a tough hand; however, it is generally conceded that if North Side is to win a state title, this is their one big chance. The North Side schedule follows:

November 30—Masonic Home, here.
December 6—Central.
December 7—South Bend Riley, here.
December 14—Hammond Tech, here.
December 20—Hammond Tech, here.
January 3—South Side.
January 4—Decatur, Illinois, here.
January 10—Central Catholic.
January 11—Nappanee, there.
January 18—Mishawaka, here.
January 21—Central.
January 31—South Side.
February 1—Auburn, here.
February 7—Decatur, Indiana, here.
February 8—Kendallville, there.
February 14—Bluffton, here.
February 15—South Bend Washington, there.
February 21—Huntington, there.

Girls' Sportsettes

Attention, all GAA'ers. The turnout for basketball has been great, so far. Let's keep it up.

Congratulations to Team 1 in period 4. Up to date they have won all of their basketball games by overwhelming majorities. Keep up the good work.

Have you seen the basketball whiz, Gloria Hardendorf, lately? She's really quite good. Her friends call her a "dead-eye Dick." She never misses! (Well, only once in a while.)

The race for the most points obtained in GAA is becoming a close battle. At the present time Jeanne Smith is leading with Bernadine Bender and Bernadine Pressler close behind. The girl who finishes with the most points will get her name engraved on the GAA plaque. Good luck to all three of the girls.

Congratulations to the senior GAA-ers, especially "Nibs" Martin, "Fran" Nash, and Jeanne Smith, for their excellent basketball playing. They should start a school for future basketball stars.

Orchids to all of the student leaders for doing such a good job of refereeing in the gym classes and in GAA. We really have a grand group of girls this year.

Since bowling has been added to the list of GAA sports, let's see some of you girls go out for it. One point is to be given for participating in each game. To receive the points you must have another GAA member with you. Fifty points may be earned each semester.

Congratulations go to Irene Meyer for contributing six of her team's eleven points at GAA. More power to you, Irene.

Now that the season's basketball tickets will soon be on sale, I hope that all of our faithful members of GAA will buy one. Our basketball team will be able to play better if they have a good cheering section behind them. So come on, girls, and get your tickets soon.

This column is going to have an election each week to determine the outstanding girl athlete of that week; so note for your favorite, and put your votes in the green box in the gym office.

What's the matter with Team 1 in period 6? It seems that they went to the shower room before their game was even over, and therefore they had to forfeit the game. Shame on you, girls! What's your excuse?

We want to commend Julia Kaser on her wonderful ability in both playing and refereeing basketball. Just watch her some GAA night. She dumps the balls in right and left. Nice going, Judy.

These GAA'ers certainly have been laying down on the job. Only thirty hikes have been taken so far this semester. Can't we do better than that?

Since the addition of the two new teachers, Mr. Wayne Gift and Mr. Francis Fay, at South Side this year, their pictures have also been added to Miss Dean's Rogue's Gallery. She really has quite a collection now, thirty, to be exact.

Tiger Net Games Will Begin Friday

Blue Bengals Hope To Upset Archers, Redskins; Four Veterans Are On Central's Team

"Central's Tigers are once more on the victory path." This cry has been heard coming from the fans of the down-town institution ever since the Bengals began their practice drill for the coming season. With eight capable netmen from which to form one of the toughest fives ever to play under the blue and white, Coach Murray Mendenhall is speeding plans to have a well drilled squad when the Tigers open their basket war on Friday night.

During the years of 1939 and 1940, the Bengals had little luck against the high riding cagers from South Side and North Side. These same two schools will be sore spots in the 1941 set-up; however, the Tigers have high hopes of spoiling the title hopes of the Archers and Redskins. The Mendenhallmen made trips to the Butler Fieldhouse in 1927 and 1937, each time failing to bring home the coveted championship trophies. This year the Tigers sense again the title path; and with enthusiasm running high at Central, this may be the year.

Veterans Listed

Returning from last year's fine team are such dependable stand-bys as Dick Tackett, Horace Talley, Jim Miller, and Russ Wilkin. These four veterans average well over the six-foot mark in height, and they are all well over 170 pounds in weight. Dick Tackett was a good center last season and this year he is counted upon to furnish the Bengals with the same spirit that carried good Central fives to state winners banner years. Miller and Wilkin are both varsity footballers who can be depended upon to add plenty of scrap to the cage battles. Horace Talley, big colored guard, has been a Central mainstay for the past two campaigns.

Others Named

In addition to these returning varsity players, Coaches Mendenhall and Doynte are also depending on Red Sisko, Don Rice, John Leon, and Charley Stanski to carry a large amount of the scoring burden. Although no definite plays or form of attack have been worked out, the Central mentors are expected to again employ the fire-wagon type of basketball. The Central schedule is below:

November 22—Central of South Bend, here.
November 26—Muncie Central, there.
December 6—North Side.
December 13—Columbia City, there.
December 14—Central Catholic.
December 20—Decatur Central, there.
January 3—Hartford City, there.
January 4—Auburn, here.
January 10—Decatur, here.
January 11—Whiting, here.
January 15—South Side.
January 21—Huntington, here.
January 24—North Side.
January 25—Hammond, there.
February 1—Washington, here.
February 4—Elkhart, here.
February 8—South Side.
February 15—Kendallville, there.
February 21—Marion, there.

"Basketball Team'll Again Be Champs," State Archer Fans

If advanced optimism of the fans may be counted as a criterion to the outcome of the Archer basketball season, the Friddlemen should again be among the select four teams to enter the Butler Fieldhouse on March 30. It is a far cry from the opening game of a tough twenty-game card to the state finals; however, Kelly fandom seems confident that Friddlemen will again enjoy a season in the state hardwood limelight.

Most persons are agreed that if Burl Friddle can have as successful a season on the court as Wayne Gift enjoyed in his first year on the gridiron, the season may be counted as a successful one. Here is a cross section of the opinions of the most ardent basketball fans concerning the chances for the coming year.

Bob Holzworth:—The Archers will again be the number one team.

Ken Breimeier:—Our team is going to be hard to beat. They may lose a few tough games, but I think the year should be as successful as any in the past.

Betty Bireley:—The team should be one of the best. I think they'll repeat the surprise championship of 1938.

Marilyn Sondles:—Naturally, the Archers will again be tops.

Mary Condrey:—Although North Side and Central have good teams returning, the South Side team will be better.

Mary Wallace:—The Archers will beat any team that challenges our supremacy.

Bill Vanderford:—The schedule is a tough one, but the team is tough. The Archers will be right up among the state's finest teams.

Elaine Helms:—If Mr. Friddle has as much success as Wayne Gift did, the Archers will have a banner year.

Extemp Contest Will Continue For Two Days

Will Be Held On Wednesday, Thursday; Winner's Name Will Be Engraved On Cup

Dates for the South Side extemp contest are next Wednesday and Thursday, November 27 and 28, as announced by Mrs. Dorothy Benner Riecke, public speaking teacher, last Friday. The three subjects for the contest are posted in Room 190. Anyone who wishes to participate is to sign in Room 190 today.

Contests will consist of five-minute constructive speeches and three-minute rebuttals.

An admission of ten cents will be charged for the finals which are scheduled for the second period on Thursday, November 28. Students attending will be excused from their second hour classes.

Winners of this contest will compete in the city extemp contest in June, and their names will be placed on the McAlister Trophy.

So-Si-Y Club Gains Twenty-One Girls

Initiation Takes Place During Candle-Light Service; Officers Are In Charge Of Ceremony

During a candle-light service, twenty-one new members were initiated into So-Si-Y Tuesday in the Greeley Room. Officers of the group had charge of the ceremonies. These are: Bernadine Bender, president; Marjorie Voltz, vice-president; Martha Thomas, secretary; Alice Volmerding, treasurer; Gertrude Markel, Inter-Club Congress representative; Marguerite Calkins, musical chairman; Marjorie Gerding, social chairman; LaVerne Greiner, membership; Romayne Rediger, service chairman; and Louisa Haug, publicity chairman.

The initiates included Wanda Bowman, Bernadine Pressler, Irene Franke, Evelyn Hegerfeld, Wilma Kellogg, Mary Brinker, Joan Druhot, Mary Lou Baker, Audrey Longworth, Margaret Kienzie, Elaine Boerger, Etheldrea Behling, Maxine Goers, Peggy Low, Berning, Virginia Armitson, Betty Kammeyer, Thelma Draper, Helen Frost, Louisa Haug, Betty Littlefield, and Janice Ebert.

Since the week of November 17 to 23 is Prayer Week, the club's devotion consisted of two prayers. Hymns were sung in connection with the prayers.

Betty Horstmeyer, chairman, assisted by Betty Jean Hawk, Katherine Zaegel, Annabelle Harrod, Naomi Rinewald, Audrey Longworth, Ethel Loy, Betty Porter and Jeanette Whetzel had charge of meeting.

The committee in charge of refreshments were Marjorie Gerding, chairman, Betty Horstmeyer, Louise Bueshing, Lois Holtzworth, and Dorothy Saalfank.

Benefits Of Grooming Is Theme Of Contest

The Toilet Requisites of New York City is sponsoring its annual Good Grooming Letter Contest for college, high school girls and members of any girls' club which has good grooming as an essential part of its program.

Six prizes will be awarded, three to winners in the college group and three to winners in the high school group.

The letters are to deal with any phase of the subject, "What Good Grooming Means to Me," its effect upon poise and personality, and how it can help girls in their future business, social, and home life. They should range in length from 100 to 500 words. The editors of "Beauty Fashion" will decide the winners and their opinions will be final.

PTA Topic Will Be South American Plan

"Our South American Policy" will be the topic of discussion of the P-T-A evening forum, which will be held next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Walter Turner will be the discussion leader.

Mr. Wilburn Wilson, Social Science instructor, ran movies of South America, which showed the industries of that country at the last meeting.

Betty MacKay Is South Side's Number One Business Woman

Betty MacKay Is Pictured Working In Her Home Bakery

Nothing to do and a whole summer to do it in was Betty MacKay's general outlook on life last June for the summer ahead of her. She wanted new clothes and some extra money, and so she began thinking how she could raise it. She had always been praised for her baked goods and had spent a lot of time in the kitchen making pies, cakes, and cookies, so she decided to run a bake shop.

She sent out cards with the list of her baked goods and prices. Her brothers typed the lists for her. She sent them out to ten of her friends and shortly afterwards orders began to come in. Her list of customers grew until she was swamped with orders. Betty expects to keep her bakery up through the winter. She delivers her goods on a bicycle to her customers on the south side of town, and the people out north usually come after their own. On her deliveries she has gone approximately four hundred and fifty miles.

Made Over One Hundred Dollars
She has made over a hundred dollars during the four months she has been in business. Most of it has been spent on clothes, a college fund, and the containers she needs for the store. She is able to get them at wholesale prices thus lowering the customer rates.

Betty keeps all her sales slips and tries to keep her records as simply as possible. She thinks that angel food

Pupils, Please Don't Place Chewing Gum On Cafeteria Trays

Did you ever, when washing dishes, find a nice, little gooey wad of gum stuck firmly on the edge of a plate or piece of silver? And remember the hard time you had getting it off? Miss Lucy Melien, who is in charge of the cafeteria, is calling the attention of the patrons of the cafeteria to the bad habit of putting gum under the trays and on silverware. Her request follows:

"Please—Will those who eat in the cafeteria or in any public place please not stick or leave gum on trays or silverware? This slime by gets in the hot dishwasher and is most difficult to get off.

"Not only is such practice unsanitary, but thoughtless and discourteous. The cafeteria does not want to take the blame for a guest's possible unpleasant experience in getting hold of a 'gummed-up tray' when it is another person's fault."

New Wranglers Present Program

Marjorie Reithmiller Is Mistress Of Ceremonies; Quiz And An Amateur Program Featured

New freshman and sophomore members of Wranglers Club presented the Thanksgiving program last Monday in the Greeley Room. Marjorie Reithmiller acted as mistress of ceremonies.

Mike Beall started the program with a speech of welcome to the new members after which Jack Stark gave the response in behalf of the freshmen and sophomores. A quiz program was given, for which Austin Gardner was questioner. John Mast, Stanley Trier, Mary Louise McNabb, and Janet Rea answered questions.

After the quiz, an amateur hour was presented with music furnished by Frederick Smith, Bob Sheldon, Mary Ann Duemling, and Charles Hoke. Jack Rollins and Mildred Babcock furnished songs.

Warren Lotz was in charge of a game of "Truth or Consequences," and upperclassmen Wrangler members answered questions or performed the consequences.

Katharine Scholer gave the concluding speech, "Why I Am Grateful to Be an American."

Wranglers Oratorical Declamation Contest is scheduled for December 16, and is open to all freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Students Should See Why Health Cards Are Required Now

"Gee whiz! I wonder why they give us these health cards anyway? I just can't see how our health concerns the school." This opinion was voiced by many a student as he received his health card last week. If those students who "just don't get the point" will stop to consider for a moment, they will find that this health check-up is one of important considerations.

In the first place it encourages people who haven't been to the doctor for several years, either because they were rather frightened for fear something might really be wrong with them, or because they "never have known a sick day," to visit their family physician and get a thorough check-up. Many times the going-over reveals some disease or malformation which could someday cause a serious illness or inconvenience.

Secondly, this health program directly benefits and protects the health of the students. Suppose some person, who might be sitting right next to you in a class, had a serious infectious disease, or be a carrier, and either by direct physical contact or by a cough or sneeze would spread the disease to you. Now wouldn't it be worth the time if you knew that your next door neighbor in a classroom was fit and healthy?

Thirdly, a physical examination might reveal some minor ailment which would, in later life, grow into quite a hindrance or even be the cause of a costly operation. Naturally the school physician could not possibly check over every boy and girl attending South Side with any degree of thoroughness and minor defects might be overlooked; therefore, the family doctor should be the one to give the examination for he has the case history of the student and can better tell if there is anything wrong.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Dorothy Meyer, James Minser, Don Clifton, Charlotte Baker, and Jean Fisher placed high on a verbal test given by Mr. Cook to his English 2, period 6 class.

During home room period today, Mr. Beal's senior Home Room 44 will see a moving picture in the Greeley Room. This picture is on the South Side and Central Catholic football game, which was taken by Dick Theye.

Robert Young, Frank DeWaldt, and John Bonisb 88 or above on a Government 1 test given by Mr. Wilson.

Miss Kiefer's English 7 classes have been trying to write sonnets. Good ones have been written by Ivan Truman, Albert Schaff, Louis Hallenstein, Janet Anderson, Reba Coopock, Elaine Hirsch, Jeanne Smith, Dick Gallmeyer, and Gertrude Merkel.

The first three freshman students of Miss Rehstor who have completed their first sewing project are Nancy Brudi, who made a blue wool skirt; Barbara Leas, who made a blue wool skirt; and Phyllis Blumke, who made a blouse.

Those making the highest grades in a test on Heating the Atmosphere given by Mr. Whelan to his Physical Geography 2 classes, are, period 2, Betty Jean Kore, Betty Leis, Janet Redding; period 4, Gloria Beverforden, Aneda Hageman, Dick Lehman; period 7, Kathleen Craig, Doris Ontario, Norma Russel.

English 6, period 4 students, of Miss Pocock are studying Vachel Lindsay's poem, "The Santa Fe Trail." In connection with this, they heard English department's records "Cong," "The Moon's the North Wind's Cooky," and "Mysterious Cat."

Phyllis Lauer scored 100 on a test given on pronouns by Miss Perkins to her French 3, period 2 class. Other who lead above 90 are Alice Hall, Mary Bowley, Katherine Kuntz, Laverne Michelfelder, Martha Jean Smith, Myla Landis, Harriet Greer, Clarence Freeman, Eleanor Christ, Delores Daniels, Constance Harrison, and Emelyn Remmel.

On a test given by Mr. Yoder to his Biology 1 class, period 5, the highest grades were made by Betty Hocker, Mary Mallers, Mary Morningstar, and Doris Pape.

Dr. Ting Su Will Lecture December 3

Chinese Speaker To Address Archers Tuesday Morning On Oriental Ways Of Life

Assembly To Be Presented In Gym

"School Life In China, Promotion Of World Citizenship Among Youth", Topic

To enable high school students to better understand Chinese culture and society, as well as the Far East situation, Dr. Ting Su, Chinese lecturer, will address South Side students next Tuesday morning in the gymnasium. The topic of his speech is "The School Life in China and the Promotion of World Citizenship Among Youth".

Dr. Su, although born in China, is educated in western ways. He has attended both Indiana and Columbia University and was a high school principal in China for several years. For three years he was assistant professor at Peiping National Normal University. At the present time he is research assistant at Indiana University.

Since Dr. Su's home is now in Japanese occupied territory he is well informed as to what is happening in that section of China.

Attended American Schools

Dr. Su was a very active student leader in his high school and university periods. As a tourist and lecturer, Dr. Su has spoken to many service clubs, women's organizations, churches, high schools, and universities in the United States on various subjects about China. He has been highly recommended as a speaker and has received enthusiastic praise from American newspapers.

Gives Many Lectures

Dr. Su has lectured at the National Education Association conventions at New York and Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Indiana University; Indiana State Legion convention at Bloomington; high schools of Gary and Corydon, Indiana; Rotary Clubs of Bloomington, Indiana; Louisville, Kentucky; and of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania; Lions Clubs of Bloomington and Gary, Indiana; the Terre Haute Exchange Club; Terre Haute, Indiana; and several churches, and women's clubs of Indiana.

Forty Five Initiated Into Meterite Club

P. Dietrich, J. Chenoweth, M. Moellering, M. Current, R. Vogel Welcome New Members

About forty-five girls were initiated into the Meterite Club Tuesday in the Greeley Room. Patty Dietrich served as chairman of the initiation committee. The other members were Mary Current, Martha Moellering, Rose Marie Vogel, and Jane Chenoweth. Mary Current had charge of the first degree, and Martha Moellering and Pat Dietrich had charge of the second and third degrees.

The girls who were initiated are: LaBailey, Mary Dayton, Ann Puff, Betts, Jacqueline Bock, Phyllis Bunk, Joan Carman, Virginia Coil, Adeline Carto, Phyllis Crabbill, Martha Davenport, June DeWoud, Mary Anne Duemling, Jean Fisher, Ruth Gold, Martha Harry, Mary Harry, Patty Hocker, Phyllis Hubart, Phyllis Jackson, Margaret Kuntz, Mary Mallers, Dorothy Meyer, Doris Papp, Mouglin, Peggy Needham, Glessa Oppenlander, Doris Papp, Ruth Porter, and Marilyn Ream.

Literature To Be Camenean Theme

Wilma Lageman To Be Chairman; Committee To Meet To Choose New Officers' Electors

Literature will be the theme of the Camenean Club meeting Tuesday, December 10. Wilma Lageman is chairman. Those assisting her are Laura Nahrwald, Elaine Goette, and Betty Medsker.

A representative of each class and the present officers will have a meeting to select electors for next semester's officers. Elnalyn Remmel will represent the senior class members; Joan Thomas, junior; Suzanne Roebel, sophomore; and Barbara Ruppert, freshman class members. The present officers are Miriam Roebel, president; Phyllis Lauer, vice-president; Marilyn Dennis, secretary; Arleen Reinke, treasurer; and Louisa Haugk, Inter-Club Congress representative.

At the last meeting of Camenean Club a definite plan was given for the initiation of new members. The refreshment committee presented its plan for arranging and purchasing the refreshments for each meeting.

Since the theme of the last meeting was to teach the girls how to lead games at parties several games were played. An introductory speech was given by Reba Copcock, chairman of the meeting, after which Lilia Kaiser led the game of Magic Wand; Kathryn Eipper, a game of motions; and Nancy Hess led the game of Charades. Apples were served as refreshments.

"Condition Is Good," Says Mayo Surgeon About Miss Harvey

"Operation over. Condition good. More later." This is an excerpt from a telegram forwarded to The Times, from Mrs. Vivian Crates Logan, woman's editor of the News-Sentinel, concerning Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser of The Times, who is now at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, Minnesota. This message was sent last Tuesday morning by Miss Harvey's surgeon immediately after a major operation was performed at 9 o'clock.

Miss Harvey left for Mayo's Clinic last Friday and will return to South Side the first of next January. After four weeks at Mayo's, Miss Harvey expects to fly to Florida, where she will stay at Surfside Hotel, Miami Beach. Following a brief recuperation of one or two weeks, she will return to South Side to resume her duties. During her absence Eleanor Vesey, graduate of '39, is assisting the staff members of The Times.

This is the first time in eighteen years during her stay here that Miss Harvey has been absent for more than two weeks at a time.

Service Potluck Is Supper For Santa

Affair To Be Held In Cafeteria Next Tuesday; Mr. Ora Davis Will Speak On James Riley

"Santa's Supper" is the theme of Service Club's Potluck which is to be held next Tuesday at 5:30 o'clock in the cafeteria. Mr. Flint is in charge of the potluck. Those coaching are Janet Holtmeyer and Ralph Herby. The decorations will be carried out in a typical Yuletide effect.

Those assisting on the various committees are as follows: Menu, Eileen Hornmann, Bernadine Bender, Wilma Lageman, Rosemary Spore; decoration, Marjorie Dyer, Rosella Foutz, Margaret Browne, Lester Oppenlander; invitation, Eleanor Kensler, Helen Savage, Virginia Thompson.

The guest speaker will be Mr. Ora Davis who will give a talk on James Whitcomb Riley. Other entertainment will be furnished by accordion duets by Irene Franke and Thelma Draper and imitations of barnyard animals by Lester Budd.

Kelly Rifle Team Wins Mail Match

Joe Bekius Is High Scorer With 184; Shoot With Boys' Club From Far Rockaway, N. Y.

South Side's Boys' Rifle Team defeated Far Rockaway Boys' Rifle Club in New York. The match consisted of ten shots prone and ten shots standing. Joe Bekius scored 184, Dick Myers, 182; Edmund Bauer, 177; Dick Hornberger, 170; and Dick Theye, 170. The total score being 887.

Five other boys shot scores on this team for alternates for the match. Richard Brintzenhofs scored 158 and Norman Karbach scored 156. Art Puff shot 139 while Everett Trulove scored 135. Clifford Springer came in low with 128.

The reserve team also fired a prone match and won by forfeit. Gene Zubrun was high with 98. ## Christmas Seal Originated Not In America But In Denmark By Einar Holboell, 1903

Idea Begun In United States By Jacob Riis Of New York; First Sale Made In 1907

This Christmas you will undoubtedly receive Christmas greeting cards from some friends or relatives. To seal the letter is a small stamp about the size of a regular United States postage stamp, bearing a crimson double-barred cross. Now you all know that this is a Christmas seal, but perhaps you don't know that the original Christmas seal did not originate in America but in Denmark.

Developed By Dane

Einar Holboell, a Danish postal clerk, who worked in Copenhagen post office, conceived the idea of building a hospital for tuberculous children that could be supported by the rich and poor alike by having each letter carry a small penny stamp of the season's greetings. His plan worked and was approved by the postal authorities and sanctioned by the royal family. This took place in the year 1903. In 1904, the very next Christmas, the Danish people built the hospital through their generous response to the first nationwide Christmas seal sale for a philanthropic purpose.

The idea of the seal was first introduced into the United States by Jacob Riis, of New York, when he wrote an article endorsing the idea of tuberculosis seals.

When in the fall of 1907, Miss Emily P. Bissell, the director of a small open-air shack on the Brandywine River for the care of tubercular children, read the article by Mr. Riis, she decided it would be a good way to raise money for the sanitarium in debt and needed repairs badly. She contacted Mr. Riis and learned in greater detail about the subject, for she was determined that the operation hospital would be close. She then designed a Christmas seal and borrowed $40 to pay for the printing

French Rifle Club To Give Skate Soon

December 6 at Bell's Rink has been set as the date and place for French and Girls' Rifle Club's skate. Attendance prizes will be given. Charlene McAtee is in charge of the tickets. Miss Olive Perkins is sponsor of French Club, and Miss Rosemary DeLancy, of Girls' Rifle Club.

Grades Are Vitrally Important Whether You Like It Or Not

Have you ever stopped to think what the most important thing concerning school is? Some say teachers, others say books, a few more say girls, and still others say boys. But do any say grades? No, of course not! Students just don't think of such trivial matters until it's too late. A poll recently taken among the students has various ideas concerning these little things called grades. Below are the opinions your reporter has collected.

Helen Brindle: I like A's and B's, but of course it'd be nice if we didn't have to have any grades at all.

Pat Towns: We should have grades; and I think the A, B, C system is better than the number system.

Shirley Watts: I don't like the A, B, C system. I think we should be graded by numbers; it's more definite.

Grace Towns: The grading by numbers is more accurate.

Bob Wylie: I can't express myself; I get too mad.

Carol Treney: If we have to have grades, we should have A's and B's. (My, wouldn't that be nice?)

Earl Sweeney: It's the rottenest truth.

"Marge" Dyer: When grades demolish, education will flourish.

Clifford Matson: Oh, yes, grades! They're the little things that cause a lot of embarrassment. (Don't tell me you get in the dog house when you're a grade lower.)

Kathryn Guild: Before you get them you're scared; after you get them you're depressed.

Paul Kiel: I think grades are all right.

Al Verweire: Oh, they're O. K. (Such enthusiasm!)

Mrs. A. T. Keene Is Philo's Speaker

Club Guest Reviews "The White Cliffs"; Potluck Followed By Play Will Be Held December 9

Mrs. Archie T. Keene reviewed the book, "The White Cliffs," written by Alice Duer Miller, at Philo's meeting in the Greeley Room last Monday. This story was written in poetry form and tells of an American girl who married an Englishman. The poem relates her experience in England and tells how the American girl came to the conclusion that life is worth living as long as there is an England in the world. She proved this point to herself when, after her husband had been killed in the World War, she was still glad to send her son away to war. Mrs. Keene presented the review in prose form, but during the review gave several beautiful selections from the poem.

Philo's next meeting will be held on December 9 in the form of a potluck at 5 o'clock. Thespians will present a play after the potluck. Fave Gunter is chairman of the potluck. Assisting her are Frances Nade, Ruth Dauner, Suzanne Roebel, and Helen Savage. Philo members are to sign in Room 68 for the potluck.

Philo's annual skate date is set for January 11 at Bell's Rink. Hilda Schubert is general chairman of the skate. The ticket committee consists of Janice Tremper, chairman; Lois Craig, Rosemary Ziegler, Maxine Case, and Virginia Hill. Alida Eidner is chairman of the favors committee. Assisting her are Mary Carlo, Caroline McNabb, Margaret Kienzie, Charlotte DuWan, Mary Nell Spiegel, Gloria Staley, Carol Treney, Joan Carwright, Ruth Werkman, and Ruth Carr. The prize committee is composed of Ruth Ann Stiegler and Holly Ruppert.

Buy Tuberculosis Seals, Save A Life; TB Kills One Hundred Seventy-five Persons Daily

On the morning of December 9, 1907, the first Christmas seal sale in America opened in the corridor of the Wilmington post office, with the result that it was a great success. Miss Bissell had needed $300 to save the hospital, but she had $3,000 at the end of campaign. The sale of Christmas seals became nation-wide and the people of the United States were quick to take up the fight against the dreaded disease, and in the year 1908 there were $135,000 raised. Since then more and more seals have been sold each year; and, although tuberculosis is not fully under control, great progress has been made in caring for those who are afflicted with it and also in preventing its spread.

But although it is gradually dying out, remember that tuberculosis still kills on an average 175 persons each day in this country, and also that more than a half million people still are sick with tuberculosis. At this moment approximately 150,000 persons in this country are developing tuberculosis and do not know it. Therefore, when you are asked to buy some Christmas seals don't hesitate to do so, even if you have only a few cents to give, for that few cents added to others may save a life or prevent someone from spending many years in pain.

Seven Seniors Given Honors In Quill, Scroll

Members Chosen Are Workers On Times, Totem Staff; Belong To January Class

Rebecca Abbott, James Brooks, Robert Brooks, Marjorie Dyer, Jo Frosh, Joel Salton, and Marjorie Sheldon are the seven members of the January graduating class chosen for membership in the National Quill and Scroll Society, it was announced by Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser of The Times and Totem.

These members are chosen each semester from the members of the senior class.

The four qualifications for membership in this society are as follows: The student must be a senior; he must be in the upper third of his class scholastically; he must have rendered at least one year of outstanding work or several years of faithful work on The Times or Totem staff; and he must be a consistently good worker.

Positions held by this semester's group of Quill and Scroll members are as follows: Rebecca Abbott, assistant circulation manager of The Times; James Brooks, freshman editor of The Totem; Robert Brooks, senior manager of The Totem; Marjorie Dyer, staff cartoonist; Jo Frosh, Salton, business manager of The Totem; and Marjorie Sheldon, general manager of The Times.

English Teachers Attend Convention

Misses Mary Pocock, Elizabeth Kelly, Lucy Osborne Go To Chicago National Conference

Chicago was the destination of the Misses Elizabeth Kelly, Lucy Osborne and Mary Pocock last week. They attended the National Conference of English Teachers, held Friday and Saturday at the Stevens Hotel.

The program consisted primarily of round-table discussions and lectures. Two of the most interesting of the conference were the luncheon on Saturday afternoon and the banquet on Saturday night. At the luncheon Louis Bromfield, famous novelist; Ken McCormick, editor, and Mark VanDoren, Pulitzer Prize poet, gave interesting speeches.

Elizabeth Page told how her novel, "The Tree of Liberty," developed, and Frank Oursler, editor of Liberty Magazine, spoke at the evening banquet.

During a special group luncheon on Friday, David Ithun spoke on the uses of drama. At the same luncheon a group of high school students from Milwaukee gave a demonstration on how English, speech and drama are correlated.

So-Si-Y Club To Hear Radio Skits Tuesday

Skit in form of Radio Dramalogue will be given at the So-Si-Y meeting Tuesday in the Greeley Room. It is based on actual case records of the American Red Cross. Mrs. Lucille Linebeck of the local Red Cross chapter, wrote the skit.

Betty Nichols will tell about the history of the Red Cross. A summary of the services of the Red Cross will be given by Lois Holzworth. Constance Hirschy will have charge of the devotionals.

Constance Hirschy, chairman, is being assisted by Virginia Ormiston, Arleen Reinke, Lois Holzworth, June Shupe, Betty Thiele, Betty Nicholas, and Janice Ebert.

Ping-Pong Champion To Give Exhibition

Mr. Jimmy McClure, the exceptional singles champion in ping-pong, from Indianapolis, will feature an exhibition on December 12 in the South Side gym the seventh period. GAA will have charge of the tickets, which will be sold at the price of 10 cents. Mr. McClure will also lead a discussion in the afternoon for those who are interested.

Extemp Finals Will Be Today Second Period

Winners To Compete In City Contest In June; Names To Be On McAlister Cup

First place winners in the annual Extemp Contest will compete in the city contest during the second period in the Greeley Room. The list of the semi-final winners, determined yesterday, has been posted on the bulletin board in the front hall by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, speech instructor.

Subjects for the contest were drawn Tuesday night immediately after school, and those competing spoke yesterday. The subjects are: "Should the United States give full aid to Britain short of sending armed forces?" "In case of war, should wealth be conscripted as well as men?" and "Should the United States impose a complete embargo upon Japan?"

All students planning to attend the finals today should go directly to the Greeley Room at the close of the first period. They will be excused from their second period classes. An admission of ten cents is being charged. First, second, and third place winners will be honored at Wranglers' banquet. The final winners of this contest will compete in the city extemp contest in June, and their names will be placed on the McAlister Trophy.

Chairmen, Contestants Named

Chairmen for contests yesterday are as follows: First period, Jack Hornberger; second period, Frank Thompson; third period, Becky Abbott; fourth period, Ruth Cyr; fifth period, John Warner.

What Do Archers Think Traditional, Symbolic Of School

At the New York World's Fair a capsule which contained the many things that symbolize the way the people of today live was placed in the cornerstone of a building. This capsule was placed there so that centuries from now people of the future would have a vivid view of how we lived in 1940. If South Side were to do much the same thing, what would we put in this capsule to symbolize our school? Here are a few answers to the above question:

Mary Cleland: I think that the speech trophies would symbolize South Side.

Betty Schweikhart: A basketball of course.

Evelyn Arnold: Awards and certificates in the Times room.

Jeanne Seidel: Specimens of art work and the various school books.

Lola Rodriguez: The mouse in the front hall.

Mary Jo Sites: Statues in the library.

Jane Chenoweth: A pink slip.

Dorothy Cooper: The new band uniforms.

Mary Current: A basketball.

Western Theme To Be Carried Out With Singing, Dancing, Entertainment

Admission Price To Be Fifty Cents

Head Foremen Are Miss Hazel Miller, Lloyd Whelan; Officers Are Assistants

Gay western costumes, songs, dances and other forms of entertainment will be combined to form an entertaining evening tonight at 6:30 in the cafeteria when the annual junior class banquet will be held in the form of a "Junior Roundup." Price of admission is fifty cents per person.

Times, Northernner Give Joint Potluck

Staffs Honor Miss Rowena Harvey, Adviser; Bob Robinson Heads After-Dinner Program

In honor of Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser of The Times and The Northernner, who left last Friday for the St. Mary's Hospital in Rochester, Minnesota, the staffs of the two papers held a combined potluck on November 18 in the cafeteria.

Bob Robinson had charge of the meeting held after the potluck. Fama North of the Northernner represented his publication by presenting a program for Miss Harvey. Speakers at the meeting were Miss Harvey; Eleanor Vesey, who is assisting The Times staff until Miss Harvey returns; Marge Sheldon and Vivian Crates Logan.

At the meeting, Miss Harvey announced several staff changes. Louis Hallenstein was placed on the copy staff, and Mary Ellen Barrett was appointed editor of the editorial page. Virginia Gray was placed on the business staff. Karl Eberly was named feature editor. It was also announced that Mrs. Logan has been made woman's editor of the Milwaukee Journal, one of the largest daily newspapers in the United States. At the close of the meeting The Northernner presented Miss Harvey a gift and the entire group sang a song in which they wished her good luck and a quick return.

Tuberculosis Sunday Will Be December 1

Health Sunday, formerly called Tuberculosis Sunday, will be December 1. On this day all ministers will announce from their pulpits the opening of the Christmas Seal Sale. They are asked to urge people to assist in the cause of Tuberculosis by being generous in purchasing seals and giving to the Christmas Seal Sale.

Buy Ducats Now; Support Our Team

R-R-Rah! R-R-Rah! R-R-Rah! At Kendallville this week end, that opener will signal not only the start of another basketball game, but also the beginning of a new season. The team possibly may not win the State Championship this year, but it is certain to have a most successful season. We might go far in expounding the merits of South Side teams in order to convince you that you should buy a ticket, but that is not necessary. The record speaks for itself. A school's basketball squads are not consistently superlative for a number of years, and then suddenly poor in another year.

Perhaps it is true that we did lose several fine ball players last June, but we still have the nucleus of a great team. There is no reason that any student should refuse to buy a ticket, saying, "I don't believe that we will have a good team, so what is the use of buying a ticket?" The team WILL be good, if you hold up your end of the job.

It's your duty to support the basketball squad as much as it is to support the Times or Totem. In past seasons the income from basketball games has been great enough to offset the losses in other divisions of the athletic department, such as football and track.

If we fail to buy a sufficient number of tickets, the whole athletic department will suffer.

Don't let your team down, students; if we're going to win a championship, we must give the team a little moral support. For two small dollars you can purchase your way into ten of the finest games of basketball that you can see anywhere in the state. That's only twenty cents a game. You can't afford to miss such an opportunity.

Walk, Sheep, Walk, Never Run

"Hey, off my toes, lug!" "O, my books" "Get that pencil out of my back." To the tune of such threats and complaints, together with various assorted moans and groans, we stumble and shove from class to class. Amid great confusion we take dangerously near to all of our allotted five minutes, merely to go the length of one hall. If somebody should be unlucky enough to drop his books, he must resist an avalanche while he picks up scattered texts and papers. At times there occur traffic jams—especially outside the locker rooms—which are so thick as to entirely stall movement in the hall for a minute or two.

Although these situations are very common, they are easy to correct. While there is a traffic mess in one hall, another hall may be almost empty. It would be well if students were to use these less crowded corridors. Even though a commonly congested way is closer to a student's destination, he probably would save time and energy by going the longer but less crowded route. Pupils can notice for themselves which corridors seem to be the clearest at certain periods, and pass through them accordingly.

Running and hurrying are also faults which can easily be remedied. There is plenty of time to move from one end of the school to the other if the students move in an orderly fashion. But if someone runs, he knocks the books out of someone's hands; and the consequent confusion causes another jam.

If we can observe the common rules of safety, keep to the right, and avoid running, we can move more quickly and easily. Fortunately the conditions really aren't bad at all. There is no need for strict regimentation; this is no concentration camp. We merely have to use our heads a little when we pass from class to class.

Beat Kendallville!

It's a wise student who can juggle his income so that he is able to buy suitable Christmas presents and still have enough shekels left for the holiday dances.

News item: Inventor of zipper makes millions. Huh, what about the guy who first made corduroy?

How about turning over a new leaf and getting rid of some of those useless dirty old leaves in your notebook?

He who laughs last is usually an Englishman.

Have you counted the days? For your benefit if you have not, there are just twenty-seven left!

Menu for this week: Monday, cold turkey; Tuesday, turkey giblets; Wednesday, turkey sandwiches; Thursday, turkey soup; Friday, turkey hash.

Smile: As early in setting up holiday decorations as Wolf and Dessauer.

It's a law of physics that no two objects can occupy the same place at the same time. "How true," muttered the student, brushing the splattered snowball off his head.

Through The Past With Kelly Klads

I was sitting by my lonely little self (surrounded by some ten or twelve kids), folding Christmas seals, and all of a sudden I happened to think of how overwhelmingly fast "tempus" does "fugit." "Eureka!" I exclaimed, in utter unbelief. "Can it be that Christmas is just around the well-known corner? Can it be that a whole year has intervened since the last season of cheer?"

Thinking about such stuff kinda makes your mind travel back to the days when you were a—well, whatever you were last year. Remember? It seems to me that only a few months have passed since we celebrated Thanksgiving a full year ago.

The life of a South Side student is far from monotonous. Variety, they tell me, is the spice of life. But, after all, what would this world be without just a wee bit of repetition once in a while—particularly the things we 'specially relish? South Side seems to acknowledge this fact, and here are a few of the things that happen from year to year around this time:

The jolly juniors feast on entertainment, speeches and fun (and then there is the little matter of food) at their traditional annual banquet. Last year the third-yearmen consumed their grub around the breezy South Pole. Of course, imagination had something to do with it? They were not even fed blubber; that would be carrying realism too far. Such was the "Antarctic Antics" affair. This year the juniors are centering on the theme "Junior Roundup." Good enough—it ought to be gay.

The Stamp Club was on its regular rampage with a humdrum skate, the Whacky Wiggle. This year Archers skated and skidded and slipped and slid (and blushed) at the same type of affair that bore the moniker "Kelly-Klatter." Let's hope this is kept up in future years. And Central won our football game. That's almost beginning to look like a habit. But wait—who's this little man coming our way? No, it's not Yehudi! It's Coach Wayne Gift, and we're all behind him boosting our team to a victory over the Blue and White next season.

Tom Gallmeyer, Bob Young, Bruce Bradbury, Jim McClure, Jim Murphy, Bob Robinson and Bob Safer "fit" it out in extemp finals. The contest promises to be interesting this year with four of the boys still in there pitching. And then next year—what? There are some super-junior speakers, and oh-oh! here come those sophomores again, slowly but surely. Well, you can never tell about guys like Bone, Bahle, McNulty, Shriner, Collins, Zimmer, etc.

Club-Ubs No. 3 Library

An interesting branch of the Service Club is the Library Club. This week we are acquainting you with this outstanding organization.

To create and maintain an active interest in books, and for practical library work during periods of the day as assigned by the librarian is the purpose of the Library Club. Juniors and seniors compose the club. If you are a sophomore, you are eligible to sign up for membership in the spring. Then you will receive a letter of notification the following fall if you have been elected to the staff. The club membership is limited to twenty-eight students—fourteen juniors and fourteen seniors.

There is an award system which consists of bronze, silver and gold pins. Bronze pins are awarded for 60 points, which are earned by the end of the first semester. For 125 points which are usually earned the second semester, a silver pin is given. A total of 250 points can be earned at the end of two years, for which a gold pin is awarded. Library assistants are required to work two study periods and one night after school each week. Faye Gumpfer is president of the Library Club and is assisted by Bob Wylie as vice-president; Paul Kiel, secretary; Ruth Dauner, point recorder; and Sam Bacon as sergeant-at-arms.

South Side Netters See Brighter Future In This Year's Team

The basketball season will soon be upon us. The boys are practicing hard in the gym after school. The first two games will be played out of town; these are with Kendallville and Bluffton. The first home game is scheduled to be played on December 7 and we will be hosts to Crawfordsville. The student body is confident of a championship team this year, but who should know better of the coming season that the boys on the team? As yet Coach Friddle has not picked the regular lineup, but the ones who are most probable to be on the team have been asked the prospects of the team. The results are as follows:

Bob Hines: We'll have as good a team as last year's. It's going to be more than a five-man team because we'll have about nine men who will be able to play all the time.

Ralph Shimer: The team will develop into just as good a team as the one of last season. And maybe even better.

Ralph Vetter: This year's team is going to be really swell and the boys are working hard. We are all pretty confident of a good team this year.

Eugene Reichart: Win or lose the boys will always be in there fighting. These are but a few of the many fellows who have gone out for basketball, and from these reports this year's team is going to be super.

Our Own Moonshine Eclipses That Old Moon Over Burma

Have You Noticed?

The silly, sheepish expressions on the students' faces when they submit their report cards for parental inspection.

The super smooth style in which Roger McVay escaped the "Sadie Hawkins' Day" blitzkriegs.

Barbara Weibel dancing the rhythmic La Conga "down Bob Smith's way."

Arthur Wedler hoping for bigger and better crops next year. (And we do mean crops of hair.)

Dick Bailhe, the golden voiced Caruso, serenading Joyce Burbank (North Side) over the Times Room telephone. (I wonder what her reaction could be.)

Betty Walden speaking her piece "especially for Herman Turner" in the third period public speaking class.

The gloomy appearance of Lois Briggs ever since Jim Rowan joined the Army.

The heck and commotion following the third period bell every time Henry Ditton dashes down the hall to meet Frances Nash.

Bud Wall singing "Can't Get Eileen

Christman Off My Mind".

The way Gene Murphy answers Marge Riethmiller's "Beck and Call". Roy Heavner partially forgetting his collection of railroad schedules and considering a new and different hobby, perhaps Barbara Scudder.

The influence Mimi Dunbar has over Warren Spangle.

Bob Druhot claims he has found a Rose among them all.

The change in Jimmy Pugh since he met Virginia Rose.

Hail, hail, the gang's all here. Becky Abbott and Dick Doerner, Barbara Roth and Byron Hayes, Bonnie Yaeger and Bill Peters, Ernie Vogel and Pat Mungovan, Peg Harrod and Dave Roth, are all home for the holidays to enjoy a few days with their fair ones.

Hilda Leininger and Pete Holzworth, Lois Hoff and Dick Wilson, Naomi Koopman and Jim Holzworth, Lorraine Lord and Tyke Hartman, Virginia Groth and Dick Gallmeyer, Dorothy Cooper and Dick Green, and Katherine Kuntz and Bob Robinson are a few of the sets of people twining it at the social functions last week-end.

Do You Want To Know What We Think About The Totem?

When the Totem agents follow us down the hall and insist upon seeing our Totem receipts, and when seniors are worrying if their pictures are flattering enough to be put in the yearbook, it is a safe bet that the 1940-1941 Totem is uppermost in everyone's mind.

Here are the opinions of a few students on what they expect of the 1941 Totem and what they think of the yearbook in general.

Betty Hall: I like the idea of a yearbook. Last year's book was swell.

Patty Boese: I hope it is as swell as last year's.

Kathryn Guild: I think there should be more casual pictures of the students. That is the only improvement I can think of.

Violet Reiter: Last year's was fine, but I hope there are more casual pictures in the next one.

Joan Cox: All the Totems have been fine. I've heard that there are going to be more pictures in the next one, and that would be an improvement.

Marjorie Wigbell: I'd like to see the Totem have more pictures and more room to get autographs.

Joe Loos: Last year's was fine, but there should be more individual pictures and group pictures.

Clifford Springer: I didn't like the cover of the last Totem; I think a soft leather cover would be better. There should be more space for faculty pictures, and a lower price for club pages.

Marleen Liddy: The Totems are very good. They are better than any of the other schools, and they are more economical.

Dave Lowe:—It will probably be peachy.

Chuck Feistkorn:—Simply wonderful; so I have heard.

Jim Straley:—I wouldn't know a thing about it. With my picture in it, it can't be bad.

Dorothy Jackson:—I believe The Totem is going to be very interesting.

Valette Doehman:—I think The 1940 Totem will be the best Totem South Side has ever had.

Sam Johnson:—The 1940 Totem should be a fine book.

Eva Jean Wylie:—What I've heard I think it will be a lot better than the preceding ones.

Repa Coppock:—I feel the same way Evie does, better than ever this year.

Janet Holtmeyer:—I think it will be a grand improvement over all the others.

Lois Bloemker:—I think it will be very good, after so much work on it.

Phyllis Amstutz:—I hope it will be as swell as last year's.

Floyd Steffens: The Totems are fine and dandy. I don't think they could be any better.

Rosa Lee Hall: They were too small last year. Hope this year's is better.

Jim Wiegman: They are nice.

Last 27 More Days Till Christmas

Since Thanksgiving is all over and past, we are all now concentrating our thoughts on Christmas. And no wonder, for at that time you have to think up appropriate gifts for your parents, girl-friends, and boy-friends; and this is really quite a perplexing problem for most of us.

To you boys who are in a quandary as to what to purchase for your mother, I would suggest either a smart clip or some form of accessories, such as pocketbooks, gloves or stockings.

A gift most girls enjoy is the lovely soft cashmere sweaters that most of us can't afford to buy ourselves. They give us the feeling that we are either debutantes or style-conscious college lassies.

Another thing that really hits the right spot in a girl's fancy are the gorgeous new sets of beads, rings, earrings, and bracelets to match. They are really striking when worn together on a plain wool or crepe dress. If you don't feel that you can afford all of these pieces then just purchase the ring and necklace.

How about her favorite kind of perfume, boys? Or if she wears a kind that brings a nauseating feeling in your "stummick" then remedy this by giving her a bottle of cologne that makes you think of moonlight and roses instead of fresh air. Every time she wears it she will be thinking of you and pleasing you at the same time. A nice atomizer to pour the perfume in is always a nice present, too.

Now girls, I'm going to give you a few tips. Sweaters with sport shirts to match are always appreciated by the stronger sex.

Buy him a new billfold if his old one is very ravelled around the edges. Or a couple nice ties in conservative shades will make him beam all over when you present them to him.

Mothers always like something that they never think of buying for themselves but something that they would like very much. Along this line is a good kit of cosmetics, or a nice housecoat for her to slip on when she has to rise early in the cold mornings to get your breakfast.

Down That Stretch Go Veteran Sliders

Madame General Manager, Fellow Seniors, and South Siders,

Hll! After a somewhat formal opening I felt that the word Hl would be just the right touch because, after all, we don't want to let this thing get off a nice chummy basis. How you all today? That is very poor Southern but it expresses my concern over all South Siders. Or am I just trying to spread the old oil a bit?

I'm afraid this week's column will be a bit dull because I just haven't been getting around much at all lately, but I'll try my damndest to give a little heretofore unknown news. The first thing I want to do is to praise our former Editor as a memento of his good work. He is the best model we have ever seen. We caught him modeling that classy new fingertip outfit of his the other day and we were struck with the grace and ease with which he executed the turn and raised his arm to show that the sleeves were quite long enough.

And then there's Henry Schaaf who goes around griping about the fact that he received a B+ in algebra where he thought he should have had an A. We'd like to point out to Hank that if he could manage to stay awake at least the first five minutes of the period he might know why the plus and not the minus. We wouldn't insinuate Schaaf isn't a good student, we merely call to mind that on Senior Poll Day we voted for H. S. as the one who needs a faculty drag the most.

We've also noticed of late that Bill Siebold and Maxine Sterling have it quite badly. Bill has even gotten to that stage where he starts waving his straight locks to make the desired impression on Maxine. He says he does it himself but we have it on good authority that his mother sits up with him every night to get the right touch and angle.

In closing, I'd like to make a public announcement. On November 23, 1940, Jackie Huguenard returned to the city raring for conquests. We could mention quite a few who were conquered and who were in there pitchin' every minute of the time, especially Bob "he used to like Hall" Worman. Tough what these North Siders do to the morale.

Browsing Through Archer Celeb Files

Presenting the next President of the United States—Mr. George Samuel Bacon II, who says quote, "Ah hate wa'. Ah hate Democrats". At this point of the interview I decided that Sam was prejudiced on more than just girls. But let me start from the beginning and tell you all the dull facts of his early life.

This little bundle of effervescence was brought into the world in Albany, New York in 1923, but moved to our metropolis before he was three years old and continued his life at Harrison Hill School here. A little inside information reveals that "Bookie" (as he is often called) received a penny every day he didn't cry in kindergarten. Problem child? I'll say! In grade school he took active part in public speaking, and so has continued speech work in South Side.

As a freshman Sam entered the Freshman-Sophomore speech contest and reached the finals. This prepared him for coaching contests, speaking in assemblies, and entering and placing in the various Wrangler contests.

President Bacon is starting early to establish an influential background. He is a member of Wranglers, 1500 Club, Library, SPC, and sports editor of the Totem.

What's his favorite with him? Glen Gray claims the orchestra's place; swimming and football take the sports lineup; and hobbies include enlarging photographs and an unmentioned one.

It's in the Books that Sam continues educating himself in law at Miami University and Michigan University.

These Sophomores Possess Everything— Brains, Oomph, Too

S-tudious! That's the president of the class, Betty MacKay. She is one of those girls that just work and work. I wonder what she does it for? O-omph! None other than Rose-Etha Brazy. She is the big black-eyed beauty that haunts the Times room. What's the recipe for that thing you have, Rose-Etha?

P-ersonality! That could be applied to many, but the most outstanding is Franklin Neff. He makes everyone around him so happy and some of his jokes (believe it or not) are funny.

H-andsome! That could be no one but Dean McKean. He is the shiek of this season. Isn't that smile of his wonderful, girls? I'll bet he could get in the movies.

O-ramental! Well, we can easily guess who that is. It is the girl with the flashy clothes, Rose Marie Vogel. She really wears some pretty ones. They must be original.

M-annequin! It means the same as model, so that would be Barbara Scudder. Take a hint if you haven't decided what you want to be, Barbara.

O-rator! It's that dynamic speaker, Bill Bone. He was first place winner in the final contest. Nice going Bill. Keep up the good work.

R-omantic! Jane Chenoweth, has liked all in turn. Haven't you found the one you like best yet, Jane? You have some awfully good chances. E-ntertaining! The clown of the class, the boy with all the jokes, Ken Iba. We'll have to admit that he can really put his jokes over.

Now if all of you students will put two and two together you get—the sophomore class.

Tips To The Teens

So you want to be popular! And you want to attend all sorts of social affairs! To achieve this, you must know what to do on every occasion. Here are some pointers on how to do the little things which make up the big mass of social etiquette.

General rules first! No matter how ill at ease you may be, never show it. None of this handkerchief-twisting, glass-twirling business. If your tummy feels all funny because the whole affair is new to you, say to yourself, "Calm down, Josephine! There are others who feel the way you do." Remember always that instinctive courtesy is the mark of a true lady. Be above all that's snobbish or petty, and you'll get along socially. Wait and see!

Sometimes a boy asks you for a date with no particular plans in mind—and what happens is just a matter of luck. But if he suggests going to the movies, you're set for an easy, conversationless evening. Of course, there's no point in enduring the picture for a third time if you've already seen it twice, so speak up and suggest another one. Once inside the theatre, remember other people are deeply interested in what's happening on the screen. They don't give a hoot about the story you are telling your date. The movies are supposed to be quiet, restful places where you can sit in silence and be entertained or drop off into a gentle snooze. And sit straight in your seat. Dates that sit huddled together make twice the obstacle for people to see around. When you come to the place where you came in, get out with as much speed as possible, and with as little damage to the feet and possessions of the people near you. Those are just a few pointers on the correct social habits—to further educate yourself, read next week's installment.

CONTEMPORARY POETRY

Dream

As much in vain as it may seem,
I'll always cherish one fond dream.
'Twould be to me the height of joy,
To win the heart of a glamour boy;
There are so many boys to choose among,
It would be nice to have BOB YOUNG.
Or capture someone like BOB DRUHOT,
It's scrumptious work if you could do it.
I'd like to cast out two nice hooks,
And bring back twin boys like the BROOKS.
Or start a brand new hobby-lobby,
Collecting specimens such as ROBBY.
Wouldn't I like to get a bundle
All wrapped up and labeled RUNDEL?
Or date some fella like HINES or BACON,
Though the whole school knows that BOB is taken.
MOSES, GREEN, or MCINTOSH
Would rate just fine with me, b'gosh.
MIKE BEALL, JOHN BONSI, or DAVE REA
I must confess would be O. K.
I'm sure 'twould set my heart on fire,
To dance just once with DICK GALLMEYER.
I'd feel like the queen of a great monarchy,
If I could win the heart of PARKY.
There are dozens of others I could name,
To be put in my Hall of Fame.
Who leads a life of such sweet bliss.
AH - - - MEN !!!

Signed, Just a Dreamer

Winter's Effects

Autumn's done,
Winter's begun.
Foey on school,
I dislike the rule.
The morning is cold,
I'm not so bold.
I'd like to sleep,
And not hear a peep.
Mom yells at me,
Playing possum with glee.
She catches on quick,
Ouch, she's got a stick.

"AI"

Thoughtful Thinking

All I do is sit and shiver,
For outside there is a blizzard.
My teeth are chattering; my knees are knocking,
Even my dress flies up...soooo shocking!
This truly is a holiday season.
The most joyous time beyond all reason.
With snow and ice all o'er the ground,
The moonlight indeed makes the evenings profound.
Thanksgiving was surely a lot of fun
We had a big turkey and some grand pumpkin,
But now that is over, and we all will turn
To Christmas Eve so very tacturn.
Our holiday spirit is more pleasant indeed,
If we have helped a friend in need.

A. J. L.

Student Debunks Old Legend Of Mythical Barbara Fritchie

Wyla Rich Baldwin Relates Experience Of Meeting Descendant Of Historical Character

By Wyla Rich Baldwin
John Greenleaf Whittier's Barbara Fritchie is one of the most widely known and best loved historic characters. Many people, at the time the poem was written and since then, have thought this patriotic lady was a mythical character, but she was a real, live, flesh and blood woman. Miss Eleanor D. Abbott, her great-grandniece, is living proof that this remarkable old patriot once lived; and the flag she waved and relics she left behind her at her niece's residence in Frederick, Maryland, are additional evidence of her existence.

One of the most interesting experiences I had while east this summer was my visit in Barbara Fritchie's historic home town. Here are a few paragraphs from my diary which I always keep when making trips to historic places.

Paragraphs From Diary
"A very pleasant, grey-haired lady answered our rap on the door. She was busy with other visiting guests and asked us to look around by ourselves for a few minutes. The two small rooms which were filled with Barbara Fritchie's relics were furnished as a living room and a bedroom.

"Among the most interesting items on display were the historic flag, mended and framed under glass to preserve it; the coffee pot from which she served President Washington in 1776; pieces of her china tea set, an old clock with wooden works, which her father had brought over from Germany in 1754; her butter taster, silk mitts, quilted silk petticoat, gold ear bobs, home spun linen sheets, her old bed and other furniture, copy of her will, her signature written at the age of 92, pictures of herself, and her house where she waved her flag. They say that the original house stood on the southeast bank of Carroll Creek but was torn down after a flood in 1868 in order to widen the creek.

"Soon the people left and the pleasant-faced lady came over and introduced herself to us. She was Miss Eleanor D. Abbott, great-grandniece of Barbara Fritchie. Was I thrilled! From then on we had the most marvelous time. Miss Abbott had such an enthusiastic way of showing and explaining the relics, that she almost brought her great-grand-aunt to life. She showed us a cane and candlesticks made from the original fireplace. She displayed pictures of John G. Whittier, his birthplace, the house in which he wrote the poem, and the actual letter written by him to Mrs. J. H. Abbott, a great-niece of Barbara Fritchie.

"Then father took a picture of Miss Abbott standing by the flag. It was

Report Is Given On How Greek Language Is Related To English Words; Members Listed

Charlene McAtee gave a report on derivatives from the Greek language and explained how English words are related to their Greek ancestors at the Three E's club meeting which was held last Saturday at her home, 2628 Hoagland Avenue. Members then studied a list of Greek words and attempted to get their English derivatives. A clever contest was conducted in which the group was to get a synonym and homonym for each given word. The word game, categories, was played, and Martin Gernand received the highest number of points. Refreshments were then served.

During the short business meeting, it was decided that the club should have a full page picture in the 1941 Totem. The next meeting will be held at the home of Martha Jean Smith, 4602 Beaser Avenue. Members Alice Dunten and Jeanne Smith will be the assisting hostesses.

The following people are now members of the club: Betty Jean Bireley, Hilda Schubert, Elinor Muntzinger, Theda Tyndall, Louisa Haug, Dorothy Gildes, Carolyn Snook, Charlene McAtee, Alice Sweet, Mary Daniels, Wilma Lagemann, Janet Holtmeyer, Elaine Hirsch, Mary Nell Spiegel, Violet Reiter, Mary Alice Dunten, Gertrude Merkel, Marjorie Wigbel, Joan Cox, Martha Jean Smith, Vivian Shamburger, Jeanne Smith, Ione Jean Tracht, Everett Truock, Martin Gernand, Stuart Welborn, and Ivan Truman.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Patsy Harruff was the only student in Miss Thorne's Geometry 2, period 2 class who worked 100 on a test covering the work in unit 6.

Miss Dean's girls' dancing classes have started bar work and ballet.

In a recent test given by Miss Demaree to her English 7 classes the following received the highest grades: Richard Buesching, Frank DuWaldt, Bob Hines, Martin Gernand, John Warner, Lester Oppenlander, and Maurine Leas.

A beach ball routine is being taught to Miss Smith's second period dance class by Jean Fisher, Barbara Janneret, Letty Julian, Marilyn Meyers, Doris Sipes, and Delores Murphy. The same dance is being taught to her seventh period dance class by Betty Dible, Betty Johnston, and Marilyn Byerly. The period 3 class is learning a signal corps routine taught by Jeanette Zahn and Nadine Woehr.

In the final test on "The Odyssey", given by Miss Demaree to her English 1 classes the following received A: Caroline Fackler, Nancy Gales, Stanley Trier, Martha Harry, LaVon Witmer, Donna Jean Morizin, and Patty Rhodes.

The fourth and seventh period art classes of Miss Hutt made character drawings of each other. The two best were Marie Lebanoff's drawing of Edward Skale and Rose Marie Vogel's of Robert MacMahan.

Highest grades on "The Merchant of Venice" test given by Mr. Cook to his English 3, period 2 class were received by Miriam Abbott, Dick Shriner, Lois Bonebrake, Marshall Buckman, Bonnie Junk, Opal Springer, and Phyllis Wefel.

Mildred Holmes handed in the most perfect notebook in all of Mr. Murphy's United States History classes.

Gloria Miller and Donna Jones received the highest number of points in Miss Fiedler's general mathematics classes for the first half of the semester in tests.

The boys of Mr. Plasket's Industrial Arts 1, period 3 class who are doing extra work are Ralph Adair, roll; Richard Bennett, and Joseph Malorki, mill foreman and assistant, respectively; Bob Babbitt and Gene Zumbum, bench foremen; Charles Tapp, clamp foreman; Jack Broyles, tool foreman; and Herbert Edwards, lock foreman.

Marilyn Domer, Ruth Gold, and Arnold Hohlbacker made the highest grades on a test in Mr. Yoder's Biology 1, period 2 class.

In Miss McCloskey's seventh period English 7 class, Robert Kite made the best grade on a final test over the story of "Silas Marner".

On a test given by Mr. Schnepel to his health classes Mary Nell Spiegel, Ellen Harry, Truman Neuenschwander, Delbert Veatch, and Margaret Kienzie, period 2 students, made a grade of A. In period 3, James Bauer, Dick Borschein, and Sam Johnson also made A.

Charles Hoke and June Schafer, period 1; Albert Krantz and Jack Drummond, period 4 received the highest number of points in tests for the first half of the semester in Miss Fiedler's Algebra 1 classes.

Margaret Kutsch made the best economics notebook in Mr. Murphy's classes.

In a test given by Mr. Peirce to his U. S. History 4 class who on the causes of the American Revolution, Gloria Kramer made an A+. A's were made by Bob Guion, Lois Bloemker, Maxine Goers, Virginia Gray, Jim Holzworth, Naomi Koopman, Jack Rogers, James Timmings, Dick Lockhart, Truman Neuenschwander, Bernita Eggers, Gene McClain, Betty Stump, and Ruth Werkman.

Ivan Truman, Janet Anderson, Janet Holtmeyer, and Gertrude Mensch, English 7 students of Miss Kiefer, made 100 on a test on Renaissance Poetry.

Miss Dean's first period dance class is learning a Mexican hat dance; the fourth period, a Hawaiian dance; and the sixth period, a waltz ballet.

The following students in Miss Fiedler's college algebra classes received the highest numbers of points during the first half of the semester: Edward Meyer and Lester Oppenlander, period 1; Clifford Matson, Safford McMyler, and Ivan Truman, period 7.

Mr. Schnepel's health classes are beginning the study of circulation of the blood.

Doris Miller, a Shortland 1, period 1, student of Mr. Murch, and Betty Doehla, period 6 student, made the highest grades on a test.

Mr. Makey's English 7 class is beginning to study "Macbeth."

Donald Kitcher recently had charge of the vocational program in Miss Pocock's Home Room 30.

Jean Simmers has been the first Typing 2 student this semester to win a Green Ribbon award in Mr. Post's typing classes. Jean wrote 54.2 words per minute for ten minutes with two errors. Her test was 96 per cent accurate.

If You're Looking For Boxes, Go To Robert Buhr's House

Boxes, boxes everywhere and each one full of something! That most suitably describes Robert Buhr's house, for he is a member of that mysterious clan known as collectors. In every sense of the word, Robert is a collector; he gathers not one, not two, but four different articles. Most people are satisfied with just one hobby; but Robert is a collector of stamps, match boxes, bullets, and old coins.

Robert started to collect several years ago when his interest was aroused in match boxes. A relative living in Holland gathered match boxes from friends living in all parts of Europe and sent these to Robert. Robert then got the collecting bug and started gathering match boxes and folders. He collected them from all parts of the United States and Canada and supplemented them with frequent packages of folders from his relative in Holland. Soon he had a great many from countries, such as France, England, Spain, Italy, Germany, Canada, the United States, and Mexico.

But that wasn't the end of the collecting. One of Robert's friends collected coins and gave him the necessary inspiration to start saving them himself. Although the collection is as large or as developed as his other hobbies, he has coins from China, Canada, a few European countries, Mexico, and the United States. Not satisfied with just two hobbies, Robert started to gather stamps. This particular hobby has grown so that it now is his largest collection. He has one large album full to the brim and has several thousand stamps in a box awaiting the arrival of another album.

Last, Robert is a collector of bullets. He has gathered them from regulation army Springfield rifles and old muzzle and breech loaders. He also has soft nose, copper-nickel plated, dum-dum, and hard nose bullets of all makes from many countries. He plans to mount these shells on boards much in the same manner as Indian arrowheads are mounted.

This enterprising and industrious young man certainly has a diversity of hobbies, and they keep him very busy. In regard to this matter, he stated, "I really don't consider it work to collect all these things because I get so much enjoyment from collecting them and seeing how the collection grows. It's educational too, for one may learn about foreign countries through stamps and coins."

Some day, Robert may go into competition with the present museum; for, if he keeps adding new hobbies at his present rate, he will soon have enough things to start his own little museum.

How To Obtain Safe Bicycling Is Discussed In Home Rooms

"How to obtain safe bicycling" has been the topic of discussion in the home rooms recently. The question of whether students should walk bicycles to curbs before mounting them was debated. The subject of whether either an imaginary or a real yellow line be extended through the center of Clinton Street and Darrow Avenue, and that all bicycles should keep to the right of that line was brought up.

Closer adherence to the following rules will assure safer bicycling:

1. Obey all automobile traffic laws.
2. Dismount and walk across dangerous intersections, and keep to the right and close to the curb.
3. Riding on sidewalks is prohibited by law.
4. Ride without wabbling and avoid sharp turn; weaving through traffic is dangerous. Slow down on slippery or rough roads.
5. Never carry a passenger! It is dangerous for both of you.
6. Never hitch-hike by holding to a moving vehicle.
7. When riding at night, carry a light in front and either a light or reflection in the rear.
8. Do not carry a parcel in one hand; if parcels are carried, strap them to the frame or carrier.
9. Do not ride without holding the handle bars. Riding without holding the handle bars is a very dangerous practice and has resulted in many serious accidents. Choose your route carefully and avoid crowds and traffic.
10. Ride single file.
11. Do not ride bicycles on the school grounds.

List Typing Rates Of Leading Pupils

Top Scores Are Ruth Dauner, With 59 Words; Betty Sapp, 57; Lois Ringenberg Has 55

Typing 1, 3 and 4 students of Miss Nell Covall, have been taking a number of three and ten-minute tests as a part of their training for time and accuracy in typing. Highest rates obtained by Typing 1 students taking a stenographic course are the following: Mildred Holmes, 43 words a minute, one error; Doris Miller, 35 words, one error; and Jane Rinard, 35 words, one error. These rates were obtained on three-minute tests.

College preparatory students in Typing classes who made the highest rates on three-minute tests are Ruth Dauner, 59 words per minute, no errors; Elaine Hirschy, 53 words a minute, no errors; Lois Bloemker, 37 words, one error; Harriet Greer, 37 words, one error; Margaret Heine, 37 words, two errors; Joan Squires, 36 words, four errors.

Typing 1 students taking a clerical course and receiving highest ratings on a three-minute test are Grace Towns, 42 words a minute, one error; Katherine Craig, 38 words, 3 errors; Peggy Lou Berning, 35 words, one error; Virginia Wilson, who is taking general course, wrote 41 words per minute with no errors on a three-minute test.

Ten-minute tests have been taken by the Typing 3, period 1 class, which is composed of all clerical course students. The following wrote the best tests: Betty Sapp, 57 words, one error; Lois Ringenberg, 55 words, two errors; Miriam Lou Rabel, 54 words, four errors; Esther Schueler, 58 words, one error.

There are three Typing 4 students who take typing with the Typing 3 class. Of these Mary Antrim obtained the highest rate on a ten-minute test. She typed 52 words per minute with three errors.

Typing 3 and 4 classes have charts showing net rates on the best ten-minute tests and special charts for perfect tests. Beginning yesterday charts were started in the Typing 1 classes for those who make perfect time tests.

Most Battles Run True To Form: Richmond, Frankfort Are Defeated By Greensburg, Tipton

During the third week of heavy hardwood competition, most of the battles ran true to form. Only two major upsets marked the play of the Thanksgiving holiday, with strong fans from Richmond and Frankfort falling before unheralded units from Greensburg and Tipton. The Indians of Anderson showed some promise of developing into a real contender by crushing Marion, 35 to 16. Strong squads from Lapeer and Logansport turned in other feature victories. The Lapeer five, which was one of the select four cage machines to enter the state finals last year, outplayed Summitville, 41 to 23; Coach Cliff Wells' Logansporters turned back Delphi, 41 to 17. Results of the past week-end of play:

Math-Sci Is To Hear Speaker On Plastics

Mr. R. L. Davis, official of the General Electric, will speak on the topic "All Kinds of Plastics and What Can Be Done with Them," at the next meeting of Math-Science Club, Friday, December 13, in the Greeley Room.

For illustrations with the talk on plastics, Mr. Davis will use forty to fifty samples to better explain his topic. Any student interested in this subject and in mathematics and science may attend this meeting. All members of Math-Science are especially urged to come.

German Group Sings Songs, Presents Play

"Oh, Tannenbaum, Oh Tannenbaum," "Oh Du Frohliche, Stille Nacht," "Heilige Nacht," and "Ihr Kinderlein Kommet" were among the songs that the German Club members sang at their meeting yesterday in Room 138.

A German play was given to the club officers to judge for future presentation. Mr. E. Paul Schnepel, club sponsor, obtained the play from Columbus, Ohio.

Bob Bushman, the club president, called the meeting to order and Leona Gruber read the secretary's report. A new program committee will be selected by Bob for next two meetings.

IT'S FORT WAYNE IN 1940—

Local basketball fans have seen some great teams come and go. This year each of the four city schools can boast a team practically equal in strength and ability to any outstanding five which has carried the Fort Wayne colors. All four teams are of championship caliber, as is evidenced by a glance at the experience and abilities of the local cagers. Coaches Bob and George Nulf have a package of potential dynamite at North Side, with such veterans as Cowan, Young, Popp, Ervin, Harrison, and Hinga returning for full-time duty. At Central the situation is almost identical. Coach Murray Mendenhall and his assistant, Bob Dornier, are planning to shoot the works with the state's toughest five; back from last season to aid the Bengal cause are Tackett, Miller, Wilkin, Talley, Shaw, and Rice. With two national titles in two successive tries, the Irish of John LeVicki are on the spot to clinch the award for the third time. Irishmen Daulton, Morthorst, Keenan, Walker, Heiny, and Kartholl are expected to give the downtown institution another good team. All Archer-dome realizes that the Green basketballers will be just as good as last year, and perhaps a bit tougher. With veterans Bob Hines, Gus Feisthorm, Bryce Raugburt, and Chick Shimer coming along fast, the Friddlemen should again match the toughest foes which cross the Kelly trail. Other important figures in the Archer picture of 1940-1941 will be Chuck Close, Dallas Zuber, Tom Brower, Bill Knoll, and Jerry Miller. Each of the four local squads is overflowing with possibilities; and, come next March, a Fort Wayne team should be sitting on top of the Indiana hardwood throne.

Other Periods Listed
Period 2 has Delores Majorki, Pat Dietrich, Patty Hocker, and Joan Dodge as captains of Teams 1, 2, 3, and 4, respectively. The best players named are Elsie Korte, Clara Korte, Mary Morningstar, Peggy Needham, Betty Lou Funk, Donna Jones, and Betty Kite.

Period 3 is captained by the Student Leaders of the gym class. Outstanding players are Miriam Abbot, Garneta Betty, Phyllis Crumrine, Mary Lou Feller, Jeanne Cyr, Catherine Horn, Helen Long, Marjorie Pressler, Wilma Shankster, Dorothy Rutz, and Lois Voight.

Burl Friddle

MEET THE BOSS—

No other school in the state of Indiana can boast of a coach as well regarded or highly feared as Burl Friddle of South Side. When the likable and efficient mentor came to this school six years ago, he was recognized as a good coach. We now know him the best. While in college and high school circles, Burl managed to play on championship outfits; every net fan in the state recalls the Kelly tutor as a member of the famous Franklin "Wonder Five." The word fieldhouse, preceded by Butler, means a lot to Burl Friddle; for he has both coached and played in the Indianapolis championship balliwick. Back around the turn of the decade, Burl gave the Washington Hatchets their passport to a title, and a reputation occurred at South Side in 1938. The years 1939-1940 represented stunning upsets to the Green net drama; however, the envious records set up over the past three seasons may never be equalled in the history of South Side. Good luck, Mr. Friddle, and may you again find the month of March bringing cage glory to our school and your enviable coaching record.

NEWSY NET NOTES—

Many Archer fans have been inquiring as to the whereabouts of the graduating members of the fine team of last season. If most of you can recall the ten tournament eligibles of last year, the names of Hire, Hamilton, Spiker, Cook, Braden, Doerner, Hines, Augsburg, Shimer, and Feisthorm will doubtless come to the mind. Four of the boys are back for action; six are furthering their education along the college path. Sparkplug Ralph Hamilton, most popular and deserving cageman ever to wear the Kelly green, is spending his afternoons working out with the freshman squad at his new alma mater, Indiana University. Don Hire has departed from the Hoosier state to enter the University of Southern California, while Blackie Braden is continuing in his brother's footsteps at Butler University in Indiana. The third frame, in which the Trojans made a courageous victory stab, the locals were forced to stave off the uprising without veterans Horace Talley and Dick Tackett, who had been taken out at the half because of three personal fouls committed by each.

At the start of the final period the two dependables returned and, with the aid of Fred Shaw, managed to sink the home team under a barrage of field efforts. Although the Fort Wayne netters showed the 2,200 Trojan fans that the Summit City teams mean business in this campaign, the majority of the rooters reserved their praise for big Marshall Koonitz. The New Castle center, in addition to playing a great game on the defensive, hit six fielders and four charity tosses for an evening's scoring mark of sixteen points.

South Benders Conquer
Last Saturday night the Tigers were definitely not the hot shot Bengals of Wednesday, for the big South Benders completely outplayed the host Blue netmen. Suffering from an inability to launch a successful sniping attack, the Tigers found their usual easy efforts rolling over and around the hoop; in fact, the locals required twenty-two tosses, on a two-pointer by Russ Wilkin.

The quarter tallies showed the South Benders possessing substantial advantage at the turns, leading 7 to 2 at the end of the first quarter, 15 to 12 at the half, and 26 to 20 at the three period mark. Martens of South Bend captured the individual scoring honors by hitting five goals and two free throws for twelve points; Russ Wilkin led the local cagers by marking up nine points on two goals and five charity tosses.

Athletic Instructors Are Honored With Surprise Tea Party
A cup of tea and cookies were enjoyed by Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean, girls' gym instructors, yesterday the first period, Louis Haugk, Helen Savage, and Annabelle Harrod, office girls that period, acted as hostesses for the two-member tea party.

The party was a surprise to the two members of the faculty. It came as a result of a joking remark Miss Smith made Tuesday to the girls. A member of the gym class, asking for a pencil sharpener, entered the office. Miss Smith, overhearing the conversation, remarked that the three girls were very inefficient, of course only in a joking manner. She also stated that the girls should serve tea to the members; so they added tea, water and cookies together and got a tea party.

Helen, Annabelle and Louisa made the affair a potluck. Duties and food were divided. Refreshments consisting of bread and butter, jam served on small doll dishes, similar small silver sugar and cream pitchers were used.

Tigers Triumph Over New Castle

Central Wins Friday, 42-34; Loses Saturday To Speedy, Capable South Bend Bears

Central's scrappy Tigers, opening the local prep cage season, trounced a highly touted New Castle team but bowed to a well-coached Central of South Bend five. The Trojans were beaten 42 to 34, while the South Benders dumped the locals, 33 to 26. Against New Castle, the Tigers looked fast and capable of whipping any outfit; however, showing a reversal of form on Friday night, the Blue netters proved no match for the veteran Centralites of South Bend.

The Trojans and the Bears held a distinct advantage over the Mendenhallmen, for both these squads have been practicing for the past month. Since most of the Central basketballers were varsity grid performers, the Tigers have had but two short weeks for preliminary drill. Last season the Blue and White bowed to New Castle and whipped the Bears of South Bend, displaying a complete reverse this year.

Koonitz Captains Trojans
Led by big Marshall Koonitz, the New Castle cagers gave the visiting locals a real battle before bowing out to the fourth-quarter rally of the Blue. At the end of the half the Bengals enjoyed a 25 to 15 lead; however, the host Trojans rallied in the final minutes of the third period to threaten the netters of Murray Mendenhall. The third quarter tally read 30 to 27 in favor of the Tigers. In the hectic third frame, in which the Trojans made a courageous victory stab, the locals were forced to stave off the uprising without veterans Horace Talley and Dick Tackett, who had been taken out at the half because of three personal fouls committed by each.

At the start of the final period the two dependables returned and, with the aid of Fred Shaw, managed to sink the home team under a barrage of field efforts. Although the Fort Wayne netters showed the 2,200 Trojan fans that the Summit City teams mean business in this campaign, the majority of the rooters reserved their praise for big Marshall Koonitz. The New Castle center, in addition to playing a great game on the defensive, hit six fielders and four charity tosses for an evening's scoring mark of sixteen points.

South Benders Conquer
Last Saturday night the Tigers were definitely not the hot shot Bengals of Wednesday, for the big South Benders completely outplayed the host Blue netmen. Suffering from an inability to launch a successful sniping attack, the Tigers found their usual easy efforts rolling over and around the hoop; in fact, the locals required twenty-two tosses, on a two-pointer by Russ Wilkin.

The quarter tallies showed the South Benders possessing substantial advantage at the turns, leading 7 to 2 at the end of the first quarter, 15 to 12 at the half, and 26 to 20 at the three period mark. Martens of South Bend captured the individual scoring honors by hitting five goals and two free throws for twelve points; Russ Wilkin led the local cagers by marking up nine points on two goals and five charity tosses.

Athletic Instructors Are Honored With Surprise Tea Party
A cup of tea and cookies were enjoyed by Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean, girls' gym instructors, yesterday the first period, Louis Haugk, Helen Savage, and Annabelle Harrod, office girls that period, acted as hostesses for the two-member tea party.

The party was a surprise to the two members of the faculty. It came as a result of a joking remark Miss Smith made Tuesday to the girls. A member of the gym class, asking for a pencil sharpener, entered the office. Miss Smith, overhearing the conversation, remarked that the three girls were very inefficient, of course only in a joking manner. She also stated that the girls should serve tea to the members; so they added tea, water and cookies together and got a tea party.

Helen, Annabelle and Louisa made the affair a potluck. Duties and food were divided. Refreshments consisting of bread and butter, jam served on small doll dishes, similar small silver sugar and cream pitchers were used.

Dorothy Jagers Is Collector Of Unique, Small, Old Pitchers

The most pitcher-minded student we know is Dorothy Jagers. Her gadget pitcher collection is one well worthy of recognition. She started this hobby in 1937 when she was given a lustreware pitcher, an heirloom belonging to her great grandmother. Then Dorothy was given two more heirloom pitchers which belonged to her two grandmothers. They say it takes three things to start a collection, so what more did she need? Now her collection adds up to one hundred pitchers, none of them exceeding three inches in height. Many of her pitchers originated from foreign countries, and nearly fifty of them came from different states in the United States.

Dorothy has one unique pitcher made of silver, which Miss Eleanor Smetzly, former South Side teacher, brought back to her from Alaska. Dorothy said that she strives especially for unique and different types of pitchers. Her collection consists of pitchers made from pottery, blown glass, china, copper, and silver. Some are shaped like animals, such as horses, chickens, ducks, goats, and elephants. Hmm, with those she could almost start an ark along with her collection. When asked which pitcher she cherishes the most, Dorothy said she was quite fond of an heirloom which had belonged to her great grandmother. Second best, she chose a souvenir pitcher from the Indiana State Fair of 1937, on which her name is inscribed.

Five Prep Teams Play Friday Night

Allen County Basketball Quintets To See Action In Seven Tilts Arranged For Week End

Allen County's prep basketball quintets are scheduled to see action in seven tilts this week. All of the games are carded for Friday night. The Elmhurst Trojans and New Haven's undefeated Bulldogs are to play the feature of the week, with important tilts also bringing together Lapeer and Auburn and Hoagland and Decatur. While the Elmhurst team is known to be tough and experienced, the high riding Bulldogs from New Haven are expected to be too tough for the Trojans.

Leo's Lions are looking for trouble in a big Auburn five; however, if Darby Davis is able to inject the old Lion spark into his new edition, the Leo speedsters may prove a bit too shifty for their perennial up-state rivals. Decatur, thrashed previously by New Haven, will be seeking to regain lost prestige in entertaining the Hoagland Wildcats on Friday. While the Allen County Cats are big and ready to go, the Adams County cagers are expected to have too much experience for the locals. The complete card follows:

East Union at Lafayette Central.
Arcola at Washington Center.
New Haven at Elmhurst.
Leo at Auburn.
Hoagland at Decatur.
Harian at Monroeville.
Avilla at Huntentown.

Torch Club Members To Purchase Emblems

Pins will be purchased at the next meeting of the Torch Club, it was decided at the meeting last week. The pins are triangular shaped, similar to the shield of the Young Men's Christian Association. The price is from thirty-five cents up to several dollars per pin. The causes of this variation are the number of jewels and the different types of guards desired. The pins have the words H-Y across the top in small print.

The members also voted to purchase a half-page Totem picture. The next meeting of the Torch Club will be held the Thursday following Thanksgiving vacation.

Robert Young Places In Speech Tournament

Bob Young, 12B, tied for third place in the experienced division of the annual Indiana Extemporaneous Speaking tournament, which was held at North Side November 15. Bob Guion, 11B, also reached the experienced division finals; and Byron Singer, 11B, won his way to the finals of the inexperienced division.

Sixty students from six high schools in Indiana competed. Mrs. Dorothy Benne Rieke, speech instructor at South Side, was one of the judges. Young, Guion and Singer have been active in extemporaneous speaking since their freshman year.

Laura Nahrwald, junior B, was elected secretary of the City Wither League at the Junior Rally held at Emmaus Hall, November 17. Laura is also the secretary of the Emmaus Junior Walthers League.

Kelly Netmen Are To Battle Kendallville Tomorrow Night

Archer Quintet Awaits Opener With First Foe

Tilt Is To Be On Opponent's Floor; Green To Have Advantage Over Comet Five

With the fine records which Kelly teams have been building the past few seasons as an incentive, the Archer netmen will be seeking further state laurels by opening their 1940-1941 hardwood campaign with a win over the Comets of Kendallville tomorrow night. Tomorrow evening's battle is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock in the Kendallville Community Building. A reserve tilt will precede the main game, starting one hour earlier. Kendallville officials advise all Summit City fans to be on hand well before game time Friday, as the majority of the tickets have been sold for this feature game on the Comet card.

Although the Kendallville cagemen have already experienced difficulty in moving against weak opposition, they are counted upon to provide the locals with a tough opening assignment. Coach Ivy has always given the fans a good team, and this year's unit is no exception. The Comets have a weak offensive attack, and they are also experiencing difficulty in forming a good defense; but it is probable, since three battles already have been used for ironing out the muscles, that the Ivy men will be ready to shoot the works against the Green and White basketers.

Kendallville Line-up Follows
While the Kendallville coach has not definitely decided on a starting five, the Comet lineup is expected to include Gillil and Fraze in the forward posts, Cochard at center, and Kishgo and Parker at guards. Others who may start or see some action are Brennan, Sallitt and McWhirley. Coach Ivy has yet to find a good offensive threat, however. Guard Kishgo has been averaging about four goals per fray. The Comets are not especially big or fast, but they are aggressive and possess the scrap necessary to notch the wins. In 1939 the Kendallville hopes rested solely on the shoulders of a one-hand specialist, Ed Smith; and last season the Comets centered their attack around Misselhorn. This year the team is more balanced and prepared to score and engineer a good defense.

Starting Line-up Unknown
South Side's battle plans and starting lineup are unknown, for Coach Burl Friddle is planning to use the first few chances to form a starting five around which he can center his offensive attack. During the past weeks the Kelly basketballers have been working out daily in preparation for the opening assignment, and the South Side fans are in high hopes that the Green and White will be more than a match for the three starters of the host Comets. Last year the Archers opened with Kendallville and continued on to drop both two regularly carded tilts, the losses being to Elwood and Jeffersonville. This season the South Siders are hoping to aim their arrow of ambition to even greater heights, which may be evidenced by an afternoon of watching the Friddlemen engaged in a vigorous practice session.

Kendallville Not Feared
The Archer coach and players do not count upon the Kendallville team as a threat, and, despite the three games of experience and steady improvement enjoyed by the hosts, the Kelly netmen are expected to have little trouble in protecting the well-regarded record of South Side teams. Coach Friddle is undecided as to his definite starters; the forward berths will be handled by veterans Augsburger and Feistkorn, and the pivot post by the ever-dependable Bob Hines, and the guard posts are wide open. The Archer mentor may start juniors Brower and Zuber, if speed and plenty of shooting is required; such veterans as Shimer, Close, Shirk, and Knoll are also available. South Side will have a wealth of good material this season, indicating that Coach Friddle should expect to open the year in naming five starting performers. The Comet-Archer fray should permit all the South Side players to gain valuable experience, as the Kelly Klads should have things pretty well in hand.

Frank DuWaldt Wins Model Airplane Meet

Frank DuWaldt placed first in the airplane contest held in the gymnasium Wednesday night. His record was 0:55 seconds. George Hahn placed second with 0:53 seconds, and Ralph Freese placed third with 0:50 seconds. The plane of Ralph Freese still is seen on the rafters in the gymnasium. In this contest, all the planes were of the same pattern. Another contest will be held the third week in December and all the airplanes are to be indoor models, but of any design the boys wish to make them.

Intramural Sportlights

A few games in the handball tournament have been played off in the light-weight division. Don Stone defeated Eugene Meeks; Richard Morton defeated Robert Long; and Robert Bredemeyer defeated Walter Konow.

As yet, the regular bowling tournament has not started, but many of the results in the practice games have been turned in. Tom Deal has turned in four scores—92, 81, 99, and 77. Walter Timme has turned in six scores—125, 135, 138, 140, 133, and 123. Norbert Rehm has bowled the best game of any handed in thus far, 200. He also bowled another game of 190, which is better than most practice scores.

Dick Morton turned in scores of 124, 93, 105, and 121. John Heffelfinger is running Norbert Rehm a close second. John has several very high scores, including a score of 176 and another of 197. His other scores are 152, 164, 147, 184, and 184.

Bob Miller's scores are 165, 161, 137, 163, and 156. Earl Hambrook has bowled quite a few games, several of which are very good. His scores are 135, 109, 192, 167, 150, 165, 109, and 173. These are all practice games, but the real competition will start soon.

Martha Cash Hates Tapioca Plus Boys With Shaved Heads

Dark-haired, brown-eyed, petite Martha Cash is one of the ablest of all GAA'ers. Ever since her freshman year she has had the unique distinction of being a captain in every major sport that GAA offers. Her sparkling personality makes her well-liked by all who know her.

Martha's favorites are many, but swimming and basketball, with french-fries are first. She's a jitterbug when it comes to music and puts Glen Miller at the top of the list of popular bands. Bette Davis and Fred MacMurray are the movie stars according to her opinion. Gym and home ec. are her her favorite subjects, and Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean are the teachers she likes best. In Martha's opinion the movie with the best box office appeal was "Gone With the Wind."

Boys with shaved heads are her biggest peeve. Another one that is almost as bad is tapioca. The subscription bridge, which was given last Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the club home, was one of the sub-juniors' outstanding affairs of the year.

Archers Have Charge Of Sub-Junior Bridge

Alene Loeser, Rebecca Abbott, and Mimi Dunbar, sub-juniors of the Fort Wayne Women's Club, were included in the committee in charge of the general arrangements for the subscription bridge with which the sub-juniors entertained. The subscription bridge, which was given last Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the club home, was one of the sub-juniors' outstanding affairs of the year.

Redskins To Open Basketball Season

Saturday, Nulmen Will Play Against Their First Foe In Race For State Championship

The North Side Redskins will open their 1940-1941 state title chase by entertaining a good Masonic Home team on Saturday night. During the past campaigns in inaugurating their seasons in tilts with the Franklin Indiana, cagers, the Nulmen have had little trouble in downing the southern basketers; however, the Masons have a veteran five which is expected to give the big Reds of North Side a severe test. The Craftsman will have a decided advantage over the locals in regard to practice and experience; the Masonic netters have played three games after a solid month of drills, while the Red and White netmen have had but two weeks of preparation since capturing the state football crown.

Coach Nulfi has no set line-up in mind, for the North Siders are as yet untried and inexperienced. The players who are expected to receive the first bids for the starting berths are Bobs Cowan and Young, Cory Evvin, Jim Harrison, and Byron Popp; others pressing the above for positions are Wayne Hinga, Pat Barley, Kay Short, Ronald Reese, and Bill Ranly. Last year the Redskins enjoyed a fine season, but this is the one season during which the experts are expecting the North Siders to prove their championship ability. The visiting Masonic cagemen should give the Reds a good battle; however, the big Fort Wayne cagers have too much polish for the invading southerners.

Four Freshman Cage Squads Are Winners

Freshman teams 1, 3, 4, and 5 were victorious at the second series of basketball games played by the freshman GAA last Monday.

Phyllis Crabbill's team 4 defeated Marilyn Brackmann's team 2 by the score of 20-5. The high scorer was Phyllis Crabbill with 10 points, and close behind her was Ruthetta Ferse with 8 points.

The second game of that set was between Clark's team 3 and Dayton's team 6. Team 3 won with the score of 19-4. The best player was Joyce Dent, scoring 10 points for the winning team.

Next came a tie 4-to-4 between Asmus' team 5 and Burl's team 1. Phyllis Jackson and Barbara Burt were the leading players.

Redskins Capture Mythical Titleship

Nulmen Defeat South Bend, 46 To 6, Getting Named Toughest Football Team In State

Fort Wayne applauds another state championship, this time in football. North Side's all-powerful Redskins, rolling over a good Riley of South Bend team 46 to 6, definitely established their claim to the mythical state grid title.

Only Reitz of Evansville and Huntington can approach the record of the Red and White; however, Huntington has dropped one game to Reitz, and the latter has played competition inferior to that of the big Fort Wayne team.

Scuttle Eight Teams

In establishing the enviable record of the past year, the charges of Bob Nulfi swept aside such highly-rated teams as Central and South Side of this city, Kokomo, Whiting, and Indianapolis Cathedral. Other eleven scuttled by the North Siders were Decatur, Central Catholic, and the Riley team, which was the last to fall before the Red surge.

Bob Cowan, now regarded as one of America's outstanding prep footballers, put on a great one-man exhibition to clinch the state title. The Riley eleven, which had been heralded as one of Indiana's better teams, was unable to check the drive of the big Red line and Bob Young and Bob Cowan. The 46-to-6 count is no indication of the real outcome, for Coach Nulfi employed his second and third elevens throughout the final two periods.

In a running wild over the bewildered Riley gridmen, Cowan counted five touchdowns and four extra points. This scoring enabled the North Side senior to break the state record of 150 points in a single season. Two weeks ago Ray Overmire of Huntington tied the work with 150, but Cowan surpassed the Viking star by tallying 155 points.

Cowan Scores Twice

Against the South Benders, Cowan scored twice in the first quarter, twice in the second period; and then he smashed the scoring mark by adding an extra point in the third frame. Bob Young and Bill Ranly accounted for the other two scores. The South Bend tally came on a last minute aerial of 30 yards from Nemeth to Manula.

North Side looked every part of a champ in the second finale, running and blocking in perfect style. This is the first Fort Wayne team to be recognized as the state's champion football machine.

Girls' Sportsettes

In upperclassmen's GAA, the Senior 2 team is ahead with three wins. Six teams have two wins; two, one win; and three teams with no wins to their credit.

Congratulations go to the Senior 2 squad in GAA. Up to date they have won all of their games. Bernadine Pressler is captain of this squad, and members are Jeanne Smith, Mary Alice Dunton, Mildred Hankes, Irene Meyer, Frances Nash, Betty Nichols, Betty Porter, Eva Jean Wylie, Lenor Kensler, Jane Nathan, Marilyn Wolf, and Pauline Schoenherr.

Let's give three cheers for those sophomore girls who have obtained some bowling points. They are Sally Ogden, Janice Fruth, and Marilyn Bullerman.

Up to date, one vote has appeared in the little green box. We can do better than that, can't we?

Some of the best nicknames for GAA'ers heard this week were "Heyday" for Julia Kaser, "Cinnamon" for Gloria Hardendorf, and "Shirley" for Marguerite Calkins.

Our apologies to Miss Gretchen Smith for not including her name with Miss Alice Dean's as being owners of the Rogue's Gallery in the girls' gym office. They are co-owners.

In the fourth period gym class, team 1 and team 4 are tied for first place honors, each having five wins and a tie.

Ex-Archer Is Named Star College Gridder

In a recent poll conducted by the Associated Press, Jim Dern, former Archer grid star, was named as one of America's outstanding college footballers. Dern, who is now in his senior year at Yale University, was chosen as one of the twelve best guards in college football.

While at South Side, Jim was an outstanding student and athlete. He was a member of the National Honor Society and ranked high on the four-year honor roll in addition to playing varsity football under Lundy Welborn.

Other candidates named along with the ex-Archer were Frankowski of Washington, Mendelson of Pennsylvania, Johnson of Nebraska, Pirkema of Minnesota, Robinson of the Texas Aggies, and Klemnitz of Marquette University.

Fighting Irish Lose To Ossian Bears

Central Catholic Team Beaten By One Point Lead; CC Is Victorious Over Huntington

Central Catholic's Fighting Irish opened their 1940-41 hardwood card by dropping a decision to Ossian and winning over the Huntington Ramblers. In their initial tilt at Ossian last Wednesday, the Levickimen were dropped 37 to 36; however, the locals bounced back on Sunday afternoon to defeat a speedy Huntington Catholic five, 37 to 27.

Ramblers Prove Weak

Although the Catholic netmen experienced trouble with the pesky Bears of Ossian, the Ramblers from Huntington proved too weak for the Irish offensive tactics. The C. C. cagers were in complete control of the Ossian battle until the final minute, when the Bears surged ahead on a field effort by Oliver Mahnensmith. At the end of the first quarter the host "Giant Killers" had managed to lead 13 to 6. This last Ossian tally had given the host cagemen a 37 to 35 lead; however, Nick Leto was fouled in the final seconds. The slender Irish forward hit one of his two charity throws to bring the C. C. total but one point back of the Ossian tally. Soon after the free throw was made, the game ended with the Bears holding their one-point advantage.

Irish Beat Huntington

While the Huntington Ramblers were expected to be easy prey for the national champs, the Crowmen managed to provide the Irish with a thrill-packed afternoon of good basketball. Harold Morthorst and Bob Walker sparked the local netmen to their first win, chalking up thirteen and ten markers respectively. At the half the Irish held a 17 to 13 lead, and during the third period the C. C. reserves added to the tally and led at the end of the quarter 29 to 21. Throughout the final quarter of play the Catholics of Fort Wayne maintained their control of play. Both the Bears and Ramblers provided the Irish with stiff opening competition, giving the local netmen few breaks or easy scoring opportunities. As was evidenced by the play of the central Catholic outfit in the two early frays, the Levickimen should again have a potent starting five when city series and tourney games test the merit of the Catholics.

Times Gets Papers From Many Schools Around The World

Every day The South Side Times receives high school and college papers from almost every state in the union and from some foreign countries. Indiana leads the list so far this year by sending 172 copies of school papers, and California is second with 151 papers. ## French-Rifle Skate Will Be At Bell's Tomorrow Night

Misses Olivé Perkins, Rosemary DeLancey Supervise
Plans For Annual Social Chairmen Listed
For Ticket Drive
Bus Leaves Main Entrance
At 7:15 O'Clock; To Give
Fifty Attendance Prizes

French and Girls' Rifle Clubs will sponsor a skate tomorrow night at Bell's Rink at 8 o'clock, as announced by Miss Olivé Perkins and Miss Rosemary DeLancey, supervisors of these clubs.

Charlene McAtee and Delores Daniels are in charge of the sale and distribution of tickets and John Logue and Ruth Cyr are in charge of publicity and posters. The favors will be made by the Girls' Rifle Club and given to the first fifty people to arrive. The French Club is in charge of the attendance prizes.

A bus from Bell's Rink will leave the main Calhoun Street entrance at 7:15 o'clock for those people who want transportation to the rink. This bus ticket also provides the return to the school entrance.

The proceeds from the skate will go to pay for the Totem picture for both clubs, and to buy pins for members of French Club and dictionaries to present on Recognition Day.

The officers of the French Club are president, Katherine Kuntz; vice-president, Clara Makey; secretary, Joyce Reed; Inter-Club Congress representative, Martha Jean Smith; point recorder, Eleanor Christ. The officers of Girls' Rifle Club are president, Betty Thiele; secretary, Marcelle Kimmell; treasurer, Marjorie Shannon; Inter-Club Congress representative, LaVerne Michelfelder.

Philo Thespians To Present Play

"Southern Cinderella" Scheduled
For Next Meeting; Will Discuss Christmas Family Plans

"Southern Cinderella" will be presented by the Philo girls by the Thespians next Monday night in the Greeley Room after a potluck in Room 75. All girls who wish to attend are to sign immediately in Room 68.

The parts for the play will be taken by the following people: Madeline Charterers, Ellen Harry; Enid Bellamy, Garneta Beatty; Rosie Winterberry, Hilda Schubert; Johnnie Bell Randolph, Mary Ellen Barrett; Katherine Hawke, Helen Savage; Carolyn Hawke, Jo Ann Wagoner; Mammy Judy Johnson, Clara Makey; property manager and curtain puller, Wilma Kellogg; and prompter, Dorothy Altvoigt.

Philo will furnish a family with toys, books, and clothing for Christmas, it was announced by Margaret Kienzie, charity chairman. Toys, books, and money are to be brought by the girls to Room 68 by December 13.

A Christmas party will be held December 13 at 4:30 o'clock at the home of Josephine Frosh, 1223 West Wayne Street. All Philo girls are invited. Committee for the party consists of Laura Grazier, Janis Tremper, Mary Bowly, Maurine Leas, Rebecca Abbott, and Josephine Frosh.

Engineer To Be Math-Sci Speaker

Club Members Will Hear Mr. R. L. Davis At Meeting, December 13; To Display Material

Mr. R. L. Davis, plastic engineer at the General Electric, will be the special speaker at the next Math-Science Club meeting to be held December 13. The physics and chemistry students will be special guests at this meeting. Any other students, especially interested in learning about plastic materials are invited.

Mr. Davis' talk will deal with the different kinds of plastics and how they can be used to supply our everyday needs. He will also reveal the facts of how plastics came into their present form because of many years of hard work and scientific research. His talk will be supplemented with forty to fifty samples of the two forms of plastics—namely, thermosetting and thermoplastics, of which there are thousands of varieties.

"The House of Magic" from the General Electric will be presented to the club members in January, and will be similar to the one presented at both of the World's Fairs last year. The club is promising its members that this is to be one of the most outstanding and interesting programs ever presented before the club members at a regular meeting.

Meterites Will Have Christmas Celebration

Meterites' Christmas party will be held Tuesday at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The program will be in keeping with Christmas. Refreshments will be served. The committee in charge consists of Nancy Cherry, chairman; Mary Louise McNabb, and Marjorie Peterson.

The food committee in charge of Meterites' Christmas basket is Frances Weir, Joan Didier, and Marjorie Meyer.

Once Again Seniors Compliment Second Important Affair

Judging from the more than enthusiastic response received in regard to the Senior Reception, last Wednesday's affair is slated to go down in the upperclass annals as an event! This we assume from the numerous comments listed below:

Jim McClure:—I was grateful to meet so many members of the class whom I never knew before.

Becky Abbott:—I thought it was more than successful.

Dick Theye:—I enjoyed the music and the refreshments, too.

Lois Gumper:—It hit the spot.

Faye Gumper:—The reception was grand.

Ruth Dauner:—I had a really good time and was sorry when it was over.

Jim Weaver:—Underclassmen should take a lesson and have them.

Dick Galmeyer:—I thought it was quite clubby, though fatiguing.

Henry Ditton:—Frances was there and I had a swell time.

Maxine Case:—I thought it was just grand.

Edith Herman:—Oh, it was fine.

Pat Seibel:—I liked it very much.

Dick Green:—I found it quite enjoyable.

Elaine Ferguson:—I met new friends as well as old ones.

Bob Wylie:—I hope every one had the fun that I did.

Bob Hines:—Lots of fun.

Students Still Have Not Paid $35 On Times

Book II, Headed By Rebecca
Abbott Is Only Unit With All Cash Owed Turned In

"Approximately thirty-five dollars is still owed on The Times," Bob Robinson, circulation manager of The Times has announced. "This amount should have been in two weeks ago, but it will be in shortly." Book II, headed by Rebecca Abbott is the only book that is paid in full.

Book I, headed by Tom Yates, is second, having seven rooms paid in full. Books IV, V, and VI are tied for third place, having three rooms paid up. Barbara Brower, Hilda Leiminger, and Peggy Harrod head these books. Lois Hoff, heading Book III, has the lowest number, having three rooms paid to date.

Exactly $8.95 is the highest amount of money owed on this money being due on Book II. The amount is $225.92. However, it is expected to be collected soon.

Ten one hundred per cent home rooms have been recorded. These are Room 12, Mary Condrey; 32, Rose-Edna Brzy; 56, Eva Jean Wylie and Katherine Kuntz; 82, Lois Leiminger; 98, Gloria Werkmann; 102, Hilda Schubert; 138, Betty Stump; 144, Kolman Gross; 172, Marilyn Sandies; and 188, Hilda Leiminger.

A new record was set this year with 1,272 subscriptions being obtained. The room list, the agents, and the amount owed are listed below:

Mr. Nelson Snider Announces Requirements For Scholarships

Requirements for scholarships to two colleges have been announced recently by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal. More information about these awards, which are of interest to seniors only, can be obtained from either Mr. Snider or Mr. A. Verne Flint, guidance director.

Pomona College in Claremont, California, is awarding twenty-two scholarships. On a basis of open competitive examination, the following scholarships are available for candidates to the freshman class during the academic year 1941-1942, half of the stipend being for the first semester and half for the second semester; four scholarships of fifty dollars, two for men and two for women; four scholarships of three hundred dollars, open to both men and women; five scholarships of one hundred fifty dollars, open to both men and women.

In the following two groups, the awards become available to pay the tuition of the second semester, provided the performance of the candidates during the first semester is satisfactory; five scholarships of one hundred fifty dollars for both men

Five Demosthenes' Followers Reach Finals

About 180 Attend Juniors' Roundup

Mr. R. N. Snider, Mr. Merle J. Abbott, Miss Martha Pittenger Speak On Western Theme

Approximately 180 people attended the "Junior Roundup," last week's junior banquet, staged in the cafeteria last Thursday. Decorations were carried out in a typical western style with bright-colored paper bandanas at every place, which the guests wore during the evening. Small clay skulls, miniature roped figures, rail fences, and cacti decorated the tables. Programs in gay colors placed at every place added color to the tables.

Faculty speakers on the program included Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, who spoke on "Branding the Calves"; Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, "Eleven Gallon Hat"; and Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of city schools, "Challenging the Rustlers".

Ralph Shimer, class president, served as ranch foreman. Student speakers were Alene Loeser, who spoke on "Campfire Memories"; and Barrie Tremper, "Riding the Range". Gloria Kramer gave a cowboy dance and Phyllis Stein played several ranch melodies on the marimba.

A short pantomime was presented by Eileen Eidner, Dorothy Gildes, Mike Beall, and Albert Verweire, with Bud Lampton as the narrator. The room list, the agents, and the amount owed are listed below:

Whelan, Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Walker, Miss Blanche Hutto, Miss Hazel Miller.

Inter-Club Heads Plan Decorations

Red, Green, Blue, Silver To Be Color Scheme For Greeley,
Voorhees Rooms This Season

Red and green, blue and silver will be the color schemes used by the Inter-Club Congress to decorate the Greeley and Voorhees rooms this season. Marjorie Dyer is chairman of the decorating committee and members assisting her are Emalyn Remmel, Louisa Haugk, Dick Theye, and Tom Wilson. They are being aided by Edmund Bauer, president of the club. Plans for decorations have not been completed as yet, but the rooms will be ready for use by next Monday as the club Christmas parties are scheduled to begin soon.

Miss Emma Kiefer, sponsor of the club, also announces that all Christmas baskets to be delivered by Friday morning, December 20. Mr. C. A. Bex has stated that he will use the same committee that delivered the Thanksgiving baskets.

These are: Home room, Safford McMyler, Rudolph Wutke, Jean Karns, Maxine Sterling, and LaVerne Michelfelder; delivery committee, Keith Lakey, John Wirts, and Rosemary Ziegler; bulletin committee, Janet Holtmeyer, Eva Jean Wylie, and Louisa Haugk.

Extemp Meet Names Victor, Robert Young

Alene Loeser, Bob Robinson
Are Tied For Second; Don
Meyer Takes Third Place

Bob Young, senior, won first place in the annual South Side Extemp Contest last Thursday morning, and his name will be engraved on the McAlister trophy. He will also compete in the city contest next June. Alene Loeser and Bob Robinson tied for second place, and Don Meyer placed third.

McClure, Bob Guion, and Byron Singer were in the finals also. Judges for the finals were Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal; Mr. Otto Grant, Jr., and Mr. David Heaton, both Fort Wayne attorneys. Subjects for the contests were "Should the United States give full aid to Britain short of sending armed forces?", "In case of war, should wealth be conscripted as well as men?", and "Should the United States impose a complete embargo upon Japan?"

First, second, and third place winners in the first series last Wednesday are as follows: first period, Bob Young; second, Kolman Gross; second; Clifford Springer, third; second period, Byron Singer; first; Ed Meyer; second; Mike Beall and Marge McNabb; third; third period, Bob Guion and Bob Robinson; first; Helen Ninde; second; Joan Cox; third; fourth period, Jim McClure, first; Bud Lampton, second.

Judges for the contests on Wednesday were Mr. Maurice Cook, Mr. Richard Teeple, Mrs. Lex Combs, Mr. Winfield Moses, and Mr. Oliver Eggers.

USA Will Initiate Thirty-four Girls

Ceremonies To Take Place Today
In Greeley Room; Old Members To Discuss Club Code

Thirty-four girls will be initiated into USA today at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. They are Dorothy Altevoght, Rosemary Bird, Anna Lee Bearinger, Jean Clark, Phyllis Crabbill, Eleanor Ditton, Ruthanna Doll, Marilyn Domer, Alice Fisher, Gretchen Greenler, Nancy Griffith, Ida Mae Hege, Bonnie Heller, Rosemary Harris, Carolyn Fackler, Jean Fackler, Joan Lee.

Others are Doris Lentz, Lois Lenz, Alice Martz, Marjorie Meyer, Phyllis Niblick, Sally Oden, Rosemary Plummer, Grace Rendleman, Peggy Roth, Norma Russell, Barbara Seibel, Jean Webster, Evelyn Webster, Jennie Hacker, Mary Mock, Theore Brueggeman, and Wyla Baldwin.

The invitation is in charge of the girls who belonged to the club last semester. They will discuss the Girl Reserve Code for the new members. After the initiation there will be a period of entertainment. Dorothy Altevoght is chairman of the committee in charge, and others on the committee are Joan Lee, Rosemary Harris, Doris Lentz, Marjorie Meyer, Carolyn Fackler, and Jean Fackler.

Latin American Policy Will Be P-TA Subject

Mr. Wilburn Wilson, social science instructor, will talk on "Our Latin American Policy" at the next P-TA Forum, which will be held next Wednesday night at 7 o'clock in the Greeley Room. An open discussion will be held with Mr. Walter Turner acting as the discussion leader. The last meeting was postponed on account of a community concert.

Archers Will Have Pep Session Friday

A pep session preceding the South Side-Crawfordsville and the South Side-Bluffton games, carded for this week-end, will be held in the gymnasium tomorrow morning immediately after home room period.

Mr. Ora Davis, athletic director, stated, "If the football sweat-ers come they will be given out at this time".

These Puddle-jump Jalopies We Behld Are Our Teachers

Cars, cars, cars, marching up and down again. That's rather a funny way to start out an article about some of the teachers' cars that are parked around the school. Do you remember that seasoned model Ford that a certain Latin teacher used to drive, with the bust of Caesar in the back seat; or that old Essex a certain English teacher used to drive?

It seems now that she has a '38 standard Ford. Quite a jump! Everybody has probably seen that old Reo (sounds ancient, doesn't it?) that zooms up in front of the building every day with the two Scotties on the spare tire. This gas-eater belongs to a Room 3 teacher. (Guess whom?)

Mr. Gilbert, our distinguished chemistry teacher, has been seen daily coming to school in his puddle-jumper, piloted by one of his sons, Walt, by name. Topping them all is the super-deluxe, streamlined, shimmery beauty, the limousine (it's a '38 Dodge to you) driven by one of our prominent mathematics teachers. An English teacher has been seen to walk the halls with her nose in the air, but she has a right to do so. She recently bought a new cutless Olds. Another English teacher has a '36 Plymouth, better known as a jittery "jitney bus." It seems that this "bus" has an overly large trunk.

Skit Is Presented For So-Si-Y Group

Was Written By Miss Lucille
Linebeck For Presentation
In Local Red Cross Office

A short skit written by Miss Lucille Linebeck of the local Red Cross chapter was given at the So-Si-Y meeting last Tuesday in the Greeley Room. Margaret Calkins, Betty Thiele, Lois Holzworth, Virginia Ormiston, and Constance Hirschy were the members of the cast.

Betty Nichols gave a history of the Red Cross, in which were mentioned the works of Henry Dunne, Swedish, and Florence Nightingale, English. Lois Holzworth gave a brief summary of Red Cross activities. Constance Hirschy had charge of devotions. She read Luke 10.

Service work for the coming meetings were discussed. Each member was asked to bring a nickel to Miss Hazel Miller's room 12, two weeks from Tuesday, to buy an orange, which will be taken to the Women's Infirmary. Members were also asked to bring scraps of materials with which to make stuffed dolls, which will be taken to the children's nursery after Christmas.

Volunteers to work at the sale of mittens, scarves and stationery in the front hall will be taken in Miss Beulah Rinehart's room during the coming week. So-Si-Y will work on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday noons and evenings.

Miss Gretchen Smith Addresses Irwin P-TA

"Rhythm and Health" was the subject of a lecture given by Miss Gretchen Smith to the P-TA of Irwin School November 7. Following the lecture, Marianne Hageman, Dorothea Lisius, Pat Florenzier, and Mary Morgan, pupils of Miss Smith's seventh period dancing class, demonstrated modern rhythms. The accompanying music, played by Pat Har-ruff, was Chopin's Prelude No. 10.

Pictures Of Peninsula To Be Seen By Club

Miss Marian Bash, social science instructor at North Side, has been invited to show and comment on some movies she took on a recent visit to Canada, at French Club's meeting today at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The pictures deal chiefly with scenes taken on and around the Gaspe Peninsula.

Joan Wagoner will review "Maria of Chappelaine," a novel by Hemon. The program chairman for this meeting is Clara Makey.

The members of the club will complete plans for their skating party to be held at Bell's Rink tomorrow night. Tickets for the skate may be obtained from any member or from Miss Olivé Perkins, adviser of the club, in Room 90 for thirty cents each.

"Fifth Quarter" Is Letterman Dance Theme Saturday

Get Your South Side
Yuletide Wrappings
Now To Avoid Rush

Last Monday, South Side's annual Christmas wrapping party went on sale in the front hall.

The paper is made in the art room, is specifically a South Side project, started in 1930 by Miss Emma Dochterman, art instructor, and has been put out every year until now it has become a tradition.

The art students design and cut the linoleum block print. Generally the School Press prints the wrapping paper, but for the past two years it has been done by Mr. Jack Wainwright, music instructor, on his press at his camp. This year for the first time during the circulation of it, glassine paper with a herringbone stripe is being used.

The letters printed in jade green ink, spell out "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men". This, as South Side's greeting to all people in a world of turmoil, unrest, war, and struggle for peace, seems a most appropriate observance of the true meaning of Christmas.

The design on the paper was most difficult to cut, because it is composed of lettering, requiring the most tedious kind of cutting. But the hours of work are somehow rewarded by the number of South Side patrons who request sheets of the paper every year. The art students sell the paper to people in or out of school.

The cost is 5 cents per roll, roll containing two large sheets. The profit is of little interest usually. The purpose is not to realize any profits, but to give art students a worthwhile project, and an application of design and linoleum block cutting as well as to give South Side a paper that is distinctive. If any money is made, it is used in the school for articles of artistic value or in the art department for added equipment.

Archers Plan Purdue Tour For Tomorrow

About Forty Forensic Folks
Will Attend Speech Convention; To Leave At 6:45

About forty members of the speaking classes have signed up for a trip to Purdue for the Speech Convention to be held there this week-end. The group will leave at 6:45 o'clock tomorrow morning and leave Purdue Saturday at noon.

Students who are going are John Bonisib, Dave Rea, Laverne Michelfelder, Joyce Cleaver, John Warner, Paul Keil, Jim Brooks, Betty Birely, Frances Nash, Eva Jean Wylie, Karl Eberly, Martha Jean Smith, Maxine Case, Mary Ellen Barrett, Bob Brooks, Ruth Dauner, and Safford McMyler.

Other delegates are Faye and Lois Gumper, Pat Sanford, Joan Cox, Katherine Guild, Bob Guion, Eileen Eidner, Carl Orstad, Ed and Don Meyer, Helen Ninde, Byron Singer, and Mike Beall.

Others listed are Roy Heavner, Dick Theye, Emalyn Remmel, Delores Daniels, Charlene McAtee, Sam Bacon, Bud Lampton, Jean Weil, Marjorie McNabb, Alene Loeser, Joyce McAlister, and Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, public speaking instructor.

Program for the two days follows:
Friday:

1:00—Sectional Meetings
3:00—Intercollegiate Debate
4:00—Critique of the Debate
6:00—Banquet at which Dr. E. C. Elliott, President of Purdue, will be toastmaster
8:30—Special performance entitled "What A Life" by the Purdue Players

Saturday:
8:15—General Session
10:00—Forum. Subject—"The Cases for and Against Increasing Federal Power"
2:00—Dramatized Debate on the high school debate question using vocal recordings, dramatic skits, and movies

Heads Dance Plans

Bob Hines, president of Lettermen's Club, is leading the club in its plans for the first after-game dance next Saturday. It will follow the South Side-Crawfordsville game.

Trot To Follow Crawfordsville Game; Cost To Be Forty, Twenty-Five Cents

Royal Jackson Is To Furnish Music

Chaperons, Committees For Affair Are Given; Torch
Club Is To Check Wraps

As the gun goes off ending the South Side-Crawfordsville basketball game Saturday evening, lettermen with and without girl friends, football heroes of the past season, basketball stars of the present season, and every one interested in basketball will dash up to Room 170 for the "Fifth Quarter", Lettermen Club's annual dance. This extra session of the game will give all ardent swains a chance to treat their loved ones for only 40 cents, while those who come singly need pay only 25 cents. The final whistle ending the dance will be blown at 11:30. Royal Jackson's orchestra will accompany the evening.

Torch Club To Assist
Torch Club will manage the check room with these members assisting: Franklin Neff, Ray Fish, Bob Gildes, Ken Iba, George Waldschmidt, and Jack McMillan. Attendance prizes will be awarded holders of the lucky numbers. Tickets may be purchased only at the door.

The chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. A. Verne Flint, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittenger, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Shimer, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hines, and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hines.

Committees for the dance are working under the general chairmanship of Bob Hines, and they consist of the following lettermen: Bill Miller, program; Ernie Vogel, Bill Miller, and Ralph Shimer, decorations; and Bob Hines and Gus Peterson, prizes.

This affair is sponsored annually by the Letterman's Club, and the proceeds are used to finance the various activities of the organization. At present, there are approximately fifteen boys possessing letters. The officers of the club are: Bob Hines, president; Ralph Shimer, vice-president; Gus Peterson, secretary and treasurer.

Girl Reserve Club Will Conduct Sale

Scarfs, Mittens, Stationery Will Be Sold In Hall From Tomorrow Until December 13

South Side's Girl Reserve Clubs, So-Si-Y and USA, will join in selling mittens, scarfs, and stationery in the front hall. The sale will begin December 6 and continue till the following Friday, December 13.

The three articles ordered have previously been sold by members of the two clubs. At the present time, the prices have been lowered, so articles will be able to be sold at a more economical price. Mittens will sell at twenty-five cents per pair, while the scarfs will continue to be sold at fifteen cents. Mittens and scarfs are bought together, the price of thirty cents. This way a saving of five cents is made. The stationery will be sold at twenty-five cents a package, which consists of twenty-five envelopes and twenty-five sheets of writing paper.

Mittens and scarfs are of green and white material. The two colors are divided equally with green and white "S"s to bring out the Archer symbol. There are three sizes of mittens, large, medium, and small. School stationery has a white background with a green Archer emblem in the upper middle of the page. The two clubs will take alternate days in which they will work, purchasing these articles may be done before home room, fifth period, and after school. Members to work will be chosen at respective club meetings.

Social Science Postpones Date Of Next Meeting

Social Science will hold no meeting tomorrow night. At the meeting last Friday a final report of the magazine campaign was given by Ruth Dauner, secretary. The club has given money to the Visual Education Department to purchase a new movie machine. The club is planning to have a joint meeting with the Social Science Club of Muncie. The program of last Friday's meeting consisted of a discussion of the "Reciprocal Trade Treaties". Martha Thomas was the discussion leader, and Lois and Faye Gumper presented the topic.

Eleanor Vesey, 1939, To Assist Times Staff

Eleanor Vesey, graduate of '39, has been appointed adviser of The Times members of The South Side Times during the absence of Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser, from Thanksgiving vacation to the first part of January.

While in high school, Eleanor was very active in extra-curricular activities but particularly so in the journalism department, where she was general manager of The Times.

School Extends Sympathy

South Side extends sympathy to Betty Koehler, 12B, and Rosella Koehler, '39, regarding their father, Mr. John F. Koehler's death, which occurred last Sunday morning as a result of heart disease.

You Don't Need A Pull To Play Good Basketball

"No sense in my going out for basketball. Got to have pull and plenty of it to make the team."—an oft-heard statement by boys who you would think knew better. There appears to be a common misunderstanding among Archers concerning athletics. Well-meaning boys are constantly running down Mr. Friddle and our athletic set-up because they believe they are cheated or overlooked when the squads are selected. Therefore, perhaps a little explanation is due on this point.

Of the nine hundred boys in our school, only twenty-five or thirty are chosen to represent South Side in basketball competition. This means that only one out of every thirty boys can participate in varsity basketball. Consequently, it is easily seen that only the cream of our boys may be used. Only the tallest, smartest, and the most naturally gifted may be chosen. Perhaps if Mr. Friddle were to select a mediocre player and work with him for several months he could make a fine basketball player of him. But he is out to win. Why then should he develop average boys when he has scores of others, already talented from whom to pick?

It was for these reasons that intramural sports were established. It soon became clear that varsity could embrace none but a small percentage of our boys, so a system was founded whereby anyone who wished could play. In addition to this, your participation in intramural activities is the best means that our coach has of determining your merit without actually asking you to practice. He DOES watch intramural games, and is always on the lookout for up-and-coming players.

If you aspire to become a varsity basketball player, intramural basketball is the first step in securing a position on the school team. There Mr. Friddle can see you in actual play, and can best tell if you are prospective varsity material. But even then he cannot take everyone who has good prospects; he must pick, not the better, but only the very best. It is not a "pull" proposition in any sense of the word.

Wanted: Student Thinkers, Not High School Playboys

Today, more than ever before, young Americans must think. Today, more than ever before, youth must be rational. We must not be swayed by public opinion; we must create it. Today the institutions and ideals for which men gave their lives are threatened. Opinion varies as to what or who threatens them, but they are being threatened and must be upheld and protected.

Today the philosophies and dreams of men, if not crucified on the cross by public opinion, are being cast wantonly aside for a "new order." What is this "new order"? Is it so much to be desired that we are willing to destroy all of our former beliefs?

You who are dancing, singing, laughing and playing, are you merely additional Neros? You who are being led by views of others, are you afraid to think? The torch of truth is to be had but we do not accept it. As animals fear fire so we fear truth; as owls prefer darkness, so we prefer ignorance. Now is the time to think, to act, to live! Now, not when our light has been doused by dunces! Reach now for truth before it is completely hidden. Democracy thrives only where there are thinking people. Are you preparing for citizenship in a democracy or vassalage in a totalitarian world? Are you doing your part to protect and perpetuate the ever diminishing love of truth? Or are you, too, blowing sands of hate upon this oasis of brotherhood of man? Or, still worse, are you indolently letting dust collect on our preciously gained yet now dormant ideals, so that others are led to mistakenly believe them obsolete? No matter in what category we have placed ourselves, we must now arouse, shake off this too-prevalent lethargy, reawaken our minds and use them. The fate of the United States will soon be in our hands. What will be its destiny? What will you do with this Jewel of Justice, this heart's haven of persecuted peoples? It will thrive or perish at your hands! Can you then afford not to think?

Correct this sentence: Said the student, "I have fully supported my school by buying a season ticket, subscribing for the publications, and working on the magazine campaign."

Faculty, what happened to the good old-fashioned pay-if-you-will music assemblies that last year were promised once a month?

After you have racked your brain for an idea of something original to give for Christmas, you always can get a bouquet of flowers, just to be different.

Americanism: Spending hours in the beauty salon or chic clothing stores and then littering our halls with unsightly papers.

Now we have a chance to make those study hall chatters prove their worth. Reason?—Oratorical declamation contest, December 16.

Are You A Relative Of Patrick Henry Or Abe Lincoln?

"Look, there goes Helen! She is a direct descendant of a famous royal family."

"That's Jim Blank, he is a blue-blood who is directly descended from an old Virginia family."

Maybe you have heard these phrases used around school. Well, if you haven't, it's about time you were; because quite a few South Siders have illustrious ancestors.

First of all, we see a descendant of that famous statesman and orator, Patrick Henry, in the form of Dick Green. Mr. Henry is the great, great grandfather of Dick.

Another rather famous personage has an off-spring attending South Side. For Mr. Sam Bacon states that the famous writer and physicist, Sir Francis Bacon, is one of his great, great uncles, from way back when.

Still a third person who has a royal relative is Karl Eberly. A still-living (he hopes) uncle of his resides in Holland where the uncle was recently knighted by Queen Wilhelmina for his outstanding work in the medical profession.

Jim Gerig claims that he is a relative of that famous baseball player, Lou Gerig. No wonder Jim is so qualified to sling the ball.

When Henry (Sultan) Schaaf was asked if he had any great relations he replied, with a pleased smirk upon his countenance, quote "Myself" unquote. Henry is one of the most modest individuals ever seen. Let's hear a little more about you in the future, Henry, maybe at least a page or even a full issue should be devoted only to you.

Cliff Matson insists that one of his far distant relatives was a famous general in the Civil War, who died in the siege of Richmond. However, Cliff just can't remember the name of his soldier-relation, probably he was one of those unknown soldiers, Cliff.

Howard Tyndall, the Great, says that he certainly must be the descendant of some one great, for from where else could he inherit such knowledge and wisdom, but he just can't remember who it is. Just get those famous grey cells to work, Howard, and maybe you will remember.

Browsing Through Archer Celeb Files

"You've got to be a football hero." That's why we're saluting one of the best centers South Side has ever boasted on her football team, "The Byron Ginger."

All the dull facts of his life, being born in Fort Wayne on September 1, 1922, we'll skip, and take up his life in James Smart grade school. "Hen-pecko" (as he's called by his football buddies) spent two years there on basketball, soft ball, and track teams. It used to be said, in the days gone by, that Byron was completely girl-shy; but that was long ago. Even now he says, "I don't have nothing to do with girls." But they don't call him "hen-pecko" for nothing. Besides, everybody knows his relationship with Jean Hench.

"What have you done for South Side?" asks the interviewer. "Who, me?" replies Ginger. "I just come to school every day." But we know different, Byron. He has been center on our football team for three years, and has been a very big reason for the number of games chalked up for our side. He also plays on the soft ball team. He is another of our big and mighty lettermen, and has had to limit his participation in school clubs to this one because of sports activities. "Hen-pecko" has won honorable mention on the city football team.

A little of the personal touch comes in here. Byron is extremely fond of chicken (the fowl). He has no hobby but spends his time pitching. (Maybe what you're thinking, but soft ball, too.) He blushes very nicely. Speaking of blushing, he has a good chance for practice in Miss Doctorman's art class. His favorite orchestra happens to be Glen Gray.

It'll be a sad graduation day when South Side loses one of its most liked boys, Byron Ginger.

Just 19 More Days Till Christmas

The maidens who receive the most popular votes from the male species as the best dressed girls about school are these who pay strict attention to their accessories. There is no better way to ruin the effect of an expensive dress than with feeble, characterless shoes, bags or gloves. There is no better way to make an inconsequential dress take on the look of an expensive frock than to touch it up with clever doodads. A shining example are the new pigskin gloves that all-purpose bag to match. This is really a smart-looking combination for a smart girl to wear.

A nice shiny gold necklace will also do wonders for that last year's basic dress that you want to touch up for this year's date. They now have one single, long strand of gold beads that can be twisted into any shape or design that your little heart desires.

These elaborately knitted Swiss sweaters that all the stores are showing with great success are at the head of my Christmas list this year. They can be purchased in any color with brightly embroidered little Swiss girls and boys, and tress and several other designs that are sure eye-catchers. The long sleeves and heavy knit are the perfect thing to wear on these cold wintry days.

Archers Enjoy Everything From Bob Hope To Hermit

Although every report card brings vows and resolutions on the part of students to study harder, every evening the great majority of South Siders can be seen with their ears glued to the radio instead of their eyes glued to their books. The favorite programs of these students include everything from swing bands to ghost stories. Here are some favorites:

Peggy Berning—"One Man's Family."
Harold Gerbers—"I Love a Mystery."
Margerie Williams—"Bob Hope."

More Dirt, Fashion Column Demand Archer Students

More dirt?...More class news?...Fashion columns?...Teacher's columns?...Or just what would you like on the editorial page? The Times is edited for the students' enjoyment, and his ideas are the things The Times staff is interested in. It is impossible to get everyone's opinion, but here are a few of them.

Jean Forman—"I want more dirt columns and definitely different names in them instead of the ones that have been in school since started."

Betty Waldron—"More fashion columns and different names in the dirt columns."

Jerry Mansbach—"More dirt columns and more class columns."
Tom Young—"I think one big dirt column instead of a lot of little ones, and different names in the column would be a lot better."

Ginny Wilson—"One big dirt column that actually tells the truth would improve the page a lot. There should be more fashion news, too."

Glen Dager—"I want one big dirt column."

Bud Lindaman—"One big, truthful, dirt column and a fashion column."

Carol Overman—"More dirt columns with different names in them. More class columns would be nice."

Jean Kern—"Bigger dirt and fashion columns, also more news about the teachers."

Notes From The Little Black Book

Dear Diary:

My recuperation from Thanksgiving and also from the Kendallville-South Side game has taken me nearly a week; this is the reason for your recent neglect. News has, as news always does, accumulate until I scarcely know where to begin. Do you member my anxiety over Les and Carolyn? It seems that my worryings for was nothing because they have finally struck a happy medium.

The weather has finally turned cold and there has been a slight snowfall. However, there is a rising temperature between Evelyn Arnold and Dick Wilson; this is contrary to the predictions of Weatherman Ward Gilbert who has been forced to find consolation in thoughts of Mary Condey. Another couple who are affected by the weather are Ruth Werkman and Bob Babbitt. This has left Jim Holzworth out in the cold—at least for the present.

The recent weather has brought thoughts of Christmas to many of us. Along with Christmas comes the H-Y banquet which will be held in December. Dave Azar has finally forgotten the glamorous Carol Bruce, whom he saw at a New York hotel this summer, and asked Jenouise Babcock to the banquet, thus making everyone concerned happy.

The current war news has even affected the high school students. There is talk of sabotage occurring in the Grill last Tuesday a. m. The lights suddenly went out and there were the kids rushing to and fro and getting there in a big hurry. Speaking about the Grill...Jane Meyer and her not-so-steady Herb Schmo share a booth and a coke with "Pepper" Ireland and Stu Welborn every seventh period...Bud Lynch, an ex-North Sider, comes into the Grill every day for a cherry coke and also to catch a glimpse of Lola Rodriguez. Too bad Bud is going to Florida...Lola thinks so, anyway.

This will surprise you, dear diary: Johnny Galbreath has broken up Margaret Brower and Homer Somers. Yes, it's a surprise to me too, but I've heard told that such things are quite common when holiday dances and the parties are held.

Titian-haired Phyllis Wefel and Dean McKean are another new couple, dear diary; and personally, I think Dean is about to give up his freedom. Yesterday, I tried to call Phyllis Clark, but after an hour of waiting I gave it up. I have been told that Don Knorr keeps the Clark's telephone line busy for hours at a time. Not to mention the lengthy visits with which he honors Phyllis.

During the holidays, Patricia Schneiders of C.C. was seen without her usual escort, Bill Welch. I wonder what could have happened to these two?

Evidently the girls aren't satisfied with the southern boys. Strunk had to visit Indiana Tech before she found Carl Hubbardard...Her sister, however, is perfectly satisfied with Winston Witter of South.

Let's see, who else has changed their date lists?...Dick Fishering has lately been seen with Vasilka Stephans, and Ed Tanner has been escorting Jane Nathan hither and yonder...

Phyllis Lauer, better known as "Fifi" has been hall-walking with Everette Trulock. Does this mean that "Chick" is out again? I hope not. "Fifi" and Chick make a swell couple.

Jean Forman and Howard Blood have been twining the town and they say they have a gay time doing it... They are leaving the serious part to Carolyn Stalter and Dale Schuler, Helen Marshall and Howard Stillwell.

Well, dear diary, I think I have told you all of the more important gossip, so until the next time...

This Column Is An Answer To Sophs' Continuous Prayers

Dear Sophomores:

How often have you longed for something new in your column? How often have you wished some one would get an original idea? Well, here is something, it may not be original but it is new. All you have to do is to un-jumble these names.

Naita Riele—she looks so very much like Priscilla Lane that she could double for her.

Tety Mcay—president of the sophomore class.

Tinujaa Wides—"oomph girl."

"Yba" Ymeer—the gal with the longest fingernails in the class.

Adela Nidere—she had beautiful blonde locks until she had them all cut off.

Amamir Xfua—that super, colossal tennis player.

Aojn Revnago—she should join the chorus, they need her bass voice very badly.

Ramhta Ele Kewa—her shiny black hair catches everyone's eye.

Mot Richlu—the handsome blonde that just recently moved to our dear school.

Yarm Ruente—she gets most of her very fashionable clothes out of town.

Tap Hilderlum—her smile is enough to win anyone's heart.

Sselulr Danusy—that sophisticated young man about school.

Nod Kory—you can spot him a mile away with his flaming red locks.

Tythe Caswiekhkrat—she calls her dancing "jitter-bugging," but she really can dance, if it be swing or waltz.

Algiori Umpregg—she is famous for her baton twirling.

Well, we have come to the end of another week, and another column. If any of you have trouble figuring this out see me and I will help you out. One of these students may be you.

"Practice is the best rule that can be given to any one interested in public speaking." This is the golden rule that Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke, head of the public speaking department of South Side, stated. Mrs. Rieke is known to all the students from freshmen to seniors, and is loved by all. She is considered one of the best-liked teachers at South Side. She is always thought of as a good sport, as she is always in for fun when it is at the proper time.

In 1929, Mrs. Rieke started teaching public speaking and has been teaching it for eleven years. Out of her eleven years she taught for one semester at a school in South Dakota where she taught both English and public speaking. She graduated from Central High School and Indiana University.

Whenever a student is going to present a speech for some activity away from school he or she trips to Room 190 where Mrs. Rieke spends most of her time. Here will be submitted the speech for Mrs. Rieke to approve or to censor.

Besides heading the speaking department, Wranglers, and Extemp Clubs, Mrs. Rieke really has her hands full with all the contests that arise. Each year the students that are interested in speaking are taken to Purdue University, through the efforts of Mrs. Rieke, where they are shown a very good time, even though it is an educational tour. Then, from Purdue the contestants enter original oratory go to Wabash College or Delaure University for Extemp. If the speakers are lucky they may win a chance to take part in the national contest. Contests in which South Siders participate have been held at Beverly Hills, California, and Jackson, Illinois. This year's contest will be at Lexington, Kentucky.

When asked if she enjoyed her work, Mrs. Rieke replied: "I just love it, and I just love working with high school students." The only thing is she said that she could use assistance in her work as there is so much work for one person.

Mrs. Rieke stated that public speaking to her is the most practical, and interesting subject offered in the high school curriculum. It is something every one can use. It is a wonderful cure for shyness. If you are shy, nervous and embarrassed when you are talking to people, be sure to sign up for public speaking, as it will be the cure that you will long remember.

What Would You Do

There comes a time or crisis in everyone's life when he is in doubt as what to do about a situation. Here are a few helpful hints; but, if you follow our answers and are not entirely satisfied with the results we will not be held responsible.

- What would you do if:
South Side Grill closed?
1. Go over to Sandy's.
2. Give more parties.
3. Stay home.
4. Go some place out of town.
The basketball season was on and you hadn't bought a season ticket?
1. Cry your eyes out.
2. Buy a season ticket for North Side or Central.
3. Blame your forgetfulness.
4. Realize you have no school spirit.

Tips To The Teens

Whether you are aware of it or not, the Christmas holidays are gradually creeping up on us. And this means we will probably add a list of formal dances to our nightly festivities. Although dances are gobs of fun, still they are a big headache to the fellows who have to order corsages. They want to please their dates, but they never seem to know what to order. I'll admit you fellas have a big problem there. Usually the best thing to do is to call your date and find out the color of her dress, so that you can send her flowers that match. However, sometimes it is impossible to contact her early enough. If this is the case, the safest thing to do is to buy white posies, such as carnations or gardenias. Rubrum lilies, pale pink flowers with burgundy markings, go nicely with almost any color too. They look simply ultra and last like crystal. Why not let your florist call her for you?

Of course, the girls want to look extra special scrumptious at these dances. There are many kinds of materials used for formal wear. Among the prettiest are tulle, taffeta, and slipper satin. They really add a swish to your sport. However people will not notice your dress if you fail to carry yourself with poise and distinction. And above all, never stand all huddled over or with your hands on your hips, or your feet in an awkward position. Also don't attempt to repair the paint job on your face or comb falling curls into place out on the dance floor. It's bound to make your date turn red, white, and blue with disgust.

BILL was a moth instead of a MILLER?
BOB was an Adam instead of a MOSES?
VIVIAN was a hamburger instead of a SHAMBURGER?
DICK was an Elk instead of a SHRINER?
MARILYN was an Oxford instead of SONDLES?

Here's A Love Story Of Coy Little Gildea Frosh's Sweetheart

Ruts there was a Coil little maid, named Gildea, one of Trier more daughters of a Plummer. Now Gildea would go Daily to DeCamp of the soldiers, where she brought knitted stockings to an Alderman there. Now Warren, a soldier boy, could really Cortum, was in love with her. He was as good as Gold, but she didn't really Cairns for him. Of Corts, she wanted a real hero, one who would save her life, at Leas!

One day, when she was on the Rhodes to the soldier Sellers, she was met by the Biggs villain in the Con-drey. "Hi ya, Babe!" he said brazenly, "Whittern are you going? I've got lots of Loeser time. Kuntz we Link Hansel little while?"

"Precisely-not, you villain. I don't Carlo. Please go."

"I've really got my Foote in it now," she thought. "Where is Warren? I really Needham now. Things like this Sheldon happen to me!"

"Mast you bother me, you fiend?" she asked. "Yates," he answered, about to pick her up and carry her away.

"Spare me," she cried, but he McNabbed her and began to run. Suddenly he stopped.

"Do Myers deceive me or is that Warren Puffing along in his jalopy," she cried.

Cyr enough it was!

"Harry up!" screamed Gildea "Stephans the gas!"

Hoo Rea! Harry's the hero ever at her Beck and call and was up and Adams.

"Porter down, you villain!"

(Disappearing villain.)

"You've saved my life, what Moore could I ask?"

Mike Beall's California Trip Tops Lou's, Karl's Travels

Last summer is but a memory to most of us, but to Charles (Mike) Beall it is as clear as the day he arrived in Fort Wayne last July. For Mike is one of those fortunate persons who has relatives living in California. So, as soon as school was dismissed last June, he decided to pack his bags and trot out west to visit them. As soon as he had made the arrangements, Mike hopped upon a west-bound bus and headed that old saying "Go west, young man, go west." After a week of travel by bus, Mike arrived in Los Angeles which is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hanna (Mike's relatives). Mr. Beall wasted no time in seeing the sights of Los Angeles. He visited the Cocoanut Grove, where he heard Eddy Duchin play, and he also dined at Earl Carroll's.

Visits Hollywood
Mike also spent many hours visiting Hollywood, where he almost had an automobile accident when he just missed a car driven by Lana Turner. The cause of the near catastrophe was probably his surprise at seeing Lana Turner.

Mike seems to have had a very good connection in one of his former pals, who attended the same school as did Mike when he lived in California. This pal introduced Charles to a sub-debentate, age seventeen, who immediately invited Mike to a beach party at Santa Monica. When Charles was asked how he liked the girls in California he replied, with much enthusiasm, "I have never seen so many beautiful girls, every one of them looked like a movie queen. The sub-deb, who asked me to her party resembled Lana Turner." Mike's friend also knew Tim Holt, the movie star, so Mike was invited to dine with Tim and his father, Jack Holt. Mike says, "There aren't any nice actors as a people than movie actors. As an average, they are not stuck-up at all."

Sails In Pacific
In between parties and meeting beautiful girls, Mike sailed a thirty-foot sailboat on the Pacific ocean. One day Mike and several friends were sailing, and a storm arose. Fortunately there was a cabin on the boat, which contained double-decker beds and a small stove, so the boys just threw out the sea anchor and rode out the storm.

One day Mike decided to obtain a job; so his brother-in-law, who is an executive of the Vultee Aircraft Company, got Mike a position as an office worker. Once he was invited to go along with several test pilots to Burbank Airport and take publicity pictures of Vultee's newest brain-child, the Vultee Valiant 51, a basic combat trainer for the United States Army Air Corps. Mike took off in a Stinson cabin plane, which flew alongside the Valiant, while Charles and Vultee's staff photographer took pictures. Daredevil Beall hung out of the door and took a picture of the Valiant in a dive. After arriving at Burbank field they completed the business transactions and started back. This time Mike had the privilege of riding in the rear cockpit of the Valiant.

Flies In Transport
Mike says, "I will never forget that ride, it was the thrill of a life-time, and was secured once when the pilot put the plane into a sideslip. I thought my stomach would come up into my head, and I had the feeling that the plane was going to drop from under me." Mike went up three more times that day in an old Vultee single-engine transport which had just been sold as a private plane. That certainly is quite a record, five plane rides in one day; and, before that time, Charles had never set foot in an airplane. However, Mike's job did not last very long, in fact only a week, for it was soon found out that Mike was not old enough to be employed.

After four weeks in Los Angeles, Mike visited San Francisco, where he met two of his friends, who were also from South Side, Karl Eberly and Louis Hallenstein. Spending several very enjoyable days in San Francisco, Mike then took a bus for home. He finally arrived in Fort Wayne after five weeks of travel. When asked what he could remember the best about his trip he replied, "The trip home on that bus. Never have I been so uncomfortable or so glad to see a bathtub in my life. I could not wash, and my hair was full of sand and dirt after crossing the hot, glaring desert; but the discomfort was worth the experiences and fun I had in California."

Miraculous Monikers Mark Mighty Muscular Masculines

By "Buck" Eberly
"Hi, 'Lu'!" "What do you say, 'Dipper'!" "Hello, 'Sultan'!" Names, names, and more names, but not one proudly given by parents or uncomplainingly accepted by us at birth. That is the modern way of addressing your friends and, if you haven't already guessed, they are nicknames. It is sometimes hard to tell why some folks have one or two nicknames, while others have none. It is even harder to tell the origin of some of the titles by which some of our South Side students are known. However, there are a few which seem to have some rhyme and reason. Take "Plebe," the unusual nickname given to one of our prominent cheer leaders, Ed Kettler. How did he get it? Have you ever noticed Ed out on the gym floor putting his heart and soul into those yells, and his face lighting up in a vivid red glow? At Annapolis, the new rookies are called "plebes," because they are always flustered. Some of Ed's friends noticed how strenuous and excited he became when he exercised, so they shortened, or changed "plebe" to "Pleabe," and the name has stuck. Isn't it simple? Well, yes! Charles Harrison is called "Buck" by his intimates, because he is frequently seen trying to imitate Jack (Buck) Benny. Charles also has another nickname, "Chuck." That one you can figure out for yourself.

"Killer," that is what I call a real name, but the person who responds to that is not nearly as vicious as he sounds. Bill Miller had that tacked on him because he is such a good football player no one can stop him when he starts through the line.

Kellies Instructed On Safe Driving

Unit On Safety Featured In Upperclass Home Rooms; Book Series Is In School Library

A unit on driving is being presented in junior and senior home rooms. Fifteen sets of the Sportsmanlike Driving Year are in the library and the home room safety committees have access to these books. They are "The Driver," "Society's Responsibilities," "How to Drive," "Sound Driving Practice," and "Driver and Pedestrian Responsibilities."

A list of eleven topics has been made which are to be discussed during the course. "History of Automobile Transportation" has already been discussed. The next topic to be given is "Social and Economic Responsibilities." Sub-topics under this are rapid growth of automobile traffic, effect on people, social life and the community, effect on life and health, and trends. The remaining topics are "How the Automobile Runs," "How to Drive An Automobile," "Keeping the Automobile in Safe Condition," "The Driver," "The Highway," "The Pedestrian," "Traffic Laws," "Accident Factors and Circumstances" and "Driver Responsibility." It has been suggested that an article, "So You Think You Can Drive a Car?" by Jimmie Lynch in November 19 Look magazine be posted on the home room bulletins.

Most Of Us Think Of Christmas Seals As Real Necessaries

Christmas time is a time to think of other people besides yourself. In thinking of others be sure not to forget to buy your Christmas Seals. Every one should pay for these seals, because it returns from their purchases help others to have a merry Christmas by having better health. The students of South Side express this opinion about the seals. Following are their remarks:

Madalyn Howell:—I think they are well.
Kathryn Anderson:—Me, too.
Etheldrea Behling:—Every one should consider them a part of the Christmas spirit.

Audrey Evans:—I think the Christmas Seals are a wonderful idea.
Eleanor Lambert:—I think it is beneficial and also very helpful to others.

Larry Phipps:—It is a very beneficial campaign.

Mary Antrim:—Gives people a chance to help in something worthwhile.

Betty Carper:—It's a swell thing to do, but who does?

Vallette Favory:—I think it's really very helpful.

Donna Neff:—I think it is a very helpful campaign.
Joyce Reed:—Every one should buy seals, even me.

Jack Cranfield:—Christmas Seals should be bought by every one, as it is an aid to mankind.

Naomi Rinehold:—I think it is very helpful to others, and I think it should be continued every year.

Bob Shover:—I think it's swell.

Marcelle Driftmeyer:—Every card should have a seal on it at Christmas.

Jenouise Babcock:—Buying Christmas Seals is really a wonderful way of aiding those who are not quite so fortunate as we.

Mrs. R. Pearson Lectures To Club

Eminent Business Photographer Shows Prints During Camera Meeting; John Myers Elected

Mrs. Ruth Edwards Pearson, professional photographer of Indianapolis and Florida, showed a number of pictures at the Camera Club meeting, November 27, in Room 36. Mrs. Pearson specializes in coloring pictures in oil.

John Myers was elected president; Bob Zimmer, vice-president; Herman Turner, secretary; Ben Harris, dark-room manager, and John Logue, parliamentarian, during the business meeting which followed. The new constitution, drawn up by John Logue and Bob Zimmer, was read and adopted.

A dark-room has been furnished for the club. Mr. Francis Fay, adviser, announced. Mrs. D. W. Merchant has loaned a printer and other equipment for the club's use.

John Myers and Ben Harris will demonstrate methods of developing in the dark-room at the next meeting, December 4.

What Can One Do To Receive Larger Weekly Allowance?

Having a larger weekly allowance has appealed to me as a good idea for quite some time, and I could really use a few extra shekels for some of the social events pending on the calendar on the wall. However, I have wondered whether or not the demand was quite so strenuous as to "Wormy". Put the two together and what have you? Dear me, we hope we haven't started something!

Soon the matter was taken out of my hands; for I found that, according to the engagements I had made and placed on the wall, no juggling of the regular weekly allowance would suffice. I had the two alternatives then: the first being to secure an increase in weekly dole, and the second to go out and get a job. The last seemed a little too extreme for one of my natural aversion to soiling the hands with honest toil. I must go and ask dad for a dollar more per week.

He didn't look in a receptive mood at the supper table that evening, so I decided that the time for the touch was not yet ripe. I let him settle into the deep chair in the den and hide behind the daily paper, enjoying a smoke before tactfully approached that most painful of all subjects, finance.

As I pointed out to him, even the leaders of this great land of ours can not balance the budget. However, this hindered, rather than helped, the matter because dad is a died-in-the-wool Republican, and at the mention of the present administration he fumed and smarted because of early November wounds. He flatly refused to advance or give any additional money. So, as much as I hate to do it, it looks as if I shall have to seek a job and, provided I get one, settle down to honest-to-goodness work.

Mr. Wilson's Government 1 classes have concluded the unit on how laws are made and are now studying how laws are put into effect.

Miss Mellen's home nursing classes have been studying about disinfectants and antiseptics and how they should be used safely around the home to prevent disease. They have also studied about vaccines and serums.

In writing letters of order in Miss Delancey's English 2, period 7 class, Paul Swain and Betty Colgan made A-; Jack Stark, Silrene Smith, and Gladys Gerhardt made A.

Mr. Yoder's physical geography classes are studying rocks and minerals.

Students in Miss Dochterman's art classes are working on their animal projects which will be sold next week in the front hall as Christmas favors.

Some Like It Cold; Others Like It Hot; Archers Are Split

Although the faces of most of us bore semblances of joy last Wednesday, others showed the marks of sleet and snow. In other words, not all of us appreciate the first sign of winter which presented itself last week, snow. The following are the comments of the student body on the event:

Mary Carlo:—My chief trouble was dodging those brats who threw snowballs.

Richard Stevenson:—I enjoyed it.

Fred Collins:—I had to clean off the walks.

Caroline McNabb:—I was in Indianapolis, and it didn't snow there.

Dick McIntosh:—Couldn't get out of the house, it was so deep.

Joe Bekius:—I could have stood another fifty inches.

Mary Bowly:—I almost fell and broke my neck a couple times.

Pat Seibel:—I couldn't get the car started, or I would have liked it.

Ed Wade:—I had waited so long for the snow that it came as a shock.

Alice Light:—We are going to move in a few months, and I hope it isn't as slippery then as it is now.

Dick Dosch:—It's more fun to have dates these days.

Mini Dunbar:—The streets are too slippery.

Mary Alice Dunten:—I think so, too.

Jeanne Smith:—I like the winter sports we can have now.

Joyce Reed:—I like to play in the snow, if I don't catch cold.

Sam Bacon:—I hate snow.

Wanda Eller:—I have to stay indoors more in the winter, or I would like the snow better.

Dick Fishering:—Snow use!

Bill Miller:—I have to put the top up on my car.

Gloria Werkman:—I really haven't given the matter much thought.

Dick Theye:—I'll take Florida.

A poem about the days of the week has been learned by the pupils of Miss Perkins' French 1, period 6 class.

On a test given by Mr. Gould to his seventh period botany class, the following pupils made 95 or above on a test covering flowers: Ilene Franke, Hilda Leininger, Mary Merchant, and Rosemary Spore. Janet Holtmeyer, Naomi Koopman, Gloria Kramer, Patricia Smith, and Jeanette Whetzel made 100.

"A Pioneer Boy Remembers" is a story which is being illustrated by each pupil of Miss Dorothy Magley's English 2, period 4 class.

Pat Koch of Home Room 30 recently had charge of the program on good manners in locker rooms.

Either A or A—on a written lesson of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" were made by Betty Kite, Rosemarie Swaim, and Mary Morningstar in Miss Pocock's English 1 class.

Betty Dice, John Lowe, Robert Kite, and Dorothy Koomjohn, students of Miss Perkins' French 4, period 1 class, made A grades on two tests given on irregular verbs. Joan Wagoner made an A grade on one of these tests.

Reports on "Farming" and "Country Life Among the Romans" were given to Mrs. Welty's Latin 4 class by Mary Lou Feller and Helen Ellenwood respectively.

Nelda Runge was the only student who wrote a perfect paper in a punctuation test given by Miss Kiefer to two English 2 classes.

The boys of Mr. Plasket's Industrial Arts 1, period 4 class who are doing service work are Glen Adair, roll; Herman Blanks, clamp foreman; Erwin Brand, tool foreman; Bill Stults and Dale Koonitz, bench foreman; and Ken Zelt, locker foreman.

Mr. McClure's government classes are just completing their study of the judicial branch of the government.

Seventy Students Absent Per Day

Colds, Sore Throats Are Chief Causes; Attendance Recorder Gives Withdrawals, Entrants

"The average absences per day this week numbered approximately seventy," announced Mrs. Lillian Scott, attendance recorder. The most common reasons were that the students had colds or sore throats.

Those students that have withdrawn during the month of November are Evelyn Woods, Carol Westfeld, who is now going to Central; Wilber Walda, quit; Richard Smoth, looking for work; Richard Getty, working; Wayne and Erma Paschal, in Miami, Florida; Oscar Winfield, quit; Donna Taylor, working; Winston Witter, in Grabbill, Indiana; Donald Kitchen and Phyllis Baldwin, going to Central; Willo Smith, moved to Adrian, Michigan; Irving Kraus, working; Jerry Moveland, in New Haven; Don Pens has joined navy; Delores Docher and Dorothy Kienle, staying at home, and Don Anweiler, working.

Entrants are Celeste Friestroffer who returned from Palm Beach, Florida; Muriel Teed, from Detroit, Michigan; Martha Anne Moon, from Crawfordsville, Indiana; Tom Davis, from North Side; Rita Pulman, from Bryan, Ohio; Shirley Keegan, from Washington, D. C.; and Thelma Keith, from Liberty Center.

Tompie Hall Obtains Most Advertisements

Tompie Hall, advertising manager of The Times, had the ad solicitors in obtaining the highest amount of inches of advertising for the November 28 issue. Tompie had 29 ads for the full page tie-up, plus three and one-half inches of regular advertising.

Virginia Gray was next with the sum of nine tie-up ads. Kathryn Eipper secured four tie-up ads and three regular ads. Peggy Greaney obtained four inches of advertising, and Marilyn Domer two inches.

Archers Win Season's Opener With Kendallville Quintet

Kellies Mark 35-32 Victory Over Comets

Green Leads In Entire Tilt; Gus Feistkorn Stars Making Thirteen Point Total

Paced by the sniping of lanky Gus Feistkorn, the South Side Archers successfully launched their 1940-41 campaign by eking out a 35 to 32 win over an experienced Kendallville quintet. The Kelly Kounters were never in danger as the final tally might indicate, for the Comets trailed throughout the entire game, until the final minutes by six and ten-point margins. Coach Burl Friddle did not start his veteran center, Bob Hines, as this Archer pivot man had been ill for several days prior to the clash.

South Side, opening with Kellies Knoll, Feistkorn, Zuber, Augsburger, and Shimer, gained a 13 to 6 lead at the termination of the first period. Feistkorn hit three goals in the first quarter to aid the Archer cause, while the Kendallville scoring was well divided. The second quarter of play was not quite as lively as the first, for the Kendallville defense strengthened to allow the locals but two field goals. Friddle and Cocharde of the Comets gave the Kendallville fans a glimmer of hope by hitting goals before the half ended to pull the Comets within five points of the Green and White. South Side held a seventeen to twelve half-time lead.

At the beginning of the second half, Coach Friddle sent Bob Hines into the game. Soon the Archers enjoyed a twelve point lead; however, this was short lived, as the Comets hit two fielders before the end of the third period to give the locals a 28 to 20 lead.

The fourth quarter proved the undoing of the Friddle machine. After three minutes had elapsed, the favored Archers held at 31 to 21 lead. Kendallville then set to work to give Coach Friddle and his charges a last-minute scare. With the South Side defense folding in the final period, Dick Sellers of Kendallville hit three quick goals to close the gap. After this flurry, Owens hit a short tip lead to run the tally to 35 to 32. The Archers, displaying some semblance of coolness under the din which accompanied the Comet's rally, managed to hold the host in check during the final minutes.

South Side's cagers hit 15 of 60 field attempts, and the Comets dropped in 12 of 52 tries. The Archers converted 5 of 18 charity tosses, while the Comets hit 8 of 15 free throws. Following are the statistics:

Books Reviewed By Library Club

Volumes Are Voted On; Those Awarded Most Ballots Are Purchased For Circulation

Ten books were reviewed at Library Club's last meeting. The entire library staff voted on these and the two books receiving the highest number of votes were purchased for circulation in the library. "Life With Father," "Man Who Could Not Shudder," "Penny Marsh Finds Adventure," "Tree of Liberty," "Home Town," "World's End," "Fields of Paradise," "You Can't Go Home," "Polish Profile," and "I Married Adventure" were reviewed by Bob Gunzenhauser, Earl Sweeney, Lois Gumpfer, Eva Jean Wylie, Marilyn Loomis, Marjorie Dyer, Kathryn Guild, Tompate Hall, Becky Abbott, and Joan Cartwright.

The committee for this meeting was Eva Jean Wylie, Bob Wylie, Lois Gumpfer, Ralph Herb, Ellen Harty, Lester Oppenlander, and Jeanette Whetsel. Refreshments consisted of pumpkin pie and whipped cream. The next meeting will be held on December 17.

Kelly Kounters

During the football season this column was dedicated to the performance of the Archer footballers; now, Kelly Kounters will keep South Side basketball rosters informed on the progress and shooting accuracy of the Kelly cagers. In the first column below, lettered F.G.A., the number of field goal attempts made by each Archer against the Comets are recorded; the second row, worded F.G.M., the number of successful field efforts are listed; the following column denotes the shooting percentage of each player. The last three columns of counters are dedicated to foul shooting; as above, the row topped by F.S.A., represents the number of free throws each player has attempted; the fifth group of figures, F.M., shows how many fouls each player has successfully made, while the final column denotes the foul shooting percentage. Here are the figures:

	F.G.A.	F.G.M.	Per.	F.S.A.	F.M.	Per.
Bill Knoll	9	3	.333	2	0	.000
Harry Hines	1	0	.000	2	0	1.000
Bryce Augsburger	13	3	.231	2	0	.000
Tom Brower	1	0	.000	0	0	.000

Dallas Zuber	5	1	.200	1	0	.000
Totals	60	15	.250	18	5	.277

As can be seen by the statistics listed above the Archers hit 15 of 60 field attempts for a percentage of .250; the Kendallville five made 12 of 52 field tosses for an average of .232. The South Siders made good on only five of eighteen charity throws for a mark of .277, while the Comets did somewhat better in sinking eight of fifteen for a percentage of .533.

GAA Net Games Enter Fifth Round

Senior 2's, Junior 1's, 2's, Sophomore 5's, 1's, 6's Are The Victors In Friday's Games

In the fourth round of GAA basketball games played last Friday, wins were made by Bernadine Pressler's Senior 2 team, Rose Stemen's Juniors, Betty Hargan's Junior 2's, Joan Dodge's Sophomore 5's, Martha Cash's Sophomore 1's, and Kate Sanders' Sophomore 6's.

At 3:30 the Senior 2's defeated the Sophomore 2's by score of 14 to 2. The outstanding players of this game were Frances Nash and Irene Meyer. On the north field Sophomore 1's defeated the Senior 2's by the score of 3 to 2. The best players were Geneva Martin and Neva Rabe.

At 3:50 the Junior 2's defeated the Sophomore 4's by the score of 8 to 1. Two baskets each were scored by Elaine Boerger and Betty Hargan for the winning team. On the north field the Junior 1's defeated the Sophomore 3's by the score of 13 to 5. Outstanding players for that game were Kathleen Neith, Betty Bleigh, Betty Baker, and Miriam Abbott.

The last games were won by the Sophomore 5's who defeated the Junior 3's by the score of 7 to 6. Margaret Dale, Betty Brubaker, and Evelyn Forbes made the game an exciting one by showing their ability.

At 4:00 o'clock on the south field the Sophomore 6's defeated the Junior 4's by the score of 19 to 6. Julia Kaser, Kate Sanders, and Donna Peel each made three baskets for the winning team.

The referees were Kate Sanders, Marilyn Bullerman, Carolyn Fisher, Joan Swartz, Pat Jackson, Donna Peel, and Phyllis Amstutz. The scorers were Ilo Hirschman, Marilyn Brackman, Harriet Swager, Marjorie Pressler, Janis Fruth, and Joan Spore.

Handball Tourney Tilt Is Played

Winners Are Given In Middle, Heavy, And Light Weights; Many Games Are Won So Far

Boys' intramural handball tournament is now in full swing with several of the games having been played. Games played in the heavy weight division (130 pounds and up) were: Gilbert versus Timme, Timme winning; Trotti versus Copp; and Potter defeated Ludwig.

In the middleweight (110 to 130) division, games played were: Wilson versus Rehm, Lotz against Wuttke, Simmons competed with Wissler, and Meyers played Miller. The victors were Rehm, Wuttke, and Simmons. Meyers won over Miller for a forfeit.

Victors in the lightweight (up to 110 pounds) division were Stone, Morton, Bredemeyer, Mitchell, and Miller. They won in the following games: Stone competing with Meeks, Morton versus Long, Konow against Bredemeyer, DuVall playing Mitchell, and Miller versus Zollinger.

Last Thursday more matches were run off. Holmes defeated Selby, Stamelets lost to Fortness by a forfeit. Wissler was defeated by Wuttke, and Gernand beat Schlup by a forfeit.

Other games that were played, the results of which were not known, were Skole versus Auer, Timme against Trotti, Stone versus Morton, and Bredemeyer against Mitchell.

Most Kelly Studes Disapprove Shorter Christmas Vacation

Many of you already know Christmas vacation has been shortened to one week instead of the customary two weeks. The reason is that the infantile paralysis epidemic delayed the start of school last fall. The question was asked among the Archers and Archerettes, "What do you think of the shortening of Christmas vacation?" Here are the results:

Arlene Reincke: I like the idea, otherwise we might have to go to school longer in June.

Mary Cleland: Two weeks is definitely the plan if no additional school in June.

Grace Johnson: I don't see what good it will do taking away one week of June.

Barbara Cousar: I'm for a longer absence from school work.

Nancy Fishering: I don't mind the shortening of vacation since it has to be taken off somewhere, and I would rather get off earlier in the spring.

Dean McKean: I'm for bigger and better vacations.

Kay Kissel: Confidentially, I don't like the idea.

Bonnie Junk: I can't see any reason why we shouldn't have two weeks vacation. We should have plenty of time to enjoy our presents.

Bill Gruenwald: I think we deserve a shortened vacation because we had a long summer vacation.

Juanita Drews: I'd rather have a shorter Christmas vacation than to go without a spring vacation.

Jim Creighton: It's an outrage.

Central Catholic Faces Two Tilts

Levickimen Will Go To Decatur Friday Night; Portland To Come To Irish Gym Saturday

Coach John Levicki's Irish of Central Catholic will face two tough foes this week-end. On Friday night the Catholics are slated to travel to Decatur; the Portland Panthers will come to the local gym on the following evening.

Coach Hugh Andrews has a fair team at Decatur this year; however, the Yellow Jackets are not counted upon to be good enough to check the invading Irish. Portland may prove a tough hurdle for the Purple and Gold, for the Cementers have already posted wins over several good fives.

Central Catholic's starting quintet will probably include Bert Keenan and Nick Leto in the forward posts, Bob Walker or Bud Gladioux at center, and Dick Krouse and Harold Mort-horst at the guards.

Annual 'Mural Court Contests Teams Given

Thirty-six Groups Sign Up For Games In Fifth Period And Leagues of Tourney

South Side's intramural basketball tournament is now in full swing. Games are played every day the fifth period and after school in the gym. Mr. Louis Briner, intramural director, is in charge. Altogether thirty-six teams have been entered and many more are expected to sign up. Following are the names of the boys who have entered and the names of their teams:

The Dogpatch team is comprised of Thomson, Zehrung, VandeBunt, Stine, DuWaldt, and Hartzell. Gernand, Blanks, George, Saalfrank, and Ostermiller make up the Blue Devils, while on the Zippers we find Bishop, Bolyard, McNes, Stiller, and Reynolds. Count Basies Boys have Miller, Welborn, Warner, Schaff, Lowe, and Brudi, and the Twerps are Shirk, Franklin, Gilbert, Lahman, Sterling, and Copp. Deks 1 is composed of Bone, Eberly, Gallmyer, Worman, Bann, and Robinson. The Mystics we have Brun, Rairdy, and Underwood make up the Hot Stuff five.

The Sehold Twins, Wuttke, Daneker, Kilpatrick, and Ensley make up the Sons of Garibalde, and Swager, Trotti, Selby, Harter, Smith, and Thompson, are signed up for the Musketeers. On the five Mystics we have Ramey, Fortried, Cass, Rose, Standley, and Birkenbuel, while Brumeier, Roth, Brateman, Barnett, Brown, and Greer are Snowbound.

Giese, Druhott, Merchant, Gilbert, and Gilbert are known as the Supermen. On the five Mystics we have Oppenlander, Wolf, Johnson, and Heffelfinger call themselves the Panthers. On the Irish five are Harrison, White, Meyer, Garrison, Ferriek, Newhard, and Holmes, while S.O.P. has Buschman, Theye, Hall, Harter, Lahman, and Robinson.

The Alkatraz squad is composed of Weaver, Underwood, Forbing, Steury, Howard, Stults, and Kyvik, and Goodwin, Shell, Welch, Furgeson, Jordan, and Kiermaier are known as the Blitzkriegers. The Rafterers are made up of Agler, Folk, Hursh, Alandinger, and Broom, while Bauer, Koebel, Landis, Caple, and Wollman named themselves Yehudi men.

Miller, McClure, Wells, and Dallman call themselves the Ex-Laxers, and Rendleman, Davenport, Perry, Ray, Oppenlander, and Geyer comprise the S.G. The wisher, H.C. is made up of Duizer, Ludwig, Stolte, Bradley, Parry, Morrison, and Dager, while Barbara, Brandt, Rose, Schur-enburg, Hartman, and Stienner are known as the Roses.

The Gambolies are Donahue, Amstutz, McMyler, J. Belts, and B. Brooks; and Wuttke, Miller, Noyes, Schmeding, Lohse, and Warner call themselves the Super Prunes. The Owls have Russell, Miller, Zartman, Kesterson, Yant, and Spiker, while Swain, Kast, Hibler, and Waldrop form the Killer Dillers.

On the Jitterbugs are Doyle, Snyder, Griser, Cox, and Burns, and the

Want To Learn How To Fly? Read About CAA Training

One square mile of level ground with three buildings upon it located about four miles north of the city is where the interest of many a young high school student is centered. Yes! That's right, you have guessed it; it is the Municipal Airport. Nothing today has secured more publicity than aviation; for it is exciting and interesting, and aviation offers a grand opportunity for the young men of America. Therefore, it is natural that every boy and many girls are worshippers of the airplane.

South Side is no exception for it has its quota of air-minded fans as seen by the large enrollment in the Airplane Club. This organization is sponsored so that young students of high school age may study and model airplanes. But today these young men and women can not only build small scale models but may actually learn to fly.

Does it seem strange that such young people are allowed to take such dangerous inventions into the air? It certainly does not! Today the modern light training plane is as easy to fly as an automobile is to drive, and the Federal Bureau of Inquiry states that recent figures show that in comparing the two modes of travel, the airplane is a safer means of transportation than the automobile.

Civil aeronautical authorities are

Lost Your Lipstick? Why Not Investigate —Go See Our Dean

Have you lost anything? Why not inquire at Miss Martha Pittenger's office, Room 104, on the second floor? All lost and found articles are reported to her office; and the motley accumulation is getting large.

Miss Pittenger states, "Most people around the school are honest, and if any one finds anything, it is usually brought to my office."

The list of found articles is as follows: Scarves, mittens, gloves, handkerchiefs, boys' hats, caps, stockings, books, notebooks, pencils, pens, compact, rings, gym clothes, coats, keys, sweaters, earmuffs, pencil bags, pocketbooks, and lipsticks.

X.X.X. have Iba, Wilson, Perry, Waldschmidt, and Neff. Domer, Dirck, Bailly, Hearn, and Youngmans are known as the Klassy Kids, while Heferfeld, Weeling, Speckman, Parker, Bruns, and Dickmeyer are called the Ex-Swishers.

Bredemeyer, Hambrock, Muller, Dray, Smith, and Howley inhabit the Comet five, and Mitchell, Zollers, Miller, Zollinger, and Armstrong are called the Red Hots. On the Badgers we find Klofentstien, Griener, Brackman, Habis, Stamelets, Shannon, and Nahrwald, while the Bulldogs are comprised of Stone, Vanderford, Laubert, Long, and Pickinak.

This is a very successful turn-out, but all boys participating are cautioned not to sign up for two teams. The schedule of play will soon be posted in Mr. Briner's office.

Seven County Tilts To Be This Week

New Haven Is To Play Host To Strong Outfits From Hoagland, Elmhurst, Monroeville

Allen County's high school basketball teams are carded to see action in seven tilts this week; four of the games are regularly scheduled battles, while the remaining three will be played during a blind tourney to be held at New Haven on Saturday afternoon and evening. The Elmhurst Trojans will travel to Huntstown tomorrow evening in the only all-county affair.

New Haven will play host to strong outfits from Hoagland, Elmhurst, and Monroeville on Saturday. The draw for the schedule will be made directly before the opening clash; however, despite any breaks in the draw accorded the highly rated Trojans from Elmhurst, the host Bulldogs are favored to win their meet. Ene schedule:

Friday
South Whitley at Arcola.
Ashley at Leo.
Elmhurst at Huntstown.
Spencerville at Woodburn.
Saturday
Blind Tourney at New Haven.

Kellies To Meet Bluffton, Crawfordsville This Week-end

Green To Play On Own Floor Saturday Night

Archer Five Goes To Bluffton Tomorrow Evening; Victory Will Be Debatable

Coach Burl Friddle's South Side Archers, having launched their 1940-'41 campaign with a win over a good Kendallville five, will engage strong outfalls from Bluffton and Crawfordsville this week-end. The Kelly Klads will travel to Bluffton to meet the Tigers tomorrow evening, while the Crawfordsville five will come north on Saturday to open the home schedule of the South Side team. Bluffton is expected to provide the locals with a good evening of competition; the Crawfordsville unit is as yet unknown and untried in high class cage circles. The tilt at Bluffton tomorrow evening is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock, with a preliminary between the second teams carded for 7:15 o'clock. On Saturday night the Archers' first home struggle will start at 8:30 o'clock. Officials of Bluffton High School have reported that the tickets for the Archer-Tiger clash are going fast; while no tickets for the game are to be sent to South Side, several hundred duets will be reserved for the purchase of local fans who may follow the Friddlemen to Bluffton. Season tickets sales have been brisk the past few weeks, indicating that the Archer rooters not possessing seasonal books will find difficulty in attending the Crawfordsville game. While general admissions will be sold, the athletic department has announced that the season ticket holders may soon be the only persons admitted to the home games.

Tigers Look Impressive

While South Side has never encountered too much trouble in beating the Bluffton Tigers, the fans of that city are holding high hopes that this may be the Tigers' turn at victory. The Bengals have looked impressive in their early games, winning Auburn 32 to 27, and beating their traditional rivals from Columbia City, 43 to 39. Coach Templin has rounded a good five from his meager material, and it is expected that the Bluffton mentor will enjoy one of the best years of his career. The five for Bluffton will include Lewis and Lockwood in the forward positions, Higgins at center, and Libby and Cline in the guard posts. Lockwood has been the team's scoring power; he tallied ten points against the Columbia City Eagles, and added eight in a good defensive play, is the only Archer virtually assured of a regular starting berth. Against Bluffton and Crawfordsville this week-end, the Archer mentor is also certain of using Veterans Chuck Feistkorn and Bryce Augsburgers. Feistkorn is rapidly developing into a real ball player, combining his height and speed with his shooting accuracy to give promise of future success; Bryce Augsburgers, a clever ball handler and speed merchant, is expected to team with Feistkorn in giving Coach Friddle the offensive attack. While the center and forward positions seem clinched, the guard posts still remain open. Veterans Bill Knoll and Chick Shimer should carry the majority of the burden; however, either Dallas Zuber or Tom Brower may replace the more experienced cagers. If South Side's players call for speed and plenty of shooting, the two juniors will be employed; but, for steady team and unit play, Veterans Knoll and Shimer will be used. The Archers should find both Bluffton and Crawfordsville in "evening" moods for the week-end, as the locals are expected to be too experienced and possess too much speed and drive for their opponents.

By giving many of his candidates a chance to gain valuable experience against the Comets last Friday, Coach Burl Friddle is expected to formulate a regular starting team during the next few tilts. Bob Hines, always dependable for valuable tip-ins and good defensive play, is the only Archer virtually assured of a regular starting berth. One Down—Come ahead, Tigers and Athenians. Last Friday night the Kelly Klads opened by taking an exciting Kendallville Comet five by a three-point margin; however, the three-point advantage is misleading. The Friddlemen were threatened in the final seconds, but the Archers completely controlled play throughout the tilt. Dallas Zuber, Archer guard, did a fine job of holding Howard Kishego of Kendallville to two points in the first half; previous to the Comet-Archer fray the Indian forward, for he is of full Indian blood, averaged around thirteen points per game. While the locals cracked a bit on defense in the closing minutes, the Comets appeared ragged throughout the tilt. With the close decision at Kendallville in the books, the Green cagemen are looking forward to the strong fives from Bluffton and Crawfordsville. Bluffton's Tigers are expected to cause the locals an evening of real worry, while the Crawfordsvilles are unknown as to relative merit and strength. The Tigers already hold four wins over tough opponents; Crawfordsville cap took to a 44 to 32 conquest of Noblesville for recognition. Predictions for a week-end of high class competition for Summit City fives; South Side to drop Bluffton by seven points, and take Crawfordsville by about ten; Central Catholic to win over Decatur and lose a tough battle to Portland; and the finale, North Side to down Central by seven points.

and Hamilton were filling the needs of Coach Friddle, the efficient Kelly netter was kept on the sidelines. This year, with the stress on speed built around Augsburgers and Feistkorn, the Archers should find their fast type of play in good hands. Although Gus wears his familiar special basketball glasses, his speed and sniping ability are not in the least bit hindered. Hats off again to a really fine basketballer and fellow South Sider—GUS FEISTKORN.

Muncie Bearcats Capture Tiger Tilt

Russ Wilkin Is Highest Scorer, Almost Turning Tide; Cox Leads High Rankers For Cats

Central's Tigers, failing to hit easy efforts at opportune moments, dropped the second straight tilt of the 1940-'41 season to the big Bearcats of Muncie Central, 37 to 32. The local cagers were unable to launch a good attack against the Magic City five, which had previously disposed of several of the state's best teams in a warm-up for the Bengals.

Two weeks ago the Mendenhallmen whipped a good New Castle unit to attract state-wide attention; however, successive losses to South Bend and Muncie Central have caused the downtown netters to lose their usual opening success. With even tougher games yet to follow, the Centralites are expected to have much trouble in organizing a good winning streak.

Russ Wilkin, who has been continually the high scorer for the Blue, almost turned the tide in the Muncie fray. The big Bengal forward hit six fielders in the second half of the battle to play a major role in giving the Central netmen an opportunity of overtaking the leading Bearcats. Muncie Central held period advantage of 11 to 9, 21 to 13, and 27 to 22.

While the visiting Tigers were never able to overtake their southern foes, the locals did manage to threaten the Bearcats late in the final period of play. Trailing by seven points going into the final minutes of play, Bengals' Tackett and Wilkin hit tip-in shots to pull the charges of Murray Mendenhall to within three points of the host Cats. Cox, classy colored forward of the Muncie club, led the high scorers with six field efforts and four free throws for a total of sixteen markers; Wilkin of Central added a foul gold to his second-half surge to take second honors with thirteen points.

December 12 Is Date Of Intramural Potluck

At the monthly meeting of the Intramural Lettermen's Club, which is held the first Monday of each month, it was decided to hold a potluck and social meeting December 12 at 5:30 o'clock. This will be in the form of playing basketball until 6:30 when the eating will begin.

All lettermen who were not at the meeting may sign up for food in the gym office, but following a new rule, those who attend the social must come to the potluck.

South Side was represented at a meeting for NMC Affiliated Station Representatives at Chicago, Tuesday, by Miss Gretchen Smith, physical education instructor. Miss Smith and Mr. Franklin Tooke, of the Westinghouse Broadcasting Station, are Fort Wayne's representatives.

Following the meeting for station representatives, a school broadcast conference was opened yesterday and will continue today and tomorrow. Open forums and radio demonstrations will be discussed at this meeting. Also included in the program will be demonstrations of listening to radio programs in class and their relation to subject matter in all grades. The leading speakers for this convention are James Rowland Angell, ex-president of Yale; George Denny, moderator of the Town Hall Meeting, and Clifton Utley, chairman of Chicago Council of Foreign Relations. Five hundred educational radio workers from all over the country are attending.

Intramural Sportlights

Mr. Louis Briner, head of the intramural sports, is now kept quite busy handling the schedules of handball and the ever-popular basketball.

Only three games have been played in the heavyweight and these were Gilbert against Timme with Timme coming out on top, Trot against Copp with Trot overcoming Copp, and Potter against Ludwig with Potter winning.

In the middleweight division the games played were between Wilson and Rehm, Lotz and Wutke, Simmons and Wissler, and Meyers and Miller. The winners respectively were Rehm, Wutke, and Meyers, who won over Miller through a forfeit.

Five games played in the lightweight division were between Stone and Meeks, Morton and Long, Konow and Bredemeyer, DuVal and Mitchell, and Miller and Zollinger.

The results of the matches between Skole and Auer, Timme and Trot, Stone and Morton, Bredemeyer and Mitchell will be known by the end of this week.

Thirty-five games have been signed up for the Boys Intramural basketball tournament and Mr. Briner, director of the intramural activities, expects still more. So far the teams entered are the Dogcatchers, the Blue Devils, the Zippers, Count Basies' Boys, the Twamps, Dek's 1, the Hot-stuff, the Sons of Garibaldi, the Musketeers, the Five Mysteries, the Skunk-Hollowers, the Supermen, the Panthers, the Irish, the T.O.P., the Alcatraz, the Blitzkreigers, the Rarters, the Yehudies, the Elaxers, the S.O.G., the Swishers A. C., the Roses, the Gambolies, the Super Prune, the Owls, the Killer Dillers, the Jitterbugs, the X.X.X., the Klassy Kids, the Ex-Swishers, the Comets, the Red-hot, the Badgers, and the Bulldogs.

Mr. Briner would like to give some advice to all boys who intend to participate in intramural sports. These are his three main points: 1. Be sure that your health card is signed by your parents and in to Mr. Briner's office; 2. be sure that all entry cards are turned in on time; 3. if you are entering a team, be sure that there isn't anyone on your team who is signed up to play on another team. This advice is directed mainly to the captains of teams, but it is also good advice concerning all who participate in intramural activities.

Central Star Holds Early Scoring Lead—Although it is definitely too early in the season to open any discussion on the city scoring race, I have noted below the ten Summit City netmen who hold the first ten places following the opening of the 1940-'41 campaign for all four of the local schools. Naturally Central and C. C. cagemen hold the majority of the places, for both of these outfits have played three tilts; South and North have met only one opponent. Last year big Ed Stanczak set a new scoring mark which probably will never be surpassed; however, a few Fort Wayne netters have given the impression that the record of the big Irishman is worth shooting at. Here are the ten leaders:

Joe Bekius Leads Riflers In Course

Scores 364 While Qualifying In Government Tests; Sixteen Other Shooters Pass Exams

Joe Bekius led sixteen qualifiers by shooting a score of 364 in the Government Qualification course for junior shooters. He is the first and only junior expert at South Side since the course was established three years ago.

Piring ten shots, in each of the four positions, prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing, leads to one of the three ranks depending on the total score. A junior expert must score 360; a junior sharpshooter, 320; and a junior marksman, 260.

Seven sharpshooters and eight marksmen completed the group of sixteen riflemen. Three medals and bars will be awarded by the Director of Civilian Marksmanship.

Seven sharpshooters shot for the Government Qualification course. Edmund Bauer scored 347; Fred Pugh, 346; Richard Theye, 334; Max Kimble, 337; Arthur Puff, 330; John Myers, 326; and Howard Ensley, 324. Fred Pugh, Max Kimble, and Howard Ensley qualified last spring on April 29. Seven others failed to make the required score.

Eight junior marksmen shot for the awards. The marksmen and scores are as follows: Richard Buntzenhofe, 315; Gene Zubrum, 313; Everet Trulock, 309; Gene Brehm, 280; George Waldschmidt, 276; Russell Siples, 273; Clifford Springer, 262; and Arthur Longworth, 269.

Redskins, Tigers Open City-Series

North Side Gym Will Be Scene Of Important Clash Tomorrow Night; Nulfmenn Are Favored

North Side's Redskins and the unpredictable Tigers of Central will inaugurate the city series basketball race tomorrow evening at North Side High. Coach Nulfs charges have as yet had little actual experience this year, while the Bengals have already played four tough games. The important city battle will start at 8:30 o'clock, with a second team preliminary fray carded for an hour earlier. Last year the Redskins managed to hold the advantage over their downtown rivals, and the same situation is expected to prevail this year; however, the Mendenhallmen may get going against the Northerners and upset the predictions of a majority of the local fans.

Coaches Bob and George Nulfs, confronted with a wealth of husky and speedy material, are expected to rely on Bobs Young and Cowan, Corny Ervin, Jim Harrison, and Jim Hinga to carry the North Side hopes against the fighting Centralites. Cowan has played varsity ball for four successive campaigns, and he is regarded as one of the most versatile players in the state. Bob Young and Corny Ervin are also returning veterans, both having played regularly during the past two years. The other two Red and White starters, Harrison and Hinga, saw much action last season as understudies to grads Heiber and Keller.

Led by big veterans Tackett and Talley, the Tigers of Central will definitely be out to disprove their mediocre showing in previous games this year. Dick Tackett has been one of Central's most reliable athletes, starring on both football and basketball teams at the center post. Horace Talley, colored junior guard, can be counted upon to give the Bengals needed height and sniping ability. In addition to the two returning starters, Coach Murray Mendenhall will send Russ Wilkin, Red Sitko, and Fred Shaw against the powerful North Siders. Both North Side and Central are expected to be at full strength for the meeting, indicating that a typical city clash should result in which either one may upset or humble the opposition.

Archer Girls Read Fashion Ads; Boys Just Read Them All

Do you read the ads in The South Side Times? The answers of several students are listed below:

Pat Kelly:—I read the ad of the Grill, but that's about all.
June Van Pelt:—I read them because I used to be an ad solicitor.
Orlida Brown:—I read Groth's ad and Wolf & Dessauer's ad.
Catharine Dinkle:—Ditto.
Marjorie Kruse:—I read the clothing ads.

Marjorie Williams:—Ditto.
Patsy Haruf:—Yes, sometimes they have some swell bargains.
Ann Haller:—Oh, sure.
Lois Craig:—Sometimes.
Arlene Snyder:—Yes.
Maxine Voltz:—I read them to find out what's what.

Warren Skole:—Yes, I read them to find out things.
Kenneth Wollman:—Yeah, there's a lot of interesting items in them.
Eugene Meeks:—I read them to see what's in them.
Bud Brudi:—I wouldn't be caught without one.

"Count" Basie:—Only during the "one o'clock jump."
Barrie Tremper:—You bet your boots.
Jack Bishop:—Yeah, I like to read them.
Pat Dietrich:—Some of them.

Girls' Sportsettes

Showing that they are true Americans, the red, white, and blue teams in period 1, are tied for first place honors. Congratulations, girls.

Since last Tuesday was Ho Hirschman's birthday, the office girls in the third period treated her to a sundae at Miller's. The office girls are Alice Fisher and Betty Valentine.

At the present time, Geneva Martin is in the lead in the all-around sports girl contest, with Bernadine Bender being second. Joan Squires, Jeanne Smith, and Janet Michel are all tied for third place. The final results will be decided in two weeks.

Congratulations to Teams 1, 3, 4, and 5 for being victorious at the second series of basketball games played by the freshman GAA's. The high scorers were Phyllis Crabb and Joyce Dent, each scoring 10 points.

Orchids to the sixth period office girls for so appropriately (?) decorating Mr. Friddle's picture in the gym office Rogue's gallery. They really did a neat job!

The second period dancing class has a new drummer. It is Geneva Martin, the president of G.A.A. It is rumored that she is quite good and that soon she may sign up with some popular dance band.

Who was the ardent GAA'er who hurt her leg while playing in the snow? We don't want to tell her name, but she's a sophomore and her first name is Pat. Could it be that she's in her second childhood, or is she still suffering from her first? Your guess is as good as mine.

Say, a few of our bright sophomores got the idea to skate to school; and so, one morning, they did. They said that the ice was swell. The girls were Kate Sanders and "Ducky" Spore.

Warriors, Bulldogs Lead County Fives

Woodburn Wins Easily, New Haven Scores In Overtimes; Other Net Results Are Listed

New Haven and Woodburn led the county prep quintets last week-end by registering their sixth straight victory of the present campaign over teams from Elmhurst and Jefferson. Woodburn won with ease, while New Haven was forced into a double overtime before clinching the decision. The Allen County quintets could win but two of six tilts played with foreign opposition, Hoagland and the above mentioned Warriors of Woodburn upholding the county prestige. Results follow:

East Union 24, Lafayette Central 19.
Washington Center 43, Arcola 16.
New Haven 29, Elmhurst 27.
Woodburn 43, Jefferson Center 22.
Hosand 34, Decatur 28.
Auburn 49, Leo 36.

Indiana's Quintets Tally Many Wins

Franklin, Hammond Tech Triumph Over Columbus, East Chicago In Week-End Tilts

Most of the important cage squads of Indiana registered victories in play last week-end. Franklin's Grizzly Cubs entered win number five on their 1940-'41 ledger by whipping a strong Columbus unit, 34-to-25.

The state champion five of last season, Hammond Tech, easily disposed of a weak Roosevelt of East Chicago quintet, 37-to-14. Coach Cliff Well's high flying Berries from Logansport were derailed from the victory train by

Dick Gallmeyer Relates Tale About Dog, Not Girl, Troubles

By Richard Gallmeyer

Have you ever had a hound dog? Well, neither have I, exactly, but I guess Berghoff's predominant breed strain is hound. She happens to be addicted to roaming and has the remarkable faculty of being able to go on three- or four-day excursions and show up later on, none the worse for the wear. Another annoying habit of hers is to follow me to school, a thing which once caused me no end of embarrassment.

I rose early one morning and knew from that very fact that the day was not going to go well, because it is rare indeed that this one gets up in time to sit down to breakfast. I can usually be seen walking up Harrison with a piece of toast in one hand and a roll of buttered pancakes in the other trying vainly to get them down before rushing in to home room. I very seldom get my coat off before home room either.

Is Berghoff Near?

As I was saying, this particular morning I loafed around till it was time to hurry, because it would run my day not to have to rush to school. I poked my head out of the side porch warily, for I suspected that Berghoff might be lurking near to follow me to school. Ah, the coast was clear. Out I hustled in my stylish, showy tip-mackinaw and easily covered the first block in a fraction of a second. This rushed me, however; so I slowed down to a sit to rest my mind.

I heard stealthy footfalls behind me. Was I about to be abducted? I ventured all in one great chance of coming out alive and saw... Berghoff. Teachers claim that they are disgusted at pupils who fail to do their work, but no one is entitled to use the word after the feeling that I had for my sister's dog at that moment. (It's always my sister's dog when I am not pleased with it.) I got desperate; I tried ignoring even to the point of whistling. I tried turning suddenly and staring; I tried threatening; finally I acted as if I had intended to have the confounded thing follow me to school as a joke and laughed out loud at friends' jeers, bragging of the fun I'd have at school. I didn't fool myself any; I shouldered within the very heart of me.

Tries Ducking Dog

Suddenly I ducked into a grocery and pulled the door shut after the dog and me. Then I walked out carefully shutting the beast within and ran. When I say I ran, I don't mean running as a track star is wont to run. I flashed by people so fast they were heard to say as I came in sight, "Here comes the mean dog, Gallmeyer." I entered the school and firmly, very firmly, closed the door behind me, calmly walked to my locker, opened it, and fell in exhausted.

Upon reaching home room I had calmed outwardly, but friends noticed how uneasy I was. The safety lesson started and to my horror the door was left unclosed. After a while I was lulled into a false security by the safety lesson. Do safety lessons affect you that way? Suddenly I heard soft footfalls. If ever in my life I hear soft footfalls again, I will rise to meet them, I am and bash my head against the wall. And don't any of you cruel pranksters approach me stealthily and whisper those two horrible words in my ear.

Berghoff Wins

There was Berghoff, and I refuse to capitalize the name of such a low creature as THAT dog. I'm afraid I was a little violent as I threw the hound out the door, but after all who will accuse a person under such trying circumstances as I was placed? All morning every friend I would meet would shout, "Berghoff!" and whistle. After I was asked the whereabouts of that cur for the twenty-fifth time I cracked. As I was carried away, they tell me I muttered, "Oh, what a wretch I have for a sister that such a fate should befall me."

Overwhelmed Pupil Tells Of Experience While Giving Speech

Egad, gurggle, gurggle, sputter, fume! Those rather unique sounds are brought to you, my friends, by instantaneous recording through the courtesy of Irma Snooper. They all trace back to a certain public speaking class at approximately one minute before the bell will sound to begin class. We wish you now to Room 190. Students are in a huddle now, signaling to each other, and bang, there goes the bell to begin action! Mrs. Riecke enters, calm and poised as usual. (But alas, she doesn't have to make the speeches!) The room is silent.

We students quietly tear our hair in hopes that Mrs. Riecke will forget about the poems and literary selections we were supposed to bring to class today. The object is, we have to rattle off (recite?) a selection to the best of our ability. Sounds easy, you say, but did you ever get up in front of thirty stupefied, staring students and positively murder the words of some famous author? Well, I did!

Several minutes have passed since the bell! There I sat, glued to my seat while my upper plate did the LaCongo. Then bingo, my name was called! I had to perform my duty and recite. Ah, cruel world. Slowly I mounted the platform and still more slowly I opened the book to the place which spelled my doom.

"The title of my selection is 'The Raven' by Edgar Allan Poe," I managed to announce. Then suddenly as I shrank, "Once upon a midnight dreary, while I pondered weak (boy, was I weak) and weary over many a quaint and curious volume of forgotten—," Then I paused and looked at an audience—that was enough for me! A cold, clammy feeling gripped my constitution! I weaved, I staggered, and quick as a light bulb goes on, I went out. This story can be rightly called, "My Blackout in Room 190."

Biology Lab Contains Collection Of Insects, Squeamish Students Learn To Cut 'em Up

Room 91 Is Scene Of Dissection; Mr. Albert Heine Has Charge; Specimens Line Wall

Bugs, beetles, snakes, everywhere! And not one of them alive! This most suitably describes Room 91, which is the stronghold of Mr. Albert Heine, South Side's leading biologist and instructor of that fascinating subject, biology.

In the accompanying picture Mr. Heine is seen explaining the functions of the different parts of a frog. His industrious and very interested pupils are Fred Collins, Jr. and Robert Wade. Both pupils are engrossed in Mr. Heine's explanation, for they are aware of the benefits to be derived from a course in biology.

The biology department is one of the most extensive in South Side. It was installed when the school first started. At that time Mr. Curtis was head of the department. Mr. Albert Heine, the present instructor of biology, then came to South Side. Mr. Heine had been a student at Winona and Purdue Universities before coming here.

Has 350 Specimens

In the laboratory, shelves of preserved specimens cover almost one whole wall. There are about 350 specimens which represent all types of animal and living plant life. Practically every one of these specimens were collected by Mr. Heine himself, although many students have helped to enlarge his collection.

The biology department is very modern in that motion pictures are shown to illustrate different phases of biology. In relation to this matter, Mr. Heine says, "I believe motion pictures help the student to learn, for he not only sees the picture but also hears the explanation, and this has proven more effective than when a pupil merely reads about something. I find that students make a higher grade when they are shown pictures than when they can only read about the subject." The films are ordered by the Visual Education Department from Indiana University.

Students Dislike Dissection. Another phase of biology is the dissecting of insects. When asked how the students liked to do this work, Mr. Heine replied, "Usually students are squeamish about cutting up grasshoppers, beetles and other small insects, but after a while they get used to it, and I find the girls doing as much work along this line as the boys."

When asked what branch of biology he enjoyed most, Mr. Heine stated, "I think the study of genetics (laws of inheritance) is the most interesting, for through the study of this subject one may find out just why he is, and what he is. If anyone really wants an engrossing subject to study, I recommend genetics."

Maisie Takes Her First Trip To Crowded Archer Cafeteria

"This is it, this is the cafeteria, Maisie. The boy I asked for information said it would look like Grand Central (forgive me, Archers, for using that word) Station. This must be it. What a 'mob'! How are we ever going to drill our way through that crowd? Oh, for a fire-cracker! What do we do now, Maisie? Do we yell our orders out or what?"

There's a dignified looking boy (must be a senior) whom we'll just watch and see what he's going to do. Oh, lookie! He's saying something to that girl and she's giving him a dish of food. Now he's going down the line ordering his food (just like a football player). Isn't this exciting, Maisie? I know how we are supposed to do it now. Maisie, it's our turn now at last. Hm, what are you going to take? I'll take some mashed potatoes. No, let me see I'll take potato salad, instead. You see, this is the first time I've ever been in the cafeteria, and I just don't know what to do.

What did you say? Oh, yes, move on and not block traffic. Good-bye, now. Wasn't she nice, Maisie? I'm so nervous I hardly know what I'm doing. For gosh sakes I'm going to drop my tray. Maisie, try to grab it! This is so embarrassing, Maisie, get it. You missed. It dropped. Here comes a teacher, and now I'm going to get it. Gee, she isn't saying anything, but she is helping me pick up the things. She's saying just to keep moving, keep moving. You know, just like a prison! Ha! Ha! I'm sure on the bean today.

Let's hurry and get our seats. Gosh, there isn't any place to sit down. I suppose we will have to eat our lunch standing up. I spy! There's an empty table. Well, here we are, but it is so strange that people are laughing at us. They're just ignorant. Here comes the teacher again. What have we done now? What! We're sitting at the teachers' table? Well! So what? Can't the teachers eat with us? We ain't proud. She wants us to move, Maisie; so maybe we'd better. Here we go

Kelly Grads Plan Yearly Alumni Hop

Dance To Be December 26, Between 9:30-12:30; Cost To Be Seventy-Five Cents

Ruth Garrison Is Leader Of Affair

Other Committees Given; Election For Next Year To Be At Intermission

Graduates from way back when will once more wander about the halls of their Alma Mater on Friday, December 26, when the South Side Alumni Association will hold their annual dance. The dance is to be informal and will last from 9:30 to 12:30 o'clock. Jimmy Sanford and his orchestra will provide the music. During the intermission, the officers for next year will be elected. Tickets are 75 cents.

The acting officers who are in general charge of the affair are Ruth Garrison, president; Eugene Schmidt, vice-president; Oscar Eggers, secretary, and James Dorn, treasurer.

Committees, Chairmen, Named
Committee chairmen are as follows: Arrangements, Eugene Schmidt; tickets, Pauline Fritch; publicity, Eleanor Vesey; election, William Reithmiller.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the ticket committee which is as follows: Pauline Fritch (chairman), Dick Bridges, Joan Bonish, Nadine Mueller, Dave Howell, James Murphy, Donna Colicho, Harriet Storm, Ruth Adler, June Hayes, Dave Roth, Janet Hartman, Joan Korte, Homer Miller, LeRoy Cook, Helen Kaley, Phyllis Keller, Herman Rutkowski, Henry Brandt, Bill Hebermehl, Aveline Glass, Bob Beck, Allen Collins, Paul Deal, Ursula Morton, Oliver Eggers, Georgianna Martin, and Bob Safer. Other committees will be announced later.

Is Third Dance To Be Held

This dance is the third one to be held by the Alumni Association. The first one was planned by the officers of the class of 1938. It was in the form of a reception and formal dance and at that time the officers for the coming year, 1939, were elected. In 1939 a sport dance was held at Christmas again, and at this affair the officers for this year were chosen.

The first officers of the alumni organization were: Oscar Eggers, president; Dale Hamilton, vice-president; Eugene Schmidt, secretary, and Ruth Garrison, treasurer.

City GR Groups Plan Joint Skate

Marjorie Gerding, Wanda Stillwell Will Assist In Preparations As Sub-Chairmen

All City Reserve Clubs of Fort Wayne will join together to sponsor a skating party to be held at Bell's Rink on December 20 at 7:30. The proceeds will go to a fund for sending girls to Camp Yarnelle during the summer.

Kathleen McNamara from North Side is general chairman of the skate. She has appointed sub-chairmen for each of the three city high schools.

Wanda Stillwell and Marjorie Gerding were chosen to be chairmen of the South Side clubs. Miriam Waller was appointed to assist Kathleen McNamara for North Side's club. To head the Central group Miriam Yentes was selected.

South Side's Girl Reserve Clubs are USA, consisting of freshmen and sophomore girls, and So-Si-Y, composed of junior and senior girls.

North Side is the only high school having one club, which is Polar-Y Club. Central high school has two reserve clubs, namely Friendship and CPC Clubs.

Advisers for the clubs at South Side are Miss Elizabeth Kelly and Mrs. Grace Welty, of USA, and Miss Beulah Rinehart and Miss Hazel Miller from So-Si-Y.

Romans Schedule "Christmas Spirit"

Yuletide Theme To Prevail At Latin Club Meeting; Play, Songs Will Feature Program

Christmas spirit will prevail at the Latin Club meeting today in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. In answer to the roll call each member will give a Latin Christmas greeting. This new way of answering the roll call was started last month when the members gave a Latin quotation.

A play will be presented with these characters: John Olcott as the cleverest slave; George Spears, the most handsome slave; Victor Kaufman, master of the slaves; Otis Russell, largest slave, and Tom Yates, the cook. The play will be given first in Latin and then in English.

Also included on the program will be Christmas songs, a scripture reading in Latin by Bowly, and a solo, "Stabat Mater," by Mary Whitman. A talk by Ivan Truman on the Roman Saturnalia.

The program committee for the January 9 meeting, which consists of Patsy Haruff, chairman; Marjorie Wigbel, Gene Lou Harges and Carol Trenary, will meet in Room 28 on Thursday evening, December 19, at 3:30 o'clock.

Heads Dance Plans

Ruth Garrison, president of the South Side Alumni Association, is in charge of their annual dance which will be held December 26 at South Side.

GE Engineer Will Address Math-Sci Club

Mr. R. L. Davis, Plastics Specialist, To Speak Tonight on Molding Material

Mr. R. L. Davis, plastics engineer at the General Electric plant, will be the special speaker at the Math-Science Club meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room.

He will speak on "Plastics and Their Uses" and will supplement his talk with approximately fifty samples of the two forms of plastics—namely, thermosetting and thermoplastic. The physics and chemistry students have been invited as special guests. Any other students, especially interested in learning about plastic materials are cordially invited to attend.

Friday: Don Aldrich, Betty Curless, Janet Ginn, Robert Holzworth, Margaret Tenhaeff, and Thomas Young.

Saturday: Betty Bligh, Bernadine Lockner, Kenneth Schell, and Lee Gordon Smith.

Sunday: Edith Berridge, Bette Carper, and Clara Long.

Monday: Kenneth Disler, Flo Ann Revett, and Velma Willy.

Tuesday: Peggy Lou Berning, Jean Fisher, Robert William Smith, and Robert Taylor.

Wednesday: Joyce Archbold, Jane Chenoweth, Don Domer, Margaret Grossman, Jeanne Hay, and Jane Hickman.

Christmas, Easter Preferred Holidays Of Archer Students

Holidays are usually the most important days on the Archer calendar, probably because they carry with them the promise of a good time, good dinners, and a day away from school.

Of course, people's minds don't run in the same channel; everyone has his own favorite holiday. Listed below are some of the holidays preferred by some of our students.

Jim Straley: Christmas; because it's the longest vacation, and it's fun to buy presents.

Pete Holzwarth: Christmas; because everyone seems to be in a good mood.

Elaine Helms: Christmas; because Bruce is coming home for sixteen days.

Phyllis Minier: Easter; because it's the beginning of spring and everyone blossoms out in his new clothes.

Eleanor Traycoff: New Years; because I like to make resolutions and then see how long I can keep them.

Jim Straley: Christmas; because I always get a new car for my electric train.

Ralph Shimer: New Years; when we get to blow our whistles.

Bob Hines: July 4; I like to shoot Roman candles. Pop! Pop!

Jim Straley: Easter; because every year I get a widdle Easter bunny!

Ruth Marie Cyr: Christmas; because I like to throw snowballs, and play in the snow.

Ruth Fuhrman: Easter. I like to see the different new outfits people wear.

Jim McClure: Easter; although I don't like Easter eggs.

Rosemary DeFavel: Thanksgiving. I love to eat.

Mary Jo Sites: Christmas; I get to hang my stockings up, and they're plenty big.

Pat Barnes: Christmas; I have loads of fun—when school's out.

Larry Phipps: New Years; because I just love "Auld Lang Syne" as played by the Rhythm Rascals.

Annual Hi-Y Feast Will Be Saturday

Best-Girl Banquet Will Be At YMCA Dining Room At 6:30; Admission To Be $1.25 Couple

Hi-Y Best-Girl's Banquet will be held Saturday at the YMCA dining room at 6:30 o'clock. The admission is to be $1.25 a couple. This banquet is an annual affair held by Hi-Y, and it is under the direction of Mr. Clyde Peirce, faculty adviser.

The main speaker of the evening will be the Reverend Howard J. Brown, pastor of the Forest Park M. E. Church. Other speakers include R. Nelson Snider, principal; Martha M. Pittenger, dean; C. G. Leonard, director of boys' activities at the YMCA; and Mr. Peirce, faculty adviser.

Assisting Mr. Peirce are the officers of the club: Tom Brower, president; Roger McVay, vice-president; John Gumpster, secretary; Milton Haller, treasurer; Dick Goodwin, sergeant-at-arms; and Bill Braun, Inter-Club Congress representative.

The separate committee in charge of this affair is composed of Warren Cook, chairman; Dick Brouwer and Jim Gerig. Thirty members are planning to attend so far.

This can be attended only by club members, their close friends, and their best girls. All tickets should be obtained in advance from Mr. Peirce, Dick Brouwer, Warren Cook, Roger McVay, Tom Brower, and Bill Goodwin.

Hi-Y will hold its regular meeting tonight at the YMCA at 7:30 o'clock. Plans for the banquet will be discussed and a speaker has been engaged.

201 Attend Banquet

The junior banquet was attended by 201 instead of 180 as it was stated last week in The Times. This was announced by Miss Hazel Miller, one of the advisers of the junior class.

What Do You Think About Fifth Year Of Secondary School?

Would you mind going to high school one additional year? Due to the present economic situation which has affected the parents of some South Siders, a number of students who have considered going to college to continue their education might find it necessary to change their plans.

This piece of logic resulted in the originating of an idea that provides an extra year of high school for those students who wish to take it. Most pupils of South Side evidently wouldn't mind attending school five years; here are the results of a poll taken concerning this five-year plan.

Dick Shriner: I think it is a very good thing. It gives students unable to go to college an opportunity for higher education.

Ruth Ellen Yoder: I think it's a fine idea for students who can't go to college.

Harriet Shinnick: It's a good idea for those students who have no particular thing to do after leaving high school.

Nancy Fishering: It's a very good plan. It makes it possible for a student who needs extra credit for college to make them up.

Patty Dietrich: As long as it is optional, I think it would be swell.

Jeanne Seidel: If a kid can't get a job after four years of high school, he probably could get one after five.

Carolyn McNabb: I think it would be fine.

Barbara Cousar: Five years? Gulp!

Yuletide Will Be Theme Of Music Meet

Christmas Scenes To Be Enacted By Public Speaking Students, Vocal Soloists

Music Directors To Be In Charge

Mary Whittern, Erleen Lee, Emalyn Rimmel To Offer Solos Of Familiar Songs

The orchestra and glee clubs will present special Christmas music at the assembly next Thursday morning which will be held in the gym immediately after the home room period.

The same program will be given in the evening for the benefit of the P-T-A, and the admission will be 25 cents.

The orchestra will be augmented by a vibraphone and harp.

At the opening of the program, a Pastoral Symphony from the "Messiah" will be played by the orchestra.

Following this symphony, the chorus and orchestra will present "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," "Oh, Holy Night," and "Jesus Bambino." Erleen Lee will be the soloist for these numbers.

Various Christmas scenes will be acted out by pageantry and narrations and the musical background, by carols.

Special numbers for this section of the program will be vocal solos by Mary Whittern and Emalyn Rimmel.

The readings and actings will be given by Mrs. Dorothy Riecke's speech students.

At the close of the program, "Joy to the World" will be sung by the chorus with the orchestra accompanying.

A chorus of angels will sing antiphonally during the program. Mr. Lester Hostettler and Mr. Jack Wainwright will have charge of the music.

Miss Lucy Osborne, English instructor, who is in charge of all assemblies, scheduled this one.

Meterites Present Yuletide Program

Mary Louise McNabb, Marjorie Peterson, Nancy Cherry Have Charge Of Christmas Meeting

"Merry Christmas" was the game that was featured at Meterite Club meeting Tuesday in the Greeley Room.

"Hark! The Herald Angels Sing," "Jingle Bells," "Silent Night," "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Cantic of Noel" were the Christmas carols sung by the club after the refreshments, dixie cups were served.

Mary Louise McNabb, Marjorie Peterson and Nancy Cherry were the committee in charge of this program.

Members signed for food to be brought to the Meterite Christmas basket. Miss Susan Peck, adviser, requests that all members who signed to bring food, bring it on Wednesday or Thursday of the week before Christmas to Room 60.

Members are asked to watch for the notice which will tell when the Totem picture is to be taken.

Publications List Changes In Staff

Rebecca Abbott, Jane Klinefelter, Robert Robinson Given Promotions At Times Meeting

Bob Robinson, former circulation manager, has been awarded the position of business adviser of The Times, it was announced by Eleanor Vesey, substitute adviser, at the staff meeting held last Wednesday in Room 16. However, he will not take over the position until the first of the year.

Becky Abbott will assume his former position and Jane Klinefelter will be co-copy editor, in addition to the other two editors, Ruth Hagaman and Harriet Will.

Pat Dietrich, 11B, was awarded a prize for having the highest number of names for the basketball team booster ad which was run in the last issue.

"Take Notes, Work Harder", Graduates Advise South Siders

"Learn to work hard and learn to take notes at lectures," was the advice given to the students in South Side by Ralph Hamilton, Richard Craig, Gaylord Stalter, and Juan Rodriguez, now freshmen at Indiana University, in an interview with Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Archer principal, at the Indiana Freshmen Conference, held November 18, on the university campus.

Mr. Snider attended this conference of principals of the schools from which the college freshmen came. Features of the conference were interviews with the freshmen, a lecture which stressed the fact that beginning students were usually unprepared for college work, and a meeting of the principals of the North-Central Association.

This annual conference is for the benefit of the freshmen. It is to aid in solving their problems in which their former principals might be able to help.

Wrangler Dec. Contest To Be Next Monday

Participants Will Compete Against Members Of Own Class; List Of Entrants

Monday is the day set for the Wranglers Oratorical Declamation Contest, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Riecke, sponsor of the Wranglers' Club. The speech participants will compete against the members of their own classes.

The freshmen have one contest from which the winner will be determined. The sophomores have three preliminary contests and one final contest which will probably be the seventh period. The juniors and seniors also have three preliminary contests and the finals which will be held at Wranglers Monday evening after school.

Entrants, Subjects, Listed
Freshmen entrants and the subjects on which they are speaking are as follows: Ruth Kelso, "My Country 'Tis of Thee"; Adeline Corts, "Crisis in Character"; Marjorie Riethmiller, "My Account with the Unknown Soldier"; Dorothy Meyer, "The Light That Is Darkness"; Phil Lichtenberg, "Thank God for America"; Mary Whittern, "Breaking Down Barriers"; Bob Sheldon, "American Way"; Mary Jane Wallace, "America's Glean"; Mildred Babcock, "Abraham Lincoln"; Katherine Scholer, "Dilemma of Democracy"; and Phyllis Niblick.

About thirty girls were initiated; they are Dorothy Altevoght, Rosemary Bird, Anna Lu Bearinger, Jean Clark, Phyllis Crabill, Eleanor Dittion, Ruthanna Doll, Marilyn Domer, Alice Fisher, Gretchen Greener, Nancy Griffith, Ida Mae Hegge, Bonnie Heller, Carolyn Fackler, and Jean Fackler.

Others are Joan Lee, Doris Lentz, Lois Lenz, Alice Martz, Marjorie Meyer, Grace Bendleman, Peggy Roth, Norma Russel, Barbara Weibel, Jean Webster, Evelyn Webster, and Jennie Hacker.

After the initiation a program including several games and contests was presented. The program committee for this meeting was Dorothy Altevoght, chairman; Joan Lee, Doris Lentz, Marjorie Meyer, Carolyn Fackler, and Jean Fackler. Refreshments were served.

Stamp Enthusiasts To Hold Exchange

To Trade Stamps And Christmas Gifts December 18; Etheldrea Behling Will Be In Charge

The next meeting of Stamp Club on December 18, will be a stamp and a Christmas exchange combined. Etheldrea Behling is chairman of the meeting to be held.

Those assisting her are Rosemary Spore, Don Parkinson, Kenny Wollman, Glen Hille, Dick Cunningham, Nancy Geake, Philip Schwartz and Eugene Meeks.

The Totem picture for Stamp Club will be taken on or before the regular meeting. Maxine Case has been chosen to write the club story for The Yearbook.

Jamaica, Trinidad and British Guiana were the topics of the December 4 meeting of Stamp Club.

The committee carried the theme out in the form of a panel discussion, by asking questions concerning the terrain of these islands, the populations, their military value, brief histories, economic value, and what types of stamps have been issued by these islands.

Also, a game called truths and consequences was played. Questions concerning general facts about stamps were substituted for regular questions. Refreshments followed which were served by the committee.

Keith Lakey was chairman for the meeting. His committee was composed of Betty Clem, Austin Gardner, Lee Loser, Warren Latz, Barbara Long, Max Stabaugh, Jim Steiner, Paul Swain and Gerald Wullman.

What Should I Spend On Him Or Her Is Christmas Question

Along with every Yuletide season, there arises the question as to how much money high school students should pay for Christmas gifts. A great many students feel that they must pay at least some established price—a price that is perhaps too high for their income. Consequently, they pinch and suffer for weeks before and after Christmas.

Naturally the price will vary with different boys and girls according to what they can afford. We therefore cannot set up some definite price as a minimum. But we can set up some basis on which presents may be bought, for example, on the total income for the month of December. If you would stop and consider for a moment your income, whether it be an allowance or salary, would one-half be too much to set aside as Christmas money?

Let us suppose that you have an allowance of a dollar a week. Then your total income for the month of December would be four dollars, half of which would be two dollars. Two dollars would seem to be a sufficient amount to meet your Christmas needs.

Or would it? This brings up another question. Should you buy gifts completely with your own money? If you have an Aunt Miranda, an Uncle Bill, and a Cousin Luke besides mom and dad to secure presents for, two dollars would rely on dad somewhat for support. Nevertheless, even if your tokens of affection are not so fine as you would like to have them, the recipients will be far more pleased if they know that the gifts are bought with your own money.

We hope that these little suggestions will help to solve your Christmas problems. But after it is all said and done, remember that it is the spirit behind it that counts, and not the material worth of the gift.

Seize The Opportunities Of Free Education In America

"I wish I could start school all over again." Have you ever heard that remark? Of course you have; many adults say it and even high school seniors, during their last few weeks of school. Is this said because high school days are so happy and carefree? Some people think so. But they aren't, for a student always has home work to worry about; and "teensters" seem to have a greater variety and a greater amount of worries than anyone else at any age. No, it isn't because of the carefreeness. It is because of missed opportunities. Opportunities are unrealized when offered, but desired and longed for when gone forever.

We are given the chance and encouragement to learn. Many are taught but so few learn, considering the number enrolled in the schools. We are exposed to knowledge on every side, with time to study and help always at hand; but how many even realize, let alone take advantage of, our good luck, a luck of which so large a percentage of the world's youth is deprived. What multitudes of boys and girls go sailing through the academic world on the top of the waves never touching or seeing the unfathomable depths of truth underneath each one, never realizing that what they are touching is but the surface layer, never realizing that what they are swallowing whole could and should be chewed up and digested as Bacon puts it. Too many pass the green-house, peek in and perhaps smell the flowers; so very few open the doors and learn to know and love each flower through familiarity.

All of us in our lifetimes will miss some opportunities because we do not see them. However, since we have the possibilities of study pointed out to us each day, it is almost criminal if we pass them by. Some of the students of today will in a few years say, "If I could only start to school all over again"; others will take heed and make use of every opportunity, accept every encouragement and fully use now those chances which they may never have again.

We must be nearing New Year's Day. Already, business houses are starting to send us calendars.

Three-point landings aren't confined to aviation. We ice-skaters have them too.

Correct this sentence: "I have been very careful about throwing snowballs this year, and have not thrown any to annoy anybody."

The radio and the newspaper sports "authorities" have it all doped out that South Side doesn't have a chance in basketball this year. That's what they said in 1938!

One in a million—a mid-winter high school student without some form of a cold.

Frosh Aren't Green; Just Look At Their Dream Boy And Girl

All of you freshmen probably have your own conception of your own particular "dream girl" or "dream boy". Now every person must excel in something, but we've yet to find somebody who's outstanding in everything. Perhaps if you took one outstanding quality from a number of well-known freshmen, the result would be something like this:

A girl who—
Looks like Sally O'Rourke
Speaks like Virginia Coil
Is brilliant as Martha Davenport
Is as popular as Mary Daton
Has the personality of Joan Carmen
Dances as well as Martha Hull
Sings as well as Evelyn Warren
Has a figure like Margaret Heffelfinger

Is as athletic as Mary Ann Duemling
A boy who—
Looks like Bill Fishering
Speaks like John Mast
Is as brilliant as Stanley Trier
Is as popular as Earl Cheevers
Has the personality of Gene Murphy
Dances as well as Bob Sheldon
Has a physique like Richard Sellers
Be as outstanding in athletics as Abbie Turner.

These Jolly Juniors Possess Everything, Jitterbugs, Orators

Jitterbug! I'm at loss for words here as this junior class lacks a definite jitterbug. Although we have Bud Puff who ranks as one of the best in dancing ability.

U-nique! That could mean no one but Sallie Claiborne. She is the girl with the flashy clothes and the ability to wear them. She looks better than anyone we know in those darling knee-length socks. She not only looks good in them, but she wears the right outfits with them. And that gorgeous red hair. Um, hum! N-ut of the class! Well, you can easily guess who that is. It is Jack Meyers. He is always doing or wearing something out of the ordinary, which is sure to make the dullness of our dull people have a laugh some time or other. Even his jokes are funny sometimes.

I-n-tellectual! This could be no one but our own Ellen Harry, who ranks the highest in the estimation of every junior. This is also the opinion of everyone who knows her.

O-rators! In this line the junior class is very proud of such dynamic speakers as Byron Singer, Bob Guion, and Lois Bloemker. In all contests these speakers have done outstanding work.

R-omantic! This one stumps us as this class possesses many of this type. One of these is Ruth Werkman, who has won the hearts of such juniors as Bob Babbitt, Gene McClain, Jim Holzwarth, Bob Newhard, and Sam Johnson. You all have guessed by now that this is about the junior 1 class. We couldn't find a letter for this, but we'd like to welcome Gloria Spanley back. Gloria left us this year to go to Ladywood College in Indianapolis, but found out that South Side is the best after all.

Madame La Hooty Sees Bright Future For Sophomores

What will the sophomores of today be in about ten years? Will the girl that you walk to class with be a renowned radio singer? Will the boy that sits next to you in class be an all-American football player? These questions and many more will be answered by Madame La Hooty as she peers into her crystal ball and sees the future revealed before her.

I see a future of stardom in store for two girls. One will be a popular singer with Jerry Mansbach and his famous band, namely, Juanita Drews. The other will sing with Maestro Bailhe's symphony orchestra, Joan Brubaker, of course.

Jeanne Seidel will be the head mistress of an exclusive school for girls. Does this seem unreasonable? It does? Ah, but Madame La Hooty is never wrong.

Next I see a room filled with many people. Looking closer I see a man on a platform giving a book review. The speaker is Bob Dreyer, the author of "How to Overcome Timidity in Ten Easy Lessons." He just completed his review and the chairman is introducing another speaker. The room is in dead silence as the renowned Latin authority, Victor Kaufman, steps forward to review his latest Latin literary masterpiece, "The Finer Points of the Purpose Clause."

The scene now changes to Washington, D. C. The place is the White House. Sitting at the president's desk is the first woman president, Elizabeth R. MacKay. She is being interviewed by a great newspaper reporter, "Scoop" Grace Johnson, the greatest newspaperwoman of the age.

Next I see a broadcasting studio; a program is in full progress. It is a quiz program sponsored by the Krackly Krunchy Kernels featuring Professor Quiz (George Waldschmidt), the human question box. In another studio I see an interview between the heart-breaker of the movies, "Sifter" Siples, being interviewed by the Don Wilkes of the age, Bill Grunwald.

Now I see a sports convention where all the outstanding athletes of the nation have assembled. The speaker is giving cups to the two most outstanding athletes of the year for their fine sportsmanship. Julia Kaiser is selected from the girls and "Sherlock" Holmes from the boys. Next the chairman gives a cup for the best tennis player. This goes to Marian Faux. A golf trophy was presented to Barbara Scudder for capturing the national title.

Clarence Freeman Transmits To Little America And Africa

Above is pictured Clarence Freeman, 12B, with his amateur radio receiving set which enables him to travel around the world in one evening.

Clarence purchased his set in September of 1939, from a dealer of second-hand radios. He keeps this six-tube Emerson model in his bedroom where he spends most of his time with his set. The most interesting stations he said he ever listened to were the two stations of Admiral Byrd's expedition located at the South Pole. They are stations KC4USA and KC4USB, which he heard in September and August.

When asked if he heard anything interesting or educational he replied, "All I heard was one man at the South Pole say that he had seen 'Dodge City' for the sixth time. I don't think that you'd call that very interesting."

He has contacted countries in both North and South America, commercial and amateur stations. The difficulty with these stations is that they speak Spanish and sometimes cannot be understood. An Englishman who has a station in the Union of South Africa also provided an evening's entertainment. Despite the war in the east and Europe he has contacted fine stations in Japan and in Australia. Besides having made connections with every one of the forty-eight states he has contacted the Hawaiian Islands and a small low power station on one of the Virgin Islands.

The war had spoiled most of his fun since the operators in Europe have been forbidden to broadcast.

Clarence has about twenty-five or more verification cards. If you hear a broadcast and can write and tell that station about it, they will send you a verification card so that you can prove you have heard that station.

Besides being a member of the Radex Radio Club, he is active in the Visual Education Department and the Booster Club.

Dirt From Here And There About Gents And Ladies Fair

NOTES OF A SOUTH SIDER—

Via the mail box outside of Room S, we learn... That Paula Hartman would approve of a better understanding between herself and Ed Tanner. Ed and Paula are in the same home room, but things aren't progressing as well as they should be. That Howard Stults trolleys over to see Dolly Didier, one of North Side's pride and joys.

That Iva Jean Hite and David Bastian have definitely broken off. This puts two more back in circulation... That an ex-South Sider has been buzzing Pat Racht during vacations. Ralph is attending I. U.

SOUTH SIDE THERMOMETER—

John Warner-Joy Stahn, 92°, unsettled.

Ralph Vetter-Velma Wille, 82°, rising.

Bob Geyer-Joan Reichard, 200°, boiling.

Theda Tyndall-Paul Johnson, 71°, fair weather.

Arlene Perry - Don Knorr, 69°, holding its own.

THESE JUNIORS—

Edmund Bauer certainly knows what he wants; the Reppert is that Ed is giving the South Side boys plenty of competition for Holly. John Wells recently visited Central and liked it so well that he has been squiring one of the Squires twins... No one knows just which one it is.

Mary Nell Spiegel and Arthur Howard make a swell couple, and they certainly know it. All they need is a little more encouragement... Ellen Harry finds Loren Sprunger at her door every evening... Glenn Cox of C. C. and our Betty Cowan have finally gotten together, and they seem to like it that way... We are told that Pat Towns prefers a C. C.'er to any in South Side. The South Side boys had better get busy. All of the belles can't go with boys from other schools... Bob Newhard is certainly a smart child. He has found that Dorothy Jaggers suits him to a T... Sallie Clyborne couldn't find what she wanted in South Side, so she visited Central and found Junie Doswell... Naomi Koopman has outsmarted the other admirers of Pete Holzworth and there are rumors that these two may be going steady.

MISCELLANEOUS—

Note to Ed Schweiler—Dear Ed, You are old enough to know a good thing when you see it. For instance, Betty Bireley... Have you seen "Peanuts" and Dave Rea trotting around school together?

SEEING DOUBLE—

One of the Siebold twins has been dating one of the Gumpfer twins; the trouble with this is that no one can tell which one is with which.

TRIANGLES—

Just Ten More Shopping Days Till Christmas

At last that wonderful snow has come, which will relieve us from that fall wardrobe. It's such a wonderful feeling to get up in the morning and know what kind of clothes to wear. But do you know what kind of clothes to wear? If you don't, let me give you a few suggestions. Of course, you'll want to keep warm throughout the day, so why not follow the fashion and wear a heavy knit sweater just like that of your best beau's? A bright red or green sweater will make you look so comfy as can be.

But let's not forget our feet in these trying days. Get a pair of heavy knit anklets to wear over your silk hose that will match your sweater. Stay warm and let all who look on freeze. If you're forever complaining about that last winter's coat being cold, and having a main draft that just about makes a snowman out of you, why not break down and wear a snow suit? Don't be silly, you wear snow suits in the winter for skating, why not wear them to school? Snow suits are the latest style; they are being worn in schools all over the country. Get in style and keep warm. Wear a peasant scarf and boxing mittens to complete your outfit.

With all the Christmas dances and parties coming up, I know you are all wondering what kind of formal and wrap to buy. Why don't you get a formal with a jerkin on it? Jerkins are not only popular on street dresses, but also on formal. If you are an economical person, you are most likely trying to fix last year's formal to be more up-to-date. For an inexpensive remodeling, get a jerkin in a contrasting or blending color. If your formal is eggshell you might like a bright red or perhaps a light blue jerkin. No one will recognize that old formal and you will be sufficiently pleased with it yourself.

As for a wrap, if you are willing to be different and outstandingly attractive, be clever and get a full-length "Kenwood" coat. In a white or blue or maybe a red "Kenwood" you can be not only stylish but also economical. You see, a "Kenwood" can be worn for both evening and street wear.

Be-dazzle him by night! So you're going to a dance with a wonderful escort! Of course, you want to look your best so that he will swoon at the stags who follow you adoringly around the dance floor. Then you might wear a dress that has your own hand embroidering on the bodice. Nothing could be more alluring or individual. Perhaps you have chosen a crisscross arrangement, or perhaps a flower design, but whatever it is you are going to look your loveliest.

Choose the clothes that put you in the spotlight. Next week I shall tell you about the afternoon dresses you all worry about.

Hollywood Celebs Have Nothing On South Side Seniors

Greetings and Salutations: The column which you are about to read is known as the senior column, although confidential reports have it that last Thursday a certain sophomore in the second period study was seen reading what was meant for senior eyes only. I suppose there is nothing we can do about it; so go ahead and read it every body.

Because of the talent which is so abundant in the senior class let us compare some of our notable members with a few of the talented Hollywood motion picture actors and actresses.

One of the closest comparisons which can be found is Humphrey Bogart and Harry Meyers. In fact they look and act so much alike that many a student has been scared when Harry's hand steals into his coat, for what they expect to see is a stub-nosed, wicked looking automatic.

Have you ever noticed how much Emalyn Rimmel resembles Jeanette McDonald? Yes, it is true. The resemblance is not only in appearance; in addition, both of them have beautiful voices. And, by the way, that reminds me, doesn't Clifford Matson look like Gene Raymond? And why shouldn't he, for aren't Jeanette and Gene married? So why shouldn't Cliff and Emalyn be going steady?

Somehow, I can't just say why, but Howard Blood reminds me of Jack (Buck) Benny. Maybe it is because Howard and Mr. Benny get into the same kind of jams. The only difference between these two is that Jack Benny has Rochester while Howard has no one.

Bob Hope, whether he knows it or not, has a double right here in South Side. Yes Mam! Paul (Doc) Dan-necker and Bob Hope are as alike as two peas in a pod. I wonder if the resemblance lies in the fact that Paul is always "Hope'n" to nab a girl for himself so that he can go steady.

What has Carole Lombard got that Adah Bice hasn't? Well the only big thing is Clark Gable, but aside from that these two glamour girls look and act much alike.

Mary Ann Gaskins and Ann Southern have much in common for both are mighty cute and both came from way down South. Yas Sar Re! The difference between these two beauties is that Miss Southern has a contract. But poor Mary Ann has none. Sob! Sob! Won't some big producer help her out?

John Becker and Tyrone Power have much in common, but not enough, at least according to Mr. Becker's point of view for he states "We have a lot in common, but I certainly wish I had an Annabella". The likeness between the two has gotten on John's mind so much that he now goes around carving the "Mark of Zorro" on all the desks and even on the walls. Some fun! Isn't it, John?

Sir Cedric Hardwick has a double attending South Side in the guise of Frand DuWaldt. The only thing Frank lacks is an English accent. And you won't get that studying Latin, Frank!

Students' Corner

Who is the girl that has one of the most pleasing personalities in the senior class? Whose charming smile beams on everybody? Who is a friend to everyone? And who is the girl that makes all the boys mutter to themselves what a lucky fellow Dick Dosch is for having all to himself such a beautiful girl? If you haven't already guessed the answer to all these questions, it is DELORFS DANIELS.

Delores not only has all of these outstanding characteristics, but she also shines like the proverbial light in extra-curricular activities. You'll never find her loafing after school because she is a member of Wranglers, Three E's, French, SPC, Service, Times, 1500, Philo, and Totem. If you think that routine wouldn't keep a girl busy, then just try it sometime.

Delores has achieved an outstanding record in her scholastic work at South Side. So far she has an average that easily places her on the four-year honor roll. To quote a teacher, "It astounds me to find a girl that is both beautiful and intelligent." And we've all got to admit that the teacher is correct.

Delores started her career at Harrison Hill, the stamping ground for many of us. Even over at Harrison Hill she was always sticking her lovely finger in the pie. Many a senior fondly recalls Delores as a rootin' tootin' cheerleader who inspired the team on to victory, and as the heroine in all of the plays that were presented.

Hobby? All of her spare time is spent in designing clothes that would do justice to a professional. She hopes to be either a dress designer or an interior decorator and plans to study for her chosen profession at the Missouri Art School.

Her private life is taken up by the attentions of Dick Dosch, and her very close friend, Charlene MacAcce.

Just a few of her idiosyncrasies. She hates to be called anything but Dan, and relishes the chance to walk in the downpouring rain.

Anything else? Oh yes, Delores is both honest as the day is long and as dependable as rain when we have planned a picnic. Her favorite orchestra is none other than Johnny Long, and "Moon Over Burma" is her favorite movie.

Just keep your eyes on this little powerhouse, and you will see her win many additional honors before she leaves our portals.

Tips To The Teens

A straight line is said to be the shortest distance between two points, but a wiser saying is, "A line is the shortest distance between two dates." So, if you're interested, here's how to take the "knots" out of your conversation.

In the first place don't make a mistake about this line business. You're not supposed to sit down and write out a one-act play, with you playing all the parts. And don't make the mistake of saying a few smart sentences over and over till you know them by heart. You can spring them on the waiting world just about twice. Whatever happy dent you make on the people around you is the direct result of what you say. You can be pretty as a flower in spring, but that won't keep a roomful of people spellbound. Open up that rose bud mouth of yours and let 'em have it every now and then. You don't have to utter positively staggering remarks; but make your conversation light and gay, most of all like you.

Don't mislay your sense of humor. Get your whole gang to laugh with you and you will find yourself promoted. Laugh at them once or twice too often and you'll lose your stripes.

Boy, Basie's Battered Baton Leads Loads Of Lads, Lassies

In swinging back into the music groove, the high notes of the week go to the great colored pianist, Count Basie. Three years ago William Basie was relatively unknown to jive fans, but today he is heralded and recognized as one of swing's foremost performers. The Count has real ability in himself; his great rhythm section has borne out his talent for developing good rhythm and coordination. With two good chirpers in Jimmy Rushing and Helen Humes, the well-liked Basie has a truly fine organization. Basie's real success came with the nation wide popularity of "One O'Clock Jump", his theme song. Among the other hits the Count has featured are "John's Idea", "I Want A Girl", "Stomping At The Savoy", and "Ham and Eggs". It took a long time for the nation's jitterbugs to give credit to the negro pianist; moreover, he is still unrecognized by the majority of popular music fans. If you really want to hear a top notch group of instrumental artists and vocalists lend an ear to the rhythmic swing of piano-tickler Count Basie.

Since national publications are again nominating All-Star swing performers, I have decided to endeavor to select the favorites of American High School jive fans. Here they are:

Best Swing Band—Glenn Miller.
Best Swing Bands—This is close! Could be either Goodman, Savitt, or Barnet.
Favorite Vocalists—Bing Crosby, Ella Fitzgerald, Ray Eberly, and Connie Boswell.
Best Drummer—Gene Krupa.
Corniest Outfit—Guy Lombardo.
Best Sax Player—Coleman Hawkins.
Best Trombonist—Tommy Dorsey
Favorite Clarinet Player—Woody Herman Fastest Rising Group—Bobby Byrne.

Green Loses To Bluffton, Crawfordsville Over Week-End

Fighting Tigers Win 32 to 28 With Overtime

Archer Defense Slows Down As Lockwood Ties, Wins Game; Knoll Also Stars

South Side Archers, seemingly followed by a last period jinx, dropped two ball games last week-end to highly regarded opponents. The town of Bluffton went wild last Friday as the host Tigers scored an overtime victory over the Green, 32 to 28.

The story of the Green loss can be traced to Gene Lockwood, Bluffton forward, who enjoyed a "red hot" evening against the favored Kellies.

Led by "Whitey" Knoll the Archers forged into a 11 to 5 lead at the quarter mark. Knoll counted four fielders in this opening period to fan the hope of the local rooters, but the Tigers rallied in the second quarter and trailed by one point at the half, 13 to 12. Early in the third frame the hosts knotted the count at 17 all. The Friddlemen bounced back to lead 23 to 19 at the termination of the play in the third quarter.

Enjoying the four-point lead throughout the first six minutes of the last quarter, the Archers elected to shoot instead of freeze the ball; however, Gene Lockwood completely outplayed the Kelly plans. The veteran Bluffton forward hit two last-minute fielders to tie the final count at 28 to 28.

In the three minute overtime period Lockwood counted two more goals while the visiting locals failed to tally. Bill Knoll hit six field attempts for twelve points to pace the Archers, while Lockwood sniped eight fielders and three free throws for the scoring honors of nineteen points.

Arcola Is Defeated By Archer Riflers

South Side Team Shoots 492, Arcola Scores 489 Out of 500; Three Boys Score 99 Each

South Side's Boys' Rifle Team defeated Arcola in a meet Monday night, December 9, at Arcola. South Side's team shot 492 and Arcola scored 489 out of a possible 500.

Dick Theye, John Myers and Jack Hornberger scored 99 each. Edmund Bauer shot 98 and Joe Bekins scored 97. High scores for Arcola were made by For and Coleman, each making 99. Other scores were 98 made by Robert Greener, 97 by Butts, and 96 by Roy Greener.

Other members of Arcola's squad, who shot, but did not qualify with the five high scorers, were Arnold, Dennis, Bieber, Preybindowski and Yangier. Their scores were 94, 93, 93, 96 and 93.

Richard Brintzentrope, Norman Karbach, Clifford Sprunger, Art Puff and Zumbrun also shot from South Side but did not obtain scores high enough to qualify as the big five. The scores made by them were Dick, 96; Norman, 94; Clifford, 95; Art, 96, and Zumbrun, 94.

After the match, the ten rifle members of South Side, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal of South Side; Mr. Ralph Young, principal of Arcola High School, and Mr. Stanley Post, teacher of South Side, were guests of Mr. Cook, adviser of the Archer Boys' Rifle Squad at a rabbit feed at his home in Arcola.

Home Ec Hostesses To Entertain Club

Wo-Ho-Ma Club members will be guests at a party which the Home Economics department is giving for the club today at 3:30 o'clock in Room 77. Miss Lucy Mellen and Miss Helen Bean, home economics teachers, are in charge.

Reds Sponsor Dance

North Side's cafeteria will be the scene of the Camera Club dance December 20 after the Hammond Tech-North Side game. Royal Jackson's orchestra will play for the affair, and the admission price will be 25 cents.

Archers Aim Arrows At Auburn—

South Side's record, now blemished with two tough losses, will again go on the block tomorrow night at Auburn. Last year the Green had an easy time with the Devils, but this year the story may be different. Denny McDarby, 6-foot 4-inch center of the Auburn quintet, will be the boy to watch.

Last season Bob Hines held the big Red Devil to only two fielders in thirty-two minutes of play. If this fine defensive trick can be repeated, the Kellies should find victory a bit easier.

Although the Friddlemen have evidenced a second half reversal of form in all three of their early tilts, I believe that the Archers should begin to click against the Devils. Do not sell South Side short! We do have a fine team which deserves plenty of support, and let's really show this sportsmanlike support by giving the Green and White our well wishes during victory or loss. Auburn will be tough, but South Side will have the spirit and drive to make the difference.

It Looks From Here—that Central's Tigers will be in the thick of every tilt if big Russ Wilkin could only be counted upon for 32 minutes of service. If Russ can keep down his fouling and general carelessness, he should soon be the outstanding cager in the city. Herman Moyer, substitute North Side netman, looked good against the Tigers last Friday. Also,

Mary Dayton's Group Wins Basketball Contest By Having Four Successes, One Defeat

Mary Dayton's team 6 won the freshman GAA basketball tournament last Monday by having four wins and one loss.

Teams 3 and 4 tied for second place, each having three wins. Team 5 was third with two wins.

In the final set of games played last Monday, Maxine Asmus' team 5 defeated Marilyn Brackman's team 2 by the score of 6 to 5. The best players were Phyllis Mott, Phyllis Puff, Maxine Posse, Phyllis Buckmaster.

At 8:30 o'clock Jean Clark's team 3 defeated Barbara Bart's team 1 by the score of 10 to 9. Joyce Dent and Marilyn Doner were the outstanding players for the winning team.

At 4 o'clock the best game of the evening was between Phyllis Crabill's team 4 and Mary Dayton's team 6. The most outstanding players were Pat McMahon and Dorothy Krohne.

The officials for these games were Joan Schwartz, Kate Sander, Carolyn Fisher, Sally Ogden, and Pat Jackson. Scorekeepers were Phyllis Amstutz, Ilo Hirschman and Pat Jackson.

One Of GAA's Most Ambitious Beauties Is Helen Anderson

Twinkling brown eyes, Ipana smile, and honey-colored hair typify Helen Anderson, all-around girl of GAA. She is popular not only with girls but also with the other half of South Side. Helen has been active in GAA since her freshman year and hopes that maybe she will earn her letter by next June.

She is taking a commercial course and ranks well in the upper third of her class. Her ambition is to be a buyer in a department store. Summer is her favorite season, for then she can play tennis and go swimming. Pork chops, scalloped potatoes and cranberries make a meal fit for a king, according to Helen. She likes Glen Miller, "I'll Never Smile Again," "Boom Town," Jack Benny, Jeffery Lynn and Jeanette McDonald.

Information about her heart throbs was hard to obtain; but at the top of her list we know ranks John Gumpfer. Mention oysters and she wrinkles her pretty nose. Another of her dislikes is people who offer last minute invitations.

Her favorite subject is history, and the teacher she likes best is Mr. Jake McClure. When she is not busy with things concerning school, she can be found adding clippings about her numerous friends to her scrapbook.

Helen told us "GAA is the nicest club in school in which to get acquainted." Besides belonging to GAA in which she captained every sport when a member, she is a member of Times, Student Leader and Service Clubs.

Hardwood

By Bob Young

Jamieson of Central turned in a fine game in his first starting call. If Central had not acted on the many short set-ups allowed by the North Siders in the first quarter, the Nulfmen might now be a defeated club.

Two reasons were offered for South Side's overtime loss to Bluffton; first of all a certain Gene Lockwood was too hot for even Bob Hines to handle, and the Green cagemen again failed at the charity stripe, hitting but four of fifteen tries. The Irish of Central Catholic certainly looked like an improved ball club against New Haven, but the Catholics are still a far cry from the teams of National Catholic Championship calibre. But, take heed, the Irish are coming fast and should again go far in tournament play.

A Michigan high school player mentioned the fact to me last week that the yelling and boing during foul shooting are not tolerated in his state, for fouls are called immediately on belligerent crowds. Maybe more enforcement of this rule would aid the high school cagers of Indiana. For the first time in three years, the North Side gym was not packed for a city series game. North Side officials lay the blame on Radio-casters Hackett and Gates, but I rather choose to believe that the local fans are losing their former respect of good high school basketball.

Ed Kirkpatrick of Crawfordsville certainly is a real exponent of the one-handed off-balance shot. His

Two Archers' Articles Used On Youths' Page

Victor Kaufman, 10B, and Robert Devlin, 12A, wrote articles which appeared on Youths' Passing Show Page in the News-Sentinel last Saturday. Victor's article was about rabbits having no peace on earth, and Robert's was about basketball being much like the game of life.

After this war is over we will have a slight pause for nation identification.

Athenians Win By 37 to 31 Saturday Night

Kirkpatrick Leads Foe In Last Half Rally; Hines Stars For Green With 11

Crawfordsville's Athenians spoiled the Saturday night home game of the Archers by winning 37 to 31. A great third-quarter surge gave the visiting team a hard-earned win over the host Green netmen.

The locals held an 8 to 6 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 15 to 11 half-time advantage. With only three minutes of the third quarter elapsed, the southern visitors had grabbed a 21 to 20 lead. Failing to cover the tricky pivots and fakes of the Athenians, the local quintet permitted the visitors to sink five out of their first seven field tries in the second half.

Bob Hines and Dallas Zuber kept the Archers within striking distance by accounting for seven foul shots in the final two periods. The visitors led 26 to 23 at the three-quarter mark.

After Ed Kirkpatrick and little Joe Hedges counted successive fielders at the start of the final frame, Coach Earl Friddle inserted big Archers Close and Vetter into the Green lineup. The Athenians tallied another goal to lead 32 to 23, and Tom Brower was sent into the game. Close and Brower each hit last minute field goals, however these were matched by Athenian snipers Ross and John Hedges.

The summary is as follows:

Redskins To Play Wildcats Saturday

North Side's Redskins are carded to see action Saturday night at Hammond against a highly touted band of Hammond High Wildcats.

This will be the first time the Northerners have met the big Wildcats, and an interesting opening tilt is in the offing.

Three years ago the Wildcats bowed to the Archers in the state finals at Indianapolis.

Coach Bob Nulf is confident that his charges will chalk up their third straight win, but not without a hard fight.

Bobs Cowan and Young are slated to start for the Red along with Jims Hinga and Harrison and the veteran, Cory Ervin. Cowan and Hinga usually carry the scoring burden for the Nulfmen, and it is possible that these two lads will cut loose against the Cats of Hammond.

Although the Red and White will be playing an experienced five on a straight, the locals should be able to score their third win of the campaign.

Fritz Kahl Leads Coin Discussion At Meeting

German coins were shown and discussed at the German Club meeting yesterday in Room 144. Fritz Kahl led the discussion about the coins, and Ada Prange led the club members in a game which consisted of all German words. Later the members went to Room 138 to practice German Christmas carols. The club is planning to go caroling, but definite arrangements have not yet been made.

And the Germans named their ships after jokes so the English wouldn't get them.

The club will have a Christmas party at the home of Annabelle Harrod, 3518 Oliver street, on December 10. A ten cent gift exchange will be held. Mr. Schnepfe and Mrs. Whetzel will drive for the members of the club as they sing Christmas carols in German at various homes after the party.

To better acquaint high school students with the work of Shakespeare, Louis Lytton spoke to all the classes of English 4 and 7 Tuesday in the Greeley Room on the work of the English playwright. Mr. Lytton has played Shakespeare since the age of thirteen. He gave characterizations from "As You Like It," "Much Ado About Nothing," "Romeo and Juliet," "Julius Caesar," "Hamlet," "Merchant of Venice," "Macbeth," and "Merry Wives of Windsor."

Archer Fans Stand By Archer Quintet With Peppery Spirit

South Side's Archers may be experiencing difficulty in following the envious trails of former Kelly quintets, but the student body has lost none of the pepper and spirit which accompanied the netmen of former victorious years.

Most of the Archer fans have not taken the losses with any feeling that the team is having a poor year. The majority of the rooters of the Friddlemen contend that the locals will be slow starters but hot in March when the title is at stake. Here are a few citations on the present team made by the Archer fans:

Kenneth Disler: We're still behind the team. I don't think I can see any reason for thinking that two losses can ruin a season.

James Weaver: The team is inexperienced. Friddle can't build a good outfit in a single month. Just wait until tourney time.

Bob York: Two defeats mean nothing. Look at the seasons of the other teams in the state. We will finish with a good season record.

Dick Dosch: Our team is OK. Calvin Singer: Rome wasn't built in a day; neither are good basketball teams.

Dorothy Allen: The Archers will come back and win a majority of the remaining games.

Ada Prange: We lost two games last year. Perhaps the team will begin to function and lose no more games. I think we have a fine team which deserves full support in a win or defeat.

Dick Stevenson: You can't judge a season by two early losses.

Lois Holzworth: The team is swell. Francis Nash: Coach Friddle always gives us a good team. Two defeats should mean nothing.

Henry Ditton: We have a fine team. Let's not let the team down by losing faith in their ability to win.

Central Catholic Upsets Portland

Irish Now Have Record Of Five Wins, One Loss; Bob Heiny, Bob Walker Are High Scorers

Central Catholic's Irish chalked up three wins on the hardwood last week. Coach John Levick's basketballers whipped New Haven on Wednesday, Decatur Catholic on Friday, and the Panthers of Portland on Saturday.

While the Irish were expected to have no end of trouble in whipping either the New Haven or Portland clubs, the C. C. quintet rolled over both with comparative ease.

Although the athletic netmen were previously conceded only a slight advantage over the Bulldogs of New Haven, the Irish easily whipped the cagers of Harold Smith, 44-19. Bob Heiny and Bob Walker paced the C. C. offensive, while the New Haven scoring was evenly distributed among the seven Bulldogs who saw action.

Decatur's Commodores bowed to Central Catholic by a 30 to 24 count. After two tough games in three days, the Catholics returned on the following night to down an undefeated Portland unit, 29 to 19.

These three wins gave the Levickmen a season record of five wins against a single loss to the Ossian Bears.

Archer Reserves Top Harlan Five

23-18 Victory Over Hawks Marks Third Consecutive Win For Kelly-Clad Preliminary Team

Running their string of victories to three straight, the Kelly-Clad reserves defeated a hard-fighting Harlan quintet 23 to 18, last Saturday night on their home floor. The Hawks were leading at the end of the first quarter and also at the half, but the Friddlemen overcame this lead in the remaining periods.

Herman Davis, Jim Straley, Mac McClain, Bob Babbitt, and Bob Birk-enbuel formed the Archer five, but in the second half these were replaced by Bob Gildea, Eugene Reichart, Jim Stravidge, Pete Holzwarth, and Victor Moeller.

The Harlan team, composed of De-Long and Sawdier as forwards, Lake as center, and Miller and Widdfield as guards, led the Archer quintet 4 to 7 at the end of the first quarter and 10 to 14 at the half. After a very close third quarter the Archers pulled ahead 17 to 16; in the final period they strengthened their lead to win the game by a score of 23 to 18.

Lake led the Hawks' attack with nine points, while Stravidge paced the Green with seven markers. Other players for the Harlan team were McClain, Gerig, Botter, Berbauer, and Applegate. Neither team lost men by way of the personal foul route.

Allen County Fives Card Seven Tilts

One Game Slated For Tonight; Five, Tomorrow; One, Saturday; Woodburn Is Top Game

Seven games are carded for the prep cage quintets of Allen county this week-end. The high flying Warriors of Woodburn, possessors of an impressive six-game winning streak, will place their unblemished record on the block at New Haven on Thursday night.

While this all-important clash will feature the week's play among the county fives, several other highlight games are scheduled. Here is the seven-game card:

Tonight
Monroeville at Woodburn.
Friday
Elmhurst at Leo.
Huntstown at Churubusco.
Lafayette Central at Arcola.
Hoagland at Harlan.
Woodburn at New Haven.
Saturday
Wolf Lake at Huntstown.

Auburn Is To Be Archers' Opponent Tomorrow Night

Game Will Be In Home Gym Of Red Devils

Three Veterans Backbone Of Foe; Both Teams Have Similar Records So Far

After falling before two victory-hungry quintets from Bluffton and Crawfordsville, the South Side Archers will be seeking the victory path tomorrow night at Auburn. Last season the locals disposed of the Red Devils by a 41 to 25 count, but the Auburn cagers are greatly improved and hold high hopes of adding another loss to the Kelly card.

The game is to be played in the Auburn High School gym at 8:30 o'clock; South Side's prelim team will seek its fourth straight win in the junior varsity game which is scheduled for one hour earlier than the main fray.

Auburn and South Side have both met two common foes. The Red Devils dropped an overtime to Bluffton, as did the locals. South Side bested Kendallville by three points, while the Auburn quintet won by four markers over the Comets.

Big Dennis McDarby, the veteran center of the Auburn five, is expected to cause the Green nemesis the most concern. The starting lineup for Auburn will include Daub and Casebeer in the forward posts, the troublesome McDarby at center, and McComb and Scott at the guards. Both forwards are returning members of the first string of last season, and along with McDarby, the trio present a formidable scoring combination. Scott and McComb, the guards, are both good defensive men. Bob Scott hit six fielders and one free toss against Kendallville last week to pace the Red Devils to a win over the Comets. Eckart and Foltz, substitute forwards, are also expected to see some action against the Archers.

While the Auburn fans are hoping that the Archers will again experience an off evening, Coach Druckmiller and his cagers are bearing down in drills this week to be able to match the invading Archers in any type of play.

Coach Burl Friddle is as yet undecided as to his five star team, as the Green mentor is seeking a unit which can hold its own on defense and offense throughout the whole ball game. Bill Knoll will probably get the call for one of the forward posts, with Ralph Shimer being the other probable forward. Bryce Augsburg is expected to be one of the guards, while veterans Gus Feistkorn and Bob Hines will fill out the remaining guard and center post.

Feistkorn started at center in the tilts last week, and it is probable that the ever-dependable Archer will again receive the center bid. Bob Hines may regain his old center post this week, as Bob played against big McDarby last season. Substitutes Brower and Zuber will probably see some action, as will Kellies Close, Vetter, Shirk, and Harry Hines.

Although Auburn will be tough and ready for the invading Archers, the locals should regain the winning trail by downing the Red Devils in a hard-fought tilt.

Kenneth Zelt, 9B, Models Airplanes, Practices Archery

When Kenneth Zelt, 9B, is not busy experimenting with electricity, he can be found making model airplanes or practicing at the archery range.

Kenneth said, "I began to experiment with electricity because I liked to fool around with batteries and lights. So I made some of his experiments he has hooked up a microphone to a radio, made switches, fixed up dashboards, and built a model airplane with a bomb control. This is the most recent of all his hobbies, and he is comparatively new at it with just a year's experience."

Two years ago at Christmas he received an archery set and has added archery to his unique hobbies. Before he came to South Side, he shot at the archery range. He has added a lemon wood bow and many arrows to his first set.

About four years ago, Kenneth's boy friend interested him in model airplanes. Since then he has made various models, among them the Curtis pursuit. Kenneth belongs to the Airplane Club and there he is able to test many of the planes that he makes. In the last airplane contest he entered a model which Mr. Plasket designed.

List Division Victors In Bowling Tourney

Bob Miller, with a score of 474 points, placed first in the heavyweight division in the intramural junior bowling tournament held last week. Cal Rose, with 411 points, and R. Vande Bunt, having a score of 400, placed second and third.

Earl Hambrook was lightweight king with a total of 447 points. Bob Kortum was second with 433 points, and Norbert Rehm followed with 370 points.

Exactly twenty junior bowlers entered this intramural bowling tournament. All bowling was done at the General Electric Club alleys. Each contestant bowled twelve games and handed in his total score. Louis Briner, head of intramural activities, was in charge.

Archer Gives Dinner

Joan Cartwright, president of the Senior Girl Scouts, was hostess at a dinner last night for the Scouts. The dinner was held at her home, 529 West Packard. Betty Dice was in charge of the entertainment. After the dinner plans for a Christmas party were discussed.

If you can't recognize him by his picture, you will know him by his jersey number which is twenty-two. Bryce Augsburg, 12A, and South Side's flashy little forward, scored eleven points during the first three games of the Archer schedule. His present ambition is to get a regular place on the first five. Bryce has had two years of playing experience and so far this year has progressed very well.

As the Archer team goes pounding up the floor, do you ever wonder just what the players do in their free time? "Mousie," as Bryce is often called by the fans, is planning to attend Wheaton College where he is going to take a Biblical and musical course; and, if he is suited to the vocation, he wants to be a minister. Second to this ambition is music. Bryce plays the cornet and piano, and he can sing a clear baritone. We learned this from outside sources only, as all he would say about it was that he liked to sing a little.

Bryce considers J. Higgins of Crawfordsville the toughest player he has ever played against, and he thinks that Ralph Hamilton was the best player South Side ever had. All of the players are reticent about our chances of winning state, and Bryce thinks that the team will have to improve a lot to be able to win the sectionals. But if we do, he says, the team has a good chance for the title.

Not only does this Fiddleman play a "snazzy" game of basketball, but he is active in other sports also. Softball, swimming and tennis are his favorites.

"Mousie" would like to spend most of his spare time listening to Kay Kyser and who wouldn't? The inner man must also be fed, and black raspberry pie answers to the roll-call every time.

"Never touch 'em," is Bryce's advice about girls, but he said he thought a certain Florida visitor was all right.

Kelly Kounters
South Side's Archers finally began to hit from the free throw line last Saturday, caging 13 out of 18 tries. The Athenians had a far better evening from the field than did the locals. South Side hit 9 out of 58 tries for a field average of .155, while the visitors sniped 17 out of 56 attempts for an average of .304.
Crawfordsville's foul total showed 3 made of 10 chances for .300; the Fiddlemen, in hitting 13 of 18 free tips, averaged .722. Here are the individual Kelly Kounters for the South Side-Crawfordsville clash.

Intramural Sportlights

Boxing is now well under way in the intramural department. The sluggers have been knocking each other around every night under the direction of Mr. Louis Briner for the past week. This sport is not one in which a champion is chosen. The boys are just taught how to defend themselves and how to use some of the tricks of the trade.

In the basketball field the Dog-patchers nosed out the Zippers by a score of 20-18 after a nip-and-tuck ball game. The Hot Stuff turned on the heat and bested Deks I by a score of 18 to 5. The Hot Stuff proved that they really had the stuff, as they dropped them in from every side, while the Dek team, although superior in height, could do little.

If the Owls can keep up the scoring pace they set in their game against the Killer Dillers, they stand a strong possibility of winning the middleweight crown. The Owls snowed the Killer Dillers under, 23-6.

The S.O.P. edged the Alcatraz out in a low-scoring game by a 4-2 score. Other scores are as follows: Count Basie's 14, Twerps 5; Irish 10, Panthers 9; Blitzkriegers 11, Rafter 3; S.O.G. 5, Swishers 2; Gambolies 16, Super Prunes 10.

Mr. Briner asks all boys who are now ineligible for intramural sports to report to him after Christmas vacation. At that time they may be reinstated.

North Side Wins Over Central Five

Mendenhallmen Fail To Connect In City Series Game; Cowan, Ervin Pace Redskin Attack

North Side's Redskins opened their 1940-1941 city title quest last Friday night by winning over Central, 30 to 25. The Nulmen won, not because of superior ability or experience, but because of the poor sniping of the Centralites.

At the end of the first quarter the Northerners led 7 to 2, and they held a 13 to 7 halftime advantage. Early in the third period the Central netters managed to pull within three points of the Redskins, but the powerhouse Nulmen soon rallied to regain a 24-to-12 lead. The Bengals trailed 27 to 18 at the end of the third quarter.

Central's netmen, although trailing by nine points, soon were back in the thick of the battle. Big Russ Wilkin sparked the downtown aggregation in their fourth period charge. The Tigers pulled within three points of the Indians at 28 to 25 before the Redskins braced to hold the lead.

Bob Cowan and Corry Ervin paced the North Side attack with seven markers apiece; Fred Shaw and Russ Wilkin paced Central with a like number of points.

Twelve personal fouls were called on the Red, and fifteen on the Blue. Both aggregations lost two men via the foul route, North Side losing Jim Hinga and Harrison, and the Bengals losing Russ Wilkin and Dick Tackett.

Central's loss represented the third in four tilts for the Mendenhallmen, while the North Siders registered their second straight win by nosing out the Blue.

GAA Net Tourney Advances Rapidly

Senior 1's, 2's, Junior 1's, Sophomore 6's, 1's, And 2's Are Victors In Friday Evening Games

With a score of 12 to 5, the Sophomore 1's defeated the Junior 2's. Points for this game were made by Margaret Dale, Connie Abbott, Helen Marschand, Carolyn Stalter, Ann Pontius, and Pat Jackson. In the other game at 3:30 o'clock, the Junior 4's lost to the Sophomore 2's by a score of 18 to 1. Outstanding players for this game were JoAnn Swartz, JoAnn Spore, Marilyn Bullerman, Virginia Simmons and Katherine Dinkel.

Senior 1's were victorious over the Sophomore 5's in an exciting game with the score of 31 to 29. Geneva Martin, Betty Thiele, Marguerite Calkins, Bernadine Bender, Miriam Abbott, Doris Braun, Ida May Hege, and Betty McLeod made points for this close game. At the south end of the floor, the Sophomore 4's lost to the Senior 2's. The score was 11 to 7. Points were made by Bernadine Pressler, Jeanne Smith, Gloria Harndorf, Helen Long, and Irene Meyer.

In the last two games, the Junior 1's defeated the Sophomore 5's by a score of 14 to 10. This game was played at the north end of the floor. Players making points were Faye Alexander, Evelyn Forbes, Rose Stemen, Betty Bligh, and Betty Baker. In the other game, the Sophomore 6's defeated the Junior 2's with a score of 11 to 4. Donna Peel, Kate Sanders, and Elaine Boerger were the outstanding players.

Umpires throughout the games were Marilyn Bullerman, Kate Sanders, Donna Peel, Sally Ogden, JoAnn Spore, Carolyn Fisher, Pat Har-nish, Marguerite Calkins, Gertrude Merkel, Pat Jackson, and Phyllis Amstutz. Scorekeepers were Ilo Hirshman, Marjorie Pressler, Marilyn Bullerman, anice Fruth, and Nelda Runge.

Girls' Sportsettes

Geneva Martin is still in the lead for the all-around sports girl, but Jeanne Smith is trailing by one point. Bernadine Bender, Frances Nash, and Betty Hargan are in third, fourth, and fifth places. The five next highest girls are Jo Ann Spore, Julia Kaser, Bernadine Pressler, JoAnn Squires, and Phyllis Crabill. Final results will be announced next week.

This week we want to commend Sally Ogden on her excellent playing ability and sportsmanship in all sports. Sally is an expert in basketball and baseball. In gym class, she usually makes about half of her squad's scores. Congratulations, Sally.

All student leaders are reminded to be sure to get their volleyball rules. They may be obtained in the girls' gym office.

"Ducky" Spore has made a new record of bicycle riding. She rode from her home to the school in one minute. (That's what she claims.) Good for you, "Ducky".

In the third period gym class Squad 3 is ahead with ten wins and one loss. Team 2 is second with five wins and two ties. Team 4 is third with five wins and a tie.

Franklin Captures Sixth Straight Tilt

Vincennes, Lapel, Bedford Are Other Winners Among State-Wide Court Results Listed

Franklin's Grizzly Cubs featured the fifth week of cage play in Indiana prep circles by registering their sixth straight win over a tough Martinsville quintet 22 to 18. The Alices of Vincennes knocked the high riding Washington Hatchets into the beaten ranks via a 24 to 15 upset victory. Lapel's Bulldogs and the Stonecutters of Bedford hit the victory path by close decisions over Markleville and Bloomington. Statewide results are as follows:

Athenians Tell How Team Reacts After Beating South Side

Although the Athenians of Crawfordsville were elated and proud of their six-point win over the Archers, the visiting netmen had great praise for the locals. True sportsmanship is based on accepting victory with condolence and praise of the defeated; Crawfordsville's basketballers demonstrated this characteristic when quizzed concerning their view of the tilt. The Athenians were asked, "How did it feel to beat the South Side basketball team?"

Here are their replies:
Ed Kirkpatrick: We were hot tonight! South Side has a good team, and one that should develop into a real ball club.

Bob Hybarger: This evens things for last year. I hope South Side and Crawfordsville will meet again—at Indianapolis.

Jim Martin: Boy! It's swell.
Ed Ross: South Side cracked enough to give us some good open shots. There isn't another game on our card which I wanted to win more.

Bob Clements: South Side was good, but we were better. It feels swell to beat such a highly regarded team.

John Hedges: I am sure glad we won, but don't think South Side has a bad team.

Joe Hedges: I only hope that we can repeat this win in every game. Good luck to Coach Friddle!

Tigers To Oppose Eagles Tomorrow

Central To Travel To Columbia City; Bengals Expected To Check Attack Of Host Squad

In a warm-up test for their important city clash with C.C. on Saturday, the Blue Tigers of Central High will travel to Columbia City tomorrow evening to meet the Eagles of that city.

While the Bengals have looked unimpressive in their early season efforts, Coach Murray Mendenhall is hopeful that his experienced quintet may begin to click against the Eagles.

The starting line-up for the Tigers will include Fred Shaw and Horace Talley at forwards, big Dick Tackett at center, and Russ Wilkin and Phil Jameson at the guards.

Sophomores George Washington and Charles Stanaki will lead the action, as the two underclassmen have proved sparkplugs for the Blue during the early games.

Coach Abe Devol of Columbia City has a good team this season, but the Eagles are not expected to be able to check the attack of the Blue cagers.

Handball Contests Are Played In IM

First Round Finished; Scores Announced For Games By Mr. Louis Briner, Sports Head

Intramural handball games in the first bracket have been played. Scores for these and some of the second bracket games are posted in the office of Mr. Louis Briner, head of intramural sport activities. These games were played on the handball courts at various times during the past two weeks.

The results of these games are: Ludwig defeated by Potter by a forfeit; Gumpner won over Phueger by a forfeit; Fish lost to Racht by the scores of 15-6, 15-6; Ostermeyer defeated Klermaler, 15-6, 15-6; Enslay vanquished Swager, 15-6, 15-6; Selby was overthrown by Holmes by the scores of 15-5, 15-10; Gumpner was victorious over Potter by the scores of 15-12, 15-11; and Racht conquered Ostermeyer 15-2, 15-2.

More games that were played are: Holmes defeated Enslay by the scores of 15-12, 15-5; however he was defeated one game, 3 to 15; Stone won over Morton in the same fashion, 15-8, 15-9, and was defeated the first game by a score of 15-2; Mitchell lost to Fredemeyer, scores 15-4, 15-10; and Fortress vanquished Miller by the scores of 15-5, 15-8. Another game was played but the score was unavailable.

Games to be played in the near future are: Savage against Vondreau, Reynolds versus McNulty, and Ger-naud versus Skole.

In the noon league the following games will be run off: Hegenfeld in opposition with Steiner; Hille versus Clibow; and Dolman against Pittenger.

Teacher Leads Eventful Life Before Coming To South Side

This is the sixth in a series of interviews of South Side teachers prepared by Mary Ellen Barrett.

This week our topic of conversation centers around that well-known teacher who enlightens us on social and economic conditions of the country, Mr. Clyde Peirce of Room 82.

Mr. Peirce had a very eventful high school life, first at Edenburg, Indiana and then at Indianapolis Manual Training School. He played on the basketball and baseball teams while in school. By winning second place in an oratorical contest with his oration, "Patrick Henry's Speech," he was entitled to the second lead in his senior play.

During the war, he was a member of the Boys' Working Reserve, an organization of high school boys who were dismissed from school early so they could work on farms in order to help furnish food for the soldiers. When not working on a farm, he was engaged in making munitions.

Studied At DePauw
After studying at DePauw University for one year, he secured a position in the American Car and Foundry Company in St. Louis, Missouri.

After his experience in Missouri, he received his first teaching position, teaching mathematics, manual training and coaching the basketball team in a township school.

Mr. Peirce was to take his team by train to play in the sectional meet, but they missed their train. He was not to be outdone by this; so he took his boys from Helmsburg to Bloomington in a freight train. The only difficulty about this was that five of the eight boys had never been away from home before.

Reenters DePauw

The following summer he reentered DePauw and graduated with his A.B. degree in 1924. While in college he was very active in extra-curricular activities. He participated in track and basketball, was student manager of the baseball team, member of the Press and Glee Clubs, and a member of Sigma Nu, national scholastic fraternity.

Following graduation he taught social science studies and coached basketball at Monroeville high school. He was successful with his teams, having the girls' basketball team win the county championship one year and the boys' the following year.

Does Graduate Work
After six years away from teaching, during which time he was a real estate broker in Fort Wayne, Mr. Peirce decided to further his knowledge and resume his teaching. He did graduate work in history, economics, sociology, and government at Indiana University.

From 1935 to 1937 he taught at Huntington; after that he taught at Franklin grade school in Fort Wayne. From Franklin he came to South Side where he teaches history, government, and other social studies.

Likes Joel McCrea
Joel McCrea rates tops on his list of movie celebrities, and "What Price Glory" as his favorite movie. Flibber McGee and Molly along with Lowell Thomas are highlights of his favorite radio programs.

Mary Travis, graduate of South Side in 1925 is now the queen of the Peirce domain. Mr. and Mrs. Peirce, along with the children, spend their summer staking trips or fishing on the Indiana lakes. He also paints houses during the summer when not fishing.

Purdue Offers Hilarious Time To South Side Speech Students

By Jean Well

Oh, yawn! This getting-up-with-the-dawn business isn't as gay as it may sound (if it sounds gay). At least from all appearances of our Purdue-bound gang last Saturday morning, they showed a decided disapproval of early rising. However, our little group of forty-six was soon banded together, and at 7 o'clock we started our excursion to Lafayette to the eleventh annual speech conference sponsored by Purdue University.

The trip down seemed quite a short one, and by 9 o'clock the joyful cries of "Lafayette, we are here!" echoed from our little group. Soon we were in front of the Union Building on the Purdue campus where lots of the delegates spent the morning. The Gumpert twins and Ruth Dauner were among the members of the legislature which met in the morning. They were assigned to special committees where they made up bills after the fashion of Congress.

Marge McNabb, Alene Loeser, and I spent part of the morning and afternoon bowling in the Union Building, where we ripped off a few games with Buck Eberly and Roy Heavner.

Hear Interesting Debate
At three o'clock we hurried over to the building where the debate, the main feature, was held, and there we remained for the rest of the afternoon. Purdue and Michigan Universities debated over "Should the Federal Powers be Increased?" This was quite an interesting discussion.

When the debate was over, we hurried to the different houses where we were staying and dressed for the banquet. At six o'clock all of us were assembled in a big hall in the Union Building along with many other representatives from Indiana high schools, waiting to take our places at the tables. During the banquet, we were entertained by the Purdue Glee Club. As an encore the boys in the Glee Club sang, "I'll Never Smile Again." It was one of the best Glee Clubs I have ever heard. After that a few inspiring speeches were made.

North Side High won the cup for the largest attendance from one school, and Fort Wayne was chosen for the best represented city down there. Puff up with pride, chillum!

Following the banquet, we had a choice of three things to attend. The Purdue-St. Joseph basketball game, the play "What a Life!", presented by the Purdue playshop, or the formal dance held in the Union Building. Will Osborne and his orchestra played for the dance, and it was really a big event in the lives of some of the locals.

That night we all arrived back at our homes within a reasonable time. (I think). About fourteen of us girls stayed at the Delta Gamma sorority house, where we slept in a dormitory on the third floor.

Spend Cold Night
We wouldn't have minded so much if only the heat had extended farther than the first two floors. It was almost necessary to wear sox and ear-muffs to bed. Finally we were all huddled in our respective beds when a loud crash was heard. It came from one end of the dormitory where Joyce Cleaver and Mary Smith were comfortably situated, when all of a sudden their trusty(?) bed broke down. It was

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Thelma Kieth and Shirley Keegan, two new students of Home Room 30, were introduced to the members by Fritz Kahl.

Betty Medsker, English 7 student in Mr. Cook's period 7 class, made the highest grade on a test over possessives. Close behind her were Gladys Hanke and Louise Buesking.

Jean Foreman and Marjorie Haller gave reports on "Town Life in Rome" taken from the book "A Day in Old Rome" to Mrs. Welty's Latin 4 class.

The following students in Miss Covalt's Typing 3 class won awards last week for having written at least 50 words per minute with 90% accuracy or above on a ten minute test: Marilyn Yager, 53 words per minute with 96% accuracy; Maxine Stough, 52 words with 96% accuracy; Marguerite Calkins, 51 words with 94% accuracy; and Elaine Helms, 50 words with 94% accuracy.

Mr. Whelan's Physical Geography 1 classes saw two films on iron ore industry and bituminous coal.

Miss Kiefer's English 3 students are reading translations of the great national epic.

In Miss Hutto's art classes, all who wish to, are making small clay Christmas angels.

Officers of Miss Edith Crowe's home room are as follows: President, Lois Bonebrake; vice-president, Marcurie Brackmann; and secretary, June Bebout. Those students on the standing committees are: scholarship and educational, Rose-Etha Brazy, chairman; June Bebout, Loraine Berning, Marilyn Borkenstein, and Mary Brown; program committee, Kenneth Breimeier, chairman; Wayne Brown and Myrtle Brewer.

Committees for Home Room 52's Christmas party were announced by Miss Thorne as follows: Decorations, Jean Sherrick and Joan Schultz; Christmas basket, Jack Shirk and Richard Schmieding; and program, Jo Ann Schwartz and Kathleen Sanders.

Miss Osborn's English 7, period 2 class is beginning to read "The Idylls of the Kings."

Students of Miss Rehorsf made the skirt of Wo-Ho-Ma Club's vanity table.

Boys who have all their exercises in Mr. Smuts' wood-turning class completed a rare Richard Schemerhorn, Raymond K. St. Richard Klopfenstein, Albert Leakey, James McClure, Kenneth Rieddorf, and Eugene Stratton.

Mr. Whelan's Physical Geography 2 classes saw a film on "Weather."

In Miss Demaree's English 7 classes the following made reports: Robert Wylie on "The Nine Muses," and Maurice Leas, "The Fairie Queen."

Some advanced students of Mr. Plasket are assembling book cases, end tables, and coffee tables. Some freshmen are also doing the same.

On a test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 1 classes, the following pupils made 95 or above: Joan Dodge, Joan Dittler, Mary Duemling, John Mast, Don Perry, Martha Shaffer, Jack Collins, John Fitzman, Alice Martz, Harriet Swager, Earl Cheenen, Katherine Cox, Phil Lichtenberg, Opa Springer, Miriam Abbott, Mary Conderly, Martha Davenport, Bill Fishering, Roy Geiser, Ken Lauer, and Vera Mast. Rosemary Plummer and Marge Meyer made 100.

Vivian Klopfenstein of Home Room 30 recently had charge of the safety program on fire hazards.

English 6, period 4 students of Miss Pocock are making reports on individual poems of nature poetry.

The girls in the home economics department are attending lectures regarding fur production, coat making, and buying. There will be five lectures which are held every Tuesday.

The following students in Miss Oppelt's Latin 1 classes made 90 or above on a 100-word vocabulary test on unit 2: Carolyn Fackler, Nancy Mae Griffiths, Betty Mae Hall, Margaret Ann Kuntz, Kenneth Lauer, Gerry Mason, LaDonna Russell, Martha Moon, Jacqueline Bock, Mary Duemling, Irene Fordyce, Dale Koonce, Barbara Leas, Hilda Leininger, Lee Loeser, Mary Louise McNabb, Donna Jean Mougin, Sally Muller.

The result? Friday: A sit-down strike in front of the Calhoun Street entrance. Amid a flying stream of torn garments and warped furniture, Miss Pittenger and Mr. Snider finally called the whole thing off.

Saturday: Sneaked in a couple more stitches on my sweater today.

Doris Beret, a student of Miss Melen's home nursing class, gave a talk on home nursing to Miss Peck's period 2 English class. She explained the relationship between home nursing and South Side's health program.

Pupils of Miss Osborn's English 6, period 1 class gave a special report on poetry in class last week. Each pupil was to read a poem of his own choice.

Dorothy Heslip made the highest grade, 98, on a test given in Miss Perkins' French 1, period 3, class. Carolyn Snoko made a grade of 95, and the following made 90 or above: Betty Ann Bohn, Lois Hoff, Rosemary Plummer, and Janice Sprunger.

Miss Miller's 9B Home Room 12 had election of officers. The results were as follows: President, Phyllis Crabill; vice-president, Mary Condrey; secretary, Jean Clark.

The following students received a score of 100% on a Geometry 2 test given by Mr. Sidell to his second period class: Oliver Freeman, Elmer Kahl, and Judy Preece.

In a recent test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2 classes, the following pupils made 90 or above: Mary Whittier, Willis Welty, Peggy Needham, Carolyn Fisher, Nevada Nancy, Alice Fisher, Jean Cyr, Tom Yates, Arvilla Rediger, Ida May Hoge, Gene Gettle, and Joan Carman. Ilo Hirschman made 100.

Peggy Harrod, 12A, and Richard Green, 12B, students of Miss Dochterman, recently made the decoration on the door of Room 26. The scene portrayed is the Star of Bethlehem.

The girls' gym classes have finished basketball and are starting volleyball this week.

Those students of Miss Pocock who have finished this semester's home reading are Bill Brandt, Anita Eller, Fritz Kahl, Bob Reynolds, Marcella Schwartz, Lloyd Doehrmann, Jane Hickman, Curtis Kyvik, Helen Long, Frances Weir, Jane Bear, Bonnie Heller, Jean Kern, Alice Martz, Janet Merriman, Herman Turner, and Betty Valentine.

Mr. Bex's Senior Home Room 44 have been hearing reports on colleges and universities from all over the United States. These reports are given so that the students may have some information about the various schools. Eileen Hornmann gave a report on Lake Erie College, and Lois Holzworth gave a talk on DePauw University.

Norman Fortress, a Shorthand 1, period 1 student of Mr. Murch, and Etheldrea Behling, a period 6 student, made the highest grades on a check-up in their respective classes.

The following students of Mr. Plasket's Industrial Arts 1, period 6 class who are doing service work are Russell Armstrong, roll; Willis Fink and Harold Saalfrank, bench foreman; Paul Horning, clamps foreman; Wayne Kern and Alfred Horstmeier, mill foreman; Arthur Longworth, tool foreman; and Warren Lotz, locker foreman.

Mr. Peirce's sociology classes are studying the problems of the American family, problems of divorce and problems of population.

Miss Kiefer's English 7 classes, periods three and four, are investigating Shakespeare's use of figures of speech in "Macbeth."

In Mr. Whelan's Physical Geography 1 classes those who have the best rock collections are: first period, Elsie Korte and Katherine Bultmeier; third period, Max Stobaugh, Gloria Hattendorf, and Eugene Witte; sixth period, Kendrick Roth, James Michel, and Russell Sunday.

Delores Murphy has withdrawn from school. She was a pupil in Miss Demaree's home room, 68.

The students of Miss Perkins' French 4, period 1 class have finished reading "Sans Famille."

Miss Demaree's English 1 classes are taking up the study of short stories.

Find Out What Our Instructors Think Of Our Driving Jitneys

Do you own an automobile? Do you drive to school? If you do, it will be worth your while to listen in while we make a round trip through the school to determine just exactly what the teachers think about students owning and driving automobiles. Here are the latest reports that were taken recently.

Mr. Wayne Gift: I think driving a car depends upon the individual.

Miss Pearl Rehorsf: If a high school student has a sense of responsibility, I know of no reason why he or she should be denied this privilege.

Miss Rosemary DeLancey: It depends on the student—whether he is a careful driver.

Mr. Stanley Post: It depends on the individual, because some of the students that drive around school after school hours should not be allowed to drive at all.

Miss Alice Dean: If the student is a responsible, trust worthy person, I think it is all right. I believe the parents should be the judges.

Miss Mary Crowe: It depends on the student—whether he gets enough exercise and whether he has a schedule that makes it necessary to drive; but above all he should have enough responsibility to drive with a lot of people in the car.

Mrs. Lillian Scott: I think if the student is careful and reliable it's all right. I don't think it is necessary for a high school student to own a car of his own, because he can usually drive his father's car.

Mrs. Dorothy Rieke: No objections to the question.

Miss Olive Perkins: It's a waste of time when they own their own cars because they can usually drive their parents'.

Miss Elizabeth Demaree: It is permissible to drive their parents' car.

Mrs. Elna J. Gould: Some should and some shouldn't. If they didn't drive a car they would spend time more wisely than racing around in a car. I think it isn't very good training.

Miss Pauline VanGorder: I think it's O.K. for the students who can drive.

Miss Elizabeth Kelley: It's O.K. if they have licenses.

Miss Gertrude Oppelt: Walking is good for anyone who is in good health, and I'm sure that most of our youngsters are in good condition. So, why wouldn't it be better if they walked?

A drunken man was walking down the street and stopped to lean up against the wall of a building. A cop came along and said, "What do you think you're doing? Holding up the building?" So the drunk moved away and the building fell down.

to be held in Mr. Peirce's U. S. History classes. First period, Marilyn Dennis; second period, Naomi Koopman; fourth period, Rosa Lee Hall; sixth period, Ruth Ann Siegler.

Miss Kiefer's English 2 classes have voted Edgar Allen Poe's poem "The Bells" as their favorite lyric poem.

Christian Club Holds Meeting For First Time

New Club Formed As Result Of Petition By Students; Mr. Ora Davis Is Sponsor

Meeting for the first time last Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room, The Christian Club, under the direction of Mr. Ora Davis, mathematics instructor and athletic director, made plans for the coming year.

The club was started as a result of the request of forty-seven students, all interested in literature and ethical standards of living. Programs for some of these meetings will feature special music and interesting discussions on these topics.

All students wishing to join may see Mr. Davis in the gym office after school.

This organization sprang into being because of a petition of interested students presented to Mr. A. Verne Flint.

The petition read as follows: "We, the undersigned, being students at the South Side High School of Fort Wayne, Indiana, believe that there should be formed, in the school, a club for the Christians of the school. Members would be required to be a Christian, believing in the true gospel of Christ and living a life of separation unto the Lord. A supervisor would be chosen to head this club from one of the Christian teachers."

It was signed by the following students:

Which Dance Will You Take? Formal, Semi-formal, Sport?

With the coming holiday season, the minds of Archers will be filled with the entertainment for the Christmas vacation. Included on your calendar will be sleighing, picture shows, shopping for Christmas presents, and, most important of all, dances.

Dancing brings up a question which is of utmost importance to every high school boy or girl before the big event, "What kind of a dance will it be—sport, semi-formal, or formal?" Of course, the most popular dance will be the type preferred by the majority of the students.

The Archers listed below have given their opinions on the type of dance they prefer:

Jim Weaver: Formal, because it seems more like a dance.

Marilyn Sondles: Formal; the kids act more like high school students should act.

Dick McIntosh: Sport; bow ties are too tight at a formal dance.

Bob Moses: Semi-formal; I like to take a date in a formal, but I like to go in a sport suit.

Elaine Ferguson: Formal; I just love to wear my formals.

Bud Lampton: Sport; no formals to step on, and sport dances are cheaper.

Warren Cook: Sport; it's not so much trouble and you don't have to be so careful.

Alice Sweet: Formal; I love to dress up in a formal because they make me look older and taller.

Bob Englehart: Sport; they are more comfortable.

JoAnn Smith: Formal; I love to get orchids. Ha, ha!

Bob Holmes: Sport; financial reasons.

Orlida Brown: Semi-formal; I like to wear a formal but I think a boy looks silly in a tux.

John Cleland: Sport; because you don't have to send flowers.

Martha Scheele: Formal; because you can go formal, semi-formal, or sport.

Max Neff: I'm just crazy about them all.

Eugene Reichart: I agree with Max.

Mothers' Gym Class Plans Party Wednesday

A potluck and gift exchange make up the program for the Mothers' Gym Class party which is set for December 16 at 6 o'clock. After the exchange the mothers will play volleyball and badminton in the gym. Miss Alice Dean is the class instructor, and Mrs. Paul Iba will serve as general chairman.

The committees named for the party are as follows: Decorations, Mrs. G. Barrett, chairman; Mrs. Earl Hadley, Mrs. Park Hess and Mrs. J. E. McFarland; food, Mrs. G. Shannon, chairman; Mrs. E. S. Davies, Mrs. J. Franke and Mrs. W. W. Scheele; program, Mrs. Elfriede Haug and Mrs. E. S. Pfeiffer.

Juniors Receive Pins

Gloria Kramer and Jane Klinefelter, 11 B's, received their bronze pins for making 1500 points working on The Times. Gloria earned her points by being a proof and copy reader. Jane received her points by being a feature writer and proofreader. Jane was recently appointed copy editor on The Times.

Industrial Arts Offer Unusual Opportunity For Capable Boys

In the above picture Mr. Estal Smuts, industrial arts instructor, is seen showing students Keith Prociase, Don Perry, and Tom Wilson how to cast a mold.

South Side's Industrial Arts Department offers an interesting course for all those who like to do things with their hands. The curriculum provides such an extensive study that one may be graduated from high school today with a greater knowledge of machines and tools than that of a young man coming from a specialized industrial school about ten years ago. In many instances it is possible for such a student to find immediate employment after graduation.

The department covers so many phases of manual training work that three instructors are needed to handle the numerous classes. Courses are divided into these sections: Mr. C. A. Bex is head of the drawing classes; Mr. Joseph Plasket concentrates his efforts on drawing and on beginning wood-turning; and Mr. Smuts, the newest teacher in the department, is the instructor in all metal work.

Comprises Major Course
The constantly increasing number of boys who choose industrial arts as their major course of high school study indicates that industrial arts is a complete and interesting field of work.

When the freshman boy walks down the east wing corridor, the first room he enters is the wood-working shop. There the first year students learn to use the simpler tools in making such projects as end tables and radio stands. In his second semester the student advances to the wood-turning machine shop where he learns to handle a lathe and drill press.

After turning out more complicated projects, such as oddly designed lamps, he moves for the third semester to the metal department where he learns the construction of metal objects, such as tin cups, funnels and iron lamps.

For the fourth semester he studies mill work. In his 11B year he takes up drawing, in which he continues on through his senior year. Drawing takes more skill than does any other course in the Industrial Arts Department, for a project will not be accurate if the drawing or blueprint is not true.

Work Is Fascinating
The most fascinating course in the industrial arts department is mill or foundry work. Foundry work was started this year as an experiment to see whether or not the boys would be interested in it. It has been quite successful; for, although only one class out of the four taking the course in metal work has been allowed to do

Heads To Be Chosen For So-Si-Y Tuesday

Election of officers will be the main feature at the So-Si-Y's Christmas party Tuesday to be held in the Greeley Room. Nominations for officers have not yet been announced. The tentative slate has been submitted to Miss Pittenger, dean, for her approval.

Miss Emma Kiefer will give a Christmas story to the members. The cabinet, under the leadership of Bernard Bender, will have charge of the meeting. Officers of the cabinet assisting Bernard at the meeting are Marjorie Voltz, vice-president; Martha Thomas, secretary; Metal Objects, treasurer; Maxine Lalkins, musical chairman; LaVerne Greiner, membership chairman; Romayne Rediger, service chairman, and Louisa Haug, publicity chairman.

There are worse things than being drafted. Some men are even getting married.

No. Miss Maze, a neckerchief is not the head of a sorority.

Shop Classes Are Finishing Projects

Coffee, End Tables; Bookcases; Mechanical Drawings Are Few Of Jobs Tackled By Students

Making tables and metal hammers and drawing plans are keeping the boys in the shop classes busy. The Industrial Arts 1 classes are assembling end and occasional tables. Some of the boys are already applying stain and varnish to these.

In the fourth semester classes of Mr. C. A. Bex and Mr. Joseph Plasket the more advanced students are making modernistic furniture. They are now also assembling their coffee, end and occasional tables and bookcases.

Under the direction of Mr. Bex, the mechanical drawing classes are drawing elements, principles, auxiliary views, revolutions, true length of lines, and penetrations. The farther advanced students are making plans for machines, machine parts, and cams and gears.

Those who have decided to take architectural drawing are drawing or will draw lettering, symbols, moldings, detailed doors and windows, and sills. They will make plans for a six-room house and north, south, east and west elevations, and details of stairs and fireplaces.

Many of the boys in Mr. E. C. Smuts' Industrial Arts 2 wood-turning classes have completed their six exercises and are turning lamps, gravels, mists and small bowls.

Mr. Smuts is also the instructor in the metal working classes. The boys in these classes are making tin cups, funnels, soldering irons, hammers, plumb bobs, and "C" chumps. They also turn screwdrivers on the metal lathe and construct electric buzzers, lamps and kitchen tools all of metal.

Mr. Ora Davis, mathematics instructor and athletic director, has been chosen adviser of South Side's newest club, The Christian Club. It held its first meeting last Tuesday.

Maurine Seibert, '40, Is New Office Girl, Good Stenographer

After following South Side's excellent commercial course for four years, Maurine Seibert, '40, has obtained the position of office girl in the general office. Besides doing this, she attends classes at Indiana University Extension.

Maurine's daily work consists of the following: Taking dictation, typing, filing, answering telephones, meeting callers, taking care of mail, and distributing street car passes. She says her work is interesting, offers variety, and she likes it very much.

While attending South Side, Maurine pursued the commercial course and took the stenographic branch during her junior and senior years. She agrees with several other graduates that the South Side business department is very thorough. She further states, "If students take all they can get from it, they will have a fine background for the business world."

In her typing class Maurine was outstanding, with a rate of fifty words per minute and 95 per cent accuracy. She excelled with the record of 120 words per minute in shorthand.

Maurine held membership in several clubs when she was at South Side. Among these were Meterites, of which she was vice-president; Travel; Forum; Philo, of which she was treasurer; Math-Science, in which she held the office of vice-president.

She was manager of The Times. As a result of her journalism work, she won membership in 1500 Club and was elected to membership in national honorary journalism society.

During her senior year, she was chosen as a member of National Honor Society.

Rigid Enforcement Will Be Necessary For 8,139 Cyclists

Of particular interest to South Side bicyclists was a letter on bicycle rules and safety written by Chief of Police George F. Eisenhower to the South Side Archers.

He writes, "A survey has just been completed to ascertain the number of bicycle owners among school children in Fort Wayne. It was learned through this survey that we have 8,139 bicycle owners."

"Throughout the entire United States during the years of 1938 and 1939 there were 1,420 cyclists killed, and 69,000 injured. In Fort Wayne we were fortunate during this period in not having a cyclist killed. However, there were 107 cyclists injured. We are far from pleased with the fact that our bicycle accident trend has shown only a seven per cent decrease during the past two years."

"The bicycle traffic problem has become so serious that it was necessary for the last legislature of the State Assembly to enact laws for the regulation and the use of bicycles upon the public streets and highways. The enactment of this law specifically states that every cyclist is to comply with the same driving rules as a motorist."

"We are distributing safety rules for every bicycle owner in each school in the city, and, as soon as the distribution is completed, it will be absolutely necessary for us to conduct a rigid enforcement program. If bicycle riders do not comply with these rules, police officers will be instructed to make arrests for the violation of the same."

Summer Vacation Will Begin June 13

School is again scheduled to close next spring on June 13 as it was originally planned. The set-back was in response to a request made by the Fort Wayne Teachers' Association.

The term was originally scheduled to close on that date, but the calendar was extended to June 18 in order to make up for the time lost in the fall on account of the infantile paralysis situation.

A week of the time lost will be made up during the Christmas vacation. The date at first for Christmas vacation was December 20 to January 6. The date now is from December 20 to December 30.

Affair To Be Saturday Night In Room 170 Until 11:30 O'clock; To Give Prizes

"Rhythm Rascals" To Furnish Music

Tickets To Be Twenty-five, Forty Cents; Chaperones, Committees Announced

Immediately after the South Side Horace Mann basketball game this Saturday evening, Torch Club members and everyone who likes a peppy dance will rush up to Room 170 for the "Holly Hop", Torch Club's after-game dance.

The "Rhythm Rascals" will provide music for dancing until 11:30 o'clock, when the dance will end.

Tickets, which may be purchased at the door, are 25 cents for single admission, while those who prefer to make it a twosome will pay 40 cents.

Attendance prizes will be awarded to holders of the lucky numbers during the evening. Members of Torch Club will have charge of the check room.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Verne Flint, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittenger, Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd R. Neff, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Iba, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Siples, and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Childers have been chosen chaperones for the "Holly Hop".

The decorations will carry out the Christmas theme of the affair. The committee in charge of the decorations includes Russell Siples, Bob Wade, Dick Morton, John Virts, Paul Yundt, and George Waldschmidt.

Franklin Neff is chairman of the general arrangements committee. The other members are John Virts, Russell Siples, George Waldschmidt, Dick Morton, Paul Yundt, Ken Iba, and Bob Wade.

George Waldschmidt made the posters advertising the dance.

The officers of Torch Club are Franklin Neff, president; Robert Childers, vice-president; Russell Siples, secretary; and Ken Iba, treasurer. Mr. Ernest Walker, adviser of Torch Club, is overseeing the plans.

South Side Sends Pupils To Council

Students Take Part In Legislative Assembly Held Recently At Purdue, December 6 And 7

Eleven South Siders attended Indiana's first student legislative assembly held December 6 and 7 at Purdue University. The representatives chosen were Jim and Bob Brooks, Don and Ed Meyer, Safford McMyler, Ruth Dauner, Paul Keil, Katherine Guild, and Lois and Fay Gumpner. Dick Theye was South Side's senator.

The procedure of this assembly was patterned after the Indiana State Legislature. The purpose of this conference was to give each student participating in this meeting a chance to gain some practical knowledge on how the Indiana State Legislature is run. Nearly one hundred high schools were represented in the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Purdue University had a schedule worked out for each house of the assembly. On Friday morning the House of Representatives and Senate held a joint session where Speaker James Knapp, present speaker of the Indiana assembly, and Senator Charles Eickorn from Gary explained the rules of procedure.

Members of both houses then went to the committees to which they had been appointed earlier in the day. Some of the committees concerned national defense, labor and capital, subversive activities, city government, domestic relations, and schools. There bills that had been presented from various members of the assembly were discussed.

Saturday morning the Senate and House of Representatives met in different rooms to discuss the bills presented by the committees. As in the case of any assembly, both of the houses had different bills to debate upon. When one of the houses passed a bill, it was immediately taken to the other house, where it was agreed upon or changed.

Both houses met on Saturday afternoon to finish up the business.

Max Stobaugh Is Ping-Pong Champ

Fort Wayne Table Tennis Club Gives Trophy Cup To Winner; Walter Rousseau Runner-up

Max Stobaugh, 12B, won the table tennis contest sponsored by the Fort Wayne Table Tennis Club last week-end at the Community Center. Approximately twenty-five entered for this contest.

A large engraved trophy cup was given as the prize. Rules of the contest were that no entrant could be a tieholder.

The opponents for this game were Ray Commers, Kenneth Kibler, Frank Weber, Stan Choka, and Walter Rousseau. Scores for the game played with Walter Rousseau were 21-14, 23-21, 21-18, and 21-8.

Twenty-Four Meet At Alumni Dinner

Ex-Archers Discuss Plans For Christmas Dance Which Will Be Held Next Thursday Night

Exactly twenty-four members attended the first Alumni Dinner December 11, in the cafeteria. They discussed further plans for their informal dance, which is to be held next Thursday, a series of class reunions, and an alumni directory which they are working on.

At least two alumni from each graduating class were invited. Those who attended from the class of 1923 were Elizabeth Little and Hilda Schwier; 1924, Willis Carto; 1926, Mary Poock; 1927, Sheldon Hines; 1928, Hilda Poellinger; 1930, Margaret Wallace; 1931, David Parrish and Chester Brouwer; 1932, Don Hall.

Other attendants were: 1933, Jane Vesey Smith and Wendell Laning; 1934, Avanel Glass; 1935, Geraldine Henline; 1936, Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Minier; 1937, Ruth Garrison and Ruth Goeglein; 1938, Joan Bonisib and Oscar Eggers; 1939, Janice Dyer; 1940, Dorothy Gore, Jim Murphy, and Maurine Siebert.

Dances Plus Sleep Are Most Awaited Christmas Ventures

With Christmas just around the corner, comes not only the cheer and joy of this wonderful holiday, to say nothing of jolly old St. Nicholas and his sleighful of presents, but also the welcome blessings of a real-for-sure vacation. Of course, it's pretty hard to get your breath back in one week, but it certainly goes a long way toward helping. After reading a poll on what students intend to do during their vacation, you will probably come to the conclusion that they'll do everything but study.

Here are the results of the poll: "Peanuts" Ferguson: Dance, and dance, and dance.

Mary Carlo: That is getting too personal.

Janis Tremp: I'm going to have as much fun as I can.

Barbara Leas: Gosh, I don't know. "Wheezy" McNabb: Have fun. Marjorie Peterson: Go places. Mary Condrey: Sleep.

Marjorie Wigbell: Everything in general, nothing in particular.

Gloria Staley: Sleep.

So you don't believe in Santa Claus? To be sure, its been about a decade or so since you were torn away from the grand illusion pictured above. You don't believe in a rosy-cheeked, white-whiskered, jolly old man who fills your stocking with all sorts of good things. But yet you do believe in Santa Claus. You believe, more accurately, in what Santa Claus symbolizes. You believe, if you like, in the poetry in back of Santa Claus. You believe in Santa Claus as the spirit of Christmas. You believe in the spirit of self-giving which is at the bottom of the brotherhood of man, the spirit which is basic to "good will toward men". You believe in Santa Claus, because you believe in "peace on earth". And it is the spirit of unselfish devotion to all mankind which must bring about such peace. Yes, there probably is a Santa Claus.

English Instructor Engages Champion

Mr. Maurice Cook Is Best With Ping-Pong Champ James McClure In GAA Exhibition

Mr. Maurice Cook, English teacher, ran up the highest score of all opponents against Mr. James McClure, former national ping-pong champion, in the exhibition held last Thursday in the gymnasium during the seventh period. The score of their game was 21 to 11.

Mr. McClure won all of the games he played against students with a large margin. Barney Horn and Wayne Durst from Central were both defeated by a score of 21 to 5. The other boys who played Mr. McClure and their scores are Max Stobaugh, 21-9; Kenneth Hibber, 21-10; James McClure, 21-2; Bob Brooks, 21-3; Everett Trulock, 21-5; and Thomas Hall, 21-5.

Mr. McClure also held a free clinic after the exhibition in Room 170 for the purpose of improving the students' game. The students who signed up for the clinic are James Brooks, James Steiner, Ovar Gall-breath, and Clifford Springer, Jerry Mansbach, Elmer Kohl, Jack Robbins, John Heffelfinger, Bob Hansel, Jeanne Seidel, John Craig, Kenneth Hebler, Ray Commers, Harold Lassen, Max Stobaugh, Arthur Perry, Bob Brooks, James McClure, Barney Horn, Wayne Durst, Pauline Schoenherr, and Phyllis Amstutz.

Today Is Tag Day; Senior A's Eligible

National Honor Society Tag Day will be held this morning to select new members for the highest honor South Side can bestow upon a student, it was announced last Monday by Miss Mabel Thorne, chairman of the Tag Day committee. The committee is composed of Miss Pauline Van Gorder, Miss Elizabeth Kelly, Mr. Elva J. Gould, and Mr. Earl H. Murch.

To qualify for the National Honor Society, a student must be in the upper third of the senior class scholastically and outstanding in scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

An assembly will be held during the last fifteen minutes of the seventh period to introduce the newly-elected members to the student body.

About Sixty Attend Best Girl Banquet

The Reverend Howard J. Brown, Mr. R. Nelson Snider Speak At Hi-Y Boys' Annual Event

Approximately sixty persons attended the Hi-Y Best Girl banquet last Saturday night at 6:30 o'clock at the YMCA's private dining room. Tom Brower, club president, acted as toastmaster. Miss Martha Pittenger, Archer dean, spoke on Hi-Y social activities. Other speakers were Mr. C. G. Leonard, director of boys' activities at the YMCA, who spoke on Hi-Y and the YMCA; Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Archer principal, who spoke on Hi-Y and South Side; and the Reverend Howard J. Brown, pastor of the Forest Park M. E. Church, whose topic was Hi-Y and the church.

At the last meeting of Hi-Y held last Thursday at the YMCA at 7:30 o'clock, Warren Cook, committee chairman of the banquet, gave a report on the banquet. Richard Nahrwald was appointed as new chairman of the pennant committee. Jim Holzwarth gave a report on the pencil sale and Milton Haller, treasurer, gave a financial report in connection with the pencil sale.

Jim McClure Says, 'To Play Ping-Pong One Must Be Alert'

More than three hundred students saw the ex-national ping-pong champion, Jim McClure, battle several good players, among whom Mr. Maurice Cook, ping-pong champion of South Side's teachers. Mr. Cook undoubtedly gave Jim the most competition of the afternoon. Those who saw Jim play witnessed a show of beautiful co-ordinated motion working with a hair-trigger mind.

Mr. McClure was not born with such smooth working limbs; he had to build up his body and mind so that he could function without any lost motion when put to the test of a hard-fought game.

"I started to play tennis in 1926, and in 1933 I played my first game of ping-pong. The game fascinated me so much that I determined to enter this field. I practiced before each tournament, hour after hour, and each week-end found me battling the celluloid ball about. Several years later I became a professional ping-pong player, and then I practiced two or three nights a week for about half an hour, so that I could improve my technique and keep in trim," stated Mr. McClure.

Having become an expert at the game, Mr. McClure became a member of the Olympic ping-pong team and won a gold emblem Olympic shield. Jimmy's profession has taken him to many countries, twice to England and to Czechoslovakia and Austria. In the United States he has won the national doubles, national singles contests. He is also the international doubles champion. Previous to becoming a ping-pong professional, he won the Indiana Junior Tennis Tournament and had played professional doubles with Bill Tilden as a partner.

When asked his formula for good ping-pong playing, he replied, "Think what you are doing and teach your hands to carry out their task with precision and swiftness; then, make your feet get you where you are needed."

Holiday Pageant To Be Presented For Two Groups

Was It Santa Claus Or Stork Who Left Four Yule Babies?

We don't know whether it was a case of the stork playing Santa or Santa playing the stork; but whatever it was, we have four examples of that rare phenomenon, the Christmas baby, right here in South Side. Our Christmas kids are Margery Ann Hannon, Roger McVay, Trendell Terry, and Bob York.

Some people think it would be a decided disadvantage to have a birthday on Christmas, but others think it would be fun. When we asked these Christmas kids, who really should know, what they thought of having a birthday on Christmas, this is what they told us. It makes us wonder if the fellows are not a bit too practical.

Margery Ann Hannon: I like it lots. Not many people have a birthday on Christmas, and it's different.

Roger McVay: It's just a case of having a Merry Christmas and a Happy Birthday wrapped in the same package.

Trendell Terry: I certainly do get a raw deal on the presents.

Bob York: I guess I got gyped, but so did the family!

Favorite Carols Comprise Program Being Arranged By Music Speech Heads

Assembly Is Set For This Morning

Identical Program Is To Be Presented For Twenty-Five Cents This Evening

Christmas music and pageantry will be presented in an assembly today immediately after home room period by the orchestra, glee club, and members of the speech department. The same program will be repeated in the evening for the P-TA concert for 25 cents admission.

The Pastoral Symphony from the "Messiah" will be played by the orchestra and three numbers of the chorus, accompanied by the orchestra, will be "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful", "Oh Holy Night", and "Jesu Bambino". Erleen Lee will be the soloist. Emelyn Rummel and Mary Whittier will present special solo selections in connection with some Christmas scenes and readings.

The characters are as follows: Angels, Betty Fremion, Bettlu Stein, Joyce Cleaver, Audrey Smith, Gloria Rosama, Joan Gable, Charlotte DuWan, Rosanna Weston, Jean Sheets, and Betty Mann; wise men, John Mast, Stanley Trier, and Tom Yates; shepherds, Austin Gardner, Walter Turner, and Paul Yandt; and Madonna, Emalyn Rummel.

Elaine Hirschy will be the accompanist. James McClure and Helen Kinde will be the readers.

The program will close with the chorus singing "Joy To The World", with the accompaniment of the orchestra.

A bake sale will be held in connection with the P-TA concert. Mrs. C. H. Mattson and Mrs. George Barrett will be in charge of the booth.

The entire affair in the evening is in charge of the ways and means committee with Mrs. Paul Scheele as chairman. Other members are Mrs. E. R. Carlo, Mrs. George W. Barrett, Mrs. Simpson Parkinson, and Mrs. C. H. Mattson.

Miss Lulu Osborne is in charge of the assembly. Mr. Lester Hostetler and Mr. Jack Wainwright are in charge of the music.

Bette Stumpf Acts As Party Hostess

Marjorie Williams, Phyllis Puff, And Mr. Ora M. Davis Entertain Home Economics Girls

Bette Stumpf acted as general hostess at the party which the Home Room Economics Department gave Wo-Ho-Ma Club last Thursday afternoon in Room 77.

Each year the Wo-Ho-Ma Club presents a gift to the Home Economics Department. This year the gift was a silver tea set for the department's two-room apartment. Last year a lace table cloth was given.

Miss Lucy Mellen and Miss Helen Bean, teachers of the subject, were in charge of the affair. Assistant hostesses were chosen in each of the home economic classes.

The girls selected from Miss Bean's classes are Dorothy Meyer, Barbara Roth, Helen Anderson, Gertrude Merkle, Joan Squires, and Aileen Betts.

Those who acted as hostesses were Joyce Dent, Barbara Browne, Gloria Straley, Phyllis Jackson, Mary Brandyberry, and Louisa Haugk.

Phyllis Crissie Mott's hostesses were Phyllis Mueller, Lois Campbell, Lucille Rodeman, Betty Stumpf, Clara-Bette Squares, and June Hoopingarner. Betty Bligh was chosen from Miss Mellen's classes.

Entertainment was provided by Marjorie Williams who did a solo tap number. She was accompanied by Marcella Schwartz. Mr. Ora Davis read four of James Whitcomb Riley's poems, which included "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," "When She Comes Home," "Nothin' to Say," and "The Feel in the Air."

An acrobatic number was given by Phyllis Puff. Phyllis Mueller played the accompaniment for her accordion. Refreshments consisting of ice cream roll and cookies were served buffet style in the dining room of the apartment.

Puppeteers To Have Yule Potluck Today

A Christmas party and potluck will be the features of Marionette Club's meeting today at 3:30 o'clock. The frolic will take the place of the regular meeting.

Ann Haller and Rosemary Zeigler are in charge of the refreshments. Since September the members have been working on their own individual projects.

G. Staley, R. McVay Social-Sci Speakers

"Pan-American Relations" will be discussed by Gloria Staley and Roger McVay at the Social Science Club meeting tomorrow night in the Greeley Room at 7:15 o'clock. Following the reports, Gloria Werkman will lead an open discussion.

The next meeting will be held January 11, when Ruth Dauner and Dick Fishering will discuss the topic "Shall We Appease Japan?"

Declamation Final Victors Are Decided

James McClure Takes First Among Seniors; Ed Meyer Is Second-Place Winner

Bud Brudi Wins In Junior Contest

Freshman, Sophomore Who Also Hold Titles Are Sally O'Rourke, William Bone

James McClure, 12B, and Bud Brudi won the senior and junior divisions of the declamation Contest finals, held last Monday afternoon at Wranglers' meeting. Jim's declamation was "The Light that is Darkness," and Bud's was "I Am Innocent of This Blood."

Other winners in the senior finals are Ed Meyer, second; Bob Robinson, Maxine Case and Don Meyer, third.

Winners in the junior finals are Pat Sanford, second; and Bud Lamp-ton, third.

List Frosh, Sophs
Sally O'Rourke and Bill Bone won the freshman and sophomore contests. Other winners in the freshman contest are Bob Sheldon, second; Marjorie Riethe, third; and Mildred Babcock, fourth.

Those who placed in the sophomore finals are Fred Collins, second; Elinor Muntzinger and Dick Shriner, third.

The freshman preliminaries were held the first period Monday. Those who placed in the contest in Room 79 are Marjorie Riethe, and Sally O'Rourke, first; Dorothy Meyer, second; Kathryn Scholer, third; and Ruth Kelso, fourth. Judges were Miss Helen Bean and Caroline Lichtenberg.

In Room 74, winners are Mildred Babcock, first; Phil Lichtenberg, second; and Wanda Baney, third. Judges were Miss Mary McCloskey and Safford McMyler.

Bob Sheldon Wins
Winners in Room 68 are Bob Sheldon, first; Austin Gardner and Ade-line Cortis, second; and Phyllis Niblick, third. Judges were Miss Elizabeth Demaree and Janet Anderson.

Freshman finals were held the second period in Room 190, and judges were Albert Shaff, Bill Siebold and Bob Young.

Sophomore preliminaries were also held the first period on Monday. Those Franklin Neff, president of Torch Club, is heading completion of the plans for the after-game dance, which will be held next Saturday night after the Horace Mann game.

Peace On Earth, Good Will Toward Men Is True Christmas Spirit

Merry Christmas everyone! I know that it will be a merry Christmas, for we, in this country have so much to rejoice about. Every person, both citizen and alien in the United States, no matter how poor and unhappy he may be, shall have a relatively abundant and happy holiday compared with those suffering, starving people of Europe.

The plea made by the Pope for a peace over the holidays has been rejected, first by Winston Churchill and later by Adolf Hitler. There shall be no respite from war for either the Germans or English. The birthday of the Prince of Peace shall be celebrated this year of 1940 at a time of wide-spread war.

When Jesus Christ came to us 1,940 years ago there were wars and rumors of wars. There was a tyrannical dictator with an expansive empire, there were hatreds and jealousies, and conquests and persecutions. Jesus taught peace and brotherhood to a world that had only known love of friends and hatred of enemies. He dared to say, "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use, and persecute you."

For centuries we have had His counsel, His philosophy, and the inspiration of His life. Yet, how have we used it? For centuries we have built churches and cathedrals, burned candles and sung hymns and continued to love our friends and hate our enemies. Shall we ever learn? Shall we ever take His words out of the Bible and put them into practice? Generations ago the disbelieving Romans threw Christians to the lions; today we, in modern civilization, throw them at each other.

Let us this Christmas be merry, yet thankful and thoughtful. Let us celebrate the birthday of the Prince of Peace with thoughts of peace and with thoughts of love for all peoples. Some day, on some future Christmas, we must and shall be able to say that we do have "peace on earth and good will toward men."

Propaganda In Editorials Should Be Stopped

Sometime between now and Christmas, when you pick up a paper and leaf through the pages searching for the comics, you will perhaps see on the editorial page an editorial titled something like this: "Yule in Other Nations". Surfeited as you are with articles on the lack of Christmas spirit in other countries, you will probably pass that editorial by.

You can scarcely be blamed; for that editorial is really little more than propaganda hiding behind Christmas tinsel and decoration. While impressing you with the horrors of war, it simultaneously leads you to a greater hate toward the totalitarian nations for creating this condition.

One can find enough of bombings, suffering, and death on the front page. An editorial page is not serving you when it lashes at dictators for causing the Christmas of millions to be bleak and cheerless. Rather should it attempt to imprint the essence of Christmas spirit in the minds of its readers. An often related incident of the World War is that in which the "Yanks" and the "Jerries" called a truce and played a game of baseball on Christmas Day. These men were not driven by thoughts which augmented their hate for the enemy; instead they made the best of a bad proposition and displayed true Yuletide spirit.

We as high school students, leaders of tomorrow's world, must realize that we must not condemn our foes because of what they have done to us; but try to enlighten our situation with peace and good will, as Jesus Christ would have us do.

Now that winter is almost here we would all do well to watch our own health by having an examination.

Do your Christmas shopping late! Avoid the early Christmas shoppers! Rush!

According to 1940 style, Santa ought to rename his reindeer "Donner and Blitzkrieg."

Do you think that we ought to tell the freshmen that there isn't any Santa Claus?

Don't study too hard next week. Remember that a vacation is supposed to be a rest from study. (Ha!)

School spirit: Yelling at the top of the lungs at a pep session and then glumly criticizing players and referees at the game.

One good New Year's resolution is to resolve not to break any other New Year's resolutions.

Pedagogue's Corner

"Dr. Cook"...if a sign like this were hung outside the door of Room 24, it would be quite appropriate. For Mr. Maurice Cook, who has his headquarters there, always has a remedy for a downcast spirit. A dose of his excellent English will cure the most sluggish and unambitious student of being bored with this subject; his clever manners and sayings are a wonderful stimulant.

Although he has been with us in Archerland only four short years, Mr. Cook is very popular with the student body. His cheerful disposition and bright smile have won for him the respect and admiration from all who come in contact with him.

All these desirable attributes would definitely place any man in the "eligible" set, but, sorry, girls, you've missed your chance. Mr. Cook is married and has two sons, Stanley and Wendel, nine and thirteen years of age.

You can imagine the gay hustle that goes on this time of year at the Cook residence when elaborate plans are being made for Christmas. Mr. Cook is going to take his wife and sons to Sullivan, Indiana to see their maternal grandmother. This is the only time in the year that the entire family can be together, for Mr. Cook teaches school during the summer. He stated on the sly that there is good hunting at Sullivan. Hunting, along with ping-pong and gardening are his favorite hobbies.

Mr. Cook has just two pet peeves. They are gum chewing in class, which he has tried so desperately to reform, and misconduct at the assemblies, which is probably almost as justifiable as the first dislike. Perhaps our doctor even holds post mortems in his classes after a disgusting session.

Madame LaHooty Gives Sophomores Latin Instructions

Are you interested in Latin? Would you like to be a good Latin student? Well, here is the chance that you have been waiting for. Right here is the chance of a lifetime. I, Madame LaHooty, will give you a lesson in Latin free of charge. But before I start, I want to give you a few pointers on how to study your Latin, especially your vocabularies. You must be able to learn your vocabulary, and in order to do this you must try to associate words in the vocabulary with the things or the people around you.

Now students, here is your first vocabulary, and be sure to learn it like all good kiddies do.
Puer pulcher—handsome boy—none other than curly-haired JOE HAYES.
Puella pulchra—beautiful girl—such as petite NAN CHERRY. (Are you catching on?)
Vivus—this word means alive—What sophomore is always alive and full of pep? You guessed it, none other than CHUCK (Tails) HARRISON.

Traho—means drag—What sophomore needs the biggest drag with the teachers? Yes, it's she, that wise-cracking bundle of wrong words at the wrong time—CAMILLE APPLE-GATE.

Oculus—the Latin word for eye—that certain black-haired Casanova, DEAN McKEAN, the one who gives all the girls the glad eye.

Gloria—yes, it means glory—Who has received much glory for her fine efforts and skills in the art of twirling the baton? It's little GLORIA GUMPPER, our baton twirler.

Aureus—the word for golden. When we think of golden, we think of something shiny and lovely. When we think of this, we remember a certain sophomore who has pretty golden locks. Her name? VIRGINIA SITES.

Multitudo—means multitude—that which graces most of our pep sessions; and, speaking of pep sessions, we can't overlook the sophomore cheer leaders, FRED COLLINS and BOB WADE.

Social Swirl Swamps South Side Seniors

With the Christmas holidays just around the corner, we of the senior class are happily looking forward to the coming parties and dances. The glamour girls of the senior class will be strutting their stuff in gay new formal, while their fourth year escorts will be sportin' tuxes or tails.

Since the younger generation, meaning the freshmen, nowadays are starting young in the social whirl, we seniors must attend all functions so that the freshmen can't win all the attendance prizes.

Some of the starry-eyed, happy couples you will probably see gliding around many dance floors this season are Alice Jean Light and "Doc" Goebel, Lea Rodriguez and Bud Lynch, Jim Weaver and Marion Dosch, and Carolyn Litchenberg and her "Henry".

Wilma Lageman is eagerly awaiting the holidays, since Concordia will have as long a vacation as we have.

There has been much comment on our shortened vacation, but we seniors will be glad to add two more days to our few remaining days in the portals of South Side.

Remember, seniors, this is our first Christmas when, with our heads high, we will don our best bibs and tuckers, attend the social affairs, and look down on the children. When we look at the "younger generation", we'll remember those "good old days" when we were freshmen and all this glitter and glamour was new to us. Now we have gotten accustomed to all this and are looking forward toward new places and goals in the future.

South Side Club Spreads Christmas Cheer In City

"Peace on earth, good will toward men." This well-known quotation expresses the good will and fellowship among men at Christmas time. Inter-Club Congress has carried out this idea for several years in the past by delivering Christmas baskets to needy families of the city. Every year each home room plans a basket for a family of any number they can provide food for. The families range in number from two to twelve and in age from a one-week-old baby to the aged grandparents.

The baskets are delivered by Inter-Club Congress members and other volunteer workers. Names of needy families are submitted to Mr. R. Nelson Snider or to Miss Martha Pittenger, who in turn give these names to the Inter-Club Congress. Besides the abundant amount of food, clothes and toys are also contributed for this needy cause.

Boys and girls in high school who have heated homes and school buildings, clean, warm clothing and are well fed do not realize how fortunate they are. Today in our own schools are boys and girls who through no fault of their own are in need of these common wants. We, of the more fortunate students, should realize how much we can help our less fortunate classmates by giving generously for the Christmas basket.

Miss Emma Kiefer, Mr. Joseph Box, and Mr. A. Verne Flint, advisers of the club, have been in charge of the delivery of fifty baskets to needy families each Christmas for the past eight years.

This year in Fort Wayne many needy families will have a joyous, abundant Christmas, thanks to the Inter-Club Congress of South Side High School.

Who's Who Around Town At Gala Christmas Affairs

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said..." "Gee, I'll be glad when Christmas vacation starts." Along with all the juveniles, we too are anxiously awaiting the arrival of jolly Kris Kringle. Who knows what extra-special package you will find in your sock this coming December 25? Maybe it will be a new Buick convertible. Gee, Brenda, maybe it will be a man!

Glady's Foellinger wrote Santa a nice long letter containing the list of her desires. But through inside information from the North Pole, I was told that she had written down Johnny Galbreath's name twenty-four times. That will surely convince old St. Nick, Glady's.

This Christmas ought to be an exceptionally happy one for Margie McMahon and "Killer" Miller, because everyone's convinced, including Santa, that they are made for each other.

The holiday season will also bring on a round of festivities for most of you children, so don't be surprised if you find Bob Welty escorting Harriet Shinnick here and there; George Waldschmidt almost monopolizing all of Julia Ann Wilson's time; Margaret Kuntz doing the town with Bill Fishering and Stan Triner.

Jeanne Seidel and Barbara Scudder are making plans for a royal reception to be held for Santa when he arrives this Christmas. Hmmm, we're wondering if this could possibly be a new means of bribery just to make sure that Santa leaves Jerry Mansbach for Jeanne and Roy Heavner for Barbara. What a cagey idea...

Despite your anxiety for the coming holidays, you just can't overlook the group of "new combinations" which have come about in the last few weeks. For your recognition we give you... Mimi Dunbar and Warren Spangle; and Evelyn Henderson and John Heffelfinger.

The recent Purdue Speech Conference was the scene of a few more "newsome twosomes". It was all in fun; but according to rumor based on evidence, the following people didn't regret a moment of it: Betty Ann Bohn and Byron Singer, Joan Cox and Don Meyer, Dave Rea and Marjorie McNabb, and Eileen Eidner and Lee Ninde (incidentally, he's a Purdue man). Your seeing eye also observed Ruth Dauner campus-strolling with a certain Purdue admirer...

Is it love or just bewilderment from last-minute Christmas shopping that gives Ralph Vetter that dreamy-eyed dazed expression??? Perhaps he's hopefully wishing that he could have Marilyn for a Christmas present.

The big question of the day arises! Why is Joan Lee so interested in reading the Northerner?? She might be just journalistically-minded and then again she might be looking for signs of competition. Horrible thought.

If you are the observing type, you will surely notice these couples celebrating the Christmas spirit at the coming dances... Jane Nathan and Ed Rehling (a new friendship on the way?) Helen Ninde and Ray Bushing, Lorraine Lord and Tyke Hartman.

Christmas Gifts For-- Him Her

This being about the time of year when late shoppers are scouting the stores for the gift to get for their nearest and dearest, it is appropriate that this column should advise the girls what to buy the boys.

One thing that every male would like to receive is an accessory made of glassene. You know what I'm talking about; they are the belts, suspenders, watch straps, etc. made of that new clear plastic, vinolyte.

Another suggestion is those new gloves of pigskin or buckskin with the wide stitching ornamenting the backs. Any male would be pleased with a girl who gave this for the Yule gift.

Key chains by Hickok, especially the ones with the ornamented key-holders, are especially swanky and are always useful. Be different and buy the more rugged type with heavy links. Some boys have had several unfortunate mishaps with the lighter type of chain, because they feel more important with a huge load of keys dangling in their pocket. Also, be sure they are long enough to twirl with impunity.

Then too, if you are really feeling creative you might knit your favorite pair of yellow socks with a matching muffler. The boy of your dreams will like to receive something made by your own lily-white hands. Be careful not to drop too many stitches.

If you feel that you are especially well-posted on the touchy subject of your male's cravats, you might buy him one of those cute bow-ties. Also to be considered in this field are those flashy knit ties which recently appeared on the market. Take heed, fair damsels, don't buy a cravat until you positively know his sentiments on this subject.

Troubled, boys? We know, what should you get your girl-friend for Christmas? Well, to tell the truth, just about anything will do. Most girls appreciate the thought behind it more than the gift itself. However, if you are in doubt, here are a few suggestions.

If your girl friend is very effeminate, she will enjoy a pair of fluffy angora mittens or gloves. A pair in white would be the best bet, as they will go with any color; however, if you are sure that light blue or pink will match her outfit, she will love them.

Now and then girls get tired of the ordinary tube of lipstick; so why don't you be the one to break that monotony? A bright gold or silver compact containing rouge, lipstick, and powder would set her raving. Be sure, however, that when you buy it that it is her shade of make-up.

If you have gone with the girl for a short length of time, flowers would be the most sensible thing to send her. A dozen red roses would be lovely. She would never forget an orchid if you could afford one; however, most boys would prefer the roses. The best time to send them is early Christmas morning.

Boys, unless you have gone with your girl friend for a long time and know her parents, you should stick to the flowers or impersonal things.

Another way to please her is to give her a picture of yourself. Really and truly, she will love this gift more than anything else. Perhaps, if you hint around, she may give you one in exchange. Be sure, however, that she is your girl friend.

What If--?

Bill was a fox instead of a Wolf? Eugene was a bake oven instead of a Backofen?

John was a hefty thumb instead of a Heffelfinger?

Byron was a crooner instead of a Singer?

Dorothy was a petticoat instead of a Heslip?

Bob was a singer instead of a Dancer?

Warren was a baker instead of a Cook?

Glen was a dart instead of a Dager?

Rose was a petal instead of a Stemen?

Faye was Napoleon instead of Alexander?

Eileen was England instead of Ireland?

Doris was Quebec instead of Ontario?

Bob was lumpy instead of Welty?

Wanda was a flowing wheel instead of a Stillwell?

Phyllis was a glass instead of a Stein?

Ed could swim instead of Wade?

Lorraine was a duke instead of a Lord?

Bud was a snort instead of a Puff?

Mary Ann was Venice instead of Florence?

Bob was Gabriel instead of Moses?

Jim was a knitter instead of a Weaver?

Art was a soder instead of a Welder?

Frances was a Buick instead of a Nash?

Betty was pennies instead of Nickels?

Elen was civilized instead of Savage?

Jo was stale instead of Frosh?

Howard was water instead of Blood?

Basketball Players, Physics Experiments Desired By Juniors

Notice all juniors! Have you been racking your brain to think of a Christmas gift for that certain person? Well, maybe these following suggestions will help you out. Ione Jean Tracht would be perfectly satisfied with a dart game. Maybe she is going to try to play Cupid.

Barbara Roth would be tickled pink to find a basketball player all wrapped in cellophane, ready to play. (Now, don't get me wrong.)

Bud Brudi would like for Santa to invent a defroster for his sun glasses. Now what does he want with sun glasses in the winter time?

Peggy Greaney wants lots and lots of clothes. I don't blame you, Peggy; they are swell gifts for Christmas.

Al Verweire is going to pray that St. Nick will bring him sixteen physics experiments. Wouldn't it be funny if Santa Claus couldn't get physics? Hattie Belle Hire has written a lot of letters to Santa asking him to leave Bud Boyce under her Christmas tree.

Art Howard wants ever so much to have a bowling outfit. You don't need an out fit to bowl some one over. Do you, Art?

Norma Whiteael would be nice and warm in a big cuddly coat. We mean by big that it is a heavy coat, not someone else's.

Betty Ann Bohn wouldn't let us print what she wants. Wonder how Santa is going to bring it to her then?

Dick Schieferstein will be out of bed before daylight to see if he got the model A. Oh yes, I forgot it is supposed to have a girl from North Side in it all ready and waiting. (Waiting for what?)

Phyllis Rolf thinks that Santa couldn't carry the load that she wants. But it (the bundle) could walk to her; it doesn't live very far.

Betty Cowan said that it was impossible to get what she wanted; so she wouldn't mention it. Could it have anything to do with Central?

Mike Beall wants his stockings to brim over with money and more money. Now, what would you do with money, Mike?

May Scheele would be right at home in a shiny light blue convertible. Well, it's almost Christmas; wonder how many will get what they asked for.

What Is Your Pet Peeve? Here Are Some Typical Ones

How often have you heard people say, "I just can't stand people who talk baby talk, people that think they are big shots, or the boys that wear bow ties?" Probably if you are a student of South Side you will have heard these statements made often. Some of the students when asked what their favorite and silly dislikes were answered as follows:

Billy Danahue: Geometry.

Jack Parker: Girls that are so stuck up they won't even say hello.

Joan Smith: Yehudi.

Gloria Taylor: Boys who wear those horrid looking bow ties.

Phyllis Puff: Practical jokers.

Bud Puff: Ditto.

Oliver Swanson: Girls who try to take other girls' boy friends away.

Bud Lindeman: Smart alecks.

Jack Cranfield: Same as Bud said, smart alecks.

Alice Sweet: Boys that continually go around pulling off hair ribbons and bats.

Larry Phipps: These girls that go around the halls and think they are singers.

Marilyn Hall: Vacations.

Victoria Anderson: Stuck up kids here in South Side.

Safford McMyler: People who try to play musical instruments and really don't know how.

Dale Amstutz: Elaborate hair ribbons that adorn our fair sex.

"Poetess" Rieke Recites Woes Of Teachers At P-T-A Potluck

Editor's Note: Mrs. Dorothy Rieke composed this article for the Parent-Teacher potluck, December 6. She has given The Times permission to publish her article.

You may think that all of us are made of Sterner stuff, such as our toastmaster; that our hearts are made of Flint; that the Hull bunch of us care not for consideration and affection; but that is not true. Were a Thorne to peirce my heart, my tears could not have been Briner when I realized that Osborne in an age when teachers are neglected.

You Parks your youngsters here Furst thing every day; and we try to Hemmer into each Bean what it needs to know to become a Miller, a Dochterman, a Cook, a Dean—and what do we get in return?

Davis a time when teachers would give the kids a Whalen till they would be all Welty. What would the parents do to such teachers today? Maybe they would send them a Peck of apples with a spicy Yoder.

You strut around like Pococks. But what have you done for us? Nothing to Crowe about. We don't get Smuts as a Plasket of fruit. Do you Shoup around for a Gift for us at Christmas time? No! McCloskey a dime. And yet have your youngsters ever received so much as an Oppelt?

It's Heine time something is done about this. We are all but Pittenger your children in college—and at what cost, on quiet days they just Mills around and Friddle their time away. They may be Welborn, but sometimes they come and Makey whoopee—Schnepel chairs out from under the teachers. Can we take refuge in a Fort? Ney, we must stay and take more of it. Ah—it's always the teacher that Fays and Fays.

Sometimes we get so discouraged that we could go jump in the lake; but instead, we just Covalt over an incline and start all over again. In the summer time, do you ever make an effort to get the teacher in good humor for the next year? Do you ever Fiedler pears, especially the Kiefer kind? Do you ever invite us to a Mellen feed? No, we don't even get the Rine, Hart less parents that you are!

When you come to see us Back-to-School Night, do you invite us to a chicken dinner? No indeed!!! All we hear is "Hodgson do last week. Wilson pass?"

Place all teachers on a pedestal.

Agree they are always right.

Invite them often to chicken dinner.

Fill them till their belts are tight.

Buy them gifts that are to their liking.

Include them in your prayers each day.

Send your children to happy teachers.

And they will always receive an A.

Home Rooms Are Arranging Christmas Fun

Prosaic Programs Forget- ten As Yule Spirit Comes; Potlucks Are This Week

Not the usual safety lessons, health talks, etiquette lectures, or vocational instructions, but Christmas parties are scheduled for many of the home rooms during this week. Most of these get-togethers are in the form of potlucks and are being held at students' homes.

Home Room 82, with Mr. Clyde Peirce as teacher and Bryce Augsburger as president, is planning a party at the home of Jim and Bob Brooks for today. Katherine Lahrman and Dale Amstutz are in charge of the food and games.

Bill Seibold heads the committees in Mr. Delivan Parks' home room, which is planning a Christmas party at the home of Jeanne Smith. The affair is to be held tonight, with the food being planned by Betty Lapp, Phyllis Lauer, and Wilma Lageman, and the games by Jeanne Smith.

To Have Party Tonight

Bernadine Bender's home will be the scene of Home Room 64's Christmas party tonight. Miss Van Gorder is the teacher and is overseeing all arrangements. The home room executive committee is composed of Bernadine Bender, Edmund Bauer, and Joe Bekius.

Several other committees have been named. They are as follows: Food, Dorothy Allen, Janet Anderson, Mary Ellen Anderson, Gerald Wullman, Adah Bice, Eleanor Alvather, Mary Bowly, and Mary Brandberry; transportation, Betty Birely and Maurine Leas; gift exchange, Sam Bacon and John Bonsib; program, Joe Bekius, Richard Brintzenhoff, Betty Birely, Betty Baumgartner, Bernadine Bender, and Max Atkins; dish washing, Edmund Bauer, Leland Bradley, Mary Ellen Anderson, Bernadine Bender, and Richard Brintzenhoff; and clean-up, Howard Blood, Wanda Bowman, and David Azar.

Teacher Composes Ditty

Home Room 98 met last Friday for its Christmas party at the home of Leah Schwartz. Miss Alice Dean, supervisor of this home room, gave an interesting prophecy and dirt column to the tune of "The Man Who Comes to Our House." Larry Phipps was master of ceremonies and Shirley Rubin and Leah Schwartz had charge of the food. Marge Sheldon is president of the home room.

Camera Group Sees Developing Methods

John Meyers and Ben Harris developed pictures by two methods as an exhibition for the members of the Camera Club at their last meeting which was held after school, December 11, in the club's newly-acquired darkroom. Members will develop their own pictures soon.

'Conduct Improved,' Says Archer Faculty Regarding Assembly

It seems as though the old adage "A word to the wise is sufficient" was heeded by the Archer students. For the past month the conduct of students has been remarked about by the members of the faculty. Since the new assembly committee, under Miss Lucy Osborne, has been in charge of assemblies, the conduct has been improved.

Either Miss Osborne has had some magic potion thrown on the students at the assemblies, or the assemblies have been improved so that they are more interesting.

The teachers your reporter visited say the conduct of the students has improved. Their statements are as follows:

Mr. Jake McClure: The students were very attentive. They were interested in what Dr. Su had to say.

Miss Alice Dean: It was much better than what it was previously.

Miss Pearl Rehohr: I think the conduct of the students shows great improvement.

Mr. Ernest Walker: A wonderful improvement has developed in the conduct of the students lately.

Miss Edith Crowe: I thought it was better this time than it was before.

Miss Mabel Thorne: I think in general the conduct in the assemblies has been much better recently than it was earlier in the fall. However, there are a few people who are inappreciative of the fine programs offered.

Miss Amanda Hemmer: I thought it was fair.

Miss Hazel Miller: It was much better than it was in the past in most cases. The loud speaker system greatly benefits those who sit in far corners.

Helpers Are Selected For Basketball Games

From those who responded to the request for volunteers to help Mr. Ora Davis, athletics director, at basketball games, the following were selected on the basis of suitability by Mr. Ora Davis, athletics director, and Mr. Paul Schnepel, who has charge of reserved seats and aides at games: Elmer Kahl, Bill Dreyer, and Dick Dreyer are substitutes; Kenneth Wollman has charge of the time box; Dick Theye runs the electric scoreboard; and Ralph Herb, the public address system.

At the north scoreboard are Dwight Anderson and Jack Sterling; at the south scoreboard are Fritz Kahl and Norbert Rehm. Others who are helping are Earl Cheevers, Keith Coverdale, Don Meyers, Ed Meyers, Ed Tanner, Arlin Harter, George Enslly, Victor Zollar, Glen Hille, LeRoy Burns, Louis Swager, Bill Hagerfeld, Russell Armstrong, Dale Koonce, Bob Bilger, Walter Jimme, Ed Brackman, and Clarence Ditton.

Earns Frat Membership

Thomas Moorhead, '40, a freshman at Indiana University, has been initiated into Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Archer Boys Offered Stipends By Colleges

Swarthmore College of Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, and Kalamazoo College of Kalamazoo, Michigan, are offering scholarships open to two South Side boys. The scholarship Kalamazoo is offering is called the president's scholarship and is worth $650. This is given to boys who are outstanding in leadership, athletics, music, and academics. All applications must be in by February 15, 1941.

The scholarship offered by Swarthmore is for boys who rate high in scholarship, character, and personal qualifications. They will be chosen by a special committee.

Other colleges and the scholarships they have offered are as follows: The Griffin scholarship to Yale, competitive scholarship for Pomona in California, Agnes Scott for girls at Decatur, Georgia, New Jersey College for Women, Rose Polytech at Terre Haute, Rockford for girls at Hanover, Indiana, and Montecello College.

County scholarships are offered by Indiana, Purdue, Ball State, Rector at DePauw, Franklin, Butler, and Whittenberg.

Third Payment Due On Totem By Tomorrow

Senior Proofs Returned At Once If Wanted For Gifts; Clubs Purchase 21 Pages

The third payment on the 1941 Totem is due tomorrow. This will make a total of seventy-five cents to be paid before that date. All students are urged to keep abreast with the monthly payment of twenty-five cents so that some means of confiscation will not be necessary to force payment on the annual.

Senior students have been particularly slow in returning their senior picture proofs to the Clippinger Studio at 828 1/2 South Calhoun Street. If any senior wishes an order of pictures by Christmas, he must return these proofs at once.

Clubs Are Responsive

Joel Salom, the business manager, has announced that clubs have signed contracts for a total of twenty-one pages in the annual. He said, "The teachers and club officers have been very responsive in considering the statements presented them several weeks ago. I hope that the remaining clubs will take up this matter soon."

He also stated that the first club pictures were taken by the photographer yesterday, and that, if any adviser is anxious to have his or her club's picture taken, he or she should contact the editor or the business manager at once.

Need Senior Pictures

Faye Gumper has issued a plea for six more senior pictures. She states that these six pictures are needed to fill out the panel on the page. To date 393 of the senior portraits have been sold with around 350 of these pictures taken. She emphatically states that the remaining pictures must be taken within the week.

Last night the editor, John Bonsib, disclosed that the plans for the 1941 Totem are being carried out rapidly. He stated that already thirty-four pages of the 1941 annual are ready for the engraver and that as quickly as possible the remaining pages are being developed.

Students should remember to return their senior pictures proofs, and to come to the Totem office today if you have not as yet ordered your portrait.

USA Group To Stage Christmas Play Today

"The Christmas Picture," a one-act play, will be presented today at the USA meeting at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The characters are Anne Morley, Grace Pendleman, Norah, Marilyn Domer; Mrs. Morley, Norma Russell; Peggy, Ilo Hirschman; and Emily, Opal Springer.

The program of this meeting will be about Christmas. The committee in charge consists of Mary Evelyn Mock, chairman; Sally Ogden, Lois Lenz, Peggy Roth, Theone Bruggeman, Phyllis Niblick, and Rosemary Bird.

GAA Seniors Are Crowned Cage Champs

Winners Capture Title For Third Successive Year By Defeating Juniors, Sophs

Proving their superior basketball ability, the senior team captured the GAA Honor Tourney for the third straight year by defeating the juniors and the sophomores last Monday. The winners defeated the juniors by a 13-to-8 score and were victorious over the sophomores with a total of 8 to 7.

Members of the championship team are Frances Nash and Geneva Martin, co-captains; Marguerite Calkins, Bernadine Pressler, Irene Meyer, Jeanne Smith, Maxine Sterling, Betty Thiele, and Eva Jean Wylie.

The up-and-coming sophomores stopped the freshmen by a 22-to-2 score but suffered defeat at the hands of the seniors. Sophomore honor members were Alice Fisher and Ilo Hirschman, captains; Julia Kaser, Gloria Hardendorf, Joan Spore, Neva Rabel, Phyllis Amstutz, Kathleen Sanders, Helen Long, Marion Fauz, and Colleen McCarty.

Junior players were Betty Hargan, captain; Kathleen Neith, Elaine Moe, Rose Stemen, Silvia Sholtz, Myrtle Ernst, and Rosemary Spore.

State-Wide Results Are Enumerated

South Bend, Franklin, Kokomo, Muncie, Anderson, Richmond, Peru Play Outstanding Tilts

South Bend Central's Bears were upset by the Huntington Hunters, 31 to 30, in the feature tilt on the state hardwood program last week-end.

Franklin High registered its sixth straight victory the other evening by whipping Seymour, 23 to 18.

Peru's Tigers ended the win streak of the Plymouth five by winning 47 to 25.

Richmond's high-flying Red Devils were tossed from the win path by a tough Muncie Central quintet, 31 to 25.

The Indians of Anderson dropped Lafayette High, 31 to 24. Gary Freshell's netters marched onward by trouncing East Chicago Roosevelt, 52 to 19. Here are the state-wide results:

Other Coaches Building Plenty Of Opposition

John Levicki

Murray Mendenhall

Bob Nulf

Pictured above are the head cage coaches of Central, North Side, and Central Catholic. All three of these mentors have been on deck for many campaigns in local basketball circles. Coaches Nulf and Mendenhall have never developed a state title machine; but John Levicki of Central Catholic has not only developed two state champions, but also has a duet of national titles.

Murray Mendenhall, better known as Mendy, has given the Central fans some really great teams. In 1936 the Tiger tutor led his charges into the Butler Fieldhouse, only to see local hopes fade as his charges bowed out 50 to 26 in the finals to a powerful club from Frankfort. The next year Mendy's cagers again gained entrance to the fieldhouse, but the heavily favored Tigers fell before an inspired Huntington unit, 30 to 28.

Coaches Great Athletes

Among the great athletes coached by Mendenhall are the nationally famous Steve Sitko, Lyle Neat, "Racehorse" Red Braden, "Curly" Armstrong, Tom Matter, Herm Schaefer, and Frank and Joe Celarek. Assistant coach, Bob Dornte, was a former star athlete under Mendenhall. Never again may the jittery Blue mentor give the down town team rosters a team of championship calibre, yet all of the Ford Wayne fans may be assured that Mendy will place one of the state's scrappiest outfits in every fray.

Bob Nulf, likable mentor of the North Side Redskins, probably has hopes of adding his name to the list of state championship tutors. For this year he has the best material since his arrival at North Side. Nulf was for many years an assistant to Murray Mendenhall at Central. When Mark Bills gave up coaching for a career in music, Bob stepped into his shoes in the Red and White athletic department. In addition to being favored by a wealth of good material for this campaign, the Redskin coach now has the service of his brother, George, in the building of a good cage machine.

If Coaches Bob and George Nulf can produce a double-barrel attack with veterans Cowan, Young, Erwin, Harrison, and Hinga, this may be a play. South Side's undefeated reserves are scheduled to play the North Side seconds tomorrow night. The tilt will serve as a preliminary for the important clash between North Side and the state champs from Hammond Tech. Horace Talley and Fred Shaw did not appear against Central Catholic last Saturday. The reason: Talley and Shaw had a fight in which Shaw was injured, and Talley was removed from the team.

State Rankings—Here are my rankings of the state's first four clubs:

1. Fort Wayne North.
2. Muncie Central.
3. South Bend Central.
4. Franklin.

* Local pride and a good record prompt the picking of the Redskins. Muncie and South Bend Central have proved themselves worthy fives by chalking up impressive wins over many of the state's better fives. Franklin's Grizzly Cubs, as yet undefeated in six tilts, must naturally be conceded a high place.

City Scoring Leaders—Big Russ Wilkin of Central continues to pace the city scorers with a total of 56 points. Bob Cowan of North Side and Walker of C. C. have a good chance of overtaking the leader.

Gus Feistkorn is the lone Archer representative in the first fifteen scorers. Here are the leaders:

1. Russ Wilkin, C..... 56
2. Bob Cowan, NS..... 40
3. Bob Walker, CC..... 36
4. Dick Tackett, C..... 36
5. Bob Heiny, CC..... 33
6. Nick Leto, CC..... 29
7. Dick Krouse, CC..... 28
8. Corny Erwin, NS..... 27
9. George Washington, C..... 25
10. Harold Morthorst, CC..... 24
11. Gus Feistkorn, SS..... 22
12. Jim Hinga, NS..... 22
13. Bud Gladeaux, CC..... 22
14. Bert Keenan, CC..... 22
15. Fred Shaw, C..... 22

The officials for these games were Kate Sanders, Julia Kaser, Marguerite Calkins, Gertrude Merkel, Rosemary Spore, Sally Ogden, Donna Peel, Fuzzy Amstutz, and Joan Spore. The scorekeepers were Janice Fruth, Bernadine Pressler, Ilo Hirschman, and Phyllis Brachman.

Senior 2 Team Is GAA Victor In Tournament

Bernadine Pressler Is Captain Of Winning Group; Other Winners Are Listed

Bernadine Pressler's Senior 2 team won the upperclassman basketball tournament of GAA when they won every game played.

The members of her team are Mary Alice Duntun, Mildred Hanke, Leona Kessler, Carol Lyman, Irene Meyer, Frances Nash, Jane Nathan, Betty Nichols, Bernadine Pressler, Betty Porter, Pauline Schoenherr, Jeanne Smith, Evelyn, Marilyn Wolf and Eva Jean Wylie.

Rose Stemen's Junior 1's and Martha Cash's Sophomore 1's tied for second place by having five wins each. At 3:30 on the south field Rose Stemen's Junior 1 team defeated Ilo Hirschman's Sophomore 4 team by the score of 8 to 7. Outstanding players were Kathleen Neith and Gloria Hardendorf.

At 3:30 on the north field Joan Dodge's Sophomore 5's defeated Betty Hargan's Junior 2's by the score of 6 to 1. The best players were Mary Mock and Ginger Runge.

On the south field at 3:50 Kate Saunders' Sophomore 6 team defeated Carolyn Stalter's Junior 3 team by the score of 20 to 7. The best players were Julia Kaser, who scored ten points, and Donna Peel, who scored fourteen points for the sophomores.

At 3:50 on the north field the Sophomore 1's defeated the Junior 4's by the score of 12 to 3. The best player for the winning team was Ann Pontius who scored eight points.

The champions, Senior 2's, defeated the Sophomore 3's by the score of 22 to 12. Frances Nash, the star player, scored fourteen points for the senior team.

On the north field at 4:10 the Senior 1's defeated the Sophomore 2's by the score of 12 to 9. The best players were Geneva Martin and Rosemary Spore.

The officials for these games were Kate Sanders, Julia Kaser, Marguerite Calkins, Gertrude Merkel, Rosemary Spore, Sally Ogden, Donna Peel, Fuzzy Amstutz, and Joan Spore. The scorekeepers were Janice Fruth, Bernadine Pressler, Ilo Hirschman, and Phyllis Brachman.

Do You Like Pie, Steak? Bet You're Basketball Lovers

Although the South Side basketballers are now on partial training tables diets, they do have special dishes which attract their eyes and appetites. Feeding the inner man may be a grave problem for some Archers' mothers, but the parents of the Fiddlemen experience little difficulty in satisfying their hungry athletes.

Pie seems to be a favorite of most of the netters, with chicken and steak running a close second.

While the Green Cagers were running through their drills last Thursday, the boys were quizzed as to their favorite foods. The players cautioned that naturally their best-liked foods were non-training dishes (especially the pie).

Coach Friddle's cagers answered our questions in the following manner:

Chuck Close: Ummm, I'll take a nice, big steak sandwich.

Gus Feistkorn: Give me banana cream pie—and plenty of it!

Bob Hines: Good old cherry pie a la mode.

Bryce Augsburg: I'm also a pie eater, choosing black raspberry pie.

Ralph Shimer: Pork chops and a helping of candied sweet potatoes.

Ralph Vetter: I'm not particular, but I like rabbit meat.

Gene Reichart: Well, I like roast chicken.

Tom Brower: Mashed potatoes.

Bill Knoll: Chicken and peach pie a la mode.

Doyle Shirk: Fried chicken and cherry pie a la mode.

Dallas Zuber: Fried chicken and cherry pie a la mode.

Fred Schweir: Steak and mashed potatoes and apple pie.

Woodburn Heads County Net Loop

Warriors Capture Nine Straight Contests To Lead Other Fives And Gain In Race For Title

Allen County's prep high school fives were led by the Woodburn Warriors last week as the high-flying leaders chalked up their ninth straight win. The Woodburn quintet defeated New Haven, 44 to 28.

Harlan's Hawks upset a highly touted Hoagland team, 36 to 30, and the Elmhurst Trojans eked out a 31-to-30 win over Leo in the other feature contests.

Huntertown's cagers had an even split over the week end, whipping Chubbucko and bowing to a surprisingly strong Wolf Lake aggregation. Lafayette Central's Pirates drubbed the hapless Aces of Arcola, 39 to 15.

The Woodburn five now holds the favorite role in the county cage loop, as a result of nine successive wins. New Haven and Elmhurst are regarded as two other good clubs, but the records of these teams do not warrant any serious title talk.

Borris and Horace Mann—Two more tough games are coming this week-end. Muncie Borris has proved itself strong, as was evidenced by a 44-to-20 win over Bluffton last week. Horace Mann has already wrecked the machines of several of the best fives in northern Indiana. The Archers are having lots of trouble in getting the range, so that a loss to either of these two squads would not be a surprise.

"South Side is slipping", so say some experts. Others contend that our boys are green and lack punch. But do not believe this talk—Coach Friddle will give us a good team. We have a good team now. A few losses certainly do not mar a seasonal record.

Week-End Net Nibblings—South Side's loss at Auburn was not due to Denny McDarby or any superior Auburn quintet; our defeat came through the Archers' inability to hit the Auburn nets. The Green basketballers hit but four fielders. Need I say more? Russ Wilkin conclusively whipped up Central's ball games. Friday night the big Blue forward hit six fielders in the last four minutes; and against C. C. he tallied three important foul goals in the last minute of play.

South Side's undefeated reserves are scheduled to play the North Side seconds tomorrow night. The tilt will serve as a preliminary for the important clash between North Side and the state champs from Hammond Tech. Horace Talley and Fred Shaw did not appear against Central Catholic last Saturday. The reason: Talley and Shaw had a fight in which Shaw was injured, and Talley was removed from the team.

State Rankings—Here are my rankings of the state's first four clubs:

1. Fort Wayne North.
2. Muncie Central.
3. South Bend Central.
4. Franklin.

* Local pride and a good record prompt the picking of the Redskins. Muncie and South Bend Central have proved themselves worthy fives by chalking up impressive wins over many of the state's better fives. Franklin's Grizzly Cubs, as yet undefeated in six tilts, must naturally be conceded a high place.

City Scoring Leaders—Big Russ Wilkin of Central continues to pace the city scorers with a total of 56

Redskins Defeat Hammond Quintet

North Side Indians Gain Never Threatened; Win Over Wildcats By Score Of 40 To 24

Giving the northern Indiana cage fans a taste of good Fort Wayne basketball, the powerful Redskins of North Side conclusively whipped a highly regarded Hammond High five, 40 to 24.

The game was played as a part of a double-header program, with the state champion Hammond Tech netmen swamping Washington of East Chicago, 61 to 41, in the other game. Hammond Tech comes to Fort Wayne tomorrow night to test the North Siders on their home court.

Coach Bob Nulf's charges held stanza leads of 11 to 6, 21 to 15, and 35 to 22. Bob Cowan and Jim Hinga paced the locals with 11 and 8 points.

The Hammond team never threatened the Red and White and this decisive victory over a good quintet gave the North Siders a boost toward recognition on the hardwood as well as on the gridiron.

Redskin Grid Champs Are Feted At Banquet

North Side's Redskins, state football champions for the season of 1940, were feted at North Side last Tuesday evening. All of the Redskin players were honored and given special recognition. The team members were each presented with a gold football charm symbolic of the mythical grid title.

David Rankin of Warsaw, Purdue's All-American end, delivered a short talk as did Bill Fox of the Indianapolis Star. Howard Michaud was the toastmaster for the affair.

Robert Shimel, Dave Slattery Are Honored

Among the fifty-eight members of the "Marching Hundred," Indiana University concert band, who were selected after try-outs, are Robert Shimel, '39, solo and first clarinet, and David Slattery, '39, saxophone. From March 10 to March 14, the band will tour northeastern Indiana playing at convocations of several schools. While at South Side, both boys were outstanding in musical ability.

Archers To Meet Burris, Horace Mann This Week-End

Kelly Netmen To Encounter Tough Quintet

South Side Team Will Travel To Muncie Friday; Saturday Gary Five Plays Here

South Side's Archers are carded to meet strong quintets from Burris of Muncie and Horace Mann of Gary this week-end. The Friddlemen will travel to Muncie tomorrow night, and play hosts to the Horace Mann team on Saturday. Both of the opponents boast potent season records of play during the past few years.

Horace Mann, weaker of the Horace Mann-Friddle combination at Gary, will provide the Green with another tough assignment when the locals play their second home fracas on Saturday. The Gary five has already dropped two tough battles, but they are still considered one of the states best fives.

Horace Mann's Hopes High

Last year the Archers downed the Gary netters by a 36-to-22 count. With several veterans returning for battle this season, the Horace Mann outfit has high hopes of avenging the loss of the last meeting.

The Owls of Burris of Muncie are weakened considerably by the loss of All-State Guard John Kilby, and are not expected to cut down the Green.

Although the big Muncie cagers are still regarded as one of Indiana's real cage powers, the Archers are accorded an edge over the Orange and Black. The Owls have lost two games this season, and the host Muncie Cagers are holding hopes of dumping the Archers to begin another good winning streak.

Start Hines, Feistkorn

South Side's Archers, holding an even draw in four frays, will be seeking to launch a good winning streak via wins over the Muncie and Gary teams. Coach Friddle has yet to establish five starters, however, veterans Hines and Feistkorn are sure to be among the members of the opening line-up.

With a tough game on Saturday, it is highly probable that Coach Friddle will use frequent substitutions in the tilt at Muncie on Friday. In addition to guard Bob Hines and center Gus Feistkorn, the Archers' mentor will choose his team from Shimer, Augsburger, Knoll, Close, Schweir, Harry Hines, Vetter, Shirk, and Zuber. Augsburger and Knoll are expected to receive the other starting bids.

Friddle Has Dark Horse

Big Archers Close and Vetter are sure to see action where plenty of height and rebounding is desired. Fred Schweir, a newcomer who has given Coach Friddle a much-needed reserve, is expected to provide some fire works in this clash.

Card Six Games For County Fives

Woodburn Versus Harlan Five, Lafayette Central-Elmhurst To Be Best Games of Week

Six games are on the schedule for the prep basketball fives of Allen County this week. None of the games promise close battles; the Lafayette Central-Elmhurst clash should provide the only unpredictable tilt of the six-game card.

Woodburn's Warriors, riding the crest of a nine-game winning streak, are to meet the Hawks of Harlan on Friday night. The Hawks are experienced and well-coached, yet they lack the advantageous height which the Woodburn cagers possess.

Tonight
Monroeville at Pleasant Mills.
Friday
Huntertown at Hoagland.
Woodburn at Harlan.
Lafayette Central at Elmhurst.
Arcola at Coesse.
Decatur Catholic at Monroeville.

This week we present all-city half-back, Star Archer griddler, and one of the sustaining parts of South Side's pride and joy, the basketball team, Ralph Shimer.

In football season Number 13 ("Chick," of course) can be seen fighting and plowing the way to another score. When the Friddlemen are on the court, fighting for another victory to add to South Sides score. If another basket is needed he is one of the players depended upon to come to the rescue. Besides being outstanding in basketball and football, Ralph also is a star trackman.

Chick is hoping for a scholarship to either Indiana or Purdue Universities, where he wants to continue in an athletic career. After college he intends to coach; he isn't quite decided whether it is basketball or football which he wishes to coach, but after the record he has already made at South Side in athletics, a decision of this sort would naturally be a difficult one.

Central Victorious In Week-End Tilts

Fighting Tigers Down Columbia City 39 To 33, Local Central Catholic Opponents 31 To 28

Central's fighting Tigers finally hit their winning stride again, whipping Columbia City and Central Catholic in hard fought battles last week-end. The Bengals dropped the Eagles of Columbia City, 39 to 33, and nixed the local Irish, 31 to 28. Central had previously lost four tilts in a row.

Russ Wilkin, enjoying a field day against both the Eagles and the Irish, managed to play the major role in each battle. Against the cagers of Abe DeVol, the local netters held period leads of 11 to 9, 21 to 17, and 25 to 22. The Eagles rallied in the final quarter to near the Bengal tally, but Russ Wilkin, stemmed the scoring spree by hitting six field goals in the last three minutes of play.

The Centralites found the Irish of Central Catholic an easy quinet during the first half of their fracas, but the Catholics rallied in the last half to threaten seriously the Tiger lead. Enjoying quarter advantages of 8 to 0, 13 to 4, and 25 to 14, the Mendonhall quintet drove into the fourth period confident of an easy win. Central Catholic's cagers came back, however, with a sudden rally to narrow the Tigers lead to 28 to 27. The Tigers, by virtue of three foul tosses by Wilkin, managed to protect their slim lead. Krause added a foul goal for the Irish to place the final count at 31 to 28.

Like all of the netters, Ralph will not say much about our chances for state or even the sectionals. He does say that the team will have to work hard, because there are some really tough teams to tangle with. Frazier of Kokomo is the toughest player Chick has tangled with as yet.

All "V" men have big appetites, and Shimer is no exception. His favorite foods are pork chops and candied sweet potatoes. This topped by Mrs. Shimer's (no other kind will do) pumpkin pie, and plenty of both is his ideal menu.

During any spare time he listens to the radio, and his favorite programs are Glenn Miller and Rudy Vallee.

This boy has both brains and brawn. His grades must be passing to remain on the team, but this hasn't been any task for him. English seems to be his favorite subject, and Chick says this is due to Miss Mary Pocock, who is a "corker" in his opinion.

Girls To Compete In Inter-Class Cage Meet

Inter-gym class basketball tourney will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the gym. All winning teams of the girls' gym classes will participate in the meet. The victors of Periods 1 and 2 and 3 and 4 will clash in the first two games.

In the second round those from periods 6 and 7 will play, and the winners of the first two games will vie for the victory.

In the final round the victors of the second bracket will clash for the championship of the girls' gym classes.

Twelve Boys Report For Intramural Boxing

Twelve boys who are out for intramural boxing are working out each night after school for the past ten days under the direction of Louis Briner, head of intramural sports activities. They will continue to do this for about another week.

Archer Arrow Blunted; Devils Conquer 28to17

Friday Thirteenth Jinx Too Much For Hines, Schweir, Close, Feistkorn, Shimer

Failing to hit the Auburn baskets with any semblance of accuracy, the South Side Archers fell before a mediocre Red Devil five, 28 to 17. This loss represented the third in four tilts for the locals.

Although the Red Devils displayed a good brand of ball, the Archers seemed to be dogged by the Friday-the-thirteenth jinx whenever the leather neared the hoop, for the Kelly Klads hit only four fielders during the four quarters of play.

Coach Friddle started South Siders Fred Schweir, Bryce Augsburger, Doyle Shirk, Harry Hines, and Dallas Zuber.

At the end of the first quarter the Devils led 7 to 3, largely through two tip-ins by 6 foot 7 inch Denny McDarby.

When the Archer regulars came into the clash to start the second quarter, the local fans hoped for a Green rally. The regulars were more ineffectual than the second stringers, and the Devils had a 15-to-9 half-time advantage.

Auburn's cagers continued to hit in the third quarter, and the hapless Friddlemen could not tally more than one fielder and a single foul goal. The hosts led 19 to 12 at the three-quarter post.

During the fourth period the Green basketekers tried desperately to gain possession of the ball; and in doing so, the locals committed numerous personal fouls.

Bob Hines, Chuck Feistkorn, Chuck Close, and Fred Schweir were lost via the foul route.

Erection Of Large Fieldhouse For All City Meets Favored

During the past few seasons the local basketball fans have realized the need for more space at the games. What is your opinion on the erection of a community fieldhouse which would seat about 12,000 people?

Gloria Staley: I think there is a need for a combination fieldhouse and music hall in Fort Wayne.

Dave Stolte: A fieldhouse for the convenience of all four high schools would be very useful.

Marian Seemeyer: A new fieldhouse, the more people, the more fun; sure we need a fieldhouse.

Marilyn Sappington: Sure we need a fieldhouse. More fun for every one.

Faye Gumpfer: There is a great need for one in Fort Wayne. I think it would be fine if we had a large fieldhouse for the use of all the high schools.

Lois Gumpfer: I believe that a new fieldhouse is necessary. If one is built in Fort Wayne, maybe we could have the regionals and super-regionals here.

Miss Elizabeth Demaree: A splendid idea.

Miss Blanch Hutto: Very beneficial to the community. Our athletes warrant such a building. Outstanding musical and theater attractions could be played before big audiences.

Miss Gertrude Oppelt: I have not given the question enough consideration to decide whether the project would be a detriment or a valuable addition to our city.

Janet Malcolm: I think it would be very nice, as the gym is always crowded at the games.

Tenney White: It's a good idea if it works.

Mr. E. H. Murch: I'd like to see one in Fort Wayne, but experience in other towns has showed that they are never self supporting.

Mr. Francis Fay: I think a fieldhouse would detract from the pride which the different schools have for their own buildings, but from a spectators' point of view I imagine that it would be a very good idea.

Eight 'Mural Games Played Last Saturday

Heavyweight Teams Play Seven Tilts, Lightweights One; First Round To End

Boys' Intramural basketball tournament suffered a temporary setback with only eight games played in the last week. Only two divisions were represented in this group, the heavyweight division, 130 pounds and over, and the middleweight division, 110 pounds to 130 pounds. Out of the eight games played, seven were between heavyweight teams.

In the heavyweight division the matches played were between the Supermen and the Dubs, the Irish and the SOP, Count Basies Boys and the Dogpatchers, the Killer Dillers and the Superprunes, the Blue Devils and the Roses, the Panthers and the Alcatraz, and the Twerps and the Zippers.

The scores of these games were 13 to 10 in favor of the Supermen, 4 to 10 in favor of the SOP, 10 to 7 in favor of Count Basies Boys, 22 to 10 in favor of the Superprunes, 4 to 5 in favor of the Blue Devils, 8 to 6 in favor of the Alcatraz, and 6 to 8 in favor of the Zippers.

The only game played in the middleweight division was between the XXX's and the Sloppy Aces with the score reading 22 to 3 in favor of the XXX's.

Although there have not been many games played this last week, Mr. Briner expects to have much better results for next weeks schedule; in fact, the end of the first round is almost promised to be finished.

Archer Reserves Top Auburn, 25-21

Cubs Lessen Bitterness Of Varsity Loss By Chalking Up Fourth Successive Victory

Although the Archer varsity was unable to thwart the Auburn quintet in the tangle with the Red Devils last Friday night, the South Side reserves regained some lost prestige by nosing the Devil Cubs with a score of 25 to 21.

The Green seconds have now chalked up four successive wins, having won over Bluffton, Kendallville, the Harlan varsity, and the junior Red Devils.

Auburn's reserves appeared to be on the way to victory when they led at the half 10 to 7, but the locals came back to trail 17 to 16 at the termination of the three-quarter mark.

The Auburn lead was overcome with quick goals by Kellies, Gildea and Strawbridge. After once gaining this advantage, the Green prelim team was never headed.

"Io Saturnalia" Is Given At Christmas Meeting

"Io Saturnalia," a one-act Latin play, was staged at the annual Christmas meeting of the Societas Romana, our Latin Club, last Thursday, at 8:30 o'clock, in the Greeley Room.

John Olecott, George Spears, Victor Kaufman, Otis Russell, and Tom Yates took the roles in the play, which was given first in English and then in Latin.

Christmas songs, in Latin, were led by Mr. Earl Sterner. The program also included a scripture reading in Latin by Mary Bowly and a solo, "Stabat Mater," by Mary Whittern.

Ivan Truman gave a talk on the Roman holiday, the Saturnalia; Ellen Harry conducted a game, following which refreshments, in the form of candies, were served.

The program committee for the January 2 meeting, which consists of Patsy Haruff, chairman; Marjorie Wiegman, Gene Lou Harges, and Carol Trenary, will meet tonight in Room 228 at 8:30 o'clock.

Sophomore Spreads Happiness

In the above picture you see a doll lined with cotton. Then she young lady who brings cheer and happiness to many small, sick children, who are bedridden with some type of contagious disease, such as scarlet fever and small pox. These dolls, which she cuts a nut in half and places small pieces of cotton at the ends of their own toys with which both ends to represent the tail and to play, because all playthings must be destroyed upon leaving the isolation ward.

Frances Weir constructs small cradles and six cradles, which she plans to give to the Methodist Hospital in the isolation ward of the Methodist Hospital. Frances first started to make these toys about a year ago, when she conceived the idea from small children who receive them. If guided to which her older sister be they have as much fun playing with the cradles and bunnies as I did in the cradles are made of round salt making them, then I will have been boxes which are cut almost in half well rewarded for my efforts.

These Moms, Dads Are Real Christmas Shopping Problems

By Karl Eberly

Let's take those pennies we have been saving all year and go on a little shopping trip to buy something for dear old Dad and Mother, who, up to this time, have done most of the giving. Perhaps we may get an idea as we pass by the glamorous windows, down the wide aisles with fabulous stacks of boxes and lavish displays of gifts.

It is all a little confusing, but let's stop at the men's department and see if we can find anything besides the proverbial tie and "hanky" for Dad.

If he smokes a pipe, there is a bowlful pipe, and six different kinds of Turkish, Virginian, and Kentucky tobaccos, arranged in separate half-pound cans, ready for him to blend to his taste as he relaxes in his easy chair.

He might be more comfortable for a quiet evening at home if he had one of the new cocktail jackets.

Price Too High

Fifteen dollars is a little high, so we had better look at some of these smaller objects. Ah, a good catch for a fisherman! A tie chain that has a reel, rod, and a fish suspended—but Dad doesn't fish.

Let's go on to the next counter. He is forever losing his cuff-links; so I might give him these that will always turn up, because they're made with his own initials. That's what I call a personalized gift! Still, I can't borrow them; so I will have to look a little further.

If I gave him a Sportsman's Precision Barometer he would know whether the day would be better for golf or fishing. Speaking of golfing, here is a wonderful golf bag with a padded shoulder strap—and it isn't heavy even when it is full of clubs.

Ah, here is a toiletry set with a heather scent. Very masculine! But I guess Dad uses an electric razor, so what's the use? No thanks, I won't take anything now, just give me time to collect my thoughts and count my money!

Mother ought to be much easier; there seem to be aisles and aisles devoted to the women's what-nots. Here are some wonderful hand-embroidered gloves; they look warm, bright and decorative. But I don't know the size.

A Korset signature bag! The Lucite clasp has space underneath for her own signature, and it is fitted with comb, coin-purse and mirror. I think Mom has a purse. There is a locket to hold her two favorite photographs, and it pins on the lapel with a gold bowknot. Fifteen dollars, you say? I'll be thinking about it. Here is a beautiful Evans cigarette case of two-toned, gold-colored metal, but what can she do with it if she doesn't smoke?

How About Perfume?

The perfume counter should have something very choice and different. Lelong's new cologne is Balalaika. Caron's Belledgia is very elegant, and the bottle will not tip over. Here is a Santa Claus filled with a fragrant dusting powder. (What is a dusting powder?) These perfumes have cute names, "Of Thee I Sing" and "Blue Grass Flower Mist." "Ciro's Danger" sounds very audacious. I think my Mother is allergic to perfumes so I guess I will go and get a little lunch and maybe a little idea.

I hear the Christmas bells ringing, and I am so tired I don't know whether to pray or shop. Anyway, I hope Dad and Mother like their tie and handkerchief!

Mr. Robert Davis Is Math-Sci Guest

Plastic Engineer From General Electric Company Gives Illustrated Talk At Meeting

Mr. R. L. Davis, plastic engineer of the General Electric Company, was the special speaker at the Math-Science Club meeting last Friday night in the Greeley Room.

Mr. Davis spoke on "Plastic and Its Uses" and illustrated his talk with approximately forty samples of plastic products. He also placed various chemical formulas on the blackboard. All the formulas dealt with the manufacturing of thermoplastic and thermosetting products.

Letter-openers, manufactured by the General Electric Company and made from thermoplastic material, were distributed to all present at the meeting.

The social part of the program was devoted to community singing, games, and refreshments. Miss George Anna Hodgson directed the community singing which was accompanied by the club pianist.

In keeping with the Christmas season, Christmas carols were sung, several of them being "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "Silent Night," "Joy to the World," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," "Jingle Bells," and "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town."

Eva Jean Wylie planned and took charge of the entertainment for the evening.

Elaine Hirschy, Evelyn Erickson, and Bob Wylie were selected to serve on the nominating committee to nominate the officers for next semester.

Archers Consider "Gone With Wind" Top '40 Screen Hit

All the world loves a good movie—and at the present there seems to be a clamor for bigger and better pictures. Our Archers evidently appreciate the spectacular. History, romance, adventure, intrigue, to say nothing of technicolor, all blended into one colossal piece of film perfection can mean only one thing—"Gone with the Wind"—and it is this movie that rates top with most South Siders.

Here are some answers to the question, "What do you think is the best movie of 1940?"

Arlene Perry: "Gone with the Wind."

Mimi Bornschein: "Gone with the Wind."

George Waldschmidt: "Gone with the Wind."

Jean Stewart: "Gone with the Wind." (How long does this go on?)

Betty Soderin: "Rebecca."

Naomi Koopman: "Gone with the Wind."

Dean McKean: "Gunga Din." (You're away behind time, Dean.)

Ann Pontius: "Knute Rockne."

Theda Tyndall: "Rebecca."

Obby Turner: "Knute Rockne."

Ward Gilbert: They tell me "Gone with the Wind" is best. I didn't see it.

Dorothy McPherson: "Gone with the Wind."

Holly Reppert: "Gone with the Wind."

Stamp Club Has Christmas Party

Miss Emma Kiefer, Group Adviser, Reads Yule Story; Members Give Play, Sing Songs

Miss Emma Kiefer read a Christmas story to the members of Stamp Club at their annual Christmas party in the Greeley Room yesterday.

"Blue Beard or Thirteenth Wife" was another feature of the Christmas party. The play was presented as a pantomime with Etheldrea Behling as narrator.

The cast was as follows: Blue Beard, Philip Schwartz; Fluttering Flossie, Rosemary Spore; Sheila Tarnish, Nancy Geake; Ike, Dick Cunningham; and Mike, Eugene Meeks.

A Christmas exchange followed "Blue Beard or Thirteenth Wife." The gifts were pooled and the members drew for their presents. These presents contained articles that had something to do with stamps.

Etheldrea Behling led the club in community singing and was accompanied by Miss Pauline Van Corder, faculty adviser. Two games were played by the club which were led by Glen Hille.

Refreshments were served by Nancy Geake.

Etheldrea Behling was chairman of the Christmas program. The following members assisted her: Rosemary Spore, Don Parkinson, Kenneth Wolfman, Glen Hille, Dick Cunningham, Nancy Geake, Philip Schwartz, and Eugene Meeks.

Joe Blow Discovers Shopping Tour Isn't Much Fun After All

For you who doubt the seriousness of a man's Christmas shopping trip, here is the story of Joe Blow (from Kokomo, of course) who decided to indulge in such a venture.

At exactly 3:20 o'clock in the afternoon he plans to leave school for a downtown store. "As luck would have it, he is given an eighth period and is 'released' one hour later. He then waits for the trackless trolley and has to stand up all the way because it is loaded with women. Notwithstanding, our little hero is still bright and cheery.

The next step of the journey is the arrival downtown. Joe is undecided to which store he should go; so he doesn't get off the car at all until it reaches the Nickel Plate tracks.

"What luck," he thinks, "now I can shop at the second-hand stores, and no one will ever know the difference." So into the Apex Pawn Shop he goes. Here Joe buys a swell edition of Nyberg's Algebra, which he intends for his sweetheart; a new fingertip coat, to be forwarded to grand-pap; a set of paper dolls, just the thing for mother; and a fur-lined toothbrush, for his own use.

After this little sojourn, Mr. Blow has the sum total of one street car check and a 1913 liberty head nickel left in his pockets. This money, of course, goes to a pretty gal in a Salvation Army uniform.

How to get home? Joe doesn't know! Walk? ("Of course" has been used too much in this article; so we'll let you use your own imagination.) But imagination didn't get our idol home.

Receives Silver Pin

Karl Eberly, 12B, recently received his silver Times pin for having earned 3,127 points. Karl has worked as a checker and a 1913 liberty head nickel left in his pockets. This money, of course, goes to a pretty gal in a Salvation Army uniform.

Meterites To Sign For Christmas Aid

Menu For Club Basket Is Posted In Room 60; Deadline For Food Is Friday Morning

All Meterites who have not signed up for food for the club's Christmas basket are asked to sign immediately in Room 60 where the menu bulletin is posted. Members are urged to bring their food to Room 60 before the home room period Friday morning, because the basket will be delivered during the day Friday. This was announced by Miss Susan Peck, club adviser.

Betty MacKay, program chairman, is in charge of the coming meeting to be held on January 7, 1941, at 8:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The program will be in keeping with the Meterite theme, "Modern Literature".

The last meeting of this semester will be held on January 21. At this meeting, the graduation party and election of next semester's officers will be held. Jane Chenoweth will be in charge of the January 21 meeting.

How To Be "Lovely In Motion" Is Question Of Hour Regarding Christmas Formals

By Charlene McAtee

Be lovely in motion! That's the theme that all the young girls are crying this year as all the Christmas formals are slowly creeping up on us. How can you achieve this inspiring ambition? Simply by buying a formal that was made for you and you alone. By this time you should know your type well enough to be able to distinguish between the formals that will make you the belle of the ball or the evening's outstanding wall-flower.

For example, if you are the tall, slender type, consider yourself lucky, because you can wear extreme and different clothes in just the right manner. You will look particularly breath taking in the long, flowing, crepe gowns that are draped in such graceful lines. The skirts should be full to take inches off your height with long full sleeves caught tightly at the wrists by a large band.

For Tall Girls

Another way to take advantage of your height is to put striking colors together and, wear your looks in a new formal hair-do. If you do all of these things, be assured that you will not sit out a single dance all evening long; in fact, the superior males will be falling at your feet.

The shorter girl has definite possibilities also if she dresses correctly. Never, never should she wear a very full skirt with large puffed sleeves etc. Instead, be petite and dainty in a formal that is snug from the bodice down to the middle of your hips then flairs out slightly at the bottom.

Now let me describe a few of these dream formals that really took my eye when I went shopping for you.

Description Of Formals

Make an angel out of yourself by purchasing this chiffon formal that has a dainty bodice, pale drift of a skirt that willows your waist to practically nothing, and cloudy sleeves that gleam of white arms underneath, and all this in colors that melt in your mouth.

Here's a little number that is bound to bring forth a flood of dime-and-dance invitations from the one and only. It is made of shimmering satin and nebulous net with a bodice that hugs snugly to your waist and boasts a tremendously full shirred skirt in color to match your bodice.

Choose a flame-red formal that makes brunettes look glamorous and blondes dangerous. The one I have in mind has a jacket to boot that zips up to produce a long moulded top with turquoise and gold embroidered pockets. Unzip the jacket and presto, you have sans jacket a suavely cut, simple gown, which can be alternated with clips and flowers.

An indulgent Santa Claus might be persuaded to leave in your stocking an ethereal white tulle frock that is dramatized with black sequins, which make up the straps and edge the top of the dress and also make a lovely splash of color around the skirt.

Did You Ever Hear Of Champagne? It's Another New Color

Colors! Colors! Colors! If you are planning to purchase a new street or dress-up dress, you mustn't overlook the rage of the nation, the most popular and newest color, soldier blue. This color is taking the nation by a storm, because of the patriotic fever. It is a shade of blue that could be described as a medium between royal blue and navy blue. It really has the class, girls.

For that new skirt to match the boy-friend's suit, luggage tan is just the thing. It is a rust color and very conventional for school, dances, and games. Any bright color can be worn as accessories with this color. Moss green would be an excellent choice.

Are you planning to go to the formal dances? Then you surely won't want to appear in a common color that every one is wearing. Two new sensational colors fast coming into the spotlight are champagne and eggshell. Champagne is an off-shade of ivory.

If you want to appear sparkling, then get a gown the color of champagne. Eggshell is also a new color and is already popular. A formal made from taffeta, satin or silk jersey the color of eggshell and trimmed in a bright cheery color, will help you be the belle of the ball.

Why not wear more formal colors, girls? American red, royal blue, and baby pink are three popular new shades. American red is a rosy shade of red. Royal blue is a very deep shade of blue, seen frequently in a velvet formal. Baby pink is the color of all the new formal blouses.

Show appreciation; buy from The Times' advertisers regularly.

Did You Know Uniqueness Is Keynote Of New Flower Styles?

By Eleanor Vesey

Did you ever realize that there are fads in flowers just as there are in clothes? For example, the wrist corsage is definitely a thing of the past. The floral bracelet has now taken its place. Also, several years ago florists used to use a lot of green fern in corsages. This style has certainly disappeared. Modern florists seldom include any fern anymore. Now they accentuate the flowers instead of the foliage.

Naturally, no girl wants her flowers to be out of date. Also, she doesn't want them to be just like every other girl's. Two things which would undoubtedly strike her fancy are a flower ring for her finger and a necklace to match. These two items are brand new in the flower world this year.

An Hawaiian lei would thrill her, too. It should be made of bright red or shell pink carnations strung tightly on a strong necklace. She will certainly appreciate the fact that her lei will not be crushed when she dances and also that she will not have to bother with changing her flowers from her dress to her evening wrap and back again.

Headdresses Are Popular

The girls who most like flowers which require little attention will be pleased to know that the florists have worked out a number of new creations for the hair. Once a girl's flowers are fastened in her hair (preferably on the top of her head this year), she can forget about them if she wishes.

Not only are headdresses convenient; they are also unique and lovely. The ideal combination is a corsage and a rather small headdress made from the same kind of flowers.

In fact, a boy would please his date much more by sending her a small corsage and a small headdress than by sending a large corsage. If possible, boys should always send two floral pieces, such as a corsage and a ring, a necklace and a ring, or a headdress and a bracelet. They can do this easily by skipping on the larger piece in order to pay for the smaller one.

Girls should be careful to observe the fashion rule when pinning corsages on. Stems are to point down so that the flowers grow up instead of down.

Give Thought To Kind

What kind of flowers shall you order? The simplest way to solve this problem is to find out the color and style of the dress your girl is planning to wear and leave the rest up to your florist. Many florists are glad to call your date for you if you wish.

Be careful not to order gardenias just because you think "gardenias will go with anything." If your girl is wearing white, bright red camellias would certainly set off her dress far better than any kind of white flowers. Camellias resemble gardenias in shape, but they do not bruise nearly so easily.

Purple iris, flowers which are often mistaken for orchids, would look elegant on pink or any other pastel color. One for her hair would be nice, too.

At Christmas time there are ever so many new flowers in season from which to choose. Some of the most outstanding and best-liked are violets, birds-of-paradise, iris, camellias, cyrtipediums (green orchids), carnations, sweetheart roses, gardenias, and rubrum lilies.

Young Males Wear Conservative Dress, Flashy Sports Togs

What's the newest thing in the fashion world? That is the question most fellows who keep up on the trend of proper dress want to know.

In sports clothes the drape style will be back, with three and four-button single-breasted sports coats. Contrasting trousers should be gabardine or some soft plain material.

The shirt for this outfit should be either plain or colored. Plain shirts will be those with the button-down collars especially. If colored, the brighter the color, the better; it should be a Scotch plaid or rainbow style.

For a good "Sunday-go-to-meetin'" suit, a conservative tailored suit is just the thing in a herringbone or chalk-stripe pattern. A white shirt and dark tie should be worn with this outfit.

Next year's hats will be similar to this year's, but there will be more in pastel shades of brown and green. The brims will be wider and the crowns more telescoping.

Newest In Slippers Looks Like Dustmop

Dustmop? No, just the newest in bedroom slippers! They're warm, woolen, ribbed anklets that blossom into matching woolen fringe on the bottom. Clever as Christmas gifts or comfortable and snug for yourself, they can be found at several downtown stores.

Reverse Cardigans, Wool Jersey Shirts, Jerkins Are Smart

Are you clothes-conscious? Do you notice the latest fashion and fads worn by our co-eds? You must have noticed the recent fad to reverse "sloppy joe" cardigans. It may cause you to stop and stare, but it's really a cagey idea.

The new wool jersey shirts are nothing less than a knock-out. Especially the bright red and blue ones. The red ones with big gold buttons are subjects of fashion discussions.

A popular piece of wearing apparel is the jerkin. This is almost a "must" nowadays. It comes in nearly every color and looks simply too, too sporty over a long-sleeved white shirt.

It seems the girls have recently taken over the fad of boys' finger-tip length coats. You may have seen some of the femmes sporting boys' corduroy coats around here. (Thanks for this idea, fellows.)

Something you will surely want for Christmas is a pair of the new buckskin mittens. They are grand for the school or any other affair. Some of them are trimmed in stitching, and some are tied with leather drawstrings. Another clever mitten idea is the new boxing-glove type. These combine beauty with warmth.

The new stroller mocassins are liked by the majority of the girls. They come in natural or tan shades. It is predicted that these will soon be even more popular than the saddle Oxford.

Hair Styles Change With Type Of Face; Pompadour Is Best

Most girls are continually worrying about their hair. They need not do this. It is true that hair styles vary the same as the styles in clothes, with care and precision. Very few hair styles are stereotyped, because there are so many different faces. However, the most popular hair style is probably the pompadour. It can be worn attractively by almost any girl, regardless of the shape of her face.

Every girl should wear her hair the way it is most becoming to her face. For instance, a girl with a round face and pug nose should wear her hair drawn high off her forehead. This will tend to give her nose a more elongated appearance and make her face less round.

One thing is always true, however, no girl's hair should be bushy or stringy, that is, if the person cares about her appearance.

Ol' Man Winter's Comin'--- Get Your Muffs And Woollies

With winter coming officially on Saturday, many of the Archer lads and lassies are beginning to wonder exactly what to wear for that slidding party, skating excursion, or that important walk with the one and only.

For the girls, a very wide and fashionable selection is offered. For the skating party, the stores are featuring a very wide selection of smart-looking duds. Faced circular skirts are fashionable and very smart-looking too. A weather-proof peplum snow jacket, with cute-looking boxing-glove mittens and that certain touch to anyone's skating outfit.

Gabardine ski pants with a weather-proof wind breaker jacket and a hand-knit sweater make up the skiing outfit. Of course, they can be set off with wool-knit gloves and stockings to match.

Then for that certain walk there is a wide variety of costumes that can be had. A wool plaid skirt with a blouse to match is a very smart as well as warm. To be protected from the wintry winds a chinchilla cloth coat or a plain camel's hair are your best bet for durability and warmth.

Given Masculine Side

Now for the masculine side of the picture. Let's start out with the skating outfit. After acquiring a good pair of skates and plenty of self-confidence, thought should be given the wardrobe. Local stores are now displaying some flashy skating duds. The suit consists of a warm-looking ski cap, a pleated corduroy jacket, and extra warm corduroy skating trousers. In addition, the stores are showing all kinds of fancy new gloves, speed skates, and extra thick trousers to add to the skater's comfort.

Not many are planning skiing jaunts; but, nevertheless, here are some tips on the "ski-suiting." Now on the market are new fur-lined ski caps with varied designs and colors either to match or contrast the other accessories.

The jackets and ski pants are standard two-piece suits as were the skating outfits. The ski suits are now made of durable corduroy material. Most popular of all the skiing combinations is a brown corduroy blouse and trousers and a beige-colored fur cap. Corduroy is the style, men, whether you plan to show the better half a bit of fancy skating or promote a new skiing stunt.

Wear Finger-Tip Coats

During the holidays a good many of you handsome males will be partaking of the beauty of the great outdoors with your girl friends. A casual finger-tip coat with a wind-breaker underneath would be grand. The corduroy finger-tip are dressy, yet they fail to provide the needed warmth. All of the stores are showing

Wear Overalls

Not to be outdone by the boys, the girls of Big Rapids High School, Grand Rapids, Michigan, have declared an "Overall Day".

Not satisfied with wearing a fish net on their heads, the girls have gone farther and they are now wearing men's working clothes.

the new wind-breakers which come in all colors with a zipper or button effect in front.

A canvas or corduroy slouch hat always gives the casual male walker the desired "Joe College" appearance. For most dances and theatre dates, try the camel's hair coats and the streamlined fedoras. Tweed suits look good as do all others when properly dressed and dolled up with accessories.

One of the new Australian wool sweaters goes good with any occasion. The sweaters are all right for providing needed under-warmth in the skating and skiing, and they provide the informal air for strolling or attending a movie.

Brighten That Dress With Old-Fashioned Pieces Of Jewelry!

Now is the time for all girls interested in clothes to cast their eyes about for a few pieces of jewelry suitable for that new dress or suit wanted for Christmas. A good source of supply is an aunt or a grandmother who might be persuaded to part with an old-fashioned necklace or matching bracelet. Hammered gold jewelry has become very popular to wear with a plain dress, and it looks very well on pastel wools and silks.

If you're dancing this vacation, you might rejuvenate an old formal by wearing two matching clips on each shoulder and tiny earrings that look as if they pierce the ear. Other gadgets for evening wear are the small flower clips to wear in the hair and a matching compact in the shape of a flower.

Pearls Still Smart

Pearls are the smartest accessory for sweaters; and the rope pearls are different, to say the least. The strand is about one and a half yards in full length; to use, double and knot. If you go in for the unusual, a small pin of leather in the shape of an animal might catch your fancy. These look smart and brighten up a pale sweater or blouse.

Compacts should be considered as jewelry, and they certainly deserve space in any fashion column. The newest ones are made of plastic, which you can see through. They can be had in any color. Large wooden compacts equipped with a super-large mirror and puff are second in popularity. An odd but cute compact is the eight-ball compact.

Necklaces made of colored rhinestones and a matching ring can do wonders for a "special date" dress—a pendant bracelet with an American flag on one side and a bright mirror on the other is practical and very handy at a dance.

For your "mad-money" why not buy a few "mad-money" buttons? They are made to enclose small change and come in nickel, dime, and quarter sizes. Indian rings and bracelets are still popular with high school girls; but the newest thing is belt, bags, and clips studded with nail heads

Jerkin Frocks, Stud Belts, Head "Dressy Dress" Fashion List

Most of you girls probably have a tea engagement during your Christmas vacation, or perhaps an afternoon date. In any case, you no doubt are worrying about what kind of a dress to wear. And of course, you undoubtedly want to be original and outstanding.

The colors this year are pastels and browns. If you care for light colors, wear them. One dress that stands out for such an occasion is an extremely pale light blue or pink tailored dress. It is very light in weight, and except for a studded belt and buttons, is very plain.

Strange as it may seem, sweetheart necklines are as good now as they were last year. If you look well in a sweetheart neckline, your chance is here. Perhaps if you are trying to remodel last winter's dress, you would be satisfied to change the neckline and have a completely up-to-date, attractive dress.

The navy's in, or at least the sailor dresses are. Nothing could be quite so smart or outstanding as one of the latest navy blue and red frocks. If you are looking for something that will call attention to you and stay in style for a long time, what you want is a sailor dress.

Jerkins are still in the height of their popularity. If you want to make your date proud of you, get a jerkin dress. The color combinations you will have to choose from are exquisite and appealing.

Corduroy is still holding its own in the hit parade of fashion. This month you can still be one of the best-dressed in a lightweight corduroy gadabout.

Don't forget to keep up with the latest fashion in lightweight jersey dresses. They're practical, economical, and glamorous!

For Teachers Vacation Means Work, Rest, Travel, Study, Fun

Although most of South Side's teachers have decided to stay in Fort Wayne during Christmas vacation in order to catch up on some sleep, correct papers, read, entertain, or be entertained, some of them are planning to visit their parents in other towns or attend meetings. Following are some of the teachers' replies telling what they plan to do during vacation:

Mrs. Grace Wely: I expect to spend my vacation with my mother in Boonville.

Mr. W. C. Wilson: Work! I expect to write reports and read and then refinish a set of antique chairs.

Mr. Maurice Cook: I am taking my family to Sullivan, Indiana.

Miss Blanche Hutto: I am going to entertain my aunt and uncle.

Mr. Maurice Murphy: I am going to stay home.

Mr. Lundy Welborn: I plan to stay in Fort Wayne.

Mr. Francis Fay: I will spend my Christmas vacation at my home in Columbus, Indiana.

Miss Emma Kiefer: I shall stay in Fort Wayne and catch up on my reading, entertain, and attend family dinners.

Mr. E. H. Murch: I am going to stay in Fort Wayne.

Mr. Paul Schnepel: I shall do some school work and contact people to supply their needs for life insurance.

Mr. James Mills: I am going to stay home.

Mr. Clyde Peirce: I shall grade note-books and papers and travel to Indianapolis and Bremen. Perhaps I shall attend the American Historical Society meeting in Chicago.

Miss Bean: I will spend my Christmas vacation in the city.

Mr. Wayne Gift: I shall go to my home in Wadsworth, Ohio.

Mr. Estel Smuts: I shall rest, hunt, and perhaps do some butchering.

Mr. Earl Sterner: I am going to spend Christmas with the folks down home; sleep (to make up for some lost this fall; and learn to play with Dan's electric train.

Mr. Joe Plasket: I plan to hunt and work around my home during the coming Christmas vacation.

Miss Mary Pocock: I am going to spend my Christmas vacation in St. Petersburg, Florida, visiting my parents.

Miss Lucy Osborne: I am going to spend my vacation with my sister who is coming from St. Louis to visit me.

Miss Pearl Rehorst: I am going to stay home during my Christmas vacation.

Mr. C. A. Bex: I am going to Bloomington, Indiana, with my wife and two sons.

Miss Mary McCloskey: I am going to spend my Christmas vacation resting and enjoying myself.

Miss Pauline Van Gorder: I shall remain in Fort Wayne during my vacation.

Miss Elizabeth Demaree: I shall spend my vacation by visiting my sister in Bloomington.

Mr. Herman Makey: I shall either work or loaf during my vacation.

Mr. Paul Sidell: I shall spend the first three days of my Christmas vacation at home. The remainder of the time will be spent visiting my father in Central Indiana.

Miss Rosemary DeLancey: I planned to spend Christmas day with my brother in North Manchester, and then go to Chicago with my sister.

Miss Alice Dean: I plan to stay home and have lots of company during Christmas vacation.

Miss Gretchen Smith: I am going to spend my vacation resting and having a good time.

Miss Erma Dochterman: I will enjoy my Christmas holidays at home with my nephew, Dick Dochterman, a graduate of South Side, who is now a student at Purdue University.

Miss Adelaide Fiedler: I will spend the Christmas holidays in Michigan.

Miss Dorothy Magley: I am going to entertain Miss Ellen Burns, a former teacher at South Side, during the Christmas holidays.

Set Tomorrow, Seventh Period For Yule Sing

Band, Chorus Lead Music; Song Sheets Will Be Distributed In Home Rooms

Christmas spirit will pervade the school tomorrow afternoon when a community sing will be presented during the seventh period. The band and chorus, composed of nearly two hundred South Side students, will lead the music for the program.

Song sheets for the assembly will be distributed throughout the home rooms during the home room period for the use of the students during the program.

With the chorus singing, the band will play "Joy to the World" as an opening for the program. Following this Christmas carols, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "I Hear the Bells on Christmas Day," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town," and "Jingle Bells" will also be presented by the band and chorus.

"Christmas Echoes" will be played by the band. Other numbers to be presented are "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," "Deck the Halls," "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem," and "Silent Night."

The background for the Christmas program will be a beautifully decorated Christmas tree with gifts under it to portray Christmas Eve. Santa Claus will also parade around the gym to add laughter and cheer to the program.

Mr. Jack Wainwright, Mr. Lester Hostetler, and Miss Lucy Osborne will have charge of the program.

This same program will be presented downtown Friday afternoon when the chorus will go caroling and the band will accompany them.

Archer Riflers Defeat Elmhurst, 494 To 468

South Side's Boys' Rifle team won a match with Elmhurst High School Monday night by the score of 494 to 468. The match was fired at Elmhurst.

Joe Bekius, Edmund Bauer, Richard Buntzenhof, and Jack Hornberger were highscorers, firing a total of 99 each.

Other Archer scores were fired by Clifford Springer, with 98; Norman Karbach, 97; Sid Myers, 97; Gene Zumbum, 96; and Art Puff with 86.

High scorers for Elmhurst were Trumpey, 95; Vogts, 95; Sessions, 93; Gebhart, 93; and Johnson, 92. Others who fired were Miller, 92; Slater, 91; Kiracofe, 86; Perl, 89; and Whitebeck, 84.

Yuletide Spirit, Not War-Time Fear, Is In American Hearts

"Christmas comes but once a year, and with it comes such happy cheer." We hope this old, old saying will never cease to be true in the United States, where people are over-flowing with that immaterial thing called Christmas spirit. No war, no depressing thoughts to take away the spirit of Christmas in the United States.

Christmas will be as happy as other years; and in some instances, even happier. There will be no one to tell us exactly what to do and to try to govern our lives. The people in the United States can be happy and free and enjoy themselves as usual.

The men will be home at the fire-side telling stories to the children, instead of galavanting around on a war-torn, blood-soaked field, trying to kill. No, in the United States peace will reign, and voices will sing out the feeling of a merry Christmas.

Over in Europe, Christmas will be celebrated in a much different manner from the United States. Over London bombs will be bursting and homes and people being destroyed. In Germany the same thing will be going on.

First Winston Churchill, then Adolf Hitler rejected Pope Pius XII's appeal that the warring nations call a truce long enough "to let the voices of the angels drown out the noise of the guns."

Of course, both England and Germany will celebrate Christmas, but the day certainly will not carry the joy it will carry in the United States. In many cases the thought of Christmas will only accentuate the loneliness of people who have lost their loved ones because of this horrible war.

In the United States, however, the hope of "Peace on earth, good will toward men" still flourishes in the hearts of the masses of people. Millions and millions of people of good will are praying for the peace of Christmas to prevail throughout the year to come.

"Good will toward men"—how desperately the world needs that such a hope should become a reality. And in the United States it can be a reality—not just for Christmas, but for as long as peace prevails. Here where

Scouting the Shops

When they don't thrill to a watch then their souls are atrophied and they don't deserve a present. Watches at COUSINS are super-thrillers. All the trustworthy makes in rapid designs. Cost is slightly in the upper brackets, but you'll grin and buy it... and be glad you did.

Choosing Colors in Gift Stockings is Easy and Pleasant—No matter who is going to receive your gift of hose, you will find a suitable shade in your NEUMODE HOSIERY SHOP.

Lingerie delicate as a puff of smoke are being shown at THRIFTY DRESS SHOP and are being grabbed up fast. They're really superb gifts for the little gad-about who loves to be as soft and silken underneath as she is on top. They're quite inexpensive.

The trend in hosiery colors this year is toward conservatism. Darker tones are reserved for the very sheer stockings.

A Sophomore Makes A Call

Two years, two years, two years ago
He fell in love with a maid, you know.
And when together, they were glad,
But when parted, oh, how sad.
He called to see her, one lovely night;
The stars above were shining bright.
'Twas more than expected—ah! what bliss
And

A definition:
"What is pure water?"
"Pure water is water that contains nothing but water."

Student in Biology: A mugwump is a bird that sits on fence with his muga fence with his mug on one side and his wump on the other.

Sally, watching a football game played in the mud: I don't see how in the world the players ever get clean.
Sue: Silly, what do you suppose the scrub team is for?

A popular modern poet has summed up his philosophy of suicide as follows:

Razors pain you; rivers are damp;
Acids stain you; and drugs give you cramps;
Guns aren't lawful; nooses give;
Gas smells awful; you might as well live.

He: Shall we wait?
She: All the same to me.
He: Yes, I've noticed that.

First student: Did you ever take chloroform?

Second student: No, who teaches it?

St. Peter: And here is your golden harp.
Newly-arrived American: How much is the down payment.

Voice over the phone: Hello! Is this you, darling?
Darling: Yes, who is this speaking?

Irate student: See here, what do you mean going around telling folks I'm a first class idiot?
Professor: It's a lie! I never said first class.

Two little flies were buzzing along,
"Buzz-buzz, buzz-buzz, buzz-buzz."
The two little flies were the best of pals,
"Buzz-purr, buzz-purr, buzz-purr."

They talked to themselves as they flew along,
"Buzz-gas, buzz-gas, buzz-gas."
The talk came around to a pair o' gals,
"Buzz-sigh, buzz-sigh, buzz-sigh."

The two little flies flew down and they fought,
"Buzz-grr, buzz-grr, buzz-grr."
Along came a hand and the flies were caught!
"No buzz—no buzz—no buzz."

Teacher: Use the word "unaware" in a sentence.
Pupil: Every night I take off my unaware before I put on my pajamas.

Waiter: Where's the paper plate I gave you with your pie?
Don: My word! I thought that was the lower crust.

Joe: Lininger made a great speech at the Toastmaster's meeting last night. He brought home to me a great many things I never saw before.
Blow: That's nothing; my laundryman is always doing that for me.

"So you and Elmer are engaged! I don't suppose he told you that he was engaged to me last year."
"Well, he did say something about things in his past that he was ashamed of—but he didn't go into details."

Pity the poor flea that knows that all of his children are going to the dogs.

The good we learn at mother's knee, the bad at other joints.

Alas, In Vain

Till the break of dawn I studied,
For exams were on their way,
I reviewed the odes and authors,
Then Napoleon and his day.
I memorized equations,
Covered books in one attempt,
Then next day I fell a-fainting,
Teacher said, "You are exempt."

One: Say, I hear you lost your job.
Why did the foreman fire you?
Two: You know what a foreman is—he's the one who stands around and watches the men work.
One: What's that got to do with it?
Two: Why, he got jealous of me.
